

Limitations: The adverse event and product problem reports contained in this record are not necessarily causally related to (caused by) the reported product, nor do they mean the product was defective. Consumer complaints involving animal foods are received by FDA through voluntary reporting systems. Not all reports undergo follow up actions by FDA; however, each report received is important to FDA as part of our ongoing surveillance efforts related to pet food safety. Trends in reporting can provide an early warning of emerging safety issues of concern.

Other limitations:

- For any given report, there is no certainty that the reported pet food caused the adverse event. The adverse event(s) reported may be more related to an underlying disease, condition, or concomitantly administered medication.
- The report narratives are provided in the form in which we received them, the quality of the information provided about the adverse event/product problem is dependent on the quality of the information received from the veterinarian and/or pet owner.
- Adverse event report numbers should not be used to calculate incidence rates or measures of relative risk. It is not data from a controlled study, and there is no accurate way to know the true size of the population exposed to a product, nor the true population affected with an adverse event.
- Adverse event data should not be used to compare the safety of different products. Many factors can influence reporting, and products that are more widely distributed or sold in greater volume may have more reporting than those with limited distribution or sales. Products for which there has been recent publicity may experience more reporting for a period of time afterwards. Underreporting is also common with adverse event reporting systems.

| EON-561209 | 1/30/2024 11:24 | Pro plan chicken rice | After consuming new bag of food Pro Plan older dog 14 years of age had severe white foam vomiting, breathing fast, possible fever, lethargy, diarrhea lack of appetite, was able to continue to drink small amounts. Started on chicken and started to get better. Still not 100%. Dog had seizures x2 in one day which has never happened. Other dog who is healthy 5 years old and no health problems started vomiting for 1 day after consumption and has since recovered. Food was taken per store and the staff said immediately people are reporting similar experiences and exchanged product. Report sent to Purina on their website. Researched this issue and found and multiple reports made online. | 14 | Years | Pug | Dog | 20 | Pound | |
| EON-561208 | 1/30/2024 11:24 | BJs | Fed BJ's Raw Pet Food Premium Mix for dogs to my two Brittany Spaniels. Both dogs became ill almost immediately after feeding them the food. Both vomited and had diarrhea for several days. Both stopped eating for several days. I contacted BJ's Raw Pet Food and they said they are not responsible because I cannot prove it was their food that caused the dogs to become sick. My wife was on Facebook pet food forums and was reading that this is happening a lot with BJ's Raw Pet Food products and people are finding metal, rocks, plastic, teeth, bones, hair, nails, and barbed wire in BJ's Raw Pet Food products. | 4 | Years | Brittany | Dog | 38 | Pound | |

| EON-561201 | 1/30/2024 11:24 | Royal Canin HP (hydrolyzed protein), Royal Canin Hydrolyzed Protein (can) | Starting 1/22/24, we opened a new bag of kibble and (b) (6) had to go out in the middle of the night for diarrhea around 4:45am, and again on 1/23, 1/24, and 1/25. Between 1/25 and 1/26, she had to go out in the middle of the night 3x for diarrhea. On 1/25, a guest family dog (b) (6) stayed with us and got into (b) (6) food; while I was away from home for a bit, he threw up and had diarrhea in the house. On 1/25, I began a slow transition between Royal Canin HP and Rayne Nutrition rabbit and quinoa with 1/8 cup (approx. 7.14% of daily intake) of the Rayne nutrition, and the other 93% Royal Canin HP. On 1/26/24, our regular vet recommended we switch 100% to Rayne; that night, (b) (6) slept through the night and her first stool on 1/27 was normal - as have all stools and sleep habits been since. | 4 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 75 | Pound | |
| EON-561200 | 1/30/2024 11:24 | Good'n'fun Triple Flavor Chews | Gave chew. Within 1 hr vomiting violently consisting of thick gelatinous material, difficulty breathing (material would enter airway), vomiting lasting 24 hours, worst just after eating chew. Unable to sleep or eat 48 hrs. Extreme thirst. Moaning and whimpering for about 12 hrs. Weakness, difficulty standing and walking 24 hrs. Unable to defecate for 60 hrs or so. "Rawhide" turned into a thick gel mucus like material, expanded much beyond its original size (I collected his emisjs). This is a risk for blockage. Dog was in terrible condition. I bought this on a clearance shelf from (b) (6) (b) (6). Don't know why it was clearanced out. I contacted store already to ask them to remove product. Dog is older but has never had such a reaction. Have fed him rawhide entire life. Besides expansion of product, maybe something else like contamination. Consider dog is elderly but otherwise healthy with much experience eating rawhide, no known GI problems. Product is made in Cambodia. Not expired. | 13 | Years | American Pit Bull Terrier | Dog | 65 | Pound | |
| EON-561199 | 1/30/2024 11:24 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food | We have three dogs, the lab has rectal bleeding, throwing up, lethargic, and trembling. Other smaller dogs have had same symptoms led the rectal bleeding. | 2 | Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 52 | Pound | |
| EON-561198 | 1/30/2024 11:24 | Waggin train chicken jerky | (b) (6) started needing to go outside frequently, especially during the night. It appeared he was struggling to go to the bathroom. He was started only picking at his food and drinking excessive amounts of water. The only thing he would eat is the waggin train chicken jerky treats. He started coughing near the end and breathing really fast. He had lost six pounds since his vet appointment in July. I brought him to the vet where he had diarrhea and the vet hadn't a clue what was going on and ultimately we had to put him down on (b) (6) | 11 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | | | |
| EON-561134 | 1/29/2024 13:44 | Purina One True Instincts Nutrient-Dense With a Blend of Real Turkey and Venison | About 3 weeks ago, 1/17/2024 (b) (6) suddenly developed a limp in his right leg. We immediately took the dog to the veterinarian, (b) (6), who thought it may be a parotiditis issue. She took X-rays and found some extra bone growth on the bone. She prescribed him an ibuprofen type of anti-inflammatory which also helped with pain. (Novox 100 mg). After a week the condition did not get better so we took him back to the vet and again they took x-rays showing a larger growth on the bone. We saw a different vet that day and she said to stay on the Novox. Last week on Friday 1/26/2024 we took him back to (b) (6) because his limp was getting worse. After more x-rays the bone was bowed out a bit in the upper femur. (b) (6) was really concerned and took him off the Novox. She put him instead on Clindamycin 300 mg twice a day and Prednisone 20 mg (1/2 half tablet daily) and Gabapentin 400 mg 2-3 times daily for pain. Today 1/29/2024 he is gradually getting better but still favoring the right leg. I had originally had him on Life's Abundance and he had transitioned to the Purina One True Instincts Blend of Real Turkey and venison. It was at this time he developed the condition. | 7 | Months | Shar Pei | Dog | 49 | Pound | |

| EON-561131 | 1/29/2024 13:44 | Purina pro plan essentials chicken and rice | I was recommended Purina pro plan chicken and rice by my vet so I switched. She had diarrhea for 6 weeks before I started to realize that it wasn't just the food switch. Diarrhea turned to her vomiting intensely for multiple days. I cut the food out and she's been so grateful. Now I'm reading that this is not the only case. Shame on Purina | 3 | Years | Dogo Argentino | Dog | 95 | Pound | |

| EON-561077 | 1/28/2024 15:52 | Taste of the Wild - High Prairie - A Grain Free recipe - Canine Recipe with Roasted Bison & Roasted Venison | (b) (6) showed signs of reduced activity, panting, gagging, not barking, sleeping a lot - gradually worsened. On 12/16/23 we rushed him to emergency vet: gasping, possibly coughing blood, very weak. X-rays and lab work inconclusive. Ultrasound: showed dilation in heart chambers/poor contractile function. He was diagnosed with Dilated Cardiomyopathy and Laryngeal paralysis. Pimobendan and Taurine were prescribed for heart. Told to keep his exercise to minimum. | 9 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 120 | Pound |
| EON-561075 | 1/28/2024 14:44 | Signature Pet Care - Mixed Grill Classic Paté for Adult Cats and Kittens - Cat Food | I purchased "Signature Pet Care Cat Food Mixed Grill 5.5 Ounce" on January 22, 2024 and fed it to my cat that evening. No other changes to his diet were made. The next day (1/23), my cat threw up twice (clear, foamy vomit), refused to eat both breakfast and dinner, and refused treats, which is a very abnormal behavior for him. He also exhibited lethargy (which is also very unusual for him) which continued to the following day (1/24). He was brought to the emergency vet ((b) (6)) 6pm 1/24. Blood tests found extremely high liver enzymes (ALT of 1600, AST 550, bilirubin 1.9); x-rays and ultrasounds pointed to no obstruction. His clinical signs and labwork, especially the sudden onset and acute symptoms, are potentially indicative of a poisoning, which a veterinarian suggested may be a result of contaminated food. He is currently hospitalized and his repeated labwork continues to point to an exposure to a form of toxin/poison. | 2 | Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | 10 | Pound |
| EON-561054 | 1/28/2024 4:12 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Small Breed Petites Races Shredded Blend Chicken and Rice Formula | I have observed a consistent pattern of illness in my three dogs, which appears to be directly related to the consumption of Purina Pro Plan dog food. Initially, one of my dogs presented with symptoms of vomiting and severe diarrhea, including traces of blood. Believing it to be an isolated incident, possibly due to a temporary illness, I temporarily switched her diet to a bland, homemade alternative. Following this change, her condition improved. However, soon after, my other two dogs exhibited identical symptoms. Applying the same dietary adjustment resulted in a similar positive recovery. Later, I reintroduced Purina Pro Plan into their diets, only to witness the same distressing symptoms. I knew then that something was wrong. I stopped feeding them the product once again, which led to an improvement in their health. Notably, this pattern occurred with an older and newly purchased bag of this food, suggesting a possible issue with the product itself. I clarified to the manufacturer that my intent in communicating this information was not to seek a refund or compensation in the form of coupons. Rather, it is to alert them to a potential problem that may warrant further investigation to prevent serious harm to other animals. As a precaution, I have decided to prepare my dog's meals at home going forward. I trust that you will take this report seriously. If you would like to speak to me directly regarding this issue, feel free to contact me at the number I provided. Thank you for your attention to this matter. | 1 | Years | Corgi - Welsh Cardigan | Dog | 35 | Pound |
| EON-561051 | 1/28/2024 0:28 | Purina EN Gastroenteric canned dog food | He was eating the implicated food for one week prior to getting sick. He completely lost his appetite on Saturday 1/6/24 and Monday 1/8/24 overnight severe diarrhea started. It was constantly oozing out nonstop for 4-5 days. Severe dehydration ensued, inability to walk and extreme weight loss. The implicated food was stopped on 1/6/24. He's been eating home cooked diet since he regained his appetite and luckily has completely recovered. Recovery took about 2 weeks. He went to the emergency room once and had a visit with internal medicine as well. | 15 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 61 | Pound |

| EON-561033 | 1/27/2024 17:04 | Nutro wholesome essentials complete daily nutrition adult cat salmon and brown rice recipe | I purchased a bag of nutro wholesome essential adult natural dry cat food salmon and brown rice on January 6th 2024 from eBay. I fed this bag of cat food to six of my indoor cats four of my outdoor cats and one dog all of which over the last week have been throwing up multiple times a day yellowish greenish liquid or brown liquid or white foam. My animals have absolutely no health issues, never have. Before nutrol fed them lams cat food which I stopped because there was what I believe pieces of plastic in the cat food. So I go and buy the nutro cat food thinking it's better not knowing it came from the same exact company. I highly believe the bag of cat food I have is contaminated and I would like it to be tested. I brought this attention to not only eBay but to the manufacturer as well and asked to have it tested. Not sure if they will do this or not which is why I'm reaching out to you. My animals are extremely sick they have no energy they cannot eat and I do not have the money to take 10 pets to the vet. So I have to start with one and go from there and even that will be a struggle as I live on SSI disability. I am extremely upset with this company for producing two bags eins and nutro that harmed my animals. This cat food is not cheap and his cat food is supposed to be healthy and all natural ingredients for them. They did give me an option to get my money back or a coupon. I went with getting my money back and I'm currently waiting to see if that happens. I have contacted them a second time explaining to them I am very upset and I want something further done. Not sure if I will get a call or email back. But I feel this should be brought to your attention and I strongly believe this bag of cat food was contaminated. While I was giving my report to the manufacturer we found out the bag of cat food expires and less than one month, so I'm not sure if that has anything to do with it. The bag was not destroyed when I got it I keep it in a container in the bag itself with a lid in my kitchen. Nothing on my end could have contaminated the food. I keep very good care of my pets and their food their food dishes their water their water dishes and I make sure everything is always clean. Like I said this is very upsetting to watch this many animals be this sick at once. Please help me. | | Domestic Mediumhair | Cat | | |

| EON-561022 | 1/27/2024 16:08 | Purina Cat Chow Indoor | My husband and I got a bag of Purina Cat Chow for indoor cats and when we opened the bag the kibble looked different than normal but we thought nothing of it. After feeding this to my cat a few days later my cat is not eating or drinking water, she's vomiting has diarrhea and is overall not well. We took her to the vet 2 times in the past 72 hours and it was said that her liver enzymes were elevated and her xrays came back abnormal. A lot of her symptoms align with possible salmonella infection. She could have been susceptible to this bacteria due to being on antibiotics a month before for a small infection at the site of her incision from her spay. She had been eating the same cat food for over 6 months now with no issue. But now that this new bag was opened she's sick. Nothing in her environment has changed. No new pets no sickness no new anything. Her environment has been exactly the same the only thing different is the appearance of this food. We have ruled out any other environmental factors. My cat is an indoor cat. She never goes outside. She's fully vaccinated and hasn't had any other issues before this | 1.5 | Years | American Shorthair | Cat | 7 | Pound |

| EON-561014 | 1/27/2024 15:32 | Royal Canin Gastrointestinal High Fiber | I had recently replaced a bag of Royal Canin Fiber Response because the smell seem off and had begun using a new one. Shortly thereafter my dog became sick with vomiting begin the evening of approximately 1/12 or 1/13. As a few days lapsed, within approximately 2 hours of eating he was throwing up and becoming progressively worse I contacted the veterinarian. He saw the Vet 1/16. His test results were not significant enough to define what the problem was so he was generically label as having pancreatitis. Additionally, testing has not defined what the illness is/was. In addition to vomiting he has had bloody diarrhea. After getting him on boil chicken breast and rice, meds and supplements he has improved. | 11 | Years | Greyhound - Italian | Dog | 16 | Pound |
| EON-561013 | 1/27/2024 15:32 | Purina Beyond Dry Cat Grain Free Chicken & Egg | (b) (6) finished a bag of her food, so I purchased a new bag of the same. Upon consumption of the new food, by day two, she was unable to keep any of it down. Has been vomiting with each consumption since. She has never vomited before. There have been no other changes in diet or lifestyle. She has lost an entire pound in the last week. We saw the vet yesterday and they could not find any other causes for her symptoms. They suggested we immediately discontinue her new bag of food and they placed her on antibiotic treatment.. She has stopped drinking water today and has limited movement. | 8 | Years | Domestic Mediumhair | Cat | 9 | Pound |

| EON-561011 | 1/27/2024 15:32 | Purina Dog Chow | I have two seven month old doberman puppies, they have been eating Purina their whole life until this past week (01-20-2024) My male dog had been throwing up all that morning and not wanting to eat his food. Which was odd because he loves food and is always is up for a meal. Later that day my female had started having watery poops, then came the throwing up. My female pup had kind of distancing herself from her food for the past couple weeks, like not eating as much as she used to and not eating her full meals when it was put down for her. That night my female had thrown up all night keeping us all awake trying to care for her. Couple days went by of both the pups being sick and not wanting to eat..anything they would turn their heads away. We ended up taking the female to the vet because she was in the worse condition. Nothing came back positive, we were given some medicine. (01-24-2024) Now (01-26-2024) My female dog has not gotten better and still has not eaten food, she is still throwing up and now with less watery poops. She is still very weak. We have tried everything for the poor girl but nothing has seemed to help. I have bought so many bags of their dog food and spent so much money on vet visits and supplies but nothing is helping her. I know its the dog food that started this. Both dogs want nothing to do with the dog food they have eaten their whole life. | | | | | | |
| EON-561010 | 1/27/2024 15:32 | Purina One Smart Blend Chicken & Rice Formula | Upon opening a newly bought bag of Purina and giving it to my dogs they became very sick with vomiting and diarrhea. I was feeding them rice and boiled chicken which helped and they were doing much better and the vomiting/diarrhea stopped. I slowly mixed their Purina kibble back into their diet (not knowing what had caused the diarrhea) and they became ill again. My dogs have ate this for 3 years and get excited to eat it every night immediately eating it/finishing it. Now they wont even touch the food but will take other food offered to them. I stopped giving the kibble again and they are doing better. | 3 | Years | Cattle Dog - Australian (blue heeler, red heeler, Queensland cattledog) | Dog | 50 | Pound |

The older one has been on it for 4 years. The younger 1.5 year old has been on it since he was a puppy. Got a new bag on January 18th, we opened it on either the 21st or 22nd. Tuesday the 23rd they both had runny diarrhea. The younger ones stomach was gurgling and had bad gas. Those two symptoms carried over into the 24th. Took him to the vet on the 24th as they said bringing one dog in would be fine and got him on some medication. His symptoms are still continuing on Friday January 26th. He is going back to the vet to have some more test ran as his diarrhea is yellow. Nothing had changed as far as diet goes or gone anywhere. | EON-561007 | 1/27/2024 15:32 | JustFood For Dogs Complete Meal. Cooked Fresh. Simply Thaw and serve. Fish & Sweet Potato Recipe | The food I've been purchasing at Petco--Justfoodfordogs fresh frozen fish & potato 72 oz packages-- some of the packages have been leaking when they defrost in the refrigerator. This indicates a bad seal since there are no outward tears in the packaging - a decent amount of juice is just seeping out of the bag as it thaws. This means that possible contamination could be happening before the food is frozen. I've spoken to a rep from Justfoodfordogs and they're now aware of the issue and have told me not to feed my dog any package that leaks. I've purchased from several locations of Petco in (b) (6) - (b) (6). This is a very expensive high end dog food and it's very concerning that it keeps happening. | | | | | | |

| EON-560910 | 1/26/2024 10:20 | Rabbit Blend | Purchased Rabbit Blend from (b) (6) at their retail store located at (b) (6). There was hair, skin, large bones in the product. I took the product back to the store and (b) (6), the owner of the store, said this is normal and good for German Shepherds. He said he breeds GSDs and he feeds them this all the time, and he sells the product online to people in all 50 states. I fed my dog the Rabbit Blend that night and my dog became very sick vomiting and Diarrhea for the next 48 hours. Also it seems like the hair in the product is clogging up my dogs digestive tract, but (b) (6) also said the hair in the product is great for GSDs. My dog lost 7-8 pounds over the next week and I had to take him to the vet multiple times. (b) (6) said it was not their food that caused the issue and I can't prove it was the food that caused the dog to get sick, but my dog got sick immediately after I fed him the food. Also, when I was at the store I saw Amish children clubbing rabbits with hammers and tossing the whole animal into grinders in back of the building. When you read the reviews online and look at (b) (6) website it looks like a legitimate company with AFFCO statements on all of the products, but it seem like its just a bunch of Amish guys tossing whole animals into grinders and then selling the raw product at the retail store or online. | 6 | Years | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 75 | Pound |

(b) (6) diet was also being supplemented with Inaba Churu Skin & Coat 14 oz treat tubes for about 7-10 days prior to symptoms. Though not as severe, (b) (6) began experiencing similar symptoms on the exact same date as (b) (6) ...tender stomach, not eating or drinking, etc. He also was not going to the bathroom, at all. I am not or not whether (b) (6) was going to the bathroom as he is an outdoor cat. (b) (6) died before I got him to the Vet on (b) (6). I got (b) (6) to the Vet in time for treatment. The Vet did not discover the cause of (b) (6) illness, but he was very constipated, had a lot of trapped gas and was very dehydrated. (b) (6) (born 08/21) was fine prior to this. November 2023 vomiting increased to daily for (b) (6) and (b) (6) stopped eating and disposition changed. (b) (6) I took both to vet, (b) (6) had crystals and needed to be catheterized, he died on table after catheterization, she said it was too much to his system. , vet was shocked both of us were upset. (b) (6) got blood work ' ultrasound early November. It showed decline in liver function & possible enlarged liver or stomach. Results sent to a surgeon. Options were endoscopy or exploratory surgery $200-$3000. Surgeon was OOT, vet suggested we try prednisone for 3 months. It has been almost 2 months he is gaining weight and no vomiting. | EON-560904 | 1/26/2024 10:20 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Shredded Blend Beef & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food | I have always fed my dogs the same Purina pro plan and never had never any issues. This past weekend, both of my dogs started vomiting and diarrhea everywhere. Lots of straining, some blood in stool, stool, very mucousy. Both dogs were pretty lethargic. At first, I thought they caught a stomach bug so I fed them a bland diet of chicken and rice for a few days. After the second day, their poops solidified, they stop puking, and they seemed in much better spirits so the next morning I fed them the normal food (Purina pro) again. Later that day, the same things, both of them had diarrhea in the house, and one of them vomited. So I went out and bought a bag of a different brand of dog food for the past few days they have been fine. The problems only started a few days after I opened a new bag of Purina pro. I can only come to the conclusion that it must be the food, especially after they started to get better after changing it and got sick again when fed Purina. | 8 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 40 | Pound |

| EON-560902 | 1/26/2024 10:20 | Purina One Chicken and Rice Formula | My small dog is approximately 3 years of age. She weighed 13lbs and was extremely active and playful. About 3 weeks ago, she randomly stopped eating her food unless she was starving. She started obsessively eating organic materials. Im talking I had to remove all of my indoor plants, (All non toxic for pets). She was eating dirt to the point she would vomit mud. She was eating wood/sticks to the point where she was chewing on the back deck of my house. She would eat the other dogs stool, leaves, I caught her one time licking metal bars of exercise equipment. On the 23rd of January, I came home from work and my home looked like a murder scene. There was vomit and very very bloody diarrhea from the front to the back of my home. She was lethargic. Any water she drank within 5 minutes it was thrown up again. I took her down to a local vet around 3pm. They kept her overnight and she is still there with them as I type this. I am hoping she is well enough to come home today but we will see around 1pm. They immediately started her on an IV for dehydration, antibiotics and some other injectable medication I didn't catch the name of. At 4pm yesterday, the 24th, when I checked in on her she was still refusing food voluntarily and was still passing loose stools, although the blood seems to have subsided. I randomly came across a facebook page (https://www.facebook.com/JudyMorganDVM) with a post that intrigued me. It was a warning about possible contaminated foods from the supplier level and listed brands to be aware of and other pet parents reports and complications. My pets food was on the list and her ailments matched exactly to what others have been reporting. I have only fed my girls Purina One for at least the last 3 years and have never had a problem with any of my pets. | | | Terrier - West Highland White | Dog | 9 | Pound |
| EON-560901 | 1/26/2024 10:20 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice Formula | (b) (6) developed diarrhea on 1/23/24 and vomiting on 1/24/24. On 1/24, the diarrhea turned severe and mainly consisted of blood. Vomit also seemed to be blood tinged. We made the decision on the night of (b) (6) that it was (b) (6) time to pass. He had been fighting nasal cancer for over a year and complications from his radiation treatment caused him to aspirate some. I'm not sure if the food is any way related because of his prior illness and since my other dog has not seemed to develop any symptoms. | EON-560894 | 1/26/2024 10:20 | Purina ProPLAN Veterinary diets Overweight management | The only food my dog, her name is (b) (6) ate is the Purina "Proplan veterinary diets" which is the prescription food my Vet doctor prescribed. There were no issue with the food until a few weeks ago, I started to notice different color and smell of the canned formula. I thought it was normal to have different color/smell for canned food. Unfortunately I started to notice that (b) (6) is reluctant to eat the food and her appetite reduced, her she only ate half of the canned food. A few weeks later she started to have bloody diarrhea and vomiting. It last for 5 days, and she got very sick and I had to take care to the Vet. She was treated with medicines including suralfaste, metronidazole, proviable combo, cerenia inj, etc. After that I throw away bad canned formula that has bad smell/color whenever I can easily detect it. (b) (6) was able to recover from this sickness. Unfortunately after that episode, I accidently fed her one canned formula that had similar bad smell/color and she resumed a new episode. Now I am very nervous and have to do thorough examination of each canned formula before feeding her. I contacted the pet food company and they keep saying their product doesn't have problem. I don't see they have willingness to correct the problem. This is what they said: "Please be assured that our products, including our wet dog foods, are safe to feed and can be fed with confidence. Our products are formulated by professional pet nutritionists and veterinarians and are produced under strict quality standards." | 13 | Years | Schnauzer - Miniature | Dog | | |

Did not have any symptoms of anything else and seemed fine otherwise. opened a new case of Purina canned food on 1/1/2024 since he would not eat all of his other food that i fed them. starting 1/2/24 we noticed he was doing a weird breathing thing then would breath normal. it was random over next couple days and he was also not eating well but drinking so on 1/4/24 we took to vet to get checked out. they assumed after exam he must have hurt his back probably just pain since that could cause his not wanting to eat and heavy breathing. took him back to vet on 1/6/24 because refusing all food told them not pain he is going up and down stairs etc no problem but now lethargic also and seems like stomach hurts seems nauseous. labs and xrays done nothing to concerning according to vet sent home with rest and appetite stimulant and pepcid ac to help with appetite. At home he started having what looked like seizures or mini strokes. returned to vet on same day (b) (6) showed them video clip of some of the episodes he had 4 within an hour. vet said likely to continue and he was suffering so we made decision to euthanize not knowing that this could be GI illness instead. two days after euthanizing him i learned of recall of (members mark brand beef and rice and chicken and rice) and saw many posts of illness and seizures on Facebook by other owners that were feeding puring foods.. and he also ate purina.. he had just started with canned true instinct tender cuts in gravy purchased 12/31/2024 and started to eat it 01/01/2024(served with kibble in am)prior to that can he ate pedigree can since sept 2023 and had been refusing to eat all his purina moist and meaty burger packets purchased 12/4/2023(served in evening with kibble). my 2nd dog died also was euthanized (b) (6) . and my third is still sick not doing well at all has to keep going back to vet labs they dont know what is causing this. if he doesnt improve he will also need to be euthanized. please help me , im begging you to find out what is in the food. | 15 | Years | Poodle - Toy | Dog | 10 | Pound |

We took her to the emergency vet and after several tests and xrays, there were no answers. In November, our 7 yo male golden started having diarrhea and when it turned bloody, we took him to the emergency vet. No answers after several tests. Both dogs were more or less fine aside from extremely itchy skin until 1/20 when the 8yo female started having diarrhea and vomiting again. We made the choice to switch from Purina Pro Plan (a food line I have been feeding my dogs for over 20 years) hoping this would help. While the female has improved, the male is now going through a bout of diarrhea and bloody stools. The food switch was gentle - mostly chicken, rice and pumpkin small amounts of kibble. Not enough to make either of them sick. The male can't go more than a couple hours without needing to go outside, has no interest in food or water and is definitely more lethargic than usual. The female has improved as far as no diarrhea or vomiting but is still quite lethargic. Male also dropped 5 lbs in less than a week. | 7 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 95 | Pound |
| EON-560793 | 1/25/2024 11:04 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Shredded Blend Beef and Rice | We have fed our 2 dogs (b) (6) and (b) (6) a 4-year-old and a 2-year-old Labrador Purina Pro Plan forever. We purchased the food from Chewy Autoship. We were using the shredded beef flavor. (b) (6) had a 5-minute seizure and was vomiting. Once he came, we took him to the vet to get checked out. A few days later, our 2-year-old, (b) (6) started vomiting and having loose stools. After reading other reports and reviews of this food (maybe it is a bad batch), we no longer feel safe using it. That is sad because we love Purina Brand and it is affordable to us. We also feed two cats, Purnia Cat Chow. | 4 | Years | Poodle - Standard | Dog | 65 | Pound |
| EON-560792 | 1/25/2024 11:04 | Purina Pro Plan Puppy | We got my puppy from the Humane Society on 01/17/2024. The shelter had given us a bag of Purina Pro Plan, which they said the puppy had been eating since intake. We continued to feed this to him. On 01/21/2024, (b) (6) began displaying symptoms of lethargy, extremely excessive vomiting, blood in stool, excessive urination, and severe weakness and fatigue as well as nausea. These symptoms persisted through 01/23 and the morning of I admitted him to my veterinarian. Upon further examination by our vet, he was concluded to be suffering from aflatoxin poisoning, a serious and fatal condition that was known to persist in pet foods. Purina Pro Plan is the ONLY food that our puppy has been consuming. | 8 | Weeks | Shepherd Dog - Dutch | Dog | 9 | Pound |

We receive an order a 47 pound bag from Chewy every 11 weeks. On January 7th I opened up a new bag of Purina Pro Plan large breed chicken and rice dry dog food and fed my dog three meals over a 12 hour period totaling 3 cups worth only from the new bag. That night and into January 8th, my dog experienced severe diarrhea, vomiting, and was lethargic. We did not feed him any dog food from that bag on January 8th and switched to a different dog food as recommended by the vet as a precautionary in case there was something wrong with the new bag of food. | EON-560774 | 1/25/2024 10:40 | Purina pro | My 3.5 year old dog refused from day one to ever eat dog food. I tried so many kinds but he just wouldn't so I began feeding him food that I would make for him. We got another dog about a year later and that one would eat dog food she loved it. We didn't have to feed her we would just always have a filled bowl out at all times. He would never even go near it. One night we were all shocked because our other dog the one who hates dog food was actually eating dog food with his sister. We were so excited to see this. We video recorded it took pictures. It was a really fun night for us. The very next day that 3:00 in the afternoon he had a seizure. He had one, then another by this time we are in the car racing for the vet which luckily us across the street. The were able to stop the seizure but it wasn't looking good. My best friend passed away 3 days later. He was never the same dog after that first seizure. He suffered so much those last few days but I selfishly couldn't let him go. I didn't do anything but hold him 24/7 that entire time. If I had to use the bathroom he was in my daughter's arms or on the floor next to me. He continues to have seizures almost every two hours until he passed away. My healthy beautiful friend eats dog food for the first time ever, then he dies. I have to believe that it wasn't the dog food. That I didn't kill my best friend. But, sadly buying that dog food might have killed him. | 3.5 | Years | Chihuahua | Dog | 10 | Pound |

Yesterday we started a new bag and about 3 hours after eating it he began having diarrhea and vomiting. He vomited 3 times last night, and this morning his lips and eyelids were swollen after he ate more for breakfast. We took him to the vet for blood tests and other tests, and it is clear the food led to his vomiting and allergic reaction. | EON-560751 | 1/25/2024 8:40 | Purina HA Vegetarian | Dog started with vomiting noted on 10/27/2023. He was seen and evaluated at that time. Abdominal radiographs were performed and it was noted that there was some delayed gastric emptying. Biochemical screen noted elevated Amyl/Lip as well as an elevated Spec cPL (pancreatitis). Renal values were slightly elevated but holding steady from prior lab tests and UPC was in borderline range. Dog was treated with cerenia and ondansetron and recovered from this incident. A nutritional consult was done with Dr. McKenna at Purina and it was suggested to have dog moved over to Purina HA vegetarian diet as lower fat and low purine content to help control urate crystals. Dog started developing some loose stool on 11/1/2023 and was started on Tylan soluble which seemed to help the condition. Dog became sick again with vomiting and not wanting to eat and was seen on 12/5/2023. Owner had gone off the prescription diet and was feeding boiled chicken and white rice at this time. Repeated abdominal radiographs were performed as delayed gastric emptying was noted again. Repeated biochemical screening noted a slight increase in CRE (1.6 vs prior value of 1.2), Spec cPL was normal. Hypertension was noted at the time of the exam (owner had taken dog off telmisartan prior to time of exam due to the vomiting). Hypertension returned to normal once telmisartan was started back up. A Texas A&M panel was also run and dog was diagnosed with B-12 deficiency. Dog again was treated with ondansetron. Also added in Cobalaquin B-12 oral supplement and OTC omeprazole. Dog was started back up on the Purina HA diet again. 12/11/2023 dog broke with diarrhea again and at that time a diarrhea PCR and fecal was sent to outside lab. Owner again started feeding dog boiled chicken and white rice/potatoes. Fecal float was negative for parasites. Dog got sick again while waiting for diarrhea PCR. PCR came back as salmonella positive. 12/19/2023 dog started doing more poorly. The renal values did get slightly worse (SDMA went from 12 to 25, CRE went from 1.6 to 3.0, dog was azotemic and not on prior BW). Dog was hospitalized on IV fluids and antibiotic therapy (ampicillin in house and clavamox to go home). Fecal culture confirmed salmonella was susceptible to clavamox and that was continued for 2 weeks total therapy. Renal values after therapy when rechecked on 12/20/2023 CRE was down to 1.9 and SDMA down to 17 and dog was feeling good. Repeat fecal culture was performed on 1/5 2024 and was negative for salmonella. Owner is very concerned the Purina HA vegetarian diet was the source of the salmonella. | EON-560750 | 1/25/2024 8:40 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials shredded blend chicken and rice formula | I noticed something in my dogs food bowl, a piece of white food. Upon closer inspection, I noticed that it was a worm. I had seen a post about worms in this particular food but didn't think it was true. I immediately went to the food container and started inspecting the food. I broke open many morsels and there were worms INSIDE the food. I obviously stopped giving the dogs this food and closed the container. I was waiting on trash day to clean the container out. When I opened the container, there were worms everywhere, coming out of the food! Truly disgusting. | | | | | |

The diarrhea and vomit became bloody and he was taken to an emergency vet. X-rays and blood samples were taken with no explanation other than a possible ulcer that could not be seen on the X-ray. He was fed a bland diet at the vet's direction for 10 days before he was switched to another brand of dry dog food. His stool became firm again. | EON-560748 | 1/25/2024 8:36 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Chicken & Rice Formula | On January 15th I purchased a 47lb bag of "Purina Pro Plan Chicken Essentials" Dog Food from a "Pet Supplies Plus" store in (b) (6). My dog has eaten this same product for the last 2 years. I filled up our normal dog food container with the new food that night and made the remark to my partner that the food looked different than it had in the past. I fed my dog ~3 cups of this new batch on January 16th, 1.5 cups in the morning, 1.5 in the evening. By that night she was whimpering, throwing up, and having severe diarrhea every 2ish hours. The diarrhea continued for 5 days until we visited a vet urgent care for treatment of the symptoms. We have 2 other dogs that live in the house that eat different food, but drink from the same water sources and live in the same spaces. Neither have exhibited any symptoms. None of the dogs have come into direct contact with any other dogs within the last 3 weeks. Given the difference in appearance of the food in this bag and the timing and nature of her sickness in relation to eating a brand-new batch of this food, I decided to submit this adverse event report. | 5.5 Years | Retriever - Flat-coated | Dog | 109 | Pound |

| EON-560747 | 1/25/2024 8:36 | Purina Cat Chow Indoor Hairball + Healthy Weight | I have three cats. They eat two wet food meals per day and one dry food meal everyday. They are on different wet foods, but they all eat the same dry food. On 01/07/2024 we purchased a new dry food, Purina Indoor Cat Chow with Chicken. They only get 15-20 grams of dry food per day. Our two males get 20 grams of dry food at lunchtime and our female cat gets 15 grams of dry food at lunchtime. Because it is a small amount I think it took a few weeks to see adverse symptoms. But on Sunday our female was vomiting everywhere and our males started getting very bad diarrhea, it even looked like there was a little rectal bleeding for the two that had diarrhea. We called our vet today and she thinks it is probably food poisoning, and the only thing that they have all eaten was the Purina Indoor Cat Chow with Chicken. One of my cats is 9 and has never had diarrhea before, and the other I have had for 2 years (think he is about 5 years old), and he has never had diarrhea in that time. I am very confident that it is the Purina because it is the only food they have all eaten, and there has been some improvement since I have stopped feeding them that food. Additionally, it is not just food sensitivities, because they have eaten Purina before in the past with no adverse reactions to it. I opened 4 cans of the case of 12 & it was in all cans. It's very thick and greasy. My husband & I think it is machine grease. There is no way I could feed this to my dog. It's disgusting & scary. I took photos and called the Hill's company. The representative immediately recognized the problem & tried to explain this is normal. No Way! I have been using this dog food for months, and this was something new & disgusting. I sent all the photos, including the lot number, UPC, expiration dates, etc. The next day their quality control dept. sent me an email explaining the black substance is a normal reaction between iron & sulphur. If they are so aware of this issue, why haven't they corrected the problem? I am very worried that this black substance is harmful & will hurt dogs that eat it. I am requesting the FDA test the substance to find out what it is & if it's harmful. I have seen online that other people have been upset by this foreign substance. I did not feed any of that case of food to my dog. I still have 8 more cans of that case & would be happy to send it to you for analysis, as well as the photos I took. | | | | | | |

| EON-560739 | 1/25/2024 8:28 | Purina ProPlan Complete Essentials Beef and Rice | My girl was fed and ate nothing but Purina Pro Plan. In August I went to buy more food and they were out of the Sensitive Stomach Salmon and Rice so I bought Turkey and Oatmeal, she ate may a quarter of the bag and had loose poop, vomited bile and refused to eat anymore. So I stopped and found a bag of the Salmon which was her favorite. She started to eat again but was experiencing the loose poop again and refused to eat, even if fed by hand, she turned away or spit it out. Still had no idea it was the food. Bought the Essential Beef and Rice, thought success! Nope after a week of eating this the same thing so I took her to the vet, (b) (6) was just not her happy self. The Vet took blood to run some tests and prescribed her with some med and Purina EN food. It was a fight to get her to take the meds, and only ate 2 bowls of the food, absolutely hated it. Vet called with results, very high liver enzymes and suggested a bland diet to see if she would at least eat. Now were are into November with all this still going on. (b) (6) stopped eating even the human ground turkey. She was just so sad and lethargic, back to vet as I noticed a very distended stomach. Our vet took one look at her and her eyes and said she is in liver failure. Off to the Emergency Veterinary Hospital. They ran all kinds of tests and confirmed the enzymes were still very high and they kept her to run further testing and put her on meds and an IV. We agreed to a liver biopsy and the results were not what we were hoping for. She had severe liver damage brought on by copper accumulation. After being there a week and having fluid taken out of her stomach twice we were advised that she was not going to get better, there was not a portion of her liver to save. We made the decision to put our girl to rest. This is just awful that this food could make her sick and take her from us. | 33 | Months | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 53 | Pound |

| EON-560736 | 1/25/2024 8:28 | Purina Fancy Feast poultry and beef classic pate cat food (24 cans) | I purchased a box of Purina Fancy Feast poultry and beef pate cat food (24 cans) of three flavors, Turkey, Chicken, and beef. Several cans, all Turkey pate, were bulging or puffy instead of concave like they should be. I am concerned that these cans may have botulism. I returned them to the (b) (6) store (Kroger) on 1/24/2024 when I discovered the problem. They are located at (b) (6). I told them my concern & also to get a replacement box. I opened the new box at the store in front of the manager and found another bulging puffy can of Turkey pate in that box. If I am right cats across the country may be in danger of dying or severe illness. Some people may not realize that something is wrong with these cans. I contacted the manufacturer and I was given the upc code from an individual can of the turkey product. I am not sure if this is correct (5000042984) for those in the box but it is the same can as those sold individually. The grocery store manager told me that they probably already had thrown out the boxes containing the bad cans. The remaining boxes on the shelf had a upc code of 05000057547 with a tiny 3. These boxes should have been pulled and checked but it does not appear that the store is doing that. The turkey product also is in other boxes containing a variety of different flavors, so I don't know if they are also a problem as well as cans sold individually. I have been using this product for years so I am very familiar with the product and how it normally looks. | | | | | | |

With this last bag of food, ordered from Chewy.com, on 12/26/2023 and delivered on 12/28/2023, I began feeding them on 12/29/2023 and within a few hours, all 4 dogs had severe gastrointestinal issues (vomiting and diarrhea). I didn't associate it with the food immediately and continued feeding them the same food until I changed their food on 1/2/2024 to a different brand. The dogs' symptoms began to improve and within 72 hours they were all recovered. I contacted Purina to notify them on 1/19/2024 and they responded with "Please be assured that the data obtained has been properly noted and reported to the appropriate individuals in our company for further evaluation". I kept a small bag of this food in my freezer and I just wanted to notify you in case there is a need to investigate the food. Thank you. | | | Retriever - Golden | Dog | | |

| EON-560729 | 1/25/2024 8:20 | 4health potato and salmon | All three of my dogs have been on 4health dog food since I have had them. I normally have no issues, but around middle of December all three of my dogs became sick. All three of them were throwing up all sorts of colors and having massive diarrhea. Four weeks I eliminated possible objects like certain treats and outside events as well as toys. The only thing that staying consistent is the food. It wasn't until about three weeks later that I finally threw away the bag of dog food only to buy a different bag and once since then have they had any sort of incident. Whatever was in my bag of dog food was making all three of my dogs sick and with the same symptoms the only symptom that one of them got that the other two didn't was scabs and rashes. Since getting rid of that bag of dog food, everything has cleared. I would like to know what will be done about that. She is an extremely healthy, very active dog with no health issues at all. I purchased a new bag of her dog food at my local grocery store and began feeding that bag on 1/21/24. She had pretty extreme diarrhea Sunday night. Monday, her condition worsened and included vomiting, panting, restlessness, tail chewing, dehydration, and she even hid under furniture. I took her to our local emergency vet at 12 am on 1/23/24 where they discovered (in addition to her projectile diarrhea) a very low potassium level, extreme dehydration, and signs of acute stress. The other 2 dogs in our family are on different food, and her new bag of food is the only thing we can think of that would cause this kind of reaction in our normally happy, VERY healthy and VERY active dog. | 2 | Years | Cattle Dog - Australian (blue heeler, red heeler, Queensland cattledog) | Dog | 21 | Pound |

He seized for what seemed like 5 minutes. He control of his bladder and was vomiting. He came out of that seizure and seemed to be ok for about a half hour and then started seizing again. We took him to an emergency vet an hour away where they gave him kepra and kept him. He spiked a fever the next dav so they did a chest x-ray and realized he aspirated during the seizures. They started antibiotics. On (b) (6) his fever was over 106 and they told us he was extremely ill and they didn't think he was going to get better so we made the hard decision to stop his suffering and put him to sleep. For a couple weeks prior to the seizure he had not been wanting to eat his food. This was totally abnormal for him. We would tell him to "eat his food" and he eventually would. | EON-560506 | 1/23/2024 10:44 | Purina pro plan complete essentials shredded blend chicken and rice 7+ | We opened a new bag of Purina Pro plan chicken and rice 7+ early December. Days later my boy started having diarrhea and vomiting. We stopped the food and gave boiled chicken and rice. He seemed a little better and we started back in his Purina and again had diarrhea, vomiting, gas and stopped eating. Went to vet various times for fecal tests, X-rays, blood work, barium study, ultra sound and even had exploratory surgery. Vets couldn't figure out what was wrong and eventually said a bad case of IBD. He was fine before this food and ended up dying on (b) (6) ...about 1 month after eating that food. We then started mixing the 4Health with the Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin & Stomach Adult Dry Dog Food - Salmon & Rice (mainly because the Purina was very expensive and because we wanted to see if he would be okay with it being mixed-in) and he started throwing up again, lethargic, and not feeling well. | 2 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 170 | Pound |

Sensitive Skin & Stomach. | Late summer of 2023 I purchased Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice Flavored as a backup. I never bought this brand before. The first bag was consumed. Noticed some bloating but did not connect the dots that it may have been the food. October 2023 purchased another bag of Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice... Because we have two homes (b) (6) wasn't always using PPP, the other home in (b) (6) , I serve him different food. I packed the PPP Kibbles in his travel bag. December 24th to December 26th I was traveling and used the PPP Kibbles! He immediately started panting and drinking a lot of water! There were then, some red flags about what he ingested... I called the vet immediately, they had an opening January 2nd. When (b) (6) got home in (b) (6) , he was fed his other food, the panting began to subside. We drove to (b) (6) on January 1st to attend his appointment the next day! I fed him 1/4 cup of his PPP with Fresh Pet. He also had his Froggy filled with PPP before his appointment. (b) (6) receives a blood test his panels stated a high level of glucose. Dr wanted him back morning the next day to take more panels and begin a plan to administer insulin. (b) (6) began throwing up at about 7pm, NON-STOP!!! He continued throwing up until 6:45am (b) (6) I grabbed him to help him and noticed his eyes were glazed over and he had his final breath and died at 7:13AM, in my arms! I purchased a small bag from the vet's office and he was fine with the change in food. I purchased a large bag online from Purina on 10/6 but mixed it with Science Diet. I don't know the exact date he started eating the large bag. On 10/27 he started vomiting daily and had diarrhea. I didn't connect it to his change in food because we had already changed it with the small bag. The vomiting stopped. I ordered another bag from Purina on 11/10. My dog, who has no history of seizures starting having facial focal seizures then a grand mal on 11/27. We put him on medication to stop the seizures but decided not to have an MRI. He had another grand mal seizure on 12/4 then had a facial seizures for over three hours on 12/23. He slowly declined where we had to put him down on (b) (6). I don't know for sure if all of this is connected to the food but the timeline matches up closely enough that I thought it was important to share this information. I froze a few cups of food in case it needs to be tested. | | | | | | |

The dog often showed signs of not wanting to eat the food after I introduced it, but eventually gave in. By January 15, 2024 the dog was vomiting and had diarrhea. He did not want to eat or drink, so we took him to a veterinarian, where he was diagnosed with renal failure at 1.5 years old. He did not get into any poison or toxic material at our home. The food is the only thing that we would have caused this problem with our otherwise healthy dog. | 1.5 | Years | Great Pyrenees | Dog | 72 | Pound |

I didn't know it was the food, so they were fed again with it Monday morning and Monday evening. Monday night, (b) (6) vomited. Tuesday (Jan 9th), I feed them with it again in the morning (still not knowing if (b) (6) symptoms were from anxiety or what). Tuesday afternoon, (b) (6) vomits. Then, when (b) (6) and (b) (6) poop, it's soft serve and orange like (b) (6) explosive diarrhea. This is when I realize it's not just an (b) (6) thing and call the vet. I tell them I opened a new bag of food that Sunday and believe it could be that and they tell me to put them all on a bland diet. They didn't have an opening to see (b) (6) until that Friday, so from Monday-Friday, she was waking me up at all hours of the night to go out to diarrhea and having to go multiple times during the day. I take her to the vet that Friday (Jan 12th) and they do an x-ray and blood work on her. The x-ray shows no obstructions and blood work comes back normal. The conclusion is that my suspicions are correct; the dog food made our dogs sick. They send me home with medicine for her. That Saturday, even after being on the bland diet already for four days, (b) (6) poops transform into diarrhea sprays, to the point of having accidents in the house. The vet doesn't have an appointment until Thursday and Friday (Jan 18th & 19th), so I snag both for (b) (6) and (b) (6). In the meantime, I take a stool sample in to have tested; no parasites. I take both dogs in and at the end of the week; (b) (6) still had explosive orange poop and (b) (6) still had soft serve orange poop (despite it being 12 days after being fed bad food and 10 days of still being on the bland diet). They send me home with the same care plan as (b) (6) Now here we are, two weeks later, still on a bland diet and medicine until everyone's poop finally return to normal. (b) (6) has and we're pretty close for the other two. Its important to note my dogs have eaten these treats for years and are not sensitive to them. My other 3 had only 1 treat and they all vomited within hours of eating. I figured it was a bad bag or just a fluke so I had tossed it out. I buy in bulk so I have 7 unopened bags and believe the issue is with the Vietnam facility. However; I also do have a Cambodia bag that is unopened. We purchased another bag to see if the issue was actually the batch. Our cattedog was given one treat on 01/21/2024 and he vomited within one hour of eating this time. | EON-560388 | 1/22/2024 12:08 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin and Stomach Small Breed Formula Salmon is the first ingredient. No corn wheat or soy. | As stated above, the vet recommended at that appointment (June 24, 2023) that we switch to a different dog food and one that was recommended was this dog food (Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon, adult, small breed formula). So on July 6th when we received the new food from Chewy.com, we gradually made the switch slowly over a couple of weeks and then she was fully on this new food. In less than a month after we switched to this food (b) (6) started to have stomach issues. Below are dates that I have text messages from my son and myself regarding (b) (6) and what was going on. (My 23 year old son, (b) (6) has had (b) (6) sleep with him for most of her life, so he is very aware when something isn't right with her. The messages are from him to me, unless they say from me.) I also have dates for when and why I took her to be seen. 8-5-23 (b) (6) been struggling with her breakfast. Today she didn't finish it and she's acting uncomfortable. Same thing happened a few days ago. Me: "Not sure what is up with that. Her poop hasn't been really solid since the food switch so not sure if that is the issue." 9-16-23 (b) (6) is acting very strange again this morning, she seems uncomfortable. Circling around on bed and weird stretching. She acted hungry for a second then she didn't touch her food. When I put her on the potty pad she just laid down on it. It took her a while to get her to go potty. Sounded like her tummy was growling a lot before she woke up 9-18-23 (b) (6) had vet apt. for her stomach issue (they took stool sample: Ova and parasite (Centrifugal Fecal Flotation) Test and Giardia Antigen Test (2320), came back normal on the 23rd. They said to follow up again if she had another round of issues to check for pancreatitis. | 9.5 | Years | Shih Tzu | Dog | 6.5 | Pound |

I have her scheduled to get blood work drawn for tomorrow at 12, unless they get a cancelation. They will check for pancreatitis, and this is one of the signs. | | | | | | |

| | | | 12-14-23 (b) (6) had bloodwork done at Pawitive Care Veterinary Clinic. - Canine Pancreatic Lipase(cPL)(2073) Results: 1) Slight decrease of calcium - not concerning 2)cPL within normal range. No indication of pancreatitis Interpretation: A few results are just outside the standard reference interval, but these can be considered normal because 10% of animals fall just outside the reference interval. I have no concerns at this time. 12-14-23 - evening Me: (b) (6) puked again tonight so I will keep her so you can sleep. Around this time I started her on bland diet of canned pumpkin, rice, and boiled turkey. She started out enjoying eating it. She ate some of the Purina here and there when she didn't want this food, and just a little bit here and there only because she acted like she wanted to eat it and went to where it was. 12-20-23 (b) (6) threw up again 12-21-23 Me: The vet can't see (b) (6) until Jan. 22 or I can try and call next Thursday to get their spot they save for emergencies. I had already called today right when they opened and they had their 2 spots already taken. I am going to call the old vet in (b) (6) and see if he can see her. I checked around our area and just not sure about some of these other places. | | | | | | |
| | | | 12-21-23 Me: Got (b) (6) an appointment for (tomorrow) Saturday at 9:20 at old vet place in (b) (6) At this time (b) (6) also was not wanting to drink much, but was still peeing large amounts. 12-23-24 - Appt. at (b) (6) They did an exam, an ear swab, fecal, urinalysis, and abdominal radiograph survey. Urinalysis showed she had a UTI and they gave her antibiotics to take for that, and some Canine I/D Turkey Loaf Cans. Also put her on regimen of 5 mg of Famotidine and 5 mg of Omeprazole. He had a little debris in her ear and wants her ear cleaned out with OTC ear wash twice this week and then monthly. Other results were normal. They wanted to see her back in 14 days to recheck. I slowly tried to get (b) (6) onto the canned food, mixing it in a little at a time with the rice, pumpkin diet. She no longer really wanted the rice bland food or canned food at a certain point, slowly began to stop eating stuff, unless she would go a long time without food than would eat. Drank less water, but I would add water to the food. 1-8-24 - I took her back to (b) (6) for a recheck of her urine, and follow-up appt. She said she still had a slight infection in her urine, so they put her on another 7 days of antibiotics, and switched the food to Royal Canine GI Low Fat Canned food. They wanted to do another UTI recheck and we scheduled an appointment for 1-19-24. She liked the new food at first, but then was less and less interested in it. Drank very little and it was apparent that she just wasn't wanting to eat much. The vet office called to check on her and I told them she wasn't really wanting to eat much. The vet sent a text message with a recipe to try to get her to eat, cream of wheat, egg, low-fat cottage cheese, a little oil and sugar. She wanted it at first and then didn't want much of it. She was very boney, no muscle mass and clear to me that she was not going to put on any weight and just didn't act like herself anymore. She didn't want to | | | | | | |
| | | | play with her favorite toy anymore and too me looked like she was starving to death. I made the call to the vet office on 1-16-24, and told them we thought it was time to put her down, but I wanted my 2 kids to have another full day with her. She said I could let them know when I wanted to schedule it. I sent a text back and asked for a Thursday appointment, so we set it up for 2:20 on 1-18-24. The evening of 1-16-24 around 5pm (b) (6) had a seizure. I called the vet right away and asked to move up the appointment for the next day. We didn't want her to suffer. She only had the one seizure. (b) (6) we went in at 9:40am for her euthanasia. I have not contacted either vet offices to release (b) (6) medical records, but I am not against doing that, if need be. | | | | | | |

Purchased first bag of Royal Canin puppy kibble at Petco while transitioning from milk. No issues. I work for two veterinary hospitals and order from Royal Canin directly, 30 lb bag of GS Puppy food arrived, I opened it Sunday, January 14, 2024, at dinner time. We adopted two pups 2 weeks ago, the others have been adopted. Within 20 minutes of feeding, both pups had extreme explosive vomiting, lethargy. I immediately went to the bag of food and could smell a difference in the kibble. Three hours later, vomiting still occurred. Fortunately with my background I monitored closely and kept them hydrated. I have not fed it since, still waiting on a reply from Royal Canin but they're swamped with complaints. We've had over 500 foster dogs the last 23 years and I have always supported, stood by their product and recommend it to all of our adopters. But something is definitely wrong. A client opened a new bag of Royal Canin adult kibble, her dog would not eat it, she contributed it to her dog just having a dental with several extractions. As in the rescue world, we have a long term foster with a stomach of steel, never had any GI issues. I mixed 1/4 cup in with his 1 3/4 cup RC weight management kibble just once and he had explosive bloody diarrhea and vomiting, that was on December 15th. I dumped the kibble in the woods for wildlife (oops) I wasn't aware of any issues at the time. | 10 | Weeks | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 20 | Pound |

It is her only food source. She does not eat any other food and she has never has human food. She was a very healthy indoor cat with normal organ levels, zero health issues ever. She has no contact with other animals at all. With my newest bag of Taste of the Wild (Rocky Mountain) she began vomiting occasionally. For the first couple weeks it did not seem worrisome as it was not frequent. I realized it was not hairballs, but I was still keeping an eye on her because she is not a cat who vomits. At 4pm on Tuesday January 16th 2024 she vomited up a large volume of food (Taste of the Wild kibble) that she had just consumed. The vomiting became acute and over the next 12 hours she vomited 4-5 more times. She was listless, obviously in stomach pain and very uncomfortable. She was definitely sick and not behaving in her normal way. I called the vet (b) (6) at 8am Wednesday January 17, 2024 and was able to bring her in for a 10:45am appointment. (b) (6) did a medical exam, ran blood tests, gave her fluids, and some anti-vomit and antibiotic injections. He determined she was suffering from gastronomic distress and inflammation. He sent me home with a week supply of anti-vomit pills and a week supply of antibiotic. The blood results from 1/17/2024 determined that all of (b) (6) organ levels were normal, but her white blood cell counts were very high because of the inflammation. (b) (6) stopped eating food and when she would drink water her would vomit it up, multiple times per day. She has been very listless up to this point and is obviously in stomach distress. Today is 1/21/2024 and she is still suffering from these symptoms right now. In researching her issues and the food that she had been eating, I found MANY current complaints about the exact same issues from other pet owners about gastrointestinal issues with this current lot of A Taste of the Wild and other brands which were sourced from the same ingredients. I do not want this to happen to other pets and it is important to me that this is investigated. I still have the bag of A Taste of the Wild and will keep it in case it needs to be tested. | 11 | Years | American Shorthair | Cat | 12.5 | Pound |

(b) (6) became ill, listless, and would not eat starting on 12th, continued to be sick with vomiting and diarrhea on 13th. Once he started to eat again on 13th he was given soft human food, not Pro Plan and improved to near full recovery by the 15th. On Jan 15th and the morning of 16th he was given Pro Plan again, and morning of 16th he became ill again and had a seizure. Taken to veterinarian and and given blood test and X-ray. Results were fairly normal, and the vet did not determine a cause for why illness or seizure occurred. Recommended a neurological work up. On the evening of 16th (b) (6) became more ill with another seizure and inability to walk. We again discontinued Purina Pro on the 16th. (b) (6) slowly improved over the next couple days with no more seizures. By the 19th he appeared fully recovered and has had no symptoms for the last several days. While we do not know if Purina Pro was related to his illness, (b) (6) became ill within a two days after we started mixing Pro Plan into his food, he recovered when it was stopped and then became ill again when Pro Plan was resumed. His symptoms are the same as cases we found reported on the Internet where dogs have become ill after eating Pro Plan. And out of the blue he started throwing up and having diarrhea. We went to the vet, who ran tests which came back to nothing. Additionally, he was lethargic, drinking excessive amounts of water, etc. So we were instructed to go on a bland diet and once it resolves to slowly introduce food. We did that, and once we started introducing food the diarrhea came back. So we went back, more and more tests were done, and they decided we'd try a prescription diet, from another brand and that seems to have helped. | EON-560326 | 1/22/2024 2:21 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Complete Essentials Salmon & Rice formula | Two weeks into opening a new bag of Purina Pro Plan, adult, salmon & rice flavor, (b) (6) began exhibiting signs of lethargy, diarrhea, and loss of appetite. Took her in to the vet as I was concerned about this. They told me they found bacteria in her poop and contributed that to something she may have ate. They prescribed me a bland wet food to feed her, anti diarrhea gel, and some pills. We gave her the medicine and she began getting better, then we incorporated the purina back into the wet food portions so she wouldn't have such an abrupt start. She was fine for another two weeks until it all started happening again. But this time she began vomiting, and the diarrhea is green in color. She has vomited up both bile and stomach contents, but since putting her back on the prescription wet food, she seems to be able to digest what she's eaten, albeit still bad because of the diarrhea. My other cat has been exhibiting some symptoms as well but she doesn't eat Purina Pro Plan. However, she is eating Purina Beyond Simply chicken & rice flavor. If it's what I think it might be (salmonella contamination), then my other cat got it from sharing the litter box with (b) (6) and stepping on the contaminated waste. | 5 Years | Domestic Mediumhair | Cat | 9 | Pound |
| EON-560325 | 1/22/2024 2:21 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Beef & Rice Formula Adult | (b) (6) has been eating Purina Pro Plan Adult Shredded Blend Beef & Rice Formula dry dog food for many months. He started throwing up during the night and day. We removed the food completely and switched him to human chicken/rice/vegetables. He continued to throw up after a few days and we took him to the vet. His exam, bloodwork and xrays were all clear so we could not figure out why he would not stop throwing up. He finally stopped throwing up while on the diet of chicken/rice/veg about a week later. We added back in a small amount of dog food and he started throwing up again, but just the dog food. This happened for 2 days and we took the dog food back out, and he stopped throwing up. I think that there is something wrong with this food, it appears that others have had this similar concern on social media. He is on a different brand dry dog food and is not throwing up. This food is a problem and should be investigated and recalled. | 1.5 Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 75 | Pound |
| EON-560323 | 1/22/2024 2:21 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Stomach Large Breed Puppy | Excessive vomiting after every meal, diarrhea, loss of appetite, loud stomach movements lengthy. I have been feeding my do Purina pro plan puppy sinsative stomach large bread dry dog food for 4mths. With their food she has never had an issue. Dec 18th I opened a new bag of the food and the next day she was constipated not eating. Then she started vomiting after the 2nd day dinner. She has bad travel anxiety that affects her eating so we assumed it was because of our car ride so we continued to leave her food for her but she did not eat it. By day 4 she had pooped out a small piece of her rubber toy indicating that she had consumed some. We thought after that it would be better but it actually got worse. She was eating normal again however every single time she ate she was throwing it back up within a few hours. This lasted for about 5 days. That's last 2 days of which she had not eaten more than about half of her serving only one time a day. At this point, I talked with my sister who is a vet tech and she suggested we gave my dog plain boiled chicken and rice. So i did i took her purina food away and only gave her the rice and chicken. It is important to note that she always has and always will eat from a slow feeder so it is not her eating too fast that causes the vomiting. That first bowl of rice and chicken and every day after that she was very eager to eat it. The first day of rice and chicken she did not throw up anymore but still was constipated. Day 3 of rice she was back to complete normal stool and eating schedule/amounts. During her dinner on day 4 I put her prurina food bag by the door as I was about to throw it all away, I grabbed my shoes and came back to the room but by then she had eaten about one cup of it. A few hours later in the middle of the night she threw everything up you could see the purina food along with a the rice in it and she had diarrhea again. The next morning after she ate the purina food and threw up I gave her a small amount of rice and chicken again and she immediately threw it up as if it was never even touched it looks completely in tact. So obviously her stomach was upset so I did. I give her more food. Throughout the day her stomach as making loud noises and she still had diarrhea. By dinner that day she ate her rice and chicken normally and did not poop at all. The next morning so day 6 of rice and chicken and 2 days post | 10 Months | Shepher Dog (unspecified) | Dog | 55 | Pound |
| | | | purina pieces she was completely normal again meaning appetite and stool. By that point I started to consider it being the dog food. So I started researching on google. I found that other people were saying specifically the purina pro plan large bread sensitive stomach was making their dogs do the same things as mine. I decided to reach out to purina directly and file a complaint. Not only did purina completely ignore everything else I said and just said they were sorry to hear about my "dogs loose stool" but they also said that their food in completely safe to get my pets. They also said they will be mailing me coupons for my next purchase (as if I would still even want to buy from them). They more importantly completely disregarded how sick my dog got and SHE WAS TOTALLY FINE ON CHICKEN AND RICE BUT ATE A SMALL AMOUT OF THEIR FOOD AND GOT SICK AGAIN BUT HAS BEEN ENTIRELY HEALTHY AFTER THAT. It has been a total of 18 days on chicken and rice and she has only had issues that one day after eating a small amount of their food. I know without a doubt that their food made my fur baby sick. There is no questioning that and for those thinking it is just her stomach, remember she was better, ate a small amount of their food and got sick again and after that was completely healthy again. I have not dared to give her a new bag of their food until I hear they have done something about this. That is very unfortunate for my dog because we had such a long process of trying foods that she could eat and not get extremely gassy from being that she does have a sensitive stomach. Other that this instance her purina food never bother her and was out favorite go to. I hope they recap this and figure it out soon because she loved their food and really do not want to have to change it up on her and cause her stomach problems if I do not absolutely have to. She is currently still eating rice and chicken some carrots too. | | | | | |

| EON-560322 | 1/22/2024 2:20 | Purina Pro Plan Savor Chicken and Rice | My dog has been on Purina Pro Plan almost his entire life. I purchased a new bag about 6 weeks ago and just after he began to eat it he became very sick. He began vomiting daily, diarrhea, very lethargic, stopped drinking water. This went on for about two weeks and I didn't get him into the vet immediately as I was currently dealing with the death of a family member. I finally got him into the vet on Jan 9 which is when they told me he has stage 4 kidney disease. I since have stopped feeding him the Purina and the vomiting has stopped and we are currently treating him with meds and IV fluids. The pet store where I purchases the food advised there is a significant problem with Purina and I was also advised to report to FDA. I did take a photo of the barcode from the bag and also kept a sample as I intend on having it tested. | 7 | Years | Sheepdog - Shetland | Dog | 30.8 | Pound |

We switched him to rice and ground turkey Friday evening and Saturday morning but did not realize he had vomited again overnight Friday. Took (b) (6) to our vet on Saturday morning for an emergency appt. They ran bloodwork and did xray. Xray showed no foreign bodies. Bloodwork showed high liver levels and they asked us to go to our emergency vet. Emergency vet performed ultrasound and found an irritated GI tract consistent with ingesting a toxin or bacteria. Antibiotics, anti nausea meds & liver protector have all been prescribed. No new treats or food had been fed. Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice has been our food for years. (b) (6) became sicker than the other 2 and had to go to the vet ($600 for lab work, x-rays and fecal test). No definitive diagnosis was given but the main thing these dogs had in common was dog food). | EON-560314 | 1/22/2024 2:20 | Royal Canin Veterinary Diet Renal Support Early Consult Dry Dog Food | I am concerned the bag of Royal Canin Renal Support dry dog food we received is contaminated. We ordered a new bag of food on Jan. 11, 2024 via Chewy.com. We received the food on Jan. 12th and started giving the food to our dog, (b) (6) the same day. (b) (6) was boarded at a dog kennel from Jan. 12 until Jan. 15. When we picked him up on Jan. 15th the kennel told us that he had diarrhea. At the kennel he did not have access to things or food that would irritate his stomach. Upon returning home Jan. 15th (b) (6) ate minimally throughout the week, with diarrhea each day and no improvement. We eventually had to take him to a pet hospital for IV fluids and medication to stabilize him. He had been lethargic, no appetite, and he lost several pounds of weight in the process. We stopped giving him Royal Canin on Jan. 18th because of his hospitalization, as well as it became our concern it could be the food irritating his GI tract. (b) (6) bloodwork showed mild-moderate systemic inflammation but was otherwise unremarkable, and his abdominal ultrasound was within normal limits, with no overt notable causes for his signs. We submitted a blood panel to be further tested and evaluated. According to my internet research, there are hundreds of reports of dogs having similar symptoms from various dog food brands including Royal Canin. From what I understand, the growing concern is at the supplier level. No recalls yet for the various brands but research is starting as people are reporting to FDA and dog food manufacturers. | 10 | Years | Great Pyrenees | Dog | 53 | Pound |

| EON-560312 | 1/22/2024 2:20 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials shredded blend Beef & Rice formula. | We fed our 2 dogs Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Beef & Rice dry dog food. In November 2023, our 11 month old English Mastiff, (b) (6) had a seizure out of no where. One week later, he had another seizure and we rushed him to the vet. They ran bloodwork tests on him. The bloodwork panel was clear - no issues. He was also tested for Valley Fever and Tick disease since we live in Arizona. He was negative for both. A week later, November 19, he had another seizure, this time while at Petsmart. His seizures (4) were all grand mal. We rushed him back to the emergency vet as it was a Sunday and they put him on Keppra (seizure med) and kept him over night. We picked him up on noon Monday Nov. 20. He appeared to be ok. We took him to our home vet and they said to keep him on meds and watch him. On (b) (6), 2023 at 5:15am I noticed him moving around the bedroom and making noise. I got up and he was bumping into the Christmas tree, the sofa and the wall. He acted drunk. I let him outside and he took facing the house, with his head resting on the side of the house. I called his name and he looked around. I got him and guided him into the house and laid him down on his bed. I then realized something was wrong with his eyesight (he lost vision). A moment later, he started seizing, grand mol. My husband heard him thrashing around on the floor and came over to help. We felt him heating up so we applied cold wet towels on him as well as a fan on him. The seizure never let up. He was foaming at the mouth. We were unable to move 185 lbs that was thrashing around to my car so we had to wait until we could safely move him. We called the emergency vet and they told us to bring him in. We dragged him on the blanket he was laying on to the garage. I ran to a neighbor's house to ask him to help my husband lift (b) (6) into my car, still seizing. We took him approximately 5 miles to the emergency clinic and they took his temperature - 110 degrees. They could not break the temp. Due to having a grand mol seizure for 2+ hours and a temp of 110 degrees, this left him unresponsive and with brain damage. We had no choice but to euthanize our baby. We are broken. No prior health issues. This happened when I switched him to the Purina Pro Plan Food. Our 12 year old golden retriever got super dry skin and was scratching himself until he was bleeding. | 11 | Months | Mastiff | Dog | 185 | Pound |

This continued off and on, and he was seen by our vet on 1/15/24. An X-ray was done to make sure there were no blockages, which proved there were not. Bloodwork was also done which showed no apparent reason for his symptoms. He was given IV fluids, B12, and anti-nausea medication. As soon as we started giving him his dog food again, he began with extreme vomiting again. | 4 | Years | Rottweiler | Dog | 90 | Pound |

They managed to keep the food down, but vomited water and foam. I was worried enough that it might be the food that I immediately re-bagged the food and set it aside, switching them back to the other bag of Purina ONE. One of my cats (b) (6) recovered that afternoon. My other cat (b) (6) from the same litter) ended up with urinary problems days later that required a $7,500 surgery to correct. He is mostly recovered now, after a month. Neither of my cats had any health problems prior to this incident. The date that I fed them the food was between November 27 and December 1. I bought the food before Thanksgiving. I didn't know what to do with the food or where to report it until the MSNBC article was published yesterday. The newest dog, a 15 month old golden doodle, was the first to stop eating his food that he normally ate so fast that he had to be put outside until the other finished. When my 4 year old yellow lab stopped eating, I knew the food was the problem. I realized that all five dogs had begun to have very stinky gas, and not there's presence of diarrhea. They are also on the verge of lethargic. My vivacious lab doesn't even want to go outside, where she always wants to be. My elderly girl's belly is swollen. They were not interested in the food like something was wrong with it and since switching they've had no issues and haven't got sick at all. Took to Emergency vet and they asked what he ate since they ruled out a seizure when the seizure meds did not help him. Only thing he had ate was the purina pro plan dog food. | EON-560262 | 1/20/2024 21:28 | Stella & Chewy's freeze-dried raw Chick Chick Chicken dinner morsels | After eating Stella & Chewy's freeze-dried Chick Chick Chicken food that was always fed dry every day, my cat experienced severe constipation and died. He did not produce a bowel movement for 8 days, and then he died. We know this fact based on our litter box camera footage. We took his dead body to his vet, and she looked over his dead body and did not see any signs of other illness and proposed that he most likely had an obstruction, such as constipation. Without doing a necropsy, this was the best explanation for his death. He did not have any prior symptoms or any diagnosed health issues, so constipation is the most likely explanation. My other cat who is alive who has also been eating this food dry has also been experiencing constipation and produces small pieces of dry, crumbly poop during every bowel movement. The bags of Stella & Chewy's freeze-dried foods explicitly say the foods can be left out to eat dry without rehydrating, but this is dangerous and causes constipation due to the high bone content and extreme lack of moisture in the food. I wish I would have known this prior to my cat's death, and Stella & Chewy's should not be allowed to advertise on the bags that this food can be fed dry without rehydrating. | 5 | Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | 11 | Pound |
| EON-560261 | 1/20/2024 21:28 | Purina One Lamb and Rice Formula | (b) (6) wasn't eating well and was losing weight. He was drinking a lot of water, particularly in the mornings. He was more lethargic, and had minimal interest in eating. He also hadn't wanted any dog treats for a few weeks, so he was only eating his dog food one time per day. He vomited some bile, which was highly unusual, and had some diarrhea, so I took him to the vet to check his health on 12/13/23. His heart was fine, and the vet didn't feel any masses, but said his abdominal area was sensitive when he palpated it. He took blood to run a full panel of tests to determine the underlying problem. The next day we found out that some of the values were off the charts, and he was diagnosed with stage 3 kidney failure. We were shocked, as (b) (6) health was excellent previously. We started daily LFS fluids subcutaneously at home, Hills Kidney Care Food (which he barely ate), Entyce, Enalapril, Metronidazole, and Phos-Bind (which took 3 days to get). (b) (6) drank some water for a few days on his own, in addition to the fluids, but wasn't interested in food so ate very little. On Monday, 12/18, (b) (6) seemed stable, but on (b) (6), the decline was evident. He was not drinking on his own, not eating, laying quietly. | EON-560257 | 1/20/2024 21:28 | Purina Pro Plan Puppy Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Dry Dog Food | A new bag of Purina Pro Plan Puppy Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Dry Dog Food Lot number 32806001 1528L 08 with a Expiration date of April 2025 was purchased and (b) (6) would have random bouts of vomiting immediately after eating the food. On 1/17/24 he started vomiting with blood in it as well as diarrhea with blood in it. He would refuse to eat the food and was lethargic. He was taken to the vet and was given IV fluids and anti-nausea medication. This was the only food he ate. | 1 | Years | Hound (unspecified) | Dog | 46 | Pound |
| EON-560256 | 1/20/2024 21:28 | Dog cookie without label, Dog treat/ looks like a peanut butter cup/no label, Iced dog cookies without label | I went in to (b) (6) in (b) (6) to check out their newly renovated store. I always read pet treat labels because I have a smaller dog with allergies to certain ingredients. They're selling homemade dog treats with NO labels and the girl at the counter couldn't seem to tell me what's in them either. I thought every product being sold had to have some ingredient labeling. So I'm filing this report in hopes this can be corrected because I'd hate to see a pet get sick or die from something their owner bought that didn't have proper labeling. | | | | | | |

| EON-560254 | 1/20/2024 21:28 | Purina Cat Chow Senior Essentials 7+ | Purchased Purina Cat Chow Senior Essentials 7+ and fed it to our three cats. We have been feeding them this food for years with no issues. One of our three cats (19 year old female DSH) refused to eat it. The other two (19 year old male DSH and 16 year old female DSH) ate it. Both became ill within a matter of days. They lost weight extremely fast and became weak. We switched to a different food and offered it to both sick cats. One accepted the new food and has made a nearly complete recovery (he is still regaining weight). The other cat refused any other food and died very quickly. The cat that died was the youngest of our three and was in perfect health. She had never experienced illness prior to this event. | 16 | Years | Mixed (Cat) | Cat | 7 | Pound |

| EON-560252 | 1/20/2024 21:24 | Purina one smart blend true instinct | (b) (6) was perfectly healthy and had no health issues. On Sunday January 7th she went outside for a few hours as she does every day. When we went to let her back in she could barely walk or use her back legs. We had to carry her in and lay her in her bed. Her pupils were dilated and non-reactive to light, she was panting heavily, seemed disoriented, and was shaking badly. She would not eat or drink. We let her rest in her bed and her condition did not improve through the evening. We were worried she got into something while she was outside so we went and checked the enclosed run where our two dogs go, there was nothing there to indicate and hung out of the ordinary that could have caused this issue. We let her rest through the night and in the morning her condition had not improved. Our vet was able to get her in that morning so we took her to be evaluated. The vet did a thorough physical and x-rays. There was nothing on the x-ray that could cause her issues (no bowel obstructions, breaks in her spine, etc). The only thing that the vet said showed up in the x-ray was some fine gravelly looking substance in her intestine which was odd. There is no gravel in our yard where they stay only grass. The vet prescribed steroids thinking the issue may be some kind of clot in her spinal column blood flow. This was a guess though and there was no definite diagnosis. | 9 | Years | Siberian Husky | Dog | 65 | Pound |

| EON-560250 | 1/20/2024 21:24 | Purina One Tender Selects Blend | I currently work at a vet but I have fed 15/17 of my cats Purina One Tender Selects dry food. All cats began to throw up food, blood, and then their stomach lining. My one cat had to be hospitalized and were on fluids and meds. It took days for my cats to recover with at home treatment while the one was in the hospital. I can provide proof of diagnostics etc. I tried re-feeding the food (a different bag) and the same thing happened. I have had to cut Purina out of their diet completely and they are fine now. Purina is working with me to hopefully pay my vet bills since their food caused this. | 2 | Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | 8 | Pound |
| EON-560249 | 1/20/2024 21:24 | Purina one chicken and rice formula | Upon opening a new bag of Purina one chicken and rice (b) (6) started having diarrhea. It accelerated the following day to diarrhea with blood and blood running out her rear end. On New Year's Eve we ended up at the emergency vet and were given meds and put her on boiled chicken and rice. Once she started feeling better we started giving her Purina mixed in and immediately the diarrhea and blood began again. So we stopped the food immediately and have seen improvement. My cat was eating this food some also and began vomiting blood. | 3 | Years | Terrier - Boston | Dog | 19 | Pound |

| EON-560248 | 1/20/2024 21:24 | Purina Pro Large Puppy Breed | We had two dogs that this hit hard. The first dog was our German Shephard. He got very sick with Diarrhea and vomiting after starting on a new bag of Purina Pro chicken and rice. We had to rush him to ER Vet when he started having bloody diarrhea on Sunday, January 14th. Our Bernedoodle doesn't eat the same type of food, but when the German got sick, the Bernedoodle (b) (6) got into his food while we were busy tending to the German. Just two days later, January 16th, we had to take our Bernedoodle to the vet and she was admitted for two days. Same symptoms as everyone else is saying, diarrhea, vomiting, lethargy, muscle weakness and bloody diarrhea. She almost didn't make it which is why she had to spend two days in the hospital. The vet couldn't find anything wrong and said it may be salmonella poisoning or maybe they got into something. Both of these dogs are inside dogs and are only taken outside on a leash. We see everything they do outside and they didn't get into anything new. The only common denominator is the dog food. I am just extremely thankful that both dogs made it, but we are switching immediately to a new dog food. | 3 | Years | Crossbred Canine/dog | Dog | 30 | Pound |

| EON-560245 | 1/20/2024 21:24 | Puppy Chow Tender & Crunchy with Real Beef Dry Dog Food | We picked up a bag of Purina Puppy Chow just before Christmas to assist (b) (6) with the feeding of puppies she had 2 weeks prior. We took some of her regular dog food of Pedigree and mixed it with Purina Puppy Chow. We picked up Purina as the store was out of Pedigree at the time. We have 4 dogs in the house and two of them were fed just pedigree that was used for the mix and they were fine with no issues. Since we were low on the main food we fed the mix to (b) (6) and then gave the rest to (b) (6). The mix was fed to (b) (6) on 12/25 The night of 12/26 she started to be lethargic, vomiting and had diahrea. We also found a pool of blood by her. Before we could get her to a Vet she had passed the morning of 12/27. Later that day (b) (6) started to show the same symptoms of lethargy, vomiting and diahrea. We tried to assist him at home but on 12/30 he got worse with blood in the stoole and we rushed him to the Vet. They ran tests but could not determin why he was that way. They sent him home with meds. | 1 | Years | Siberian Husky | Dog | 40 | Pound |
| EON-560244 | 1/20/2024 21:24 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach TURkey and Oat Meal Formula | I received this food on January 14th and gave it to the cat. He ate a large portion and seemed to like it. He ate some the following day. After that, I noticed he wasn't eating much, and was starting to act a little depressed/lethargic. The only things he was interested in were treats, and it was still difficult to get him to eat. He also stopped having bowel movements a few days ago, and I administered Miralax to help with that. I read a report about Purina Pro Plan foods being implicated in widespread animal illness, and I realized this was the brand/variety of food I had just switched him to. I took the food away today, and have gotten him to eat a little wet food. He is still lethargic and acting sick. | 3 | Years | American Shorthair | Cat | 10 | Pound |

One cat remains in good health while the other has been lethargic, uncontrolled diarrhea blood in their stool and sores on rectal area from not being able to hold a bowel. My kitten- (b) (6) has been to vet 3 times has had to have a vitamin b shot, fluids introduced and a penicillin shot along with take home meds to control diarrhea. Problem has been on going since 12/23 and is current as of 1/20/24 medicine has not helped. Food was purchased from Walmart store (b) (6). I am now wondering if the Purina dry food I was giving my kitty was tainted in some way as I read other pet owners also have had a concern about Purina food. My 7 year young, healthy, active, very playful kitty became very lethargic around Labor Day so I took her to the vet to see what was going on with her. She had a check up in February last year and was healthy. The vet told me she was anemic and put her on an antibiotic and steroids. She told me she did not know what was causing her illness however. I took her back in 2 weeks and she was given more medicine. She gradually got worse and after 2 1/2 months of trying to make her better, she only got worse and was deteriorating with every passing day. She had no quality of life left. My beautiful calico was put to sleep. She was never let outside so it just makes me wonder if it was the Purina Grain Free Chicken and Egg cat food. We also used Purina cat litter for her. | 7 | Years | Domestic (unspecified) | Cat | 13 | Pound |
| EON-560241 | 1/20/2024 21:24 | Purina Pro Plan Adult 11+ Tuna and Salmon Entree | After our other cat had a reaction we thought was allergy related (Noted in a separate report: She immediately started reacting and within a week started ripping her hair out, we finally had to take her to the vet and he said she was having a reaction and asked what food we were giving her. She has been taking a medication to stop the reaction since (that is now going on 6 months), and she has been fine.). Since we thought it was allergies, we started giving it to this cat, and he immediately started over grooming himself to the point there were so many knots in his fur we needed to shave him completely to rid of it. The moment we stopped giving him this wet food he stopped the behavior. That is both cats with both having the same reaction to this food. | 3 | Years | Scottish Fold Longhair | Cat | | |

About 24 hours after starting the food, puppies began to not really want to eat. Normally food is not left over in the bowl and food was not being eaten. Puppies then began to become lethargic, dehydrated and had loose mucousy stool. Puppies were taken off the Victor Dog Food and switched back to Purina Pro Plan and 2 of the 4 puppies had symptoms resolve. 1 female was found deceased on 01/19/24 and second female puppy was taken to the vet where stool and blood samples were taken and puppy was found to have no parasites/parvo and I was advised by the vet that he believed the food was bad. | 7 | Weeks | Bulldog - French | Dog | 3 | Pound |

I noticed a series decline in the quality of Purina Pro Plan Sensitive skin and stomach salmon and rice, since the bag/formula changed in the last few months. We noticed a sharp decline in our dog (b) (6) health. Loose bloody stool, throwing up daily, poor appetite. The last few bags of food that we bought were just off and had a chemical smell to them. A lot of mornings (b) (6) refused to eat at all. Took (b) (6) to the vet several times. The vet said it was a gastrointestinal problem, maybe inflammatory bowel disease. We did two different xrays and an ultrasound to rule out any blockage. I took him off Purina and started feeding a bland diet because he was refusing to eat the Purina. At that point he started doing a lot better. The vet told me that Purina was a very good dog food and that I should put him back on it, against my better judgment I listened to the vet and that is when (b) (6) became extremely sick, no energy, bloody vomit and diarrhea inflamed intestines. bleeding internally. | EON-560135 | 1/19/2024 16:20 | Purina One True Instinct Adult Dry Dog Food Beef All Natural High Protein | I had a subscription deluvery thru PetSmart for Purina One True Instinct Beef dog food. The order I received on October 28, 2023 was infested with larvae of Indian Mealy Moths. I wasn't aware of the problem until early December, 12/08/23, after I had been feeding the food to my dog for a few weeks. I kept noticing these small moths in my pantry. Then when I opened the bag of dog food that I had stored in an interior closet, I saw that it was full of moths. I immediately threw out the food and promptly notified Purina by email. They didn't respond to the email, so I followed it up with certified letter sent thru USPS. Purina responded by sending multiple coupons and a reimbursement check dated 12/26/2023 in the amount of $52.51 the cost of the food. My dog did not show any signs of illness and I have since received another shipment of the same food that I check frequently. I saw online reports of other pet owners who feed their pets Purina food and felt I should share my recent experience thru this portal. | | | | | | |
| EON-560134 | 1/19/2024 16:20 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon Recipe | We had been feeding Purina ProPlan Sensitive Skin & Stomach mixed with RX dog food to both our dogs for several years. They seemed OK with occasional issues that were attributed to food allergies and environmental allergies. However, this past Summer we purchased a large bag of ProPlan and our dogs both became sick-seizures/diarrhea/HAIR LOSS/weight loss & sores on feet with BAD SMELL. I thought it was an allergy to Purina. Stopped feeding ProPlan, gave the unused food to a friend and HER DOGS GOT SICK after first feeding. | 9 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 100 | Pound |

| EON-560133 | 1/19/2024 16:20 | Purina Pro Plan Veterinary Diets EN Gastroenteric low fat | Mom had some Purina pro (not Rx) she was feeding her dog, lives with us in the same household. He started to have diarrhea and then stopped eating the food. He would back away from the bowl. Very odd for him because he will eat anything. Mom thinking he just didn't like the food, gave it to me to feed my dogs so it wouldn't go to waste. 1st day of feeding it to my shepherd mix, he started having violent diarrhea and vomiting. The only thing we could think was the food, so we stopped feeding the shepherd mix the purina. At the same time, we were feeding (b) (6) her pro plan en ex food, canned and kibble. She loved the food previously. She ate from the bag bought in December for about 2 days and she had some severe middle of the night emergency outdoor with diarrhea. Then she stopped eating it. We thought her tummy was just upset, but the other dogs that were eating a different brand were not sick. She will not eat the canned food purina pro en Rx food either. Backs away from the bowl. Put her on a different brand and she can't seem to get enough food...eats it all. I do believe something is going on. 3 dogs sick and stopped eating it, switched food and they are doing great. Please, Purina, take this seriously. I have 5 dogs in the household, the other 2 dogs that did not eat the Purina did not get sick. A few days after starting feeding from this same bag, the younger cat began vomiting bile and lost over half her weight in a few weeks. She began to refuse to eat and started having a low body temperature constantly. She was taken to the vet and was found to have a UTI but nothing that explained other symptoms. The following day the older cat had a seizure at home and began vocalizing. She appeared to recover but in two days was found on the floor at home with a very cold temp and vocalizing loudly. She was unable to walk. The older cat was taken to the vet and found to have kidney failure. She died that night. The younger cat was kept overnight at the vets and given fluids and placed on 14 days antibiotics and an appetite stimulant. The veterinarians believed the cats may have ingested a poison of some type due to rapid change in both pets with no other indications other than the UTI. The younger cat is still recovering after completing the medications and is starting to return to a normal eating pattern. I do not have the bag/container of the cat food as I place it into a hard container for storage, however I still have samples of the Cat Food. The animals are kept indoors always and I have no plants or other materials that could account for other accidental poisoning. Two dogs in the home on a different brand food have had no illness. The illness seemed to start shortly after the cats had started consuming this new bag of food. The cats had previously been eating this same brand with no ill effects for over six months. | EON-560121 | 1/19/2024 16:16 | Rachel Ray Nutrish super premium wet food for dogs | I never knew anything about Rachel Ray food until now...My yorkie became ill on Wednesday night, Jan 17th, 2024 after I fed him Rachel Ray wet food over the weekend. He was exhibiting signs of sickness such as lethargy, vomiting in the morning, and stumbling while walking as though he was having a seizure. Concerned, I took him to the 24/7 vet hospital. Although my dog has a heart murmur and has been taking medication for a few months, I don't believe that was the cause of his symptoms because he attempted to vomit without anything coming out and eventually fell down. I decided to stop giving him the food, and thankfully, he returned to his normal self. It is likely that there was an ingredient or something in the food that affected my dog's behavior. Due to this ordeal, I have decided to never purchase Rachel Ray food again. As I conducted research, I discovered that other pet owners have experienced similar symptoms in their dogs. I am aware that a heart murmur can cause someone to fall or faint, but he never had that problem before taking medication, nor did it happen while he was on the medication until after he ate Rachel Ray food. However, once I stopped giving him the food, he returned to his normal state again. I am aware that a heart murmur can cause someone to fall or faint, but he never had that problem before taking medication, nor did it happen while he was on the medication until after he ate Rachel Ray food. However, once he stopped eating that food, he returned to his normal state again. I called the Vet that night and drove an hour because we don't have a 24/7 hospital in my local area. They examined (b) (6) and said it was due to his heart murmur being that was one of the symptoms. The dr never asked what I fed him because at that time, I wasn't aware of Rachel Ray products until after I got home and did research. It was just strange for my dog to have these symptoms when he has never encountered these symptoms prior to knowing about he had heart murmur and while taking prescription meds. It was just odd. | 6 | Years | Terrier - Yorkshire | Dog | 10 | Pound |
| EON-560120 | 1/19/2024 16:16 | Purina Go Cat | Within a few short days, (b) (6) became very lethargic. He stopped all activity and lay around with a glazed over expression. He showed no interest in eating and his fur became scruffy with lack of self-cleaning. His stools were runny. We took him to the vet who did a lot of tests: blood test, physical exam, took his temperature and ultrasound. He said that (b) (6) was very anemic but that his organs were okay. He had a drip and we took him home the next day. He declined again after that and wasn't interested in food. His breathing seemed laboured and his heart rate was high. Today he is finally showing interest in tiny bits of chicken and is walking over to drink water. | 4 | Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | 4.4 | Kilogram |
| EON-560119 | 1/19/2024 16:16 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin & Stomach | Animal refused to eat food provided but would eat other types of food. Animal would smell food and walk away. After initially eating the food the animal had trouble with bowel movements, then diarrhea, then vomiting, then hives/redness in the skin and became overall lethargic. | 2 | Years | Pit Bull | Dog | 50 | Pound |
| EON-560118 | 1/19/2024 16:16 | Purina Proplan Under two years Puppy Large Breed Formula | On 1/4/24 we opened a bag of Proplan Large Breed Chicken & Rice kibble and (b) (6) ate approximately 6 cups. The next morning (1/5/24) she didn't feel good, vomited 5x, and had several diarrhea piles. We took her to the vet. She had a temperature of 107. She was put on IV antibiotics all day. By 4 pm the fever was gone and she did feel some better. 1/6/24 she was lethargic all day but had no fever. 1/7/24 between midnight and 1 am she passed away. For the previous 4 weeks she was contained an indoor/outdoor pen that had a roof and concrete or wood laminate floor. She was nursing her litter of puppies and we do not allow mothers to expose themselves to unnecessary things like grass, dirt, other animals etc. She was exclusively fed Proplan Large Breed Puppy Chicken and Rice Kibble, Post natal vitamins, and water. She sees a vet yearly, is up to date on vaccinations (last vaccinations done were December 2022), and is tested yearly for heartworms and tick disease. She has never had health issues of any type. (b) (6) has had her hips, elbows, and cardiac certified through the Orthopedic Foundation for Animals. She is also clear of all genetic diseases tested through Wisdom Panel. A week after she passed away, we fed 11 other dogs from the same bag of food (b) (6) was fed from. All vomited within 5 minutes and had diarrhea around 30 minutes later. All 11 survived because none of them ate very much of the food. After they got sick so fast we knew that was why (b) (6) died. Before this we had no idea #1 why she was sick, and #2 why she died. | 2 | Years | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 70 | Pound |
| EON-560117 | 1/19/2024 16:16 | Blue Buffalo Life Protection Formula Chicken and Brown Rice Dog Food | (b) (6) was fed Blue Buffalo from the time of adoption (~3 years) to time of death, typically chicken and brown rice but occasionally other varieties within the "Life Protection" sub-brand. At his time of death, he was a 10 year old German Shepherd in exceptional health given his age. Symptoms developed rapidly and included loss of appetite, shallow breathing, and general lethargy not typical of him. Veterinarian diagnosed with dilated cardiomyopathy (DMC) resulting in heart failure. Ultimately, I elected to put him to sleep to prevent further pain and suffering. Dates are approximated but event occurred in October of 2021. | 10 | Years | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 95 | Pound |

| EON-560075 | 1/19/2024 11:04 | Purina Pro Plan Adult | We switched our cat to part wet/part dry food and did a bunch of research and chose this because it was grain free. She immediately started reacting and within a week started ripping her hair out (we had assumed it was stress initially), until we finally had to take her to the vet and he said she was having a reaction and asked what food we were giving her. She has been taking a medication to stop the reaction since (that is now going on 6 months), and she has been fine. (noted in a separate report: We also gave it to our other cat: Scottish Fold/Maine Coon - who immediately started over grooming himself to the point there were knots in his fur to where we needed to shave him completely to rid of it. The moment we stopped giving him this wet food he stopped the behavior. That is both cats with both having the same reaction to this food.) | 9 | Years | Bombay | Cat | 5 | Pound |

It is the only food my picky female will eat. I never had any issues until after opening a new case from Chewy recently, she refused to eat. Finally, when she was hungry enough she ate the food and by the end of the day had diarrhea. Male cat also became lethargic and vomited for several days. I reported the issue to Chewy and purchased a different flavor or Fancy Feast, again it lead to intermittent diarrhea/vomiting. | 12 | Years | American Shorthair | Cat | 12 | Pound |
| EON-560063 | 1/19/2024 10:12 | Purina Beneful IncrediBites Pate' just for Small dogs. | I went to CVS and purchased 2 Purina Small Dog wet food little packs. The next morning, after feeding her with the food at night, my dog had diarrhea. She is a Pomeranum, by the way. Her breed was not listed in the pull down. I returned the dog food I purchased to CVS and got my money back. I was surprised to read in the news that many dog owners are complaining of their dogs getting sick from Purina dog food products. It's pretty scary, as Purina is a popular brand. I hope the company is investigated. | 4 | Years | Unknown | Dog | 13 | Pound |

| EON-559915 | 1/18/2024 9:44 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Chicken & Rice Formula with Probiotics Dry Dog Food | Started with symptoms of vomiting, frequent diarrhea (yellow, mucus, liquid) and lethargic on 1/9/2024. Her veterinarian thought she may have eaten something bad or potentially a parasite (e.g., giardia). Our other dog, same age and breed (8.5y.o. male golden retriever), started having similar diarrhea (yellow, mucus-ey, liquid). We started feeding them both plain boiled chicken and rice. They were put on probiotics and metronidazole by their veterinarian. Her poop was tested and she was negative for active worms or parasite infection. On 1/12/2024, their symptoms started improving (no more vomiting and less frequent diarrhea), so we started reintroducing the Purina Pro Plan back into their diets slowly. Within 12 hours of reintroducing the Purina food (1/13/2024), they both started vomiting and having frequent diarrhea again. We immediately took them both off the food and went back to the plain chicken, rice, and canned pumpkin under the advisement of their veterinarian and their symptoms improved within 12 hours (1/14/2024). Today (1/17/2024) is the first day they both have had semi-solid and brown bowel movements and have normal energy levels again. They are both still on a diet of plain cooked chicken, rice, and canned pumpkin. | 8.5 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 65 | Pound |

| EON-559755 | 1/16/2024 21:40 | Purina Pro Plan Chicke & Rice formula | Dog has been on Purina Pro Plan Chicken & Rice food for a year. I bought a new bag in December 2023 and she started urinating a ton. Got her antibiotics for a UTI and continued feeding this bag. a week later, had extreme diarrhea every 2 hours for 3 days. Stopped the food and put her on a bland diet from the first day of diarrhea. Brought her to the vet after the 3 days since she had not improved, they treated it as giardia although they didn't see any parasites in her sample, but recommended i give the dewormer just in case. 1 week later, still not improving. Back to vet, was prescribed metro. Poop finally started solidifying so i slowly transitioned her back onto a NEW bag of PPP, back to runny stools the next day. I have since put her on Farmina and she is good as new. Hoping Purina didn't cause underlying issues internally. | 6 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 41 | Pound |

December 29th he had another episode of the head jerk and I rushed him to the emergency vet. They did a blood panel that didn't show anything that would explain his health issues. He then had multiple seizures while in the hospital. | EON-559736 | 1/16/2024 18:32 | Purina Pro Plan with Probiotics Shredded Blend Chicken Rice Formula Small Breed Dry Dog Food 34 lbs. | This is my second report. My first report was about the same product but the dog on that report (b) (6) died. After that dog passed, we got a new puppy a few weeks later. We got (b) (6) on December 23, 2023. It was Christmas so I wasn't able to make it to the store to get him new food. At this point, I didn't know the food was the problem. So I gave him the food I already had, Purina Pro Plan with Probiotics Shredded Blend Chicken Rice Formula Small Breed. Diarrhea started December 25, 2023. He started sleeping a lot and being really lethargic. December 27th, 2023 I decided to take him to the emergency vet because he started throwing up and was incredibly lethargic. Not typical crazy puppy behavior at all. Doc put him on fluids and then sent home numerous meds. They couldn't figure out what was wrong with him. So I brought him home and put him on a bland diet of boiled chicken and plain rice. He slowly started getting better. 2 days later I gave him watered down dog food (same exact one) and within 2-3 hours he went down hill fast and back to extremely sick. It then dawned on me that it is without a doubt, it is the dog food. I immediately stopped feeding it and within 24hrs he was going back to a normal puppy! I then went to the store and bought him Royal Canin and he has been completely fine on it! I cannot stress enough that it is 100% the food. I have a case open with Purina and have been sent on to their adjuster. | 7 Weeks | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 12 | Pound |
| EON-559734 | 1/16/2024 18:32 | Purina puppy chow | My puppy started vomiting and having extreme diarrhea. I immediately stopped giving her that food and called the vet which the directed me to switch foods. | 15 Weeks | Shar Pei | Dog | 26 | Pound |
| EON-559733 | 1/16/2024 18:32 | Purina One Lamb and Rice Formula | She ate a cup of the food and threw it up on a walk, she began dry heaving acting like she had vertigo just laying in random areas. The next day my daughter observed her eyes were yellow where they are normally white, and the inside of the ears were yellow. The ER vet diagnosed her with toxic hepatitis. She spent 2 nights in the animal hospital on medications and is still on liver support and anti-biotics. Once she came home she was perked up acting better. We fed her some of the same food and she became lethargic again, this is when we changed her food to Blue Buffalo and after a day or 2 she began acting better. Any help with this would be appreciated thank you (b) (6) | 4 Years | Siberian Husky | Dog | 55 | Pound |
| EON-559732 | 1/16/2024 18:32 | Purina One Lamb and Rice Purina One Chicken and Rice Senior | I lost my husky at 9 years old the (b) (6). We have been feeding Purina One Lamb and rice for the last couple of years to our 3 dogs. November 2023 my husky stopped eating. We played the game thinking some of it was picky husky behavior and we had our niece living with us and he didn't care for her. Fast forward he was barely eating anything. Definitely no dog food at all and we were struggling daily to find something he would eat. He was lethargic but was still drinking and going outside fine. As it continued we finally realized something else was going on. His poop was orange one morning and I immediately called the vet. He had no fever and was treated for GI upset with antibiotics and anti-nausea medication. For 2 more weeks we played the game some more with anti-nausea medication and appetite stimulants. Still very improvement in his eating. He was having good and bad days depending on whether or not he ate and how much he ate that day. I noticed he seemed bloated. We eventually took him off the appetite stimulants and the weaned off the anti-nausea meds. Minimal improvement. He had started at night with some weird breathing as if he was short of breath but it wasn't constant. Christmas Day he was doing pretty well. (b) (6) he got up and when he went outside there was blood in his urine. We thought ok maybe a uti. Called the vet they had no openings but offered a drop off appt that day. So we took him in. I got a call from the vet that his gums were pale and he was very lethargic that morning. They did an ultrasound and said his abdomen was full of fluid/blood and he had likely already lost half his blood volume internally. The vet didn't recommend surgery as there was no guarantee and he was already in such bad shape and that we should get the family together and come say our goodbyes. I am still devastated. He had been healthy prior to this mess starting. | 9 Years | Siberian Husky | Dog | 87 | Pound |

On October 29, 2023 she started vomiting bile in the morning and has never stopped since. To this day she vomits bile in the morning multiple times a week. She's been to the vet countless times for all types of testing and nothing has been found wrong with her body (vitals checked, blood panel, GI panel, pancreatic panel, ultrasound, xrays). She's been prescribed multiple medications to try. The only thing consistent is that she's been on purina pro plan food the whole time. Now we're hearing of many other pets having very similar issues on the same food, but Purina doesn't seem to be yet investigating. | 2.5 Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 45 | Pound |

After about a 10 days both my dogs quit eating. There was no change in their diet except these treats. My dogs got Lethargic, had diarrhea and quit drinking. I stopped the treats my dachshund got better. My little 6 month Yorkies diarrhea turned to blood he filled with fluid and had to be Euthanized on (b) (6). | EON-559728 | 1/16/2024 18:29 | Purina Pro Plan with Probiotics Shredded Blend Chicken Rice Formula Small Breed Dry Dog Food 34 lbs | I gradually changed (b) (6) diet to the Purina ProPlan small breed shredded. He ate it mixed with his food for 10 days and then started with diarrhea. He then started throwing up. He stopped eating. Extremely lethargic. He was not himself at all. A couple days of sickness and then he started having bloody diarrhea. Then bloody vomit. I took him to the emergency vet where they couldn't figure out what was wrong with him. They kept him over night in hopes that fluids would help. When they called with an update they said there is no progress. He then died over night at the hospital. Blood work looked normal except for a high white blood count. X-rays looked normal. We had no definitive explanation. We (including our children) were devastated. Fast forward to Christmas. We get a new puppy, a golden retriever. Since I got him at Christmas time, I didn't have time to get puppy dog food. So I fed him the same food I had gave to (b) (6) In 2 days the new puppy had diarrhea. Then vomiting started. He was incredibly lethargic so on day 3 I took him to the hospital. No answers as to what happened! Lots of fluids, bland diet for 2 days and he was back to being a puppy. So the vet suggested watered down small amount of dog food. I used the same ProPlan I had and within 2-3 hours he was right back to horribly sick. For the past month I realized he hasn't been able to use the bathroom. (Defecate). I took him to the vet, and being I didn't have money for blood n exrays, they gave him an enema. It's been 2 weeks. He hasn't eaten anything and barely drinking water. And hadn't used the bathroom yet. I've called everyone (organizations vets extra) I can't get pet insurance so I can get more of a diagnosis. I had another dog here to visit, whose breed is a puggle, and she had eaten some of (b) (6) food while she was here because she's a pig. The next morning, the puggle was puking blood and had to be taken to the vet. I waited a few days because (b) (6) was still eating at that time but got sick the next day from the other dog. She basically wouldn't eat the Merrick dog food I normally feed her, and lost appetite for about a week now, while I'm still trying to get her health back to normal. Bag | (b) (6) the dog was slowly transitioned to new food, Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach and experienced severe gastric upset. They have previously transitioned to new food with no issues. Initially the transition seemed to be going well and then suddenly had multiple episodes of diarrhea and vomit in a day, which led to extreme hemorrhaging, requiring overnight hospitalization at ER to stabilize. After bloodwork panels, examinations, and X-rays were completed to rule out any health issues, or obstructions, we were informed that the bloodwork came back normal by 2 different facilities (a regular vet initially in the day and later that evening, the ER). It was suggested it possibly be the food but could not be confirmed by the vets, as bloodwork came back normal, no other diet or lifestyle changes had been recently made, and they could not test the food themselves for any issues of course. (b) (6) was sent home with multiple medications, given a bland diet per vet's recommendation, and then suggesting she transition slowly back to the food. After attempting to transition her back onto Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach, (b) (6) began to experience vomiting and diarrhea once again. | 11 | Years | Terrier - Bull - Staffordshire | Dog | 50 | Pound |

| EON-559713 | 1/16/2024 18:28 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Toy Breed Chicken and Rice Formula | (b) (6) started vomiting, having diarrhea, and urinary incontinence out of the blue. I took her to the vet for extensive testing and started feeding her chicken and rice for about a week. The vet found nothing clinically wrong with (b) (6) so I slowly started feeding her the same Purina kibble as before. (b) (6) immediately began having diarrhea again. So I went back to chicken and rice for a few days and her stool returned to normal. I tried again to reincorporate the Purina kibble, even more slowly this time, and the diarrhea immediately came back. I decided to try a different kind of kibble for (b) (6) also made by Purina. | EON-559708 | 1/16/2024 18:24 | Purina ONE Lamb and rice formula 40 lbs | It started out with dry flakey skin and puss filled bumps that would bleed. I assumed it was an allergy or reaction to something but didn't know what. Then he started throwing daily but was still energetic so I figured it'd pass. The day I skipped the dog food and fed him table food instead he did not throw up at all and was still very energetic. Still not suspecting it to be the dog food I fed him it in the morning. A short time after that he started throwing up again, yellow foam surrounded by orange ish liquid and became almost lifeless. His eyes were sunken in and he did not go to the bathroom all day. I then noticed while he was itching his penis came out and had no pigment to it. It was like white /gray instead of red pink. I immediately stopped the Purina dog food & started nursing him back to health with broth, steamed chicken and rice. He's slowly returning to health and his skin is starting to clear up. I called Purina and asked them if there were any recalls they told me that there was a rumor and advised me to switch to Purina sensitive skin & stomach. And said they'd send me out a refund for $70.00. I did not have the information from the bag of food as I keep it in an air tight 40 lb bin. It was Purchased at Target. She has always been healthy, but became very lethargic and would only sleep, eat, following uncontrollable diarrhea. My Siberian cat also ended up getting sick. I took my dog to the vet, had x-rays and bloodwork work done, but everything came back fine. The gave me a flora supplement to pour over her food, which helped, but only when I used it. It wasn't until I realized the new good much not be agreeing with her that I replaced the food with science diet as recommended by my veterinarian. The cat did not go to the vet, but the dogs vet bill was about $765. The carpet cleaners cost me $120, not to mention the cost of the dog food. | EON-559593 | 1/16/2024 2:32 | Stella & Chewy's raw coated kibble | He quit eating over a few days and then started violently throwing up-about 10x in 2 hours. After the initial food, it was mostly bile or a white liquid, but he was heaving so horribly. Took him to one vet who did an xray, gave him anti-nausea shot, iv (noted he had already lost over a pound). The anti nausea shot worked for about 24 hours and he started throwing up again. Got the run around at the first vet so took him to another vet who did a huge battery of tests from blood to stool, gave him an IV. Found nothing wrong in any of these tests. He was down almost 3 pounds by this point. Vet suggested a food allergy and gave me a prescription for an allergen free cat food. Unfortunately the first ingredient is corn which is highly allergenic in the USA so I switched to Stella and Chewy's duck away from the Stella & Chewy's chicken, thinking the chicken could be the culprit. He ate this ok for about a week and then started throwing it up. So I switched to Fromm's game bird flavor. A month later, I couldn't find the game bird Fromm's so he's now eating Fromm's chicken and gaining weight very well. So issue was not a food allergy. At a loss for what happened to him especially since these 2 vets found nothing wrong with a very healthy cat. 2 days ago I read that Stella & Chewy's food has been found to be having issues and making cats sick or killing them, so I'm certain this was his original issue. He has been eating Stella & Chewy's food for over 3 years, the raw coated kibble, chicken without issue and then all of a sudden gets sick. | 7 | Months | Maine Coon | Cat | | 15 | Pound |
| EON-559592 | 1/16/2024 2:32 | Purina Pro Plan Adult 7+ Sensitive Skin & Stomach. Salmon & Rice Formula. 4Lb. | On Sunday 01/07/24 (b) (6) began to have watery stool three times in the evening when normally she only has one to two bowl movements on her daily walk. The same thing happened 01/08/24. We believed that she was getting better when she was normal on 01/09/24 but then it returned on 01/10/24 and her stool turned bloody. On 01/11/24 we went to Banfield Pet Hospital (b) (6). They took a stool sample and prescribed a bland diet, an antibiotic, a probiotic and a paste to help solidify her stool. | EON-559585 | 1/16/2024 2:32 | Nature's Protection Superior Care Grain-Free White Fish Adult Small Breed Dog Dry Food | This kibble is the size of a Split Pea. I wondered when I opened it, why any company would make kibble so small. I even looked and read the bag to make sure it was not puppy food. I should have listened to my inner voice. My dog was eating this food and choked to death. It got into her trachea and she choked to death in just minutes. We got as much food out of her throat as possible and rushed her to the emergency vet but it was too late. They said the food was too small and she had aspirated the food. My husband was standing next to her when it happened. She was perfectly fine and then in just seconds she was choking to death. These last two months, in November he had a seizure, and then in December, he had another seizure. The same bag of food, the same brand. I wasn't sure what was causing the seizures, I honestly thought it was separation anxiety and have been monitoring his condition. Since his last seizure, he's been a little off. With the last of his food, I gave some to an outside dog that we brought in because of the freeze. The dog ate the food for two nights, and on the second night had a massive seizure. | EON-559577 | 1/16/2024 2:04 | FULL MOON "Natural Essentials" jerky tenders Antibiotic Free Chicken Recipe | Letter to Full Moon (consumerinfo@fullmoonpet.com) On Friday, January 5th, I purchased a bag of Full Moon, "Natural Essentials" jerky tenders from a local grocery store, for which I have a receipt. I was alarmed to find the tenders covered in what appeared to be mold, despite the stamped 2025 expiration date on the package. Unfortunately, the stamped, "Best Buy" date was on the strip that is pulled to open the package, so I inadvertently threw it away. I have purchased Full Moon treats for years and my dogs really enjoy them. Recently, however, I have noticed differences in the level of product quality; some packages contain treats that do not look or smell fresh, while others are of excellent quality. Those differences are reflected in my pocketbook, depending on my dogs' reception of the treats. They refuse the contents of some packages but devour others. My observations over the years have led me to conclude that, presently, there are quality control issues at Full Moon. But I have never seen anything resembling the disturbing inadequacy of this purchase. I have not contacted the FDA or any other entity, but I would appreciate a prompt response to my concerns. FDA reports on health issues associated with commercially produced jerky treats, ranging from gastrointestinal upset to Fanconi syndrome, are worrisome. My dogs are precious to me, so I trust you will take this correspondence seriously. Please feel free to contact me at (b) (6) Sincerely, (b) (6) | | | | | | |

Started noticing blood in her vomit as well. The next day the vomiting stopped and diarrhea started, which lasted for 3 days over the holiday weekend before we could take her to our vet. During that time we fasted her for 12 hours and then fed a bland diet (no more purina). Vet ran fecal and blood tests which confirmed (b) (6) was very dehydrated but could not determine the cause of her sudden illness. She was prescribed probiotics which cleared things up in the next couple of days. This all started after opening a new bag of Purina One Chicken and Rice. They have refused to take any responsibility, they did not empathise with my situation, they only responded with the same message every time that did not involve anything from my query, to some point i was wondering if they are even reading my emails. | EON-559495 | 1/14/2024 18:29 | Purina Kit and Kaboodle Original Dry Cat Food for Adult Cats | (b) (6) my 3 year old cat died suddenly and unexpectedly over a month ago. He was fine then he was gone. He was fed "Purina kit and Kaboodle Original Dry Cat Food for Adult Cats" the past year. I purchased every bag from Walmart. This particular 22lb bag was purchased for $16.98 on Oct 20, 2023. The incident happened shortly after opening a new bag. The day before I noticed that the was shaking his head real bad and wobbling a little, but he was an outdoor cat so he wasn't in my constant view. I found him dead the next day, just laying there. There was no signs of trauma. After learning about PURINA making so many animals sick or dying, I strongly suspect that may have been what happened to my baby, but I'll never know for sure. | 3 | Years | Unknown | Cat | 15 | Pound | |

Assuming it was just an adjustment to the food since he hadn't had it since he was around 8 months old we skipped giving it to him Thursday. Friday the 12th at around 12:25-12:48 pm we resumed giving him another try at reintroducing the food. Roughly 3 hours later the same day around 5:15 pm he started showing symptoms of anxiousness and distress. Wasn't long until exactly 5:25 pm he started to seize and violently puking up every ounce of the food we had given him. | EON-559489 | 1/14/2024 18:28 | Purina Pro Plan Specialized Adult Large Breed Chicken & Rice Formula Dog Food | I started feeding Purina Pro Plan Large breed chicken formula on August 2,2023. October 2,2023 she vomited up her entire meal after eating breakfast. Once all her food had come up,she stopped. Happened 1 or 2 more times before she saw the vet for pre adoption wellness exam on 10/20/23 where she was deemed healthy. I'm a former Vet Tech, I have tried ruling out various causes of vomiting after eating: eating too fast, over eating, etc. Frequency of vomiting episode occurrence increasing over time period of 4 months. Never vomits after eating treats, getting medications,drinking water,.other dog foods... At time of October examination, she weighed just over 96 lbs (was either 96.1 or 96.3), when I brought her in to have an influenza shot on January 6 2024, she was down to 92.2lbs. I have been advised by her veterinarian to discontinue the Large breed Proplan and trial a sensitive skin/stomach formula of Pro Plan or Science diet. I have always been a fan of Purina and have fed all my pets and recommended their ProPlan line for almost 10 years. Lot number I included was only from my most recently purchased bag, she was sick on different bags prior | 3 | Years | Great Dane | Dog | 92.2 | Pound | |
| EON-559488 | 1/14/2024 18:28 | Purina PRO PLAN Sport PERFORMANCE 30/20 CHICKEN & RICE FORMULA | In early December, we opened a brand new bag of Purina pro plan performance 30/20 chicken and rice formula, dog food. About a week or so later, I noticed that our dog was exhibiting symptoms of food avoidance, lethargy, vomiting, and diarrhea. Took my dog to the vet on December 13, 2023 -she did not receive a formal diagnosis, but she did have a slightly elevated temperature. They prescribed an antibiotic, an anti-nausea medicine, and recommended a very bland diet of rice and cooked ground beef. We followed everything as directed by the veterinarian and she seemingly began to feel much better! We were told that when she started to be normal again, we could re-incorporate her normal dog food, which we did. About five days after giving her the dog food again, she got sick again. Went to the vet again, January 12,2024 Where she had a temperature of 103.1. She tested negative for Giardia and parasites. She was put back on an antibiotic and a probiotic and was recommended a 'gastrointestinal biome' dog food. The only common denominator, both times that she has been sick is the dog food. I am concerned because I am seeing other people saying very similar things in regards to their animals. This many people, and this many pets being affected speaks volumes. Please investigate Purina and other brands causing the symptoms. | 3 | Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 76 | Pound | |

| EON-559486 | 1/14/2024 18:28 | Purina Proplan small breed adult ch identify and rice | She had been eating her dry kibble - proplan small breed food with cooked chicken just fine for weeks. we just got her last summer. she was fin until 2 bags ago. I noticed towards end of the dry kibble she was not excited about her food. she was barely eating breakfast and would eat dinner. but she stopped eating in the morning and only would eat at night. she has a good appetite with everything BUY the dry kibble. 1 week ago I have started to force her to eat by keeping her in the bathroom till she eats. last 3 days she started winning like she was hungry but refused to eat the kibble. I finally broke down after opening a fresh bag and she still would not eat it. she looked at me like mom please don't make me eat it. so I gave in and made her a homemade mix and she ate it up so fast. today I feed her the same homemade food in the morning and she had her normal energy back. See looking back she was lethargic acting and sleeping alot. not wanting to play alot either. I thought it was due to her being smaller and it being winter time but today showed that's not the case. | EON-559484 | 1/14/2024 18:28 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Recipe Dry Dog Food | Both dogs (b) (6) male, 1 year old & (b) (6) female, 2 years old) have been on Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Stomachs since birth up until 2 weeks ago. (b) (6) was eating shredded chicken & rice puppy under 2 & (b) (6) was eating shredded beef and rice adult. Both dogs started to reject eating their food once I opened their new bag (35lb bag) I continued letting them graze at their food for a few more days and decided that maybe they were bored of the flavors and bought a small 6lb bag of salmon and rice (mixed with old food) and that's when they both started displaying symptoms of throwing up, more tired than usual, and loose stools (yellow) *the stools have been switching back and forth from loose to semi solid for just over a week at this point. They didn't seem overly sick nor did I think they needed to be rushed to the vet (my goldens are prone to having a sensitive stomach on occasion) so I swapped them to a boiled chicken and rice meal plan for the past 4 days and symptoms have 99% disappeared. I will be keeping them off PPP for the time being, to let their stomachs adjust. I want to add that in the beef and salmon flavored foods it had an unusual smell - different than the normal smell. Salmon having a very strong potent smell. A friend mentioned to me this morning about a potential food hazard with multiple brands so that is why I am here filling this form out. | 2 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 60 | Pound |

| EON-559482 | 1/14/2024 18:28 | Purina ProPlan sensitive skin and stomach | (b) (6) had been on this diet for one year when symptoms began. When she began the diet, her skin allergy symptoms improved drastically. She did wonderfully until July of this past summer. We noticed stomach upset, belching, indigestion, and grass eating. Then, she began to have more serious G.I. symptoms. She began vomiting and going diarrhea, and was unable to continue eating this food. We switched to bland food for a few days, and when we switched back to Purina ProPlan Sensitive Skin and Stomach, all of her issues resumed. The issues were so severe, they resulted in multiple trips to our local veterinarian, three emergency room visits, and multiple visits with an internal medicine specialist ir (b) (6) She has had bloodwork multiple times, chest x-rays, multiple stomach x-rays, and an ultrasound. We tried other diets, but she could not tolerate them. So, we would try switching back to Purina, and her symptoms would become even more severe again. At this time, she is still unable to tolerate any commercial diet, and needs a home cooked diet. She also takes metronidazole for G.I. inflammation. She has been unable to stop this. She also has a low white blood cell count and has lost 8 pounds (from 33lbs to just 25now). If G.I. symptoms continue, the veterinarian would like to do an endoscopy. However, this is risky due to her heart murmur. | 6 | Years | Poodle - Miniature | Dog | 25 | Pound |
| EON-559481 | 1/14/2024 18:28 | Purina pro plan adult complete essentials chicken and rice formula. | My dog has eaten purina pro plan for several years. He has eaten either the chicken and rice, salmon, or lamb and rice formulas. He had the last serving from a bag for breakfast and had no issues with his stomach for that day. That evening, I purchased a new bag of purina pro plan, chicken and rice and fed him dinner. He woke up in the middle of the night and vomited several times and had several bouts of diarrhea. In the morning, I fed him breakfast from the new purina proplan and later that day he had diarrhea again. This time there was blood in his stool. I stopped feeding him the purina food and put him on a rice and chicken diet while he recovered. Over the next several days his stool became more firm. He hasn't had anymore vomiting or diarrhe episodes since he's been off the purina pro plan. | 7 | Years | Terrier - Boston | Dog | 20 | Pound |

| EON-559480 | 1/14/2024 18:28 | Purina Pro Plan Small Breed Chicken & Rice Formula Purina Beneful Incredibites Pate for Small Dogs | The dog all of a sudden started having mobility issues. She was very hesitant to jump onto the bed or the furniture, which she had done with ease prior to this happening. She became lethargic, not having energy to do things, like eating or going outside to go to the bathroom. She began to develop a high fever. Her eyes began to water, and she would look at you with a piercing blank stare. We took her to the vet on Friday, January 5th, 2024. Her temperature was 104.5 and her panel of bloodwork showed that her white blood cell count was low. She was sent home with an antibiotic and anti-inflammatory medication, in the event it was a weird infection, or even a virus. We called the vet back on Monday, January 8th. She had made no improvements at all with the medication, and in fact, had gotten even more lethargic. We had received a few messages from friends about a possible issue with Purina Dog Food. We immediately took her off of Purina Pro Plan dry food and Purina Incredibites moist pate on Tuesday, January 9th. She returned to the vet on Wednesday, January 10th (as we had set an appointment when we called Monday). Her temperature had returned to normal, she was more alert, and a bit less lethargic. She was taken for x-rays and it showed no signs of any masses, or abnormalities in her body, including breaks or sprains. We were sent home with a steroid, Omeprazole, Gabapentin, and a new food. She was only given one dose of the steroid, because she was making a lot of progress. She was running circles when she was excited to see me, jumping up and down without hesitation, eating well, and sleeping less during the day when we were home. As of today, January 14th, she has made a huge recovery from the symptoms she was experiencing a week prior. | 9 | Years | Terrier - Rat | Dog | 19 | Pound |

| EON-559475 | 1/14/2024 18:28 | Purina Pro Plan under one year sensitive skin and stomach salmon and rice, Purina pro plan under one year 30/20 salmon and rice formula | (b) (6) has eaten Purina Pro Plan sensitive skin and stomach salmon and rice puppy since we brought her home at 8 weeks old. We added in Purina Pro Plan sport 30/20 puppy salmon and rice formula several months ago. I ran out of food and purchase new bags on 12/15/2023. I equally mixed them and stored them in airtight containers like I always do and continued feeding my dog like normal. Suddenly on Sunday December 31st she started refusing to eat her food, she is fed in a slow feed bowl because of how quickly she scarf's her food so for her to completely stop eating I knew something was wrong, she is also typically a very active puppy considering her breed and age and she was very lethargic and tired. I tried a few things over the next couple days and eventually went to the store and bought a completely different brand of food and offered it to her, she started eating but not completely like she used to, her energy is coming back and I have stopped feeding the food completely. | 11 | Months | Rottweiler | Dog | | |
| EON-559474 | 1/14/2024 18:28 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Chicken & Rice Formula 16lb | Both of my cats (13 and 16) are in good health and have eaten Purina Pro Plan High Protein with Probiotics Chicken & Rice Formula Dry Cat Food since they were kittens. They have always loved this food. Starting with an 10/14/23 purchase of a 16lb bag at Petco (b) (6) (SKU 1236571), they suddenly would not touch the food unless out of desperation. They grazed lightly and both started vomiting it up within an hour, including white foam. Their bowls remained mostly untouched all week. I started supplementing more wet food to get around this. I saw recently many other pet owners feeding this diet are experiencing the same exact symptoms and have been reporting to Purina and the FDA (the former saying there is nothing wrong). I am not a conspiracy theorist, but this is alarming based on similar experiences I'm reading and my own. I believe there is something wrong with some of this food- there is no other reason two elderly cats who have eaten it their entire lives suddenly won't touch it, and when eaten out of desperation, they become ill. My 13 year old cat also experienced an emergency dehydration and excessive vomiting episode in October (a first) that required vet treatment. I cannot definitely prove there is something wrong with this food and I have unfortunately discarded the bag and lot number (but still have a lot of the dry food in storage I'd be happy to provide for testing if requested), but I feel the FDA needs to further investigate this. I have since switched them to another brand of dry food and they seem to be taking to it better than the above Purina formula that they've eaten their whole lives. | 13 | Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | 10 | Pound |

We have four cats and a senior dog. And those aren't the only household financial responsibilities we have. So we needed cost-effective food for our pets. Most of those brands of food were bought from Walmart, and I have had to look up a trickle down chart of who Purina owns in order to make sure that I got a different food just this last week. The Purina Care, friskies, special kitty, the only dry food that I trust right now is Bixbi Liberty And I bought it through chewy. We've been getting grain-free food because we thought (b) (6) just had a grain allergy. I had to take him to the vet last year and spent 5 to $600, to get him a hills science diet and treated for worms, when originally we thought he was going into renal failure because those were the symptoms he was showing. He still can't jump up on counters, or cat trees without almost falling off. He's only three. He's the oldest cat. All of them, have had consistently loose stools, until we switched off of purina-owned brand food. And when I say loose I mean almost straight water. which means that they go in our house instead of the litter boxes, because if you look up the biological behavior of cats? Yeah. Our dog, is currently isolated in the garage. Because the food was upsetting her stomach to the point where she started showing signs of kidney failure and then became aggressive with the cats and us in the house. Mind you I'm 7 months pregnant. So having a dog that I have lived with for years, suddenly growling and lunging at me out of nowhere is terrifying. And then finding out it's because she's sick and her stomach is in pain, and we can't afford to take her to the vet and we might lose her, is a lot worse. My animals are bleeding and pooping water. Out of their behinds. Their moods are off, the safety of the people in my house is now in question because of our dog, and I can't budget to take care of these animals because I am about to have a baby. So now I'm in a mad scramble to find food that isn't going to kill my cats and dog. Because almost everything is owned by Purina. I'm putting the actual dates that we had to take (b) (6) to the veterinarian first because this is when we first started noticing these symptoms in all of the animals, and of course, now it's coming out in the news that other people are also being affected by it. Lovely. I love that it has gone on, this long. Sarcasm. | 2 | Years | Bombay | Cat | 11 | Pound |

| EON-559404 | 1/13/2024 13:33 | Purina Pro Plan | (b) (6) was having mild sensitivity to the gravy in other wet food brands (just looser stool, but not affecting her energy or wellness) so the vet recommended purina pro plan back in the beginning of November. About 2 weeks later she got really sick - vomiting and couldn't keep anything down, food aversion, lethargy, and liquid diarrhea with blood. She's always a very playful, cuddly, and healthy 7 year old cat. When she got sick, she isolated herself and could barely stand and walk around. We never saw her this sick before (maybe a hairball once or twice a year). We took her to the vet and they couldn't figure out what was wrong, considering she just had a wellness check up 2 weeks prior. She got an IV for fluids, anti-nausea shot, urinary extraction to test for UTI and x-rays just in case (they only found inflammation in her stomach and intestines from emesis). They switched her to Royal Canin veterinary and a few days later she bounced back and has been doing more than well since. We have a prescription for Royal Canin now. We took him to the vet, they thought it was possibly a infection from a scratch in his throat because there wasn't any evidence of anything else. He was put on a round of antibiotics,, he seemed to feel better after a few days, 2 weeks later the same symptoms came back, but I also noticed really odd colored stool and his tongue and gums were very pale, took him back to vet, they kept him for the day to run test, they found that he was anemic through blood work, so they did an xray and saw shadows in his stomach, anti biotics were given again, and scheduled him for an ultrasound sound the following week. The ultra sound showed, signs of abnormal Liver, and enlarged kidneys and spleen. His anemia was also worse and he was continuing to rapidly loose weight. He had at that point list 15 pound over a period of 3 weeks, the vet said we could do a biopsy of his Liver, but he may not survive the procedure and that it would be better to take him home and spend time with him until the unthinkable has to happen | 7 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 67 | Pound |

My dog ate the new version of Royal Canins Hydrolyzed protein dog food for several days and she did not seem very interested in it. She immediately started having very mushy stools, which transitioned in watery diarrhea and extreme vomiting. She wouldn't eat or drink or take any of her medicine. She was dehydrated and listless and needed emergency care for hydration and to treat her diarrhea and vomiting. The bill was over $500. I notified Royal Canin and they blew off my concerns and claimed the changes were improvements, when in reality many dogs have had the same issues as mine. (b) (6) food was changed to another brand, and after 3 days from our emergency visit, she started eating a little again. | 13 Years | Terrier (unspecified) | Dog | 15 Pound |

| EON-559389 | 1/13/2024 13:32 | Purina Pro Plan Chicken & Carrots Entree | On Saturday, 1/6, we fed (b) (6) his normal breakfast of 1/2 a can of Purina Pro Plan Chicken & Carrots Entree and 3/4 cup of the dry pro plan. (He eats the same pattern twice a day.) For the cans, it was the first can in this lot of Purina ProPlan Complete Essentials Variety Pack, 6 cans of Chicken & Carrots Entree and 6 cans of Turkey & Sweet Potato Entree. (Best before Nov 2025 33061159 L4AG72325 are on the bottom of the can.) I have no concern about the dry, that he has been eating for the past few weeks and are at the end of the bag. On Sunday 1/7, I woke up at 3-4am to a grunting dog that was trying to get my attention, which is unusual. I assumed he needed to go outside, which he never does overnight. I let him out and he ran out to go to the bathroom. It was dark, so I didn't see what he did, but then I found a pool of diarrhea in our kitchen. That's never happened in the past 10 years. The next morning he was hungry, so we went ahead and fed him like normal. During the day, he did have several times he needed to go out and we actually saw it was diarrhea. We continued the pattern of feeding twice a day, same food. It was always the same pattern as listed in the first sentence. It was always the Chicken & Carrots Entree. On Monday evening, after his continued digestive issue, we were wondering if it was the food, so we tossed the second half of the can and gave him a can from another batch of cans from a different lot. He still was sick in the morning, so we took him to the vet, who prescribed Metronidazole, 500MG. We have not given him the old food since and he's doing better now. | 10 Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 63 Pound |
| EON-559388 | 1/13/2024 13:32 | Purina Pro Plan | We had given our dog purina pro plan (puppy and then transitioned to adult food) which was recommended by our vet. In summer 2023 we began to realize that the formula was not the same and our dog began reacting to the food. She was having regular diarrhea and was incontinent multiple times. She refused to eat her food for days. We then fed her chicken and rice to regulate her again and still experienced diarrhea for at least 4-5 days before she was regulated. | 2 Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 62 Pound |
| EON-559387 | 1/13/2024 13:32 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Under Two Puppy Large Breed Salmon and Rice formula | (b) (6) has been on Purina Pro Plan 2 and under slamon large breed sensitive skin and stomach since we got him at 9 weeks old. Last week I had noticed he was not eating like usually and became very fatigued and lethargic. He threw up a total of 3x and two of those being only vile. I have a young son and thought possibly he swallowed a toy he shouldn't have and took him to the vet. He spent the day there and in xrays they noticed that he had "strange gas" in his small intestine, and indicated that he must have gotten into something bad. The only thing he is able to have is his dog food. After hearing of all of the incidents and was aware of possible Purina being bad and making him sick since the vet could not give me a direct issue or problem. He got a new bag of Purina pro plan under two large breed chicken and rice and has been eating now. It took a few days with meds before he would even touch it and refused the sensitive skin and stomach. Thank you for your time. | 1.5 Years | Boxer (German Boxer) | Dog | 80 Pound |

| EON-559385 | 1/13/2024 13:32 | Wellness Cat Chicken and Herring Dinner Wet Cat Food | DANGEROUS! NEEDS A RECALL! One of the cans in this WELLNESS CAT CHICKEN AND HERRING 12.5 oz WET FOOD pack had a LARGE piece of plastic inside! Looks like the kind of plastic ring that goes around a 6-pack of soda, but much thicker. It was longer than the can itself and was intermingled. I scooped out some of the food to find this big thing in the can! The cats refused to eat other cans from this pack, even though they usually love this brand, and they tried to bury it. I feel awful that I made them eat any of it! It is probably all carcinogenic and I am very worried about their health! What if the other cans contained ground plastic that I forced them to eat! Now I worry about them developing cancer and other illnesses. UPC says 76344 08810 Best by 05-Aug-26 12x12.5oz case | | | | | | |

My dog has had explosive diarrhea and vomiting for almost a week now, about an hour or two after she eats. She is also 14, so having a health scare like this is extremely worrisome. I can hear her tummy growling from hunger but she is refusing to eat her dog food, yet happily ate the plain rice I made her. It was only after my coworker suggested looking for food recalls that I saw the frenzy going on regarding this brand. My cat also eats Purina food, but after this, I am terrified of feeding either pet Purina brand. | 14 | Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | | |

| EON-559352 | 1/12/2024 18:52 | Purina ProPlan Adult 7+ | I began feeding my dog Purina ProPlan at the beginning of 2023. He seemed to enjoy it until about September 2023. He then began not wanting to eat the Purina ProPlan but he was willing to eat other brands of dog food. Due to his refusal to eat, he lost a significant amount of weight (roughly 15lbs since November 2022). He also had vomiting, diarrhea and would act lethargic. We took him to the vet for his annual visit on November 28, 2023 and the vet did a series of diagnostics on him (x-rays, bloodwork and different tests to rule out diseases). The vet determined based on his bloodwork that he was had kidney disease. We opted to hospitalize him for 5 days to see if we could decrease his kidney values. After a 5 day hospital stay and continued subcutaneous fluids & medications at home for a weekend, we returned to the vet the following Monday where they ran more bloodwork and we found out the fluids and medication were not working. The veterinarian diagnosed him to have kidney failure. His quality of life continued to decrease rapidly until we made the decision to euthanize him. | 8 | Years | American Pit Bull Terrier | Dog | 59 | Pound |

| EON-559349 | 1/12/2024 18:12 | Purina one | 01/18/2024 I came home from work to find that my elder dog had several piles of pure blood all over, he was bleeding out of his butt as well, I took him to the vet as an emergency and they said he had lost a lot of blood according to a cvc panel. His Plt was high, pct was high and Akko was low. I feed my dogs very well, so when the Akko is low it means the dog is approaching malnutrition, which mean the food is not giving him the nutrients he or my other dog needs, something is very wrong with this!! I have since stopped giving both dogs this Purina one food! And (b) (6) is on medications and he is slowly improving, but, this is an unforgivable situation!! He stopped eating the food for a day or two and started to feel better. He's still recovering. We just realized the other puppies wouldn't touch the food either which is extremely unlike them too. They've had different food and now they are recovering. And we noticed it was almost impossible to find the Purina Dog Chow in either flavor in the big bags, almost like a silent recall. | EON-559344 | 1/12/2024 18:08 | Purina Pro Plan Adult/Adulte Complete Essentials Chicken & Rice Formula/Formule Poulet Et Riz Chicken is the first ingredient/Du poulet comme premier ingredient | We started feeding (b) (6) Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Chicken and Rice dry kibble starting on 10/12/2023 after purchasing it from the local Petsmart in (b) (6). Other pet reactions will be described in their respective reports, but please know the other pets did start falling ill shortly after eating Purina Pro Plan food. The only symptom that (b) (6) had the day before she passed away was like a cough/hack at the back of her throat when she yawned. After the other pets started falling ill, I did take the cats to be seen by their regular vet on 11/09/2023 (which was after the dog had to be taken to the ER vet). The cats were able to be seen sooner than the dog. At this time the vet did not report any pertinent problems regarding (b) (6) other than being slightly overweight, but I'm unsure if they investigated my report regarding the hacking. She was only two and a half years old, was perfectly healthy, and had no pre-existing conditions. The day she passed away on (b) (6) she seemed bloated and lethargic. She did not have her regular energy levels and laid on my work desk all day in my presence, which isn't what she normally did (she normally laid on top of bookcase or ran around chasing toys). To be clear, her regular energy levels were usually insane and she didn't really sit still for long. She also didn't seem to be laying in a very comfortable position in the time she spent with me. She did have an episode of throwing up yellow stomach acid after eating kibble this day, which occurred about 5 hours after her breakfast and just a couple hours before she passed. She hadn't had anything else to eat since then but had free access to multiple clean water bowls. Around 5 pm on (b) (6) my fiancé returned home from work and got into the shower, and I got off work. My routine is to feed the pets their dinners right after I get off work. I work from home, so I got up from my office desk and walked to the kitchen to put together their dinners. (b) (6) dinner that night was the second half of a measured-out amount of the Purina Pro Plan cat kibble, which she was fed twice daily (she had received the first half in the morning). | 2.5 Years | American Shorthair | Cat | 13 | Pound |
| | | | The pets had finished eating before I left the apartment to take the dog on his regular after-dinner walk. The last time I saw (b) (6) alive she was scratching the couch, which was a regular behavior for her. While standing at the threshold of the apartment door I yelled at her to stop scratching it, which prompted her to zoom out of the living room and down the apartment hall as fast as possible, which was another regular behavior for her. As she was running down the hall, I then stepped out of the apartment for 5 minutes to take the dog for his walk. Upon my return to the apartment 5 minutes later, I found her laying down and unresponsive on the apartment floor in the in an unusual way. While I was taking off the dog's leash, I was saying her name and was confused why she wasn't moving or responding. I then began to freak out. I will preface this section by saying I am a medical professional. I immediately knew something was wrong. I took 30 seconds to assess the scene. She was down, unresponsive, bloated, not blinking with dilated pupils, and most importantly she was not breathing. Her bladder had involuntarily emptied all the way down the hallway, and there was a puddle of pee that had pooled out her behind where she had laid down and passed. At this point I knew she was suffering, and I ran into the bathroom to tell my fiancé that she's dying and we have to go now. My fiancé immediately got out of the shower, got dressed, and helped me scoop her up into her crate with a blanket. It took us less than 2 minutes to get dressed and get out of the door. We then brought her into the local emergency vet in (b) (6) as soon as possible. She unfortunately did have an extended downtime of about 10 minutes before we reached the ER vet due to the local traffic in our area around 5 pm. We called the ER vet in advance while we were enroute to let them know we were coming and to request resuscitative efforts be performed for (b) (6) upon our arrival. | | | | | |

|----------------------------|-----------------|---|---|----|--------|---------------------------|-----|-----|-------|
| | | | When my fiancé parked the car, I ran with her crate and got her to the vet staff as soon as physically possible so they could code her. The ER vet was able to perform CPR, however they weren't able to get line access and chances of resuscitation were low given the extended downtime, so my fiancé and I requested they stop the measures. They let us know she had passed away before we were able to get her to the vet. I found her down at approximately 5:10 pm, and by 5:40 she was gone from this world. We do not know what her cause of death is related to, and it was most certainly not a normal death. I was not offered an opportunity for a necropsy, so we had her cremated. It was sudden and extremely tragic and needless to say we are still shocked and completely heartbroken. The reason why I am writing these reports is because the only new thing in any of the pets' lives had been the switch to the purina pro plan food. I have considered and tried several other options to help with the illnesses of my two living pets to no avail at all. Nothing I had tried was working until I took them off this food. Even now, my cat and dog are still having issues. All of the pets were in otherwise perfect health before I switched them to these foods and had regular vet care. After seeing numerous complaints pertaining to other pet deaths and illnesses resulting from these particular foods AND seeing them start to surface at the same time I switched my pets to this food, I do strongly suspect the food may have caused her death (especially in the context of being so young, healthy, and otherwise perfectly healthy). This report is me advocating for them during their times of suffering. I have since put my cat and dog on different foods and they are just now starting to do better. I have submitted two complaints with purina directly, one complaint for the cat and dog food each, and they are going to send me shipping materials so I can send them samples for testing. My complaint case ID through purina is (b) (6). | | | | | | |
| EON-559342 | 1/12/2024 18:08 | Purina Proplan Sport 30/20 salmon and rice | I have two dogs who both ate Proplan Sport without issue since Jan 2023. Upon opening a new bag of Proplan 20/30 salmon at the end of October 2023, both dogs began having intermittent diarrhea. (b) (6) the oldest also began having a weird spasmodic swallowing or hiccup type thing happen. He was rushed to the ER vet upon first instance as we thought something was stuck in his throat. It resolved while at the ER vet and he was sent home without seeing a vet since they were very busy. Subsequent less severe episodes happen over the following weeks. | EON-559341 | 1/12/2024 18:08 | Purina Pro Plan Lamb and Brown Rice | We switched our dog food to purina pro plan lamb and brown rice on 12/14 slow transition. After a week she was completely on PPP. She had a few vomiting episodes which we assumed she had eaten to fast, however her diarrhea episodes began and by 1/6/2024 she became lethargic and eating appetite decreased, overnight she began vomiting every 2 hours in which we immediately took her to the Vet Hospital. At the hospital, they ran some tests and indicated her liver enzymes were 7x the normal and she was jaundiced. They referred us to a bigger hospital to become hospitalized and begin intensive care. While there she did not improve and was not responding to medical interventions. By (b) (6) she declined severely and was throwing up black tar looking at the hospital and her jaundice was even worse. Unfortunately, (b) (6) health declined so much she had to be euthanized humanely. Leaving us and the kids heart broken. | EON-559331 | 1/12/2024 18:01 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin & Stomach 7+ Salmon & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food | I heard good things about Purina Pro Plan food and decided to gradually change (b) (6) from the food she had been on for years to Purina Pro Plan to hopefully reduce flatulence. I began gradually adding Purina Pro Plan to her meals (about 1/4-1/2 ratio) on approx June 28th. She eats twice a day about 1 cup of food at each meal, so she had eaten it for about 5 days when she first started showing symptoms. She stopped eating her meals regularly and was regurgitating undigested kibble. We thought it could be due to nerves from fireworks but she got considerably worse as time went on. We continued feeding her mixture of previous dog food and Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Stomach when she would eat, which was greatly reduced and she continued to regurgitate her food, began losing weight and had a jaundice appearance in her eyes, gums and stomach. At that point, I was worried it might be the Purina Food so we discontinued it and took her to the veterinarian. She had a diagnostic ultrasound done and determined it could be possible hepatitis. She ended up being hospitalized numerous times over the next two months, her health continued to deteriorate, and was taken to specialists in (b) (6) where she underwent a blood transfusion. Over the two months she went from 36lbs to 25lbs, diagnosed with severe pancreatitis, high bilirubin, abnormal liver enzymes, gi bleeding and anorexia. | 10 | Years | Cattle Dog - Australian (blue heeler, red heeler, Queensland cattedog) | Dog | 36 | Pound |

| EON-559323 | 1/12/2024 18:00 | royal canin selected protein pr | (b) (6) has had IBD for most of his life. Was well controlled using the royal canin pr food and very small dose of prednosolone. On monday he vomited about 4-5 times - i tried to get a vet appt but could not. I became aware of some of the food problems with more recent batches of food. I had several cans of the pre december chewy order and gave those to him. We was fine. Last nite and this AM i gave cans from the december order - he did not eat as much as usual and vomited again. i took him to vet and so far nothing is showing up. He did not eat the morning food. I found another food i thought he could tolerate and ate it like he hadn't eaten in years. I know not all cases have a consistent look to the food but the fact that he suddenly does not want to eat and gets sick i truly believe are caused by the food. | 13 | Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | 13.4 | Pound |

We contacted the company directly to report the problem. they sent us via email to their claims. Department, also known as Sedgwick claims. after weeks of exchanging emails and veterinary reports that substantiated. She added the sudden change in our dogs due to consumption of the dog food. They tell us that nothing they see is directly related to the dog food. However, that is the only common denominator between all 4 dogs. the one dog in the household that was on a completely different type and brand of food was the 1 dog that did not get sick. no other environmental factors or any other factors could have contributed to the multitude of symptoms. And issues that the dog's had. all of the dogs experienced everything from spleen infection to bacterial infection. Upper respiratory problems caesars, there's and other health-related issues. after about 10 days. And complete removal of the food. Upon discovering the common denominator to the dog's illnesses comma their symptoms improved dramatically once they were not on the food and they would exited their systems. | EON-559308 | 1/12/2024 17:56 | PURINA PRO PLAN Adult Large Breed Specialized | My almost 9 year old lab has been eating Purina Pro Plan all his life, vet recommended. I am hoping this was a bad batch. We received our regular Chewy delivery (circa Dec31, 2023) recently and began feeding him and after nearly every meal (2 per day), he vomited it up (roughly an hour or so after eating). After a few days, we stopped the Purina Pro and gave him rice/ cooked egg/ chicken / sweet potato. He never vomited those and so, after a few days, we reintroduced the Purina Pro Plan and he vomited it up again. We called the vet yesterday 1/11/24 and have temporarily switched brands. I'm thinking if he had a health issue, the vomiting would have been consistent? Maybe this is a bad batch?? I reported it to Chewy and they asked for the bag/package info, and I reported it to Purina, online. Here it is for you too- BEST BY APR 2025 3297 1085 1301L03 Please look into this, as I've seen where others reported having experienced sick issues much worse. | EON-559231 | 1/12/2024 13:08 | Purina pro plan Weight management shredded blend chicken and rice formula | Purchase a new bag of food from chewy.com and December. My dog has been on this food for quite some time and has been OK with it, until the new bag. We noticed him not wanting to eat as much and he was drinking a lot more than normal. Then he started having diarrhea and soft stools with mucus. His poop smelled bad and his behind was sore, dragging it on the ground frequently. His eyes are also always tearing and he was more tired than normal. We Decided to look into this more and I decided to stop the food and give him just bland food. Since we stopped the purina, he has gradually become more himself. While researching all of this we came upon information about a lot of other dogs getting very ill and even dying due to Parina pro plan products recently. This needs to be pulled off the shelf immediately so no other dogs get sick or die and a huge massive recall needs done. I have the food if you would like any for testing. I hope this has no long term effects on his health. We are in the process of finding something safe for our sweet guy. Please, please, please look into Purina. They know there is an issue but they don't want to admit it and it's not fair to the pets that are getting very sick or dying, or as well to their families. | 3 | Years | Other Canine/dog | Dog | | |
| EON-559230 | 1/12/2024 13:08 | Purina Pro Plan High Protein Dog Food With Probiotics for Dogs Shredded Blend Chicken & Rice Formula - 6 lb. Bag | In November 2023, after consumption of Purina Pro Plan High Protein Dog Food, my dog suddenly stopped eating and drinking, accompanied by alarming symptoms such as continuous diarrhea, vomiting, and the passage of blood in his stool. He was then rushed to the emergency vet where he underwent two full blood tests, X-rays, fecal exams, received two IVs of subcutaneous fluids, and was put on four different medications, such as Sucralfate and Famotidine, to address his severe gastrointestinal issues. Despite these extensive diagnostic measures, the veterinarians were unable to determine the root cause of his distress as all test results came back negative. In the months that followed, I stumbled upon numerous claims of other pet owners reporting similar issues with Purina products. After connecting the dots and considering the timeline, I have come to the conclusion, that the consumption of Purina Pro Plan High Protein Dog Food may have played a significant role in triggering my dog's severe gastrointestinal issues. | 4 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 50 | Pound |

He is now 3 years old and within the last month, he has has thrown up 3-4 times within 1 hour of eating his breakfast. These recent vomiting incidents are alarming because of the frequency and very short time window. Beyond this, our dog is exhibiting normal behavior. My wife recently found a recent report on social media of there being an uptick in reports of dogs exhibiting vomiting, diarrhea, etc from various dog food brands and the report cautions that it could be a case of these brands receiving their ingredients/supply from the same upstream supplier. Once we saw Stella and Chewy brand listed in the report, we have decided to file this report to share our observations. | EON-559209 | 1/12/2024 13:04 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice formula | (b) (6) has been eating Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Salmon for over 10 years. I purchased a new bag in December and began feeding as normal around 12/23. A couple days later I noticed he was pooping a lot more. Not diarrhea, just went from 2-3 times a day to 6-8. He also had increased thirst and seemed more tired than normal. Two weeks later he began refusing to eat his food. (That is very unusual for him). He would eat other food, just not his normal dog food. I bought a different brand of food which he has been eating with no issues. He still has excessive thirst and there is some concern from his vet that there could be some kidney failure. I am waiting for lab work to come back. | 11.8 | Years | Retriever (unspecified) | Dog | 99.8 | Pound |
| EON-559208 | 1/12/2024 13:04 | Purina ProPlan Performance 30/20 Chicken & Rice Formula | We purchased a bag of Purina ProPlan Performance 30/20 from Amazon on November 5, 2023. She vomited a couple of times. She is a hunting dog. We thought that she just wore herself out and ate too fast. But then November 18th she wouldn't even walk. She was drooling/foaming at the mouth and so lethargic. We took her to the vet. There was so much air in her stomach, you couldn't even see any other organs on the x-ray. Her stomach was so inflamed that it was surrounded by fluid. They told us due to a very high risk of torsion, she didn't have a high chance of making it through the night. She stayed for 2 days and we brought her home. The first night home, she had a bowl of the Purina Pro Plan again. By the next morning she was back at the vet with the same situation. She stayed at the vet again because we were back in the high risk category of torsion due to the severe inflammation and air in her stomach and bowel. She was at the vet for another night. She came home the next day. We suspected it was the dog food after we realized all of this started when we got the new bag of dog food. Especially when she became so ill after eating a bowl the second time she ended up at the vet. Ever since this has happened, she has had residual digestive issues. She now is on a restrictive diet where she can only eat prescription dog food. She has lost about 15 pounds since all of this. Her digestive system is very delicate now. She has never had any issues with her digestion, stomach, or anything at all before this. I have been convinced it was the food since all this happened but hadn't seen anyone else saying anything. I see more people coming out and saying they experienced similar situations with their Purina dog food. | 10 | Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 165 | Pound |

| EON-559200 | 1/12/2024 13:04 | Taste of the Wild Ancient Prairie with Ancient Grains Dry Dog Food | In late October, he developed symptoms of extreme gastroenteritis. We immediately switched him to a bland diet, to no avail. Symptoms included diarrhea and mild lethargy. Approximately 2 days in, he developed bloody diarrhea. We promptly took him to the emergency vet (it was a Sunday) and spent upwards of $2000 on blood tests, fecal samples, x-rays, ultrasound, etc. None of these tests turned up any answers and he was sent home with Visbiome High Potency Probiotic and the instruction to follow up with our primary vet if the issue did not resolve within 2 days. After those 2 days, we saw no improvement in the above symptoms so we took him back to our primary vet for a follow-up, where he was prescribed metronidazole in addition to help resolve the diarrhea. The symptoms continued for a full week after this appointment (nearly 2 full weeks). | 5 | Years | Doberman Pinscher | Dog | 105 | Pound |

We recently opened a new bag of purina proplan puppy under 2 years large breed chicken and rice formula. The feed was started Sunday evening (1/7/24). He has had an event of diarrhea at least 1 time each day and no solid bowel movements since. He was given a full bowl of approximately 2 cups Tuesday (1/9) and has barely consumed half of the same bowl since then. We have a vet appointment 1/11 and will hopefully get some answers. | 15 | Months | Landseer (Continental-European type) | Dog | 110 | Pound |
| EON-559198 | 1/12/2024 13:04 | Purina One Plus Healthy Kitten Formula (Dry food) | We bought a new bag of the same food one of our cats had been normally eating (Purina One Kitten) and had shown no problems with before this point. The cat that had recently recovered from giardia, started having better stools and was declared giardia-free from lab work our vet performed. She is still giardia free confirmed by more lab work. Shortly after starting her on the new bag of food, her stool started getting progressively worse while on the Purina One Kitten food until it was just diarrhea. Our second cat snuck bites of her food and we only caught him while he was eating the food. Both of their stool continued to deteriorate while she was on the food. Our vet suggested switching to the Royal Canin diet for her and she's been slowly recovering since. | | | American Shorthair | Cat | | |

| EON-559168 | 1/12/2024 12:32 | purina pro plan sensitive skin and stomach salmon | My dog, (b) (6) was in my care for 8 years, from the time she was 6 weeks old. Her birthday was in February of 2015. She was having a small itching problem so I switched her food to Purina Pro Plan for Sensitive Skin and Stomach in the early Spring of 2022. Prior to that she was eating a basic Beneful dog food for small breeds. She enjoyed the Pro Plan food but then in the Spring of 2023 "April" (a little over a year of switching her food to Pro Plan) she started throwing up, stopped drinking water, pooped in the house leading me to take her to her vet and then the the emergency vet. Within a week of those symptoms starting I was told she might have Pancreatitis and later found out it was Liver Cancer and my only choice was to put her down. She declined so quickly, in a week and a half, and passed away (b) (6). This was the worst day of my life. I had spent thousands of dollars trying to treat her to find out that there was nothing I could do. By the time I had to put her down she wasn't walking, wasn't eating or drinking, her stomach was distended and she had jaundice in her eyes and gums with a constant fever. I had switched her to chicken and rice during this time, but it was too late. I am reporting this in case it was linked to the Purina Pro Plan food. She was completely fine before I switched foods and within a year was dead. I would love to find out so we can warn other pet parents before it is too late. | 8 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 21 | Pound |

After his coccidia was cleared up in October (we were back in the vet, another fecal specimen was taken, it was clear in the office and was sent out for further testing and was also clear), he was still vomiting, diarrhea and lethargic. He has been to the vet 4 additional times, 2 xrays and 2 additional blood works, all clear. One bloodwork was sent to (b) (6) for evaluation. | EON-559037 | 1/11/2024 12:08 | Purina One True Instincts | Diarrhea started 3 days prior to needing to go to the emergency vet. The day of going to the emergency vet there were 5-6 piles of bright red bloody stool and vomit with blood in it all over my house when I came home from work. She went to the er and was sent home with meds/antibiotics and was being treated for possible HGE or Pancreatitis. A few hours later she wasn't able to keep any water or the meds in so we responded back to the ER where she was admitted for over 24hrs and given hydration and meds via IV and an NG tube to extract bile from her stomach and attempt to feed. She wound up progressing positively and was discharged Sunday 1/7/24 in the afternoon and continues to do well. As she was being discharged my 2nd dog, Trouble at home developed the same symptoms- we recognized it quick once we saw blood tinged stool and brought him right away. He was given meds and hydration under the skin and sent home. He's 13y yorkshire terrier and he is also doing well now we have antibiotics and are continuing to administer. We aren't whole sure Purina is the culprit however, that's what they eat and haven't been anywhere else. My 3rd dog remains healthy and unaffected. | 6 | Years | Cattle Dog - Australian (blue heeler, red heeler, Queensland cattledog) | Dog | 40 | Pound |

| EON-559033 | 1/11/2024 12:08 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice Kibble | (b) (6) begin having vomiting and diarrhea spells on and off over the course of a week in September 2023. She would get better for a day and then relapse the next day. After about 6 days of this, she worsened significantly and began vomiting and defecating pure blood. I brought her to the vet where she was admitted for two days and diagnosed with hemorrhagic gastroenteritis (I had been consulting my vet throughout and following recommended at-home remedies to no avail). She required significant medical intervention to recover. During her hospital stay, her albumin was incredibly low, but they were eventually able to stabilize it. Her last blood test upon discharged showed extremely high eosinophils with no known explanation (she tested negative on all parasite tests). It took several weeks for these levels to return to normal. Since she was released from the hospital, she had one more minor but similar episode about a month later. I then learned that several dogs were having similar negative reactions to the Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice Kibble I had been feeding her. It is my understanding they changed their formula this summer, which is when the problems began. I have since switched to a different Purina product and had no issues since. My other dog (b) (6) was also on the kibble, so I initially did not suspect it. But the reports of so many other dogs getting sick on this food combined with the fact that (b) (6) is not a "grazer" who indiscriminately eats things, makes me think there is something in the food that either only affects some dogs or is hit/miss in quantity. I'm happy to answer any questions you may have. This is not an anti-Purina effort (as I still feed my dogs their food, just a different type) but there seems to be enough anecdotal cases out there to warrant a review. | 4 | Years | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 63 | Pound |
| EON-559031 | 1/11/2024 12:08 | Purina Pro Plan weight management chicken and rice | (b) (6) has been eating Purina Pro Plan Weight Management for several years to maintain a healthy weight. On 12/20/2023, I purchased a new bag of PPP Weight Management from the PetSmart in (b) (6). I opened the bag after the New Year (2024) and began feeding from the new bag. Prior to feeding from the new bag, his stools were well-formed and he was healthy. Within one week of feeding from the new bag, his stools were pure liquid. Very early Sunday morning (1/7/2024), (b) (6) woke me up to be taken out. He had severe diarrhea. I withheld food for 24 hrs to allow his GI tract to reset. He continued to have issues Monday (1/8) so I took him to urgent care. He was kept at urgent care for the day and was given IV fluids and anti-diarrheal medication. The veterinarian did abdominal XRays, and ran blood and urine panels. I was sent home Monday night with (b) (6) and he was prescribed probiotics, Purina Pro Plan EN (wet and dry), and one additional anti-diarrheal dose. I fed him the Rx diet Monday night and Tuesday morning. He was also given probiotics and the second dose of the anti-diarrheal Tuesday morning. He continued to have severe diarrhea throughout Tuesday. I spoke with the urgent care vet Tuesday and he requested i withhold food for another 24 hours to give (b) (6) GI Tract some time to reset. Throughout Tuesday I had problems getting (b) (6) to drink. On Wednesday (1/9) we returned to the urgent care and he was admitted to their ICU. He is still there. All of his bloodwork came back WNL and his urine values were also normal. The vet found nothing in the abdominal XRays and his fecal parasite screening came back negative. The vet has no answer for (b) (6) sudden onset of diarrhea. I feel at this time there is a correlation to the new bag of food I started feeding in 2024. Of note, I own three other dogs who are being fed a different diet who remain healthy. They are all being fed Kirkland Signature Turkey and Ancient Grains kibble. | 9 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 61 | Pound |
| EON-559030 | 1/11/2024 12:08 | Purina Pro Plan live clear | I started giving my cats purina pro plan live clear indoor cat food to help reduce allergies. I noticed my cats immediately beginning to vomit the 1st day given. At first I wasn't sure what they got into. Then after the next day of vomiting, I pulled up their wet food that I usually give them in the evening thinking that may upset their stomach. The vomiting persisted the next day after that so I thought I would give it a couple more days to work itself out but it only got worse and cats began to get weak. So I pulled up the dry food, which was the purina, and switched back to Blue and the vomiting immediately stopped. Thing is other people have complained about this particular brand food making their pets ill so I thought I needed to bring it to your attention before someone's pet dies. | 4 | Years | American Shorthair | Cat | 8 | Pound |

| EON-559029 | 1/11/2024 12:08 | Purina Pro Plan Adult/Adulte Complete Essentials Chicken & Rice Formula/Formule Poulet Et Riz Chicken is the first ingredient/Du poulet comme premier ingredient | We started feeding (b) (6) purina pro plan dry cat foot kibble starting on 10/12/2023 after buying it from our local Petsmart. (b) (6) symptoms started around the last week of 10/2023/the first week of 11/2023 and have persisted until present day. (b) (6) symptoms, although not as severe has (b) (6) and (b) (6) have been going on the longest. (b) (6) is our senior pet and is therefore more at risk, which is why we have been thankful her symptoms haven't been so bad that she's needed emergency care. But with that said, her symptoms are still serious. Her first symptoms started within the first couple weeks after we started feeding her the new purina food on 10/12/2023. Her symptoms at that time included: an increase in self-grooming (she was grooming and licking herself so much she was going bald on her face and front legs), weight loss, and a steep increase in water intake. She would regularly drink two bowls of her own water a day. I then realized she had been going out of her way to drink extra water from (b) (6) dog bowl, then realized she was drinking more than 2 full bowls of her own water daily. I am currently refilling her water bowl about 3 – 4 times a day. She was seen for these issues and for regular vet care on 11/09/2023 (after (b) (6) went to the ER vet) to make sure she was OK and didn't have an insect infestation or any other conditions. She was confirmed not to have any insect infestations and we preventatively started her on pest infection prevention medicines just in case (given (b) (6) anaphylactic reaction and suspicions at the time of insect bites/infestations). Originally the vet thought the weight loss may have been due to a thyroid issue, but this was ruled out after further testing and the subject wasn't brought up again by the vet (I had previously tried to explain to them it wasn't a thyroid issue and the vet didn't agree, but the vet did mention at the time they have seen cases of weight loss with excessive self-grooming). The vet then deemed that (b) (6) was in excellent health for her age and they didn't mention anything about or treat her skin condition. The weight loss is concerning because (b) (6) has always been very tiny, weighing around 6 - 7.5 lbs most of the time she's been in our lives. (b) (6) weight was getting ready to be declared underweight, as it was almost underneath 6 lbs at the time of that visit. We realized over time that she wasn't eating as much of her Purina dry kibble and related it to that, so we started feeding her higher calorie treats throughout the day and larger portions of her wet food/canned human grade tuna | 11.5 | Years | American Shorthair | Cat | 6.14 | Pound |
| | | | to help get her weight back up. A couple weeks later at the end of 11/2023 I noticed she was peeing more frequently (instead of once or twice a day, 3 - 4 times a day). The pee amount was a lot larger too - it was soaking all the way to the bottom of a full litter box. Before (b) (6) passed away we had always kept out two litter boxes for ease of access. I have been changing all the litter in both boxes at least one a week to help compensate for her going extra and to ensure the litter is staying fresh. Before, I only needed to change all the litter in both boxes approximately once a month. About a week after (b) (6) (the day our beloved cat (b) (6) suddenly passed) I noticed that (b) (6) really wasn't eating any of the purina pro plan dry kibble - if at all. I thought this was strange but didn't think anything more of it at the time, and I kept putting it out for her to eat as she wanted. I'll note here that because (b) (6) was slightly overweight and (b) (6) was tiny, they had different feeding patterns. (b) (6) always had access to a full bowl of dry kibble 24/7 that we shooed (b) (6) away from. With previous kibbles, (b) (6) was eating an entire bowl over a couple of days. With the purina pro plan, (b) (6) was going through one full bowl about once a week. In the middle of 12/2023 my fiancé and I noticed that (b) (6) skin condition was worsening - she had awfully bad dandruff, her fur was no longer shiny, and she was licking her front legs so raw they had started to form ulcers and weep (just from being so itchy). At this time I started using Neosporin with a mix of some coconut oil (confirmed to be pet safe by my vet) to make sure the leg wounds didn't get infected and were soothed/hydrated while they healed. Additionally, she had developed multiple bald spots on her head/face/body whereas previously there were only a couple on her head only. She was so itchy though that using the Neosporin was nearly pointless because she would immediately lick it all off again due to irritation, and thus irritate her wounds even more. (b) (6) has also had a couple of episodes of throwing up the purina kibble within 10 – 15 mins after ingesting it, which has happened about 3 - 4 times since she was started on the purina pro plan food in 10/2023. | | | | | | |

| | | | Because we didn't originally suspect the food to be an issue for (b) (6) at all, we fed her the Purina Pro Plan food until 01/02/2024. This was when I started seeing multiple complaints regarding the Purina Pro Plan foods. After realizing that all of the pet's sicknesses may be related to the Purina food, I immediately went out and bought her a new bag of food from a different brand. Since starting her on that food she has been doing a lot better. Her leg wounds are starting to heal up, her fur is growing back on her face/head body and is starting to get shiny again, and she's actually eating the new dry food at her regular pace. Due to seeing numerous complaints pertaining to other pet deaths and illnesses resulting from these particular foods AND seeing them start to surface at the same time I switched my pets to this food, I do strongly suspect the food may have caused the death of one of my animals and severe sickness in the other two. This report is me advocating for them during their times of suffering. Please know I have submitted two complaints with Purina directly, one complaint for the cat and dog food each, and they are going to send me shipping materials so I can send them samples for testing. My complaint case ID through Purina is (b) (6). Both (b) (6) and my cat (b) (6) have upcoming vet appointments with their regular Banfield vet on 01/20/2024 for their ongoing symptoms. It was made clear to me at this time that the symptoms they are having may in fact be due to long-term effects of food poisoning/bad food and that I should file reports with the FDA and the food manufacturing company. | | | | | | | |

On 1/1/24 (b) (6) awoke vomiting whitish foam about 3 times. He was visibly uncomfortable. He drank water and voided urine no BM. We fed ground chicken and rice. He had a normal BM. About 30 minutes later he vomited his stomach contents and then a large clot of blood and bloody mucus. We took him to emergency vet. Lab work and X-rays were normal (hematocrit was elevated). He was given IV fluids and a shot to prevent vomiting (no more episodes at vet). He was discharged with 10mg omeprazole twice daily for 7 days plus maintain a bland diet x 3 days. (b) (6) developed mucus diarrhea no signs of blood. He did vomit twice more during the ensuing week mostly white foam. We had to maintain a bland diet until 1/9/24 when he seemed to feel much better. | EON-559014 | 1/11/2024 12:04 | Purina pro plan complete essentials shredded beef and rice formula | (b) (6) was a healthy 3 year old dog. Since he was fed at the breeder Purina Pro plan I continued to feed it. On November 13th he had a seizure and was taken to the vet. He had been fed Purina pro plan beef and rice and it was a new bag that I opened in November. On November 30th at 11pm (b) (6) began seizing again and had five cluster seizures at home and in the car as I was driving to emergency vet. He continued to have 7 more seizures while in their care and remained in ER until Sunday, December 3rd. He came home and was in terrible condition, couldn't walk on his own and cried and whined. The vet told me he would remain on meds the rest of his life to control the seizures but he will never be cured. As a single, divorced owner it was very expensive and difficult for me to see him suffer and handle him. He has been healthy prior to this. He had diarrhea but I thought it was from opening a new bag of food and the stress of everything that happened. I think there was something wrong with the food so I changed and he no longer has diarrhea. He has remained seizure-free. The toll on him and me has been tremendous. He has been through so much. I hope you can find out what is wrong with the food so it doesn't happen to another dog. He almost died from this. | 3 | Years | Greater Swiss Mountain Dog | Dog | 118 | Pound |

He then continued to have two more and was put on medication and a new diet. Since the new diet, he has been seizure free. They diagnosed him with idiopathic epilepsy as a six year old dog which is uncommon. It is uncommon for a dog to have his first seizure at six years old and have idiopathic epilepsy. Our dog has been taking this food for over a year prior with no major issues. However, this batch was different and smelled a little off. After we began feeding it to her, we noticed that she became lethargic, her hair was falling off in clumps and she was extremely itchy and uncomfortable. So much so, that the inside of her right ear began bleeding from her scratching so much. She was in constant discomfort and frequently shaking her ears like they were bothersome. Upon further inspection of her ears, both were bright red and irritated. She also chewed on her paw so much, that the fur came off and required an antibiotic topical spray. We also got medicine from our vet for ear drops for the irritation and infection. | 6 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 80 | Pound |

| EON-558996 | 1/11/2024 11:00 | Purina Pro Plan Adult/Adulte Complete Essentials Beef & Rice Formula Beef is the first ingredient | (b) (6) (b) (6) for short) was a perfectly healthy and extremely energetic pup before we switched him to the purina pro plan dog food. He had started eating that food on 10/12/2023 after we bought it from our local Petsmart store. (b) (6) started having symptoms starting on 11/02/2023 and has had symptoms since that date onward until present day. (b) (6) didn't exhibit any serious symptoms or conditions until this day despite having eaten the food for a couple of weeks. The onset of the symptoms for both (b) (6) and (b) (6) started a couple of weeks after having started them on the purina pro plan foods and had worsened over time. On 11/02/2023 my fiancé and I woke up to our regular work alarm at 4:45 AM. About 1 minute after the alarm went off, (b) (6) threw up. We then turned on the bedroom light and were astonished at the condition (b) (6) was in. The throw up was clear foam mixed with yellow stomach acid. He had periorbital edema, facial swelling, and his body was covered in hives (I will submit a picture). Thankfully he was still breathing and behaving normally, but he was clearly in critical condition due to having sudden onset of anaphylaxis and physically looked miserable. While my fiancé got clothes on and called out of work, I put on a jacket and boots over my PJs and took (b) (6) for his regular morning potty (since he was otherwise behaving normally). He peed normally but had explosive diarrhea. It was like turning on a water hose at full blast. Once I returned a few minutes later, we loaded (b) (6) into the car and took him to our local emergency vet in (b) (6). The ER vet agreed he was having anaphylaxis and told me they suspected an insect bite vs accidental self-inflicted harm (from scratching a particularly larger hive that was on his face). It is not known for sure if he was actually bitten by an insect or spider, the ER vet said that's only what they suspected based on the most common cause of anaphylaxis in dogs. He received a type of dog EpiPen shot and was doing a lot better about 30 mins later - almost all of the hives and facial swelling had ceased. We were then sent home with a treatment plan of OTC human grade Pepcid and 25 mg OTC human grade Benadryl. We were instructed to return to the ER if anything got worse. | 1 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 60 | Pound |
| | | | The same day on 11/02/2023 I fed (b) (6) and the other pets their dinners around 5 pm, per our family's regular routine. For his breakfast and dinner, (b) (6) was getting 2 cups of dry purina pro plan dog kibble that's measured out and mixed with warm water to make it into gravy (which totals to about 4 cups of dry kibble daily - the recommended amount for his weight). About 30 mins after eating the food at 5:30 the hives started to come back on his body. About 60 minutes later at 6 pm the hives had returned to his face and head, so we took him to the ER vet for the second time that day. He wasn't given any other treats or snacks during that time to help let his tummy settle. So we loaded up into the car and went back to our local ER vet in (b) (6). (b) (6) received another EpiPen shot, was fine shortly afterwards, and the vet instructed us to follow the exact same plan she had laid out for us earlier that day (as it happened, we were seen by the same provider from that morning when we went back that night). We were once again instructed to come back if anything worsened, specifically regarding hives on the face. During these ER visits, nothing was brought up about the food potentially being an issue, but I did let the vet know I had started the pets on the purina pro plan foods just a couple of weeks ago. My fiancé and I didn't think it was an issue with the food until later in 12/2023 when we started having suspicions after the sudden and unexpected passing of our young, healthy cat. Please keep reading.During this time though, (b) (6) suffered. He had continuous explosive and bloody diarrhea over the course of the next week (there was both digested blood and bright red blood per rectum over the course of multiple poops). We did almost take him back to the ER vet on the night of 11/03/2023 for a third time (the next day). (b) (6) stomach was so upset he was laying down and not playing at all and only got up to sit by the front door when he had to go poop again. On 11/03/2023, the extremely upset stomach started after he had a regular dinner of 2 cups purina kibble. He had to go poop literally every 30 minutes for the next 12 hours (5 pm - 5 am). At the time, we decided to take him but only in the AM if the really watery diarrhea had persisted, but we ultimately decided not to because it was getting more solid by the morning and the ER vet was expensive. I consulted our regular vet in the Banfield chatting app on what I could do to help soothe his tummy before we could get him seen at the vet for his appointment at Banfield of (b) (6) on 11/17/2023, and he was started on a diet of partial purina pro plan kibble and rice soaked in beef stock. Over the next few days (b) (6) was able to complete the treatment plan. | | | | | | |

|----------------------------|-----------------|---|--|----|-------|-----------------------|-----|----|-------|
| | | | We had scheduled a follow up visit for all the pets after this ER vet experience just to make sure they were all OK. After all, the ER vet did tell us they only suspected an insect bite, so we wanted to make sure the pets didn't have any infestations. The cats were seen earlier than (b) (6) was, and (b) (6) was seen at our regular vet on 11/17/2023. At this time, the vet let me know (b) (6) seemed to be doing better, but they didn't know if (b) (6) reaction was actually from an insect or spider bite. There was no evidence of infestation or even insect/spider bites visible on his body and no evidence of insect infestations in either of the cats. However, because the theme here was originally pertaining to potential insect bites, we didn't suspect the food until later. So, we continued to feed him the food at regular intervals and he continued to do poorly. He has suffered for multiple months. Before we suspected the food, we suspected everything else first. We had all the pets put on pest prevention medications. My fiancé and I deep cleaned the entire apartment (from the ceiling, to the floors, literally). Even though we didn't feel there was an in-house infestation, just to be on the safe side we even treated all of the carpets and fabric covered furniture for pests (mattress, couch, chairs, everything). However, despite all my attempts, (b) (6) symptoms weren't going away. He was still occasionally throwing up, having diarrhea, and getting hives on his body but not his face. On (b) (6) our 2 year old cat passed away due to unknown reasons, but later came to realize it had happened only after she had eaten her dinner. This is when I really started to understand that there was something else going on, because it was clear the pets didn't have infestations and were still suffering despite everything we had been doing. The last time I fed (b) (6) the purina pro plan food was on 12/21/2023. About 30 mins after eating dinner at 5 pm, the hives came back in mass on his body. I then got out the benedryl and pepcid and started him back on the original treatment plan, which worked without me having to take him to the emergency vet for a third time. He was treated with this plan for another 3 days. | | | | | | |
| | | | This is when it clicked for me it was likely the food he was eating. When I realized it may be the food, at first I thought it may have been due to a general allergy based on some research I had done. So, I immediately stopped giving him the purina pro plan food and switched him back to what he had been on before (blue buffalo). While he hasn't had any further severe anaphylactic hive break outs, he has still been getting occasional hives on his body (daily, including today), his skin has been lumpy appearing, his coat has been dull and extremely itchy to the touch, has been moderately lethargic/not as playful as a puppy should be, has had episodes of diarrhea (although not as watery as it was before, and not as frequent), and episodes of constipation (where it's taking him a lot longer than normal to go). There have also been occasional episodes of throwing up yellow stomach acid, with the most recent occurrence of this symptoms being just a few days ago. Another thing I've noticed is that he's drinking a ton more water than normal. I usually fill the water bowls twice a day, but lately I've been filling them upwards to 5 times a day. The reason why I am writing these reports is because the only new thing in any of the pets' lives had been the switch to the purina pro plan food. I have considered and tried several other options (as listed above) to help with the illnesses of my two living pets to no avail at all. Nothing I had tried was working until I took them off this food. All of the pets were in otherwise perfect health before I switched them to these foods and have had regular vet care. After seeing numerous complaints pertaining to other pet deaths and illnesses resulting from these particular foods AND seeing them start to surface at the same time I switched my pets to this food, I do strongly suspect the food may have caused the death of one of my animals and severe sickness in the other two. This report is me advocating for them during their times of suffering. | | | | | | |

| EON-558994 | 1/11/2024 11:00 | Purina Pro Plan 7+ | My dog went from walking 5 miles a day to having severe "pancreatitis". Lost 5 pounds in a matter of day, vomiting, loss of appetite, severe diarrhea, could barely hold her head up. She spent a week in the hospital and fortunately survived. Still takes gallbladder meds and liver supplements. Blood work every two months to check liver, kidney and gallbladder function. She was near death. | EON-558993 | 1/11/2024 10:56 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Large Breed Chicken and Rice Formula | We've been feeding my dog this food for a year now and have never had any issues. We started a new bag and he was not interested in eating it at all, so we stood around and made him eat it. He would sniff it and would walk away, he's never been one to turn away any type of food. He had about a week of violently throwing up only the dog food and has had really bad diarrhea. Took him to the vet to put him on antibiotics and anti nausea shot. He hasn't eaten anything other than this food, no people food no raw meat nothing in the yard so this is the only possible reason. | 2 | Years | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | | |

| EON-558992 | 1/11/2024 10:56 | Catit Creamy Chicken & Liver Flavor Lickable Cat Treats | I visited (b) (6) (b) (6) today January 10th, 2024 to purchase some treats for my cat. One of the items I purchased were Catit creamy cat treat tubes. I go home, give my cat one not thinking that I would have had to check the expiration date prior. You would think the store manager/associates would be on top of that. When my cat is finished I check the packaging to read the ingredients and I'm appalled when I noticed the treated expired OCTOBER 2023! 3 MONTHS AGO. They weren't buried in the back of the shelves they were front and center first package in the box on the shelf. I return to the store and tell the cashier Corey what happened and when I mentioned that (b) (6) unfortunately gave my cat one before noticing the date HE LAUGHED. It's absolutely disgusting. The manager comes, I request a corporate number she bold faces lied to me and said there is none (I had to contact another location to get the corporate office number) she refunds me and tells me she pulled them off the shelves, not only was that box expired but all of them including different flavors excluding one. Something is suspicious about it to me because in hindsight the items were on sale. How do you change the price and have them on sale but have no thought to make sure the items aren't expired? It's not like they're a week past the date THEYVE BEEN EXPIRED FOR 3 MONTHS!!!!!! What if my cat got very ill? What would they do? Absolutely nothing. Putting my pets health and others in danger, WHO KNOWS WHAT ELSE ON THOSE SHELVES ARE EXPIRED!!!! WHO KNOWS HOW MANY OTHER CUSTOMERS HAVE PURCHASED THEM IT TOOK ME SAYING SOMETHING FOR THEM TO TAKE AN ITEM THAT EXPIRED 3 MONTHS AGO OFF SHELVES. I got a robotic forced apology from the manager and laughed at by the cashier. Please look into this, please make your presence felt because I don't think they gave a damn at all after putting my pets health in danger | | | | | | |
| EON-558991 | 1/11/2024 10:56 | Purina Pro Plan Puppy | Was on Purina One since May. Then started Pro Plan. Recommended by vet. Both dry and canned food. For large puppy. Dry was salmon. Wet was turkey and chicken. He has had an increasing aversion to his food. Now he tries to bury it. He won't eat unless I add mix ins like chicken or cheese. He vomits bile almost every morning. And has bouts of diarrhea so bad he can't hold it. I thought it was other things so I removed them one by one. I removed the Pro Plan and he got better | 11 | Months | Great Pyrenees | Dog | 78 | Pound |

| EON-558989 | 1/11/2024 10:56 | Purina Beneful Originals with Natural Salmon Dry Dog Food Purina Beneful Chopped Blends with Salmon Sweet Potatoes Brown Rice & Spinach Wet Dog Food | (b) (6) started to refuse to eat, the 25th of December. He started vomiting, so we gave him some rice and sweet potatoes for a couple days. Then we put him back on his beneficial salmon food. That next day he did not want to get up and go outside, took him to the vet she said put him on a bland diet. So back on rice mix. He started to drastically loose weight, as of today he is about 50 lbs. He went back on his normal food and started to have diarrhea. We put him on the soft salmon mix Purina carries, he is slowly eating it, but he is just so weak, he is giving up on life. I have been pushing his food on him for the last 2 weeks making him eat it, and now finding out there might be something wrong with it, breaks my heart. | 11 | Years | Setter - Gordon | Dog | 110 | Pound |
| EON-558904 | 1/10/2024 14:24 | Purina Pro Plan High Protein Chicken & Rice Formula Large Breed Dry Puppy Food | The beginning of December 2023, I opened a new bag of Purina Pro Plan Large Breed Puppy food. My puppy has been on this food since we brought her home at 8 weeks of age. On 12/12/23, my puppy, (b) (6) began vomiting, had diarrhea, and was lethargic. This continued and I called the vet on 12/14/23, made an appointment for the next day and dropped off a stool sample to be tested. By 12/15/23, (b) (6) symptoms had worsened and she refused to eat and was vomiting yellow bile. After extensive testing including X-rays, (b) (6) bloodwork showed elevated white blood cells and indications she was possibly developing pancreatitis. She was immediately switched to a diet of chicken and rice and immediately started to improve. As she was improving, we tried to slowly introduce her Pro Plan Large Breed Puppy food again and symptoms began again. She again was vomiting yellow bile, had diarrhea and began refusing her chicken and rice if the Pro Plan Large Breed Puppy food was mixed in. After returning to chicken and rice once again, she improved. | 11 | Months | Rottweiler | Dog | 80 | Pound |
| EON-558903 | 1/10/2024 13:56 | Purina One + sensitive skin and stomach dry cat food | On December 20 2023, I opened a new bag of Purina One + sensitive skin and stomach cat food . On December 23, my eldest cat became ill. Vomiting, and refusing to eat. He was put on bland diet and improved slightly, quit vomiting. On December 25, he completely quit eating his dry food. With the holidays, it took until (b) (6) for me to get him into a vet. By this time, he was jaundiced, pale, dehydrated and lethargic. By then he could not be enticed to eat more than a couple bites of cooked chicken. His liver values were high and he was in liver failure so I decided to let him go. During this time 2 more of my cats had become ill, vomiting, diarrhea and lethargic. A few days after (b) (6) 's passing, i saw people mentioning problems with Purina foods on social media and abruptly changed food for the remaining cats. 5 days later and all surviving cats have returned to normal. | | | | | | |
| EON-558902 | 1/10/2024 13:52 | Purina Pro Plan Specialized Large Breed Adult Dry Dog Food - Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice 24lb | (b) (6) had bouts of diarrhea. We would stop kibble do rice and chicken and he would be okay for a few weeks then it would happen again and we would do the same thing. Never thinking it could be the kibble. On (b) (6) at 12:05am he ran around the yard (all turf) and came to his bed when he let out a yelp and feel to side with legs extended, tonight came out and he started urinating and my husband immediately started chest compressions and cpr. He continued the 12 minutes to the er and they said there was nothing that could be done his heart was stopped and most likely a seizure. | 33 | Months | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 100 | Pound |

| EON-558895 | 1/10/2024 12:48 | Purina One Smartblend True Instinct high protein formula | My partner and I were traveling for about two weeks, so max (and our other dog (b) (6)) were left home with my family caring for them. About halfway through our trip, approximately ~12/29/23, (b) (6) had reportedly had diarrhea in the house that lasted for a few hours. This would have been around the time that a new bag of dog food would have been opened. Since returning, (b) (6) has been trembling in the house for no apparent reason and is using the bathroom a bit more often than normal, but no other significant issues noted. Our dogs have eaten Purina one smart blend for years, and we haven't had an issue so I didn't think the dog food could be related at first, but have recently seen reports of dogs getting sick from some Purina dog foods, and felt compelled to file a report for further investigation if necessary. | 7 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 50 | Pound |

| EON-558893 | 1/10/2024 12:48 | Purina pro plan sensitive skin and stomach salmon and rice adult formula dry food. | I have fed my dogs this food, since they were puppies, with no issues. on Tuesday evening, I opened a new bag that I had just ordered, and I noticed that for the first time, the food had a very strong smell of spoiled fish. With a metallic undertone. I gave it to my dogs, because I had no alternative, and they have eaten it last night and first thing this morning. Both my dogs have vomited twice, have diarrhea, and are extremely gassy. I contacted the seller, And they are refunding me, and shipping me and alternative food brand. | 5 | Years | Retriever (unspecified) | Dog | 53 | Pound |
| EON-558892 | 1/10/2024 12:48 | Purina ProPlan Sensitive Skin & Stomach Lamb & Oats | my dog has been very sick 3 times since May 2023. each episode begins with vomiting, diarrhea, then not eating, lethargy and followed by weight loss. The first time, she went to her regular vet on 5/25/23, got worse, went to emergency clinic on June 1. We stopped her regular food immediately & fed her a bland diet of chicken and rice for weeks until she was better and had normal stools again before resuming the PurinaProPlan Sensitive Skin & Stomach- Lamb & Oats food again. This cycle began again on July 29. I took her to the Vet on 8/1/23 where she needed same treatments. Cycle happened AGAIN Nov 28 then going to vet on 12/4/23. Suspected pancreatitis so rested pancreas and switched to special food. (b) (6) became dehydrated and resisted urinating . She was in great pain. Vet prescribed pain killer and antibiotics for uti. Without urine sample testing is limited. X-rays showed no blockage. Started eating the next day with different kibble. Improved but when antibiotics finished within two days she relapsed. Vet suspects kidney infection which requires a different antibiotic and urine sample for culture. (b) (6) is now eating and drinking normally while on second round of antibiotics. I called purina immediately on December 17. They sent refund. Advised me to take (b) (6) to vet if no improvement. (b) (6) saw vet on December 20 | 9 | Years | Chihuahua | Dog | 8 | Pound |

| EON-558878 | 1/10/2024 12:16 | Purina Pro Plan small breed Chicken and rice | I have fed my dog the same Purina Pro Plan small breed adult food for over a year. She has been perfectly fine and loves the food. However, I recently purchased a new bag before Christmas as she was running out. After feeding her food from the new bag, she immediately started vomiting white foam. She continued to do so for several days after Christmas. After she quit vomiting, I fed her boiled chicken instead of her dog food and had no further issues. Once I felt she was okay, I fed her the dog food again, and the next day she started vomiting mucous and blood. I had to take her to the vet, at which time she was given probiotics, and I was urged to switch food at that time. Since then, I have not fed her the Purina pro plan and she has had no further issues. | 2 | Years | Terrier - Yorkshire | Dog | 20 | Pound |

On 12/13/2023 we received a shipment of a case (24 cans) of Purina Pro Plan Chicken & Turkey Favorites Variety Pack Canned Cat Food 3 oz cans. Towards the end of December we opened the case and began feeding it to our cat. He began having random bouts of diarrhea. On 1/3/2024 the cat began throwing up along with having diarrhea. We took the cat to the vet and the said that his bladder was inflamed, gave him some medicine and was sent home. Later that day he began throwing up and having blood in his stool, was lethargic, and refusing to eat or drink. He was taken to the emergency vet where he was kept for 2 days being given IV fluids. The vet did blood work and scans and advised he did not have a blockage anywhere in his bowels and that his thyroid numbers were a bit off but otherwise his blood work was good (ie no cancer or other major medical diagnoses). The vet agreed to take him off the food. After a few days of being off the food, he got his appetite back and is slowly recovering. Once arriving home, the new dog food was poured into my dogs food bowl that was clean. My first dog (b) (6) went to smell and take a bite of the food. She behaved unusually as she backed up, started gagging and coughing and then fell over underneath the kitchen chair. After a couple of minutes, she recovered and seemed fine. She went over the water bowl and drank some water; she then moved to the food bowl to attempt to eat again, once again it was if she was hit with a tranquilizer as she lost her balance and footing and fell to the ground again. We moved the food bowl away from her and she recovered and moved to the living room where she sat for about 5 minutes. I took the food bowl and placed the bowl in the middle of the kitchen floor and called my dog back over. She came over and placed her nose about an inch from the dog food and again immediately lost her balance and footing. I removed the dog food from the area to include the bag the food came in. I grabbed the food and my dog and went to the Emergency Vets office to have my dog evaluated. The vet did not find anything wrong with my dog (b) (6). While I was at the vet, my wife called regarding our second dog, (b) (6) (boxer). She had eaten some of the food and was laying on the couch. (b) (6) started breathing heavy, visibly shuddering, and lost all bowel control. She was not on any medication. While at the Emergency Vet, the vet evaluated (b) (6) and annotated confusion, lethargic, and unstable when walking. (b) (6) stayed overnight at the ER Vet for observation and given cerinia for nausea. There were no other issues noted during the night; however, for the rest of the day (b) (6) laid on her bed barely responding to stimulation. A different brand of dog food was purchased and both dogs have eaten that brand, Blue Buffalo, just fine. Both dogs have eaten beef tips cooked with butter and salt with no issues. On 9 January, I took the bag of food to my regular vet's office to have the food sent off for testing at (b) (6). | 11 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 57 | Pound |

| EON-558860 | 1/10/2024 11:45 | Purina ONE +Plus Adult High-Protein Healthy Weight Formula Dry Dog Food | We have had 2 dogs sick and 1 dog die, all eating purina. Our husky had a seizure Saturday morning (1/6/24) and was lethargic and weak. He was unable to use his back legs and began to look bloated. The vet said give it 24 hours to regain strength. Sunday afternoon (1/7/24) we had to euthanize him due to his organs shutting down. We had just opened a new bag. Two other healthy, young dogs eating purina in our home had diarrhea and vomiting starting 1/5/24. | | | | | | |

| EON-558858 | 1/10/2024 11:45 | Purina One Chicken & Rice Formula | Animal died, appearing to be from a toxin event possibly resulting from changing over to Purina One Chicken formula. Dog was normal 24 hours from passing. Vet indicated the symptoms appeared as a toxic cause. The dog was on the third day of a transition from Purina puppy food to the Purina One, which was blended together. | 13 | Months | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 65 | Pound |
| EON-558857 | 1/10/2024 11:45 | Purina Pro Plan 7+ Complete Essentials Dry Dog Food Beef & Rice (18 Lb) and Purina Pro Plan and Purina Pro Plan Savor Shredded Blend Adult Dog Food Beef & Rice (35lb) | ON December 17th our dog (b) (6) became violently ill vomiting, and lethargic. We took him to a local animal hospital where iv fluids and anti nasea meds were given. (b) (6) diet solely consisted of Purina Pro Plan Beef and rice dry food. When he came home he seemed to be feeling better for a few days and resumed eating. Within a couple days he starting declining again and we took him to our local vet where blood work and xrays were done. (b) (6) spleen was enlarged and kidney counts were very bad and his spleen was enlarged. The vet stated that it had been some form of poison rather from food or unknown source. (b) (6) had not gotten into anything in our home at all. The doctor tried medication but he progressively got sicker when we took (b) (6) back to the vet again they performed emergency surgery to remove his spleen and make sure there no not any type of cancer or anything else going on. The vet confirmed there was no cancer and still insist that (b) (6) had to have been poisoned by food or other source. Our dog passed away 4 days later. Our older dog was also sickened with severe stomach issues in September and had to go to emergency vet and has eaten the same diet and the cause was unknown then also and they did not have an answer. The dog food is the only correlation we are seeing. Our older dog did survive. | 3 | Years | Other Canine/dog | Dog | 60 | Pound |

| EON-558854 | 1/10/2024 11:45 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Chicken & Rice | After buying a new bag of food and feeding, the dogs developed vomiting and diarrhea after eating every meal. They have been on this same food for almost 2 years, so it's not associated with a food change. Something seems to be wrong with this food. I also noticed a difference in color of the kibble and shred as compared to the previous bag of food (exact same product). It was also accompanied with large amounts of loose bloody stool. We got him into Vet hospital next morning at 8:00 am. (b) (6) stayed in hospital all day and was discharged home at 3:45 pm. Went on a bland diet for 48 hours. Today 1/10/24 we started the IAMS again and the loose stools started all over. | 2 | Years | Pug | Dog | 21 | Pound |
| EON-558849 | 1/10/2024 11:44 | Purina ONE Indoor Advantage Senior 7+ | Since she was getting older, my husband thought we should get her a food that provided more vitamins. We bought the Purina ONE food for older cats. Shortly after eating, (b) (6) had a seizure. She has never had one before. She was sick for about 5 days. We took her to the vet, he gave her an antibiotic shot because he thought she had a throat infection. After five days, she was back to her young self. We started the food again last evening. This morning, she had her second seizure. During the week, we went back to her old cat food, which is Meow mix. She had no issues. However, once we changed back to the Purina last night, she had a seizure. | 13 | Years | Unknown | Cat | 7 | Pound |
| EON-558848 | 1/10/2024 11:44 | Purina One Plus Skin and Coat Formula Additional Info: BCP3 11.07.23 19:34 Best by May 2025 33316001 0766L06 | While I was at the vet, my wife called regarding our second dog, (b) (6) (boxer). She had eaten some of the food and was laying on the couch. (b) (6) started breathing heavy, visibly shuddering, and lost all bowel control. She was not on any medication. While at the Emergency Vet, the vet evaluated (b) (6) and annotated confusion, lethargic, and unstable when walking. (b) (6) stayed overnight at the ER Vet for observation and given cerinia for nausea. There were no other issues noted during the night; however, for the rest of the day (b) (6) laid on her bed barely responding to stimulation. Bought a brand new bag of Purina One Plus, skin & Coat formula, on 8 January around 1520 at Krogers (b) (6) in (b) (6). Once arriving home, the new dog food was poured into my dogs food bowl that was clean. My first dog (b) (6) went to smell and take a bite of the food. She behaved unusually as she backed up, started gagging and coughing and then fell over underneath the kitchen chair. After a couple of minutes, she recovered and seemed fine. She went over the water bowl and drank some water; she then moved to the food bowl to attempt to eat again, once again it was if she was hit with a tranquilizer as she lost her balance and footing and fell to the ground again. We moved the food bowl away from her and she recovered and moved to the living room where she sat for about 5 minutes. I took the food bowl and placed the bowl in the middle of the kitchen floor and called my dog back over. She came over and placed her nose about an inch from the dog food and again immediately lost her balance and footing. I removed the dog food from the area to include the bag the food came in. I grabbed the food and my dog and went to the Emergency Vets office to have my dog evaluated. The vet did not find anything wrong with my dog (b) (6). | 10 | Years | Boxer (German Boxer) | Dog | 47 | Pound |

| EON-558845 | 1/10/2024 11:44 | Purina Pro Plan Puppy Small Breed Formula | She was a perfectly happy healthy puppy. She got weaned onto purina one puppy along with pumpkin mixed in and her breeder reported that she wasn't eating much of it but could be her size. Fast forward about a month in and when we started a new bag, she came down with her first bout of bloody, mucus, diarrhea. It would happen on a weekly basis and on the days shed eat more of it the worse her diarrhea to the point she was pooping straight water out and vomiting. We ran every test possible, vet put her on metronidazole, and nothing was helping the random bouts of diarrhea. Over the past 2 weeks I began transitioning her to Orijin out of desperation that MAYBE it could be her food. During the transition you could physically see the purina diarrhea bits mixed with the firm normal looking stool that was darker so I assumed it was the orijin. I wasn't totally sure though so I figured id wait until she was fully off purina and her poop is 100% normal and is dark like the orijin food. This was a nightmare for her and I as she was waking at all hours of the night with this explosive mystery diarrhea for MONTHS and now its completely gone. | 6 | Months | Cattle Dog - Australian (blue heeler, red heeler, Queensland cattledog) | Dog | 13 | Pound |

Next morning and throughout the next 4 days I saw each cat vomiting at some point, some more than others. Found some spots by unknown cat on carpet multiple times a day and overnight. Varying degrees of lethargy. Seemed to affect each cat a little different (meaning some recovered faster than others). One of my smalles intact makes was affected the worst. He vomited regularly for 4 days and was very lethargic. I gave him a bolus of fluids a couple times. I pulled the food that first day. Went to store for new bag (new looking label than previous bags). Introduced new bag of food back to them. They slowly got better. | | | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | | |

The food was from a new case but the same flavor & food she has been eating for years. The next day, she vomited and had diarrhea. I assumed she had a hairball so I continued feeding the same food. She got progressively worse, with extreme vomit and diarrhea. I submitted a stool sample to our vet to check for parasites. The sample was normal so on 11/15, I took her to the vet. By this time, her vomiting and diarrhea was much worse and she could barely move. The vet ran labs which were all normal. He treated her with fluids, Cerenia, famotodine, Vitamin B12 Metrodiazole and Fortiflora. | 16 | Years | Domestic (unspecified) | Cat | 8 | Pound |

| EON-558840 | 1/10/2024 11:36 | Purina pro plan salmon and rice Sensitive stomach | We opened a new bag of purina pro plan salmon and rice. My dog became ill within a week. She stopped eating, vomited up to 20 times per day. Eventually blood was in her vomit and that's when the recurring vet visits happened. She ended up having to have a major surgery for the vet to try and "locate" the issue. The only thing they found was a severely inflamed pancreas. They treated her for this and she got better. She was on royal canin GI wet food for about 3 weeks after surgery at which we slowly transitioned back to purina. She got a clean bill of health at her check up appointment (right before the transition back to purina) and a week after her fully being back on purina she started to decline and fast. Same course of events but this time led to her becoming septic. We had to put her down. I started looking into reasons or to find answers as the vets could not find any. And I stumbled upon a facebook group of 500+ individuals all dealing with the same issues eating the same food. | 2.5 | Years | Pit Bull | Dog | 46 | Pound |
| EON-558839 | 1/10/2024 11:36 | Purina Pro Puppy | (b) (6) is a healthy five-month-old puppy who has been on Purina pro for two months now. Last week he started with diarrhea for a few days, so I just fed him a diet of bland chicken and pumpkin. Our other bulldog got into his food one time and also had diarrhea. After two days of bland food and feeling better, I placed him back on Purina Pro and within hours he was sick, Diarrhea, vomiting, crying out in pain so I began to research. What I have learned about Purina Pro which is sickening and killing these dogs is horrendous and it needs immediate addressing. I urge this agency to look into this, sooner, rather than later. | 5 | Months | Bulldog | Dog | 40 | Pound |
| EON-558800 | 1/9/2024 16:36 | Purina Pro Plan Sport Chicken 27/17 | My dog has been eating Purina Pro Plan dry dog food (of different varieties) for years. Beginning on November 13, 2023, he began vomiting up half digested food. Cerenia would resolve for a day or two, but then the vomiting would recur. He would refuse his food during vomiting episodes. After 3 episodes of vomiting over the course of about 10 days, I took him to the vet. Objective findings were elevated WBC's (eosinophils) as well as gastritis. Subjective findings were lethargy and increased anxiety. He was given Cerenia, amoxicillin, and metronidazole. He was also switched to a bland diet of chicken and rice (home cooked) during this time. After medications were complete, I transitioned back to Purina Pro Plan Sport Chicken 27/17. My dog tolerated this for 4-5 days, and the vomiting started recurring again. My vet had indicated that the next step would be a GI scope, so I switched him to a bland diet of chicken and rice, and have since transitioned to Steve's Dog Food (raw frozen). He is no longer refusing meals and has not vomited since being off of the Pro Plan kibble. His lethargy and anxiety have resolved as well. | 4 | Years | Retriever - Nova Scotia Duck Tolling | Dog | 42 | Pound |

| EON-558787 | 1/9/2024 16:08 | Purina Pro Plan Dog Food | Hi there! I'm trying hard to not be fear mongered into thinking my dog (b) (6) is ill from the Purina Pro Plan but I've been feeding her, her whole life. It's becoming more difficult as she was overall extremely healthy and has never even been on a medication. My dog (b) (6) is VERY sick. She started vomiting bile the 1st week of November 2x that week, 2nd and 3rd week 3x, 4th week 5x. December 1st 2nd week daily. 3rd week until now it's 2-3x p/day. I switched her to a homemade diet to calm her stomach it lessened but was advised to go back on it with Prilosec and it continued. I took her back to the vet for further testing; an ultrasound showed she has a bacteria infection usually from food and Gastritis. She's on 5 prescriptions including antibiotics and has had an IV of fluids. I am struggling to get them down because she doesn't even want to eat. (b) (6) is vomiting 2x a day. She will hardly eat. Her intestinal track and stomach are so inflamed she can hardly chew and swallow. She has lost a lot of weight, lethargic and continues to get dehydrated. I'm so scared right now for her life. My vet bills are depleting my account and I don't know what I'm going to do if she needs more work done or even worse passes away. I know there isn't a recall but please look into this deeper! This seems too coincidental she was healthy and happy then slowly not wanting to eat then sick to even sicker! I can obtain all UPC through my local store. My 4 month puppy (b) (6) threw up a few times in December and she is on a puppy formula also by Purina Pro Plan. Not sure if it's because it's the adult formula (she snuck (b) (6) or coincidence. I'm generally very careful because it's 2 different formulas and feed them separately. (b) (6) has been fine otherwise and hasn't had the adult food since but felt it should be noted. We live in city limits, fenced yard, she hasn't been on any outings or walks in months. Thank you for your time! (b) (6) and (b) (6) | 8 | Years | Other Canine/dog | Dog | 35 | Pound |

| EON-558786 | 1/9/2024 16:08 | Purina pro plan small breed adult sensitive skin and stomach formula dry dog food | I had purchased Purina pro plan sensitive skin and stomach small bites in October. I slowly transitioned my dog to the new food. She started to randomly throw up and not want to eat. She had zero energy and would not eat. I finally contacted the vet for an appointment. They did a list of blood work and examined her. She had a very high temp of 104. Her liver tests all came back high. She ended up on antibiotics. The only thing that I had changed for this to happen was the food. | 2.5 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 6 | Pound |
| EON-558785 | 1/9/2024 16:08 | Purina Pro Plan Puppy Chicken and Rice | We purchased Purina Pro Plan Puppy in November of 2023 from Chewy. Our puppy had constant diarrhea when we slowly tried to transition her to it. We did a round of boiled chicken and rice which cleared the diarrhea, and put her back on her regular kibble with no issue. Slowly adding the Purina Pro Plan Puppy into her regular kibble caused the diarrhea to return we did one more round of boiled chicken and rice which cleared the diarrhea, and put her back on her normal kibble for a week with no issue. Slowly adding Purina Pro Plan Puppy back into her normal kibble caused the diarrhea to return. We then transitioned her to Orijen dry kibble without issue. | 6 | Months | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 35 | Pound |

| EON-558778 | 1/9/2024 15:36 | Purina Pro Plan Veterinary diets DRM (Dermatologic Management Naturals) | We began feeding (b) (6) small amounts of Purina Pro Plan Veterinary Diets DRM dog food on 11/20/2023 as prescribed by our vet. On 11/22/2023, she began throwing up her food which is abnormal for (b) (6). Later that evening she developed severe diarrhea and quickly we began seeing blood in her stool. We brought her to an emergency vet, they ran several tests including a 15 panel blood test, digital radiograph and more... the vet found no issue with her. (b) (6) diarrhea continued over the next 10 days with severe bloody stool and she refused to eat losing over 3 lbs. She became severely dehydrated, developed lethargy and was looking as if we might lose her. We brought her to the vet several times during this bout however no vet found any significant issue. we did x rays, gave her subcutaneous fluids several times and finally were prescribed metronidazole, cerenia, panacea and more. (b) (6) has since recovered however it was an extremely traumatic experience and we nearly lost her due to severe dehydration and weight loss. This was approximately $2500 in vet bills. | 2.5 | Years | Other Canine/dog | Dog | 13.2 | Pound |

On 12/07/23, (b) (6) vomited. He vomited again the next morning and was acting lethargic. I took him to his regular vet the afternoon on 12/08/23 and x-rays and blood work were done. Blood work has to be sent to the lab so results were not immediately available. He was given an injection of cerenea and I was told to feed a bland diet. By Sunday he had diarrhea and wouldn't eat or drink. I took him to the animal er and his kidney values were off the charts. He was in kidney failure. We hospitalized him for 48 hrs and it was determined that he was not improving and was euthanized on 12/12/23. | 12 | Years | Shih Tzu | Dog | 14 | Pound |
| EON-558774 | 1/9/2024 15:16 | Purina Pro Plan Chicken and Rice Complete Essentials | Beginning approximately 3 to 4 weeks ago our dog began vomiting and acting lethargic. I stopped feeding her dog food for roughly 12 hours to give her stomach a rest, and then started her on human yogurt, eggs, and boiled chicken for approximately 2 days. She became better and so I slowly reintroduced her dog food kibble until she was back on 100% dog food which took a few days. The cycle began again with vomiting and lethargy. We went through this process two more times and I then took her to the veterinarian. Our veterinarian ran blood tests and did a physical exam. She had lost 7 lb since her last visit, her colon felt loose and empty and he felt this was due to having diarrhea. We kept her on a human grade diet, her blood test all came back negative and her behavior return to normal. As of today, January 9th 2024 she has been back on her regular dog food for roughly three days and is once again exhibiting behavioral changes with lethargy and total lack of interest in any food. It was today that I heard about the Purina dog food illnesses via tick tock and made the connection. | 4 | Years | Terrier - Irish Soft-coated Wheaten | Dog | 42 | Pound |

| EON-558771 | 1/9/2024 15:08 | Purina One Healthy Weight Formula | I fed my dog & when he finished eating there was a small yellowish worm in the bottom of his bowl. Since he is a springer spaniel & he always has his nose to the ground sniffing out everything I thought well maybe he drug it in on one of his ears since they pick up stuff. Just in case though I picked up a handful of food before I gave it to him again looked OK, same scenario after this feeding except this time there were two worms . I picked up another handful & came up with a spider web with food tangled all in it. I'm like it's time for me to call Purina. My son came about that time & I told him what was going on & asked him if he thought we ought to pour the bag out to see if there was something dead in it or what before I called Purina > I usually keep the food in a plastic container, but as I am disabled I can't pour it into the container without help. I make sure the bag isn't gapping open until I can get it transferred. My son picked it up & there was no need to pour it out; It was literally teeming with maggots. I called Purina. The man was very cordial. When I described the incident to him he seemed to know exactly what to ask. He first ask if the worms were white like grubs; I told him no that I gardened knew what a grub looked like. I told him exactly what the worm looked like & that it was yellow & then said not bright yellow & before I could say another word he said,"yellowish". (exact description of color) Then he wanted to know the length & if the worm had hooks in it's mouth. I assured him I didn't pick up a worm to see if it had "hooks in it's mouth". I gave him all the numbers he asked for & he agreed to send me coupons for more food. I have fed Purina products to my dogs for quite a number of years (after Nutro became hard to find around here) so I didn't think anything about buying another bag until my son shared this article with me he found on line. I bought the food at WalMart, but I can't tell you exact dates. Here are the numbers I reported - the bar code was 17800-14920 expiration date 11/24 Lot # 3137 1019 1635L12 - Purina One Plus Healthy Weight Formula. The date problem started is approximate. | | | | | | |

| EON-558754 | 1/9/2024 13:32 | Purina Pro Plan | After eating a new bag of food, she threw up and had diarrhea. She seemed lethargic and not eating as much as usual. | 5 | Years | American Shorthair | Cat | 13 | Pound |
| EON-558751 | 1/9/2024 13:20 | Purina Pro Plan Adult 7+ Purina Pro Plan Weight Management Dry Dog Food | We have been feeding our black lab, Purina Pro Plan food (Adult 7 Plus and Weight Management). Our dog (b) (6) has been sick for over 3 months, started with vomiting and followed up with diarrhea pouring out of her. Immediately took her to vet in October 2023. She ran blood work, fecal cultures, xray, ultrasound, changed to Hills Prescription Diet digestive care. No change, continued diarrhea Blood work findings showed Pancreatitis, sludge in gallbladder, elevated enzymes in the 1.000. She lost 7 lbs. in 2 weeks. A 2nd blood panel was done. Took her off these foods. Vet follow up reported another 3 lbs. lost. Thank God for the site "Saving One Pet at a Time" for their reporting, they saved my pet and gave us hope. | 11 | Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 38 | Pound |
| EON-558748 | 1/9/2024 13:04 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin and Stomach | My 2 dogs have been on Purina Pro Plan Chicken/Rice for 3 years. On 12/22/23 I began mixing in Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin & Stomach. Started at 25% blend new with the old, then progressed to 50/50 blend of each. Both dogs had soft stools at first, which is common with a change. But then 1/3/24 (b) (6) started having diarrhea and accidents in the house she couldn't control and lethargy. Evening of 1/5/24 she had bloody diarrhea and vomited. The next morning more bloody diarrhea. My other dog (b) (6) had loose stools and lethargy. | 6 | Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 68 | Pound |
| EON-558745 | 1/9/2024 12:44 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice Entree 13 oz | On 12/19/23 Happy became very sick. Vomiting, diarrhea, not eating or drinking, severe pain, tremoring. I took her to the vet on 12/20/23. She had a pancreatitis flare which she hasn't had in years and an inflamed liver which she's never had. She needed fluids and medication. She was put onto Hills prescription l/d food and is still eating that food only. She had an awful week, but has recovered. I started feeding her from a new case of Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach salmon and rice on 12/18/23. | 9 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 18.3 | Pound |
| EON-558744 | 1/9/2024 12:44 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Salmon and Rice | (b) (6) became very sick and was vomiting consistently over the period of a few hours. Eventually, she became too weak to walk on her own. We rushed her to the vet and were told she was very sick and had pancreatitis as well as elevated liver levels and was at risk of requiring a blood transfusion. She was hospitalized from 9/25-9/28 and required special medication and care for several months following her discharge. | 2 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 47 | Pound |
| EON-558743 | 1/9/2024 12:44 | Purina Pro Plan All Stages 30/20 | We opened a new bag of Purina Pro Plan 30/20 Chicken and Rice for our 8 month old golden doodle. We have fed her Purina her entire life. We started feeding her out of the new bag on Saturday morning 1/6. We fed her 1 cup two times on the 6th and 1 cup two times on the 7th. around 2am on 1/8, (b) (6) woke up abruptly and was unbalanced, lethargic, and extremely weak. She could not even stand. She also seemed to be having central nervous system issues. we have had no issues with this dog in the past. the vet insisted it had to be something she ate when all tests came back ok. I switched her off of pro plan and she is getting better. I am convinced there may be aflatoxins or something else in this bag of pro plan. I plan on having this bag of food tested at (b) (6). | 8 | Months | Poodle (unspecified) | Dog | 42 | Pound |
| EON-558742 | 1/9/2024 12:44 | Purina ProPlan LiveClear alAdult 7+ Prime Plus, Fancy Feast Gravy Lovers Turkey Feast In Gravy chicken Feast in Gravy beef Feast in Gravy chicken and liver. | My 8y.o cat has been eating Purina Pro Plan kiddble her entire life. A few years ago I switcher her to Purina Pro Plan LiveClear Adult 7+ for her nutrition and my allergies. I noticed her fur was thinning and she had some dandruff when she switched to the liveclear but my allergies were significantly better so we kept her on it. Around oct/Nov she started turning her nose up to her food. Just picked at it. And often, she vomited after eating. I decided it was hairballs or her treats. Ignored it. Around Thanksgiving I opened a new bag and it smelled rancid. I gagged and immediately threw the entire bag away. The next bag wasn't as foul smelling and my cat was hungry so I fed it. I noticed her fur thinning more, she was licking at herself constantly, itching, constipated. She became increasingly lethargic. She was eating less and less. Drinking less and less. Interacting less and less. She stopped eating her Fancy feast gravy lovers wet food; barely locked at the gravey. Her labs are mostly normal, but her vets are now watching her pancreas. She is bloated and guards when you touch her right side. 4 days ago I stopped feeding Purina completely. My cat has started to perk up, is playing, is drinking water in mass quantities, and is eating her non Purina cat food no issues, no vomit, no diarrhea. She is interacting with us again and playing with the new kitten and her toys. | | | Domestic Mediumhair | Cat | | |
| EON-558741 | 1/9/2024 12:44 | Purina Kitten Chow Nurture, Purina Pro Plan Kitten Patte (chicken salmon and whitefish whitefish and tuna). | Kitten was adopted to me at 2m.o. in Nov eating Purina kitten chow nurture and purina pro plan kitten pattes. I kept her on her food. She became increasingly lethargic. Threw up at least once after eating. Began eating less and less of her dry and wet food. Played less. Drank less water. She has had several small seizures as well as balance/coordination issues. Unexplained bleeding from the anus. Her vet is running tests; so far they are normal. Since stopping her purina food she's Began eating more, drinks water constantly, and hasn't stopped running and playing. I haven't noticed any blood from her anus since either. | | | Maine Coon | Cat | | |
| EON-558740 | 1/9/2024 12:44 | Purina Pro sensitive skin and stomach turkey and oatmeal | I started feeding my cats Purina Pro Plan a few weeks ago. I've noticed about 5 throw ups within 2 weeks and our very healthy rabbit passed away from unknown causes. The cat food is very high and out of reach from my rabbits, but with the increased throwing up, I do not know if the rabbit happened to consume some. It could be a coincidence, but I wanted to file a report just incase since my animals have been very healthy and now we have noticed a significant increase in throw up and a passing of one of our other pets. This has not been a problem in the 7 years I've used Blue cat food. My rabbits had even eaten that food two years ago and had no reactions. Hoping this report can help prevent more pet deaths or illnesses. | 13 | Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | | |
| EON-558739 | 1/9/2024 12:44 | Purina one true instinct natural high protein with real turkey and venison dry dog food | Dec 6th new shipment of purina true instinct dog food arrived from chewy. (b) (6) was refusing it, then started to spit it out. My Dec 11th I contacted chewy about the food looking different and my dog refusing it. Called purina and they said in Feb 2023 there were changes to the food. Still was not eating well after. She good deathly sick and by dec 22nd she went vet. Was in liver failure. Fluids, meds and bloodwork. Biopsy showed a bacterial infection. | 11 | Years | Boxer (German Boxer) | Dog | 75 | Pound |

| EON-558737 | 1/9/2024 12:44 | Nom nom Turkey Fare, Nom Nom Turkey Fare | I have been ordering Nomnomnow for my dogs for many years and was always happy about the quality. The meals are pre packaged and frozen. Every day I thaw in my fridge the meals for the following day. It started around six months ago, that at least twice a month the thawed meals were leaking liquid in my fridge I started to put paper towels under them. Some bags were slashed in the back (always in the back) which is impossible to notice when the food is still frozen. I contacted them several times but got nowhere with them, and it keeps happening. It's a hazard for contamination and loss of ingredients at the same time. I cannot trust them anymore therefore I am changing companies but I am really shocked that they did not address the issue. I am sure I am not the only one with this happening. A glitch in their packing? I don't know but I am done. It would be great if you could investigate. That food is not cheap, and there is a safety glitch somewhere in their process | | | | | | |
| EON-558736 | 1/9/2024 12:44 | Blue Ridge Beef Kitten Grind 2lb chubs | 2 cats (b) (6) and (b) (6) were vomiting around the house, yellow bile, for about 5 days. Both had stopped eating for over 5 days. (b) (6) stopped eating, drinking, and going to the bathroom. Last time I witnessed (b) (6) drinking of water and using the litter box was a good 4 days. I took (b) (6) to the hospital since he would not even drink and because he was just hiding. He stayed overnight in the hospital, in an oxygen tent, and was put on IVs and antinausea. They were able to get him to eat, which at that point was 5 days. I was able to pick him up the next day. (b) (6) continued to vomit bile up, yet was drinking and peeing. She started eating a few days later. Since she was at least drinking, I was less concerned. I decided to search the internet on their food, Blue Ridge Beef Kitten Grind, and found out that the food was recalled for salmonella and listeria. I found this out after I picked up my cat from the veterinary hospital. I asked my general veterinarian if there were any next steps from his perspective, and he said no medications were necessary due to the cause of them being sick. | | | | | | |
| EON-558735 | 1/9/2024 12:44 | Purina pro plan puppy large breed sensitive skin and stomach | Hair loss, balding spots, lesions, flaky skin, extreme itching, redness on skin of belly and ears, ears irritating her to the point of whining while scratching at them, chewing at paws, mucus coming out after urinating, irritable behavior. We took her to an emergency vet clinic as well as our regular vet for these symptoms. | 1 | Years | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 63 | Pound |
| EON-558730 | 1/9/2024 12:32 | Purina pro plan sensitive stomach salmon and rice | (b) (6) was diagnosed with pancreatitis after vomiting for 12 hours. We opened a new bag of Purina pro plan sensitive stomach salmon and rice formula. Prior to this, Rosie has always been sensitive to other foods. This was the food she was being given since 6 weeks old. Once we stopped and switched her food, she is eating everything without any sensitivity. | | | Schnauzer - Miniature | Dog | | |
| EON-558729 | 1/9/2024 12:28 | Purina Pro Plan Indoor Hairball Management Shredded Blend Turkey and Rice Formula Dry Cat Food | After running out of Purina One Tender selects chicken I opened a bag of Purina Pro Indoor Hairball Management that I had received from Chewy last month (12/12/23) which was not expired or in any way damaged. However, the cats refused to eat this food, and when they did eat, they were vomiting and having diarrhea until I changed them to a different food. | 7 | Years | American Shorthair | Cat | 6 | Pound |

| EON-558722 | 1/9/2024 12:12 | Purina Pro Plan Sport 30/20 Chicken and Rice All Life Stages | 5 doberman puppies were weaned from the mother on Friday morning and started on Purina Pro Plan Sport 30/20 in a blended form with water. 2 hours after they ate (could not have gotten into anything else), were all seizing, bleeding from nose and mouth, neurologic, convulsing, lethargic, non responsive, and rushed to emergency where 1 died, and 4 are in critical condition. The vet suspects toxic exposure. | 1 | Months | Doberman Pinscher | Dog | 5 | Pound |
| EON-558721 | 1/9/2024 12:12 | Purina Puppy Chow Tender and Crunchy | My goldendoodle had 9 puppies which had reached their 8 weeks, on the morning of December 17 two of my puppies were dead in their playpen and there was a lot of vomit. They had been eating the purina puppy chow tender and crunchy. Then other 6 puppies started showing symptoms of lethargy. They started slowing down and two of them started having seizures. I took them to a veterinarian ER in (b) (6), where they treated the puppies and medicated the two that were seizing. On the way to (b) (6), another puppy passed away in our car. Then at the vet clinic, they could not stop one puppy from seizing after medicating her, she kept on seizing every 5 minutes. We had to put her down. Puppies had their first set of vaccines and never go outside. After seeing the information online I got concerned because I never thought it could be the food, but now I am not too sure. I stopped the purina because my adult dogs and 1 puppy vomitted two days ago with the Purina Dog and puppy Chow. I had 4 puppies pass away, 3 never showed symptoms, and 2 recovered (including one that had had seizures). | 8 | Weeks | Other Canine/dog | Dog | 1.74 | Kilogram |
| EON-558687 | 1/9/2024 9:04 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Formula | She vomited her morning meal on Saturday 1/6/24. She didn't touch her dinner and didn't go poop the rest of that day. She didn't eat anything on Sunday 1/7/24 and I'm unsure if she went poop or not. As of today 1/8/24, she pooped a very small quarter size poop. I fed her about a half cup of white rice which she did eat slowly, she still won't touch her dry food. The dry food in question in Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon Flavor. | 10 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 80 | Pound |

| EON-558685 | 1/9/2024 8:40 | Purina Pro Plan Puppy Chicken and Rice Formula Large Breed | We bought two bags of Purina Pro Plan because the two we bought months ago were out. (b) (6) didn't want to eat the food from the new bag and she usually eats very well. She would eat it in small quantities and we thought she was just being picky because we sometimes hydrate the kibble with water before giving it to her. After about a week or two, she became lethargic and is now vomiting once or twice a day. She also has diarrhea. | 1 | Years | Akita | Dog | 90 | Pound |
| EON-558684 | 1/9/2024 8:37 | Purina Pro Plan grain free dry for large breeds and Purina Pro Plan Savor ... | We fed our Rottweiler nothing BUT Purina Pro Plan for years. Last January he started losing a bit of weight. The vet could not find any issues. He began struggling to poop and his stool became darker and darker. We went to vet and they gave him some medication but he would not take it. She suspected internal bleeding somewhere. By May it was pure blood and we had to put him down on (b) (6). He was our LIFE. He was suffering. He was a very active and healthy robust dog until then. I think Purina Pro Plan killed him!!! | | | Rottweiler | Dog | | |

| EON-558679 | 1/9/2024 8:37 | Purina Pro Plan Sport All Ages Small Bites Lamb & Rice Formula | Have been feeding (b) (6) Purina Pro Plan for 3 years. On January 2, 2024 at about noon (b) (6) had a seizure. (b) (6) has never had a seizure. The seizure lasted between 10-15 seconds. His legs were stiff and he was convulsing. I called the vet and took him to (b) (6). All of his labwork came back normal. Exactly 48 hours later his 5 year old brother had a seizure. | 3 | Years | Bullmastiff | Dog | 147 | Pound |
| EON-558678 | 1/9/2024 8:37 | Purina One Plus Healthy Weight | We have been feeding (b) (6) Purina One Healthy Weight kibble since approximately 09/2023, with no issues. We purchased a new bag of this brand on or about 12/30/2023, and began feeding her from this bag on 12/31/2023. About an hour after she first ate, she vomited partially digested kibble. There was no other substance in the vomit, just the kibble. We continued feeding her from this bag daily, and every day she would vomit at least 1-2 times. On Saturday, 01/06/2024, approximately one hour after she ate, she vomited 4 times within an hour time period. This prompted me to take her to urgent care at her veterinarian, (b) (6). They examined her, and also performed xrays to rule out any sort of obstruction, and found none. She was given fluids and an injection of an anti-nausea medication. I purchased a bag of Blue Diamond brand kibble, and we began feeding her that brand on the evening of 01/06/2024. She has had no vomiting since we changed her food. I spoke to her vet on the phone today, and expressed my concerns that perhaps her vomiting was a result of a "bad batch" of the Purina One, and he said that it was absolutely a possibility, and encouraged me to make this report and not give (b) (6) any more of the Purina One. | 2 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 70 | Pound |
| EON-558677 | 1/9/2024 8:37 | Royal Canin Adult Labrador Retriever | (b) (6) is a 4 year old Labrador Retriever who loves food. He has been eating Royal Canin since he was a year old and has always devoured his food. We received a bag of food from Chewy on November 20th and recently opened it. He had a few feedings before getting sick. He threw up for over 48 hours and refuses to eat food from this bag. A friend of ours has the same food and he will eat there food but not any out of this particular bag. He will bit some of the kibbles and spit it out. | 4 | Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 105 | Pound |
| EON-558676 | 1/9/2024 8:37 | Purina kidney diet adult | We have been using Purina's kidney diet for our dog for about 5 months; however, we just opened a new bag about 3 weeks ago. Once the new bag was opened, our dog started having massive diarrhea and was tremendously lethargic after a few days of starting. Unfortunately, it took time to trace to the food, but we had a vet check him out and they found massively elevated liver ALT (900 range). We immediately switched his diet as we thought that was the culprit, and our dog got better within a week and a half. Seems fully recovered now, but it was not looking good for a while. Could have been something in production, shipping, or in the storage warehouse. Unclear, but we had a very sick dog. We purchased the diet through Chewy and the product number is (38100-13656) and lot number (3172 1082 0109 L15-90). I don't use TikTok, but I saw articles that other people had issues around the same time we did, so I wanted to report our experience. | 13 | Years | Terrier - Fox Wire | Dog | 35 | Pound |

| EON-558672 | 1/9/2024 8:37 | Purina Pro Plan - complete Essentials - shredded blend - chicken and rice formula | We have fed our 1.5 y/o German shepherd purina pro plan for the duration of his life. In late November, he started having extremely runny diarrhea. The diarrhea did not stop and became extremely bloody and mucousy. He began to have accidents in the home, and he had never previously done that. Eventually, his bowel movements became nothing but blood. Dark blood losing about 3 to 4 ounces each bowel movement he was pooping about every hour to an hour and a half and every time it would be mucousy in Bloody sometimes dark rich blood and other times bright arterial blood. Finally after two days of unrelenting diarrhea I took him to the vet. The vet ran Parvo tests and took x-rays and bloodwork, as well as a sonogram of his stomach and digestive tract and they could find nothing physical to blame. All tests came back negative. They pumped him with fluids and sent us home. Our dog continued to be lethargic, have acute anorexia, and became extremely ill and extremely thin. I then researched symptoms of his that he was having that could be somehow related to what he was experiencing and finally after coming up with no answers, I decided to try a new batch of food. I thought that re-ordering a new bag of food could possibly be the answer to our problems. I threw away the first bad batch of food, and continue to feed him the brand new bag that we had just purchased the diarrhea lessened for about a week and then once we begin the new bag of Purina pro plan food, he began to have the same extremely liquid bowel movements filled with blood, eventually we decided to throw out all of the Purina pro plan food and switch to raw/kibble diet. Almost immediately within switching his diet he became more energetic but his poops were still very liquid and bloody. Finally after about a week or less on the new food diet he became healthy and stopped having blood in his stool and eventually the diarrhea stopped after about 3 to 5 days. I talked to other pet parents that fed the dog Purina pro plan, adult chicken and rice, the orange bag, and they too, said that their dog experience the exact same symptoms and one even perished. | 1.5 | Years | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 65 | Pound |
| EON-558671 | 1/9/2024 8:37 | 3-D Pet Products Premium Cockatiel Mix Bird Food Seeds with Probiotics 9 lb. Bag | Opened new bag of bird food and had been feeding it to them for about a week. Thursday I came home from work and noticed (b) (6) my male conure was halfway down the cage a wobbly. He dropped to the bottom of the cage and was panting then spreading his wings and then had a seizure and died. Took about ten to fifteen minutes. Today, Monday, got home from work noticed my female conure (b) (6) halfway down the cage panting and she dropped to the bottom of the cage and spread her wings flipped on her back and arched her back with wings spread and cried out and died. Took about 15 minutes. I have two cockatiels that ate the food and one of them is acting sick. | 7 | Years | | Parrot | | Gram |
| EON-558670 | 1/9/2024 8:37 | Purina proplan adult sensitive skin and stomach no corn wheat or soy. salmon and rice formula | We had 2 black lab brothers, (b) (6) and (b) (6) who would've been 7 months old on January 7. On Tuesday January 2 we ran out of their regular dogfood (Purina proplan puppy sensitive skin and stomach salmon and rice dry food), and my Chewy order wouldn't be here until the evening of Wednesday January 3. I stopped at our local Tractor Supply store to see if they had the same food. They didn't, but I got the adult version of Purina pro plan sensitive skin and stomach salmon and rice formula. (b) (6) and (b) (6) consumed a cup and a half the evening of January 2, morning of January 3 and evening of January 3. On the night of (b) (6) after a day with no symptoms that anything was wrong, both dogs were sleeping on the couch with me. Around 9:30 my husband had just come downstairs to join me, when (b) (6) began screaming from his sleeping spot on the couch, he arched his head back, this lasted approximately 45 seconds in which he lost control of his bowels, quit breathing and died. We attempted cpr and started driving to the er vet but it was too late. We took his body to crossroads animal hospital the morning of (b) (6) where they kept (b) (6) for observation and testing, while they helped us set up a necropsy with (b) (6) animal lab services. (b) (6) report from the vet was fine, and we've yet to get necropsy results. Our healthy almost 7 month old puppy is dead after 3 meals of this food. | 6 | Months | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 64 | Pound |

| EON-558664 | 1/9/2024 8:37 | Purina One Lamb and Long BrownRi | We were out of his regular can dog food. I went to Walmart in (b) (6) to pickup a few cans to tide us over till our order came from Chewy. We gave (b) (6) just 1.5oz of the Purina One Lamb & Long Brown rice can food. Because Walmart doesn't carry the Purina Puppy Past 5.5oz cans. After giving (b) (6) his morning helping of 1.5oz of the Purina One evening was fine after his evening helping of the 1.5oz Purina One can food he started not wanting to eat his dry food of Purina One Lamb and Rice food which he has been eating since he was 8 weeks old along with the 1.2oz of the Purina Puppy Past. We give him the Purina Puppy Past so he will take his meds. He than became lethargic, whining, curled up in a ball like he was having cramps. By the next morning he was throwing up. Luckily we found a store Meijer carried the Purina Puppy Past 5.5oz cans. We started our (b) (6) back on it ASAP and after a couple days of recuperating he was back to normal. To me the only difference we did was change was his can food. And that little amount we gave him twice a day should never have done that to our fur baby. | 2 | Years | Dachshund - Miniature | Dog | 12 | Pound |

| EON-558657 | 1/9/2024 8:36 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach | My dog has been on Purina Pro Plan. For the last year he has been steadily losing weight (97 pounds to 71 currently) with NO change to food, diet or exercise. The past 4 months he has had 2 days a week where he will not eat, is lethargic and throwing up. He has also developed a hive-type rash that looks like chicken-skin all over his body despite being on Cytopoint and having no change to diet or exposure to anything new. We finally had enough and went to the vet. He all of a sudden has dangerously-high pancreatic values that panicked the vet. No other tests came back with issues but we have scheduled a more complicated blood test and ultrasound to rule out anything else and try to get to the cause. | 4 | Years | Boxer (German Boxer) | Dog | 71 | Pound |
| EON-558656 | 1/9/2024 8:36 | Purina Pro Plan High Protein Digestive Health Chicken & Rice Formula Large Breed Dry Dog Food 47 lbs. | On December 21, 2023 we placed an order (Order Number (b) (6)) at PetCo for the below dog food: Purina Pro Plan High Protein, Digestive Health Chicken & Rice Formula Large Breed Dry Dog Food, 47 lbs. This was picked up in store at the (b) (6) Metro location. Since purchase, our dog has thrown up the food multiple times with the frequency increasing this past week. She is also more lethargic than usual. Our dog has been eating Purina Pro Plan large breed dog food with no problems for multiple years until this most recent bag. | 4 | Years | Great Dane | Dog | 100 | Pound |
| EON-558655 | 1/9/2024 8:36 | Purina Pro Plan Dog food | (b) (6) vomited several times on December 17th and wouldn't eat for the next 2 days. I took him to the vet on the 19th and was given Cerenia for nausea with instructions to start him on boiled chicken with rice. He was lethargic, which was a side effect of the meds but still wouldn't eat, stopped drinking , leaked urine, lost weight, got weaker and would only come to go to the bathroom once a day. I took him to the animal hospital on the night of December 23rd into the 24th. A fe hours an $800 later, a blood test revealed that he was in kidney failure with pancreatitis. I had to euthanize him about 3:30 that morning. I am grieving pretty hard because he was also my therapy/ESA dog. I threw out the remainder of a bag of Purina Pro Plan because I noticed the dogs didn't really like it. They were picking out chicken I mixed it with and leaving the kibble. I was curious if the food made (b) (6) sick and decided to buy a brand different from Purina. On the morning of 1/8/2024 I was reading Google News and came across an article about Purina Pro Plan. While reading it spoke of Lady who lost her dog with kidney issues and other issues after eating the specific bran of dog food. Further down it revealed more deaths and illnesses associated with the food. I reached out to his vet, the vet hospital, a Facebook group of like people and this website to raise awareness about this brand. | 8 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | | |

| EON-558653 | 1/9/2024 8:34 | Purina One Chicken and Rice Formula | Dog food was purchased through amazon. Food was opened on 12/5/2023 and it had an odd smell to it when the bag was opened up, but was not expired so it was assumed to be okay. The chicken morsals also looked different than what we had in previous bags, but we just assumed it changed a little or something. Our dog ate the food for about 3 days (12/5-12/7), then she started loosing interest in eating. On 12/7, she had lots of vomiting and diarrhea. Our vet recommended putting her on a bland chicken and rice diet until symptoms improved. She was on a bland diet from 12/7-12/10. On 12/10 she began vomiting blood and was taken to the emergency vet. The emergency vet ran blood work tests, radiographs, medications and fluids. She was diagnosed and treated for gastroenteritis. Olive was released from the emergency vet on 12/10 to begin her recovery at home with a bland diet and the provided medications. On 12/12 our 2nd Dog (b) (6) (8 month old lab mix, ~30 pounds), who also had portions of this same dog food, rapidly declined with symptoms of vomiting, diarrhea, and lethargy within only a few hours, and she was taken to the emergency vet. | EON-558650 | 1/9/2024 8:34 | Purina pro plan sensitive skin and stomach large breed formula | Per my vets recommendation we feed (b) (6) purina pro plan. Salmon and rice for large breed. I ordered her food from Chewy and the October & November bag of food the kibbles were different but didn't think much of it. October 22nd (b) (6) had her first seizure out of no where and again on November 7th. Vet recommended starting her on Keppra to control the seizures since we didn't know why they were happening. On medication (b) (6) has had 2 more seizures on December 15th and 26th.. after hearing all these things about dogs becoming sick on this brand I began to think could this be why (b) (6) been experiencing seizure when she was perfectly healthy? Since her last seizure our breeder recommended switching her food since he heard alot going on with Purina so we switched her to Wholesome. So far so good it's been 2 weeks and (b) (6) hasn't had another seizure, but if this in fact could be the reason I feel Puri a should take responsibility and recall all their dog food til the problem is fixed. After reading so many reports people are posting Lila isn't the only dog having seizures out if the blue and I feel deep down the food caused this awful thing to happen to her and she's only 2 | 2 | Years | Poodle (unspecified) | Dog | 52 | Pound |

| EON-558644 | 1/9/2024 8:33 | Purina Pro Plan Sport All Life Stages Active 26 / 16 Formula | Our dog began to experience bloody and loose stools on 5 January 2024, we did not know the etiology of such, and planned to contact our vet in the morning to follow-up on this issue. In the interim, my wife viewed a posting on Facebook and Tic Toc in which pet owners were posting similar stories about their pets who were being fed Purina Pro Plan. We conducted a little more research and found a Facebook page: Saving Pets One Pet @ at A Time, which spoke about this issue in depth. I contacted our breeder who recommended that we immediately stop use of the Purina, monitor our dog for any additional signs and symptoms, feed her a diet or rice and broth in the interim and once she feels better change her diet to Fromm. We were also advised to contact our vet and retain the bag of food in question should testing be required, which we did. | EON-558642 | 1/9/2024 8:33 | Purina Pro Plan Puppy Shredded blend Chicken & Rice Formula with probiotics dry dog food | I have a litter of 7 puppies. They have been eating this food for 3ish weeks now. I opened this bag and started feeding it on the morning of 12/26/23. Starting around noon on 12/28 I noticed loose stool in some of them. By that night, most had bad diarrhea. I am a licensed veterinary medical technician so I have access to check stool samples, ect. On 12/29, I did a fecal from the worst pups and just found no parasites. I started them on metronidazole that day. On 12/31 they started vomiting. The vomit isn't consist and it isn't one particular puppy. The food is partially digested. As of today, some stools have got better but most still have bad diarrhea. During this time, some have had bloody diarrhea. I still have some puppies occasionally vomiting. These puppies are raised inside and have never been allowed to go outside. I do not allow visitors. They have had their first set of vaccinations and have been dewormed every 2 weeks starting at 2 weeks of age. All puppies are still acting normal with no signs of lethargy or dehydration. I switch to a different food 2 days ago and added Provable. As of this morning, their stool is looking better. | 8 | Weeks | Spaniel - King Charles Cavalier | Dog | 4 | Pound |

| EON-558638 | 1/9/2024 8:33 | Purina One True Instinct Real Turkey and Venison | We have used Purina for a couple of years now, juggling back in forth with Purina One lamb and rice, salmon, and True Instinct. The first incident occurred in November of 2023 the night before Thanksgiving. My dog, (b) (6) started vomiting and could not keep anything down. She did this for three days and then was fine. She had not had human food, anything out of her ordinary food, nor had her routine changed. She was lethargic and could only keep down a few sips of water. This happened again this past week. This time, it lasted six days instead of three. On top of the vomiting, she was having diarrhea and stomach gurgles, but was able to keep down other types of food and treats. Once we realized it might be the food, we removed it and switched her open. Since last night, she has been eating great and no more vomiting or lethargy. I am pretty sure it was the food making her ill. | 7 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 65 | Pound |

| EON-558633 | 1/9/2024 8:33 | Purina pro plan high protein shredded blend chicken & rice formula with probiotics dry dog food Purina pro plan sensitive skin and stomach adult with probiotics lamb & oatmeal formula dry dog food | My dog has eaten Purina Pro Plan dog food from the day she was born. Probably when she was about 2 and a half years old she started to get this horrible reaction where she would throw up everyday. She is in excellent health and is so young. She had bathroom issues as well and got terribly itchy. I went to the vet and they suggested changing food. They stated that pet food vendors can change the recipes in the foods without having to report it and it makes the dogs sick. They stated there must have been a change on the recipe. A dog doesn't just all the sudden start vomiting and getting sick from the food it's eaten since birth. She's been tested, given all recommended shots and I changed her food since and she has been perfect. I will never get any Purina pro plan foods again for either cats or dogs. The same thing happened with my cat and I will be reporting that as well. | 3 | Years | Retriever - Flat-coated | Dog | 50 | Pound |

He was very lethargic and his stomach was making awful sounds. I pulled his bowl so he wouldn't eat anymore. He developed an increased thirst and couldn't get enough water. Drooling three times the amount he normally does. I started him the next morning on chicken and rice because now he had developed diarrhea too. No kibble. I also took my other three dogs off the PPP food and gave them chicken and rice. I know enough from fostering dogs and being a dog owner to watch them closely. I fed him small amounts of chicken and rice through the day. No more vomiting. I was fortunate to have a friend who has dogs and she said " maybe it's the food". She shared some of hers with me. I started combining the new food with chicken and rice. No more vomiting and his stools were becoming formed again. | EON-558621 | 1/9/2024 8:33 | Purina Pro Plan Veterinary Diets HA Hydrolyzed | Within four weeks of switching my pet's food to Purina Pro Plan Veterinary Diets HA (hydrolyzed) food, my pet vomited, lost appetite, and had two grand mal seizures. He has no history of seizures or illness. The only thing that changed within the last few months was his diet. We ran multiple tests with the vet (urinalysis, blood work, xrays, etc.) and nothing alarming came back. The only explanation the vet could give for the seizures was idiopathic epilepsy. | 2 | Years | Pointing Dog - Hungarian Short-haired (Vizsla) | Dog | 56 | Pound |

| EON-558618 | 1/9/2024 8:32 | Purina Pro Plan sensitive skin and stomach lamb and oatmeal formula | Pet started vomiting after eating and acting strange, we took her to the Vet. They ran bloodwork and informed us that she was presenting with elevated liver, Pancreas and gallbladder levels. Identical to the various other consumer reports on Purina Pro plan. Once removed the levels have decreased but her pancreatic function has not improved. And other levels are still irregular. We have repeated bloodwork multiple times. Based on current reports and identical symptoms across said reports and multiple consultations without vet. I'm confident this reaction was a direct result of this batch of food. | 6 | Years | Terrier - Yorkshire | Dog | 17 | Pound |

| EON-558612 | 1/9/2024 8:29 | Purina Pro Plan Chicken and Rice | My two dogs were older but healthy. One day I noticed (b) (6) started losing control of her urine. I thought it was a part of getting older but she started getting sicker and sicker, losing control of her feces and vomiting. (b) (6) always had a good appetite but stopped eating. I took them to the hospital and the vet said (b) (6) had developed liver disease and (b) (6) had developed kidney disease and there was only a small amount of time for both of them. Since (b) (6) wasn't responding to any medications and (b) (6) would have to undergo dialysis to survive a little while longer, I decided to put them both down. It was an extremely hard decision but I never thought that it was the Purina Chicken and Rice dog food that made them so sick until I read this article. | EON-558611 | 1/9/2024 8:29 | Purina pro plan sensitive skin & stomach lamb and oatmeal formula | (b) (6) has eaten Purina Pro Plan sensitive stomach dog food from the time she was a baby, we recently ran out and purchased her a new bag 3 days ago. When I opened the bag I noticed it smelled a little off but didn't think anything of it. The first night (b) (6) woke me up in the middle of the night with horrible diarrhea. That following morning she threw up twice. The diarrhea has continued up until this point. I have stopped feeding her this bag of dog food and am going to purchase a new bag per my veterinarians advice. I did some research online and found that many other dogs on this food are getting sick. | EON-558607 | 1/9/2024 8:28 | Purina Cat Chow Naturals Original | My cat experienced a sudden and severe decline in health, exhibiting a complete loss of appetite and a significant weight drop from 11 lbs to 7 lbs. She became lethargic, ceased grooming herself, and appeared like a walking skeleton waiting to die. These symptoms started showing throughout November and rapidly worsened end of November, by December 5, 2023, where we contemplated euthanizing her due to the severity of her decline. It's noteworthy that prior to this she was an extremely healthy and active 6-year-old cat with no prior health issues. We took her to the vet, but unfortunately, no conclusive answers were found and since at the time there was no active recall on her food we continued to feed her this food. Upon returning home, I observed a hesitant behavior during mealtime. She would hover over her food for nearly five minutes before reluctantly consuming 4-5 pieces. Attempts to introduce wet food were met with resistance, as she seemed grossed by the texture and consumed it sparingly. After running out of her regular Purina Cat Chow food, I made a switch to a different brand on Jan 2, 2024. Astonishingly, the moment I introduced the new food, she began eating full meals again, gained weight within days, and resumed grooming herself. While there's improvement, she has not fully regained her previous level of health. Bad cat food almost led us to euthanize an otherwise healthy young cat! | 6 | Years | Mixed (Cat) | Cat | | |

| EON-558595 | 1/9/2024 8:28 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Small Breed Dog Food | My dog has been eating the same Purina food for 1.5 years. I purchased a new bag of Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Small Breed Dog Food on 1/4/24. I fed my dog the food 1/5/24 and he had 2 episodes of vomiting. I didn't think it was related, but I continued to feed him the same food for 2 more days and he has vomited 2-4 times a day ever since. I saw online hundreds of reports of dogs and cats having vomiting and numerous deaths that are believed to be linked to Purina food over the last month. Bought the Purina One food, same food he's been eating for over a year now, on Dec. 14th. Opened the new bag and fed on Dec 22nd. In the morning on Dec 23rd, he had vomited and had diarrhea all over the house. Still eating and drinking, energy levels a little less than normal. Diarrhea slightly improved as of Jan 8. No changes in diet from start of incident to now. Food was continued, while other reasons for illness were explored, no other reasons or explanation observed. Currently maintaining symptoms at home, no visit to vet has occurred yet. Bag that food came in was disposed of after being put in tightly sealed container upon opening. Aged 5, 6, and 10. All were relatively healthy before. All were on Purina Pro Plan Veterinary Diet UR savory selects Urinary St/Ox food for at least a year before the incident. No issues with this food prior. Ordered 3 boxes of food online through Covetrus on 11/30/2023. New boxes arrived at home 12/02/2023 via UPS. Issues immediately upon feeding this new batch. Cats did not want to eat much of the food, which was unusual. After eating the cats had severe vomiting and diarrhea. It was so bad they animals didn't even have time to get to the litter box and would defecate on themselves. Was unaware it was caused by the food at first. It took until day 2 or 3 for me to switch their food. The vomiting and diarrhea continued for those 2-3 days. Cats became very weak. During this time we were worried about dehydration and administered subcutaneous fluids and anti-nausea pills. When we switched foods the symptoms vanished and cats quickly returned to normal. I notified both Covetrus (received a refund) and Purina. Threw all remaining cans in the trash. I believe the box lot information for the cans was: BEST BEFORE APR 2025. 30961789 07:57 L12 3121 but I'm not 100% certain. This is because the original box actually fed to the cats had been previously discarded. That is the information on the two remaining unopened boxes of food. I assume all three boxes had the same lot information, but I can't be certain. | 10 | Years | Domestic Longhair | Cat | 10 | Pound |

We have continued to give him Purina Pro Plan foods because he seemed to like it and do well on it. On 12/18/23 we purchased a new bag of Purina Pro Plan food, Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food (30-lb bag). We opened the new bag on 12/26/23 and started feeding it to our dog. On 12/29/23 he had a routine vet appointment and his liver enzymes came back elevated. On January 1, 2024, he had some diarrhea and started to act like he didn't want to eat the dry food anymore. He would even spit it out. We continued to feed him the food, thinking he was just being picky, but then he started vomiting on 1/7/24. We discontinued the Purina Pro Plan on 1/7/24 and fed him chicken and rice. On 1/8/24 he threw up bile with blood in it and had diarrhea. We took him to the vet to receive IV fluids. | EON-558583 | 1/9/2024 8:24 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Complete Essentials Chicken and Rice. | I've been feeding Purina Pro Plan to (b) (6) her entire life. We received our latest back in late November 2023. We started feeding (b) (6) and her sister (b) (6) (3) this bag in early December, within a week or so of feeding her this food, they both developed severe diarrhea. We tried to control with probiotics for weeks, we'd see slight improvements, but then it would worsen again. I suspected it might be the food causing the issue, so I checked the Chewy reviews and found that several people had reported similar issues. We changed food immediately however we still couldn't get the diarrhea under control, our vet was out of town so we went to an emergency clinic on 12/31 the vet ran stool tests and found no parasites. I told him I thought it might be food and he's reaction suggested I was not the first person he'd seen who suspected PPP was causing their dog's issue. They were on antibiotics for 7 days, and their stools improved but have now become sporadic again. We will go to their vet as soon as we can get in. | 5 Years | Whippet | Dog | 32 Pound |
| EON-558509 | 1/8/2024 11:12 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Salmon & Rice Formula | A few days before Christmas our completely healthy cat started to have seizures, excessive salivation, and lethargy. Our veterinarian did several tests with unknown cause. As her seizures and lethargy progressed, the decision was made to euthanize. After Christmas, I saw several posts online that other animals had the same effects and while some had to be euthanized. To be on the safe side, I wanted to report this one my end just in case it is something related. The one thing in common was the brand of food, Purina Pro Plan. | 3 Years | Maine Coon | Cat | |

| EON-558494 | 1/8/2024 10:08 | Purina Pro Plan Shredded Blend Adult Small Breed Chicken & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food | After feeding (b) (6) her normal Purina Pro Plan shredded small-breed adult food, she developed diarrhea and a loss of appetite. After taking the food back to the store in which it was purchased they gave us another bag free of charge. The issue persisted. After a round at the vet a diagnosis of Gastritis and various tests to determine if she had IBD and a vet bill of over $300 dollars in two days. We swapped her food and gave her all the prescribed medication and she has recovered. Our other pet eats Purina pro plan sensitive skin and stomach and we have not seen an issue, however this does not mean it will not happen. | EON-558493 | 1/8/2024 10:04 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin & Stomach Adult Dry Dog Food - Salmon & Rice | My dog started having some stomach troubles. It started with loud gurgling in his stomach that then led to vomiting, diarrhea. The next day he had excessive blood coming from his rectum. We rushed him to the vet where after many tests they diagnosed him with a known gastro disorder. We immediately put him on a bland diet. After a couple weeks we started to introduce back in his dog food and once again he started having the stomach gurgling and diarrhea. Then this week we were alerted to a website where dogs were having similar issues all on the same food. We had recently purchased a brand new bag of Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Stomach before any stomach issues had started but never connected the incident to that because he has been on this brand of dog food since he was adopted at 8 months old. Now hearing all the similar stories of other pets on this food we believe his troubles are because of it. | 4 Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 28 Pound |
| EON-558492 | 1/8/2024 10:04 | Purina ProPlan Adult Sensitive Skin and Stomach | (b) (6) had a bad case of diarrhea and lethargy. He was given medication and told to eat bland food. He was given boiled chicken and rice for several days. His Purina food was slowly added in and the diarrhea came back. He then was eating ground beef and rice. Once again his Purina was slowly added back in and the diarrhea returned. We have had two vet visits where they did physical exams, a fecal test and a blood test. My vet recommended switching to Hills Prescription diet to get him back on track. This has been going on for 4-5 weeks. | 1.5 Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 23 Pound |
| EON-558490 | 1/8/2024 9:56 | Purina Pro Plan Puppy Large Breed Chicken & Rice Formula | From October 2023 to December 2023 we were feeding our boxer Purina Pro Plan Chicken and Rice dog food. During that time, he's had multiple episodes of vomiting, not wanting to eat, lethargic, and clumsiness. We thought of every other scenario it could be but never thought about it being his food. | 1.5 Years | Boxer (German Boxer) | Dog | 61 Pound |
| EON-558489 | 1/8/2024 9:56 | Purina Beneful beef | I fed her supper opening a new bag of Purina Beneful for the first time afterwards she was vomiting and extremely lethargic | 1 Years | Cattle Dog - Australian (blue heeler, red heeler, Queensland cattledog) | Dog | 19 Pound |
| EON-558483 | 1/8/2024 9:08 | Purina Pro Plan Specialized Adult Dry Dog Food - Sensitive Skin & Stomach Lamb & Oatmeal | On or about 12/27 observed dog guarding food rather than eating; feeling "off". Had thrown up previous day. Took her to the vet on 12/28; blood drawn; endoscopy performed 12/29; biopsies and blood panels performed. Biopsies found stomach irritation, also observed same during scope. TAMU blood panel did not show any issues. Hydrolyzed diet prescribed in addition to omeprazole and sucralfate. Sucralfate course is complete; omeprazole course will finish in two days; dog will remain on hydrolyzed diet indefinitely, likely forever. Follow up with vet in 4 weeks. Examine and labs described by vet as a possible food allergy that led to stomach irritation and likely IBS. Dog's condition appears to be normal again with no further problems. Upon observing cases reported on various pet safety website of dog and cat illness relating to what appears to be Purina Proplan, I thought reporting this might be helpful. Dog was fed Purina Pro Plan Specialized Adult Dry Dog Food - Sensitive Skin & Stomach, Lamb & Oatmeal. Last purchased at PetSmart in (b) (6) on 10/26/2023. That particular bag was likely opened within 1-2 weeks after purchased and consumed until on or about 12/28 or 12/29 when she began a diet of hydrolyzed dog food, in addition to her prescribed medicine. | 4 Years | Terrier - Airedale | Dog | 55 Pound |

| EON-558476 | 1/8/2024 7:56 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food | Per my vet recommendation 5+ yrs ago, I started feeding my now oldest dog PPP Salmon sensitive skin/stomach due to stomach issues eating another brand of food. She has had a mix of soft and dry food ever since. She never had any issues in the past but has really bad seasonal allergies, and some days, she is really down. However, I happened to see the article about sick dogs pop up the same day I received a new bag of PPP in the mail but had already opened it and added it to her food bin. Maybe it was a bad allergy day, and maybe it was the food...call it was a huge coincidence that the same day she started a new bag she seemed sickly by the end of the day. I gave her some frozen pure pumpkin I keep on hand and the next day I fed her another PPP brand my youngest dog eats (PPP Complete) and she was full of energy and a full 180 from the day before. I've always been a skeptical of social media bashing without proof and I know there are a lot of PPP haters that live to take shots whenever they can, but I'm not letting my skepticism put my babies life in jeopardy and will hold off on giving her PPP Salmon sensitive stomach until this plays out and I kept the bag if there is an all-out recall. | 7 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 33 | Pound |
| EON-558475 | 1/8/2024 7:40 | Purina Pro Plan | Both dogs have been lethargic & drinking a lot of water for the past month. (b) (6) quit eating last week so I brought her to vet on 1/4/24. After blood draw, vet is concerned about kidneys and liver - (b) (6) is now on 3 medications for 14 days. Blood draw concerns: WBC: 20.75; Neutrophils: 16.33; Monocytes: 2.32; Basophils: 0.13; BUN: 4; Potassium: 3.3; Globulin: 5.6; ALP: 890; GGt: 15. | EON-558474 | 1/8/2024 7:32 | Purina One Tender Selects Chicken | (b) (6) was a healthy, male, indoor cat. During his yearly vet check-up, his blood work showed low protein. The vet checked him for other health issues and determined that he needed an increase in protein intake aside from his Purina One Chicken kibble diet. I continued to feed the Purina One Chicken kibble and added Purina One Chicken wet food to his diet. His weight continued to decrease and his protein level did not increase. (b) (6) normal, laid back personality changed, and he became irritable and confused. He escaped from our home for the 1st time in 9 years and died outside of our house the next day. There were no injuries to his body, and it was apparent that he escaped because he was dying. | 9 | Years | American Shorthair | Cat | 14 | Pound |
| EON-558472 | 1/8/2024 7:32 | Purina pro plan adult small breed chicken and rice formula shredded blend. | Bought a new bag of dog food 4lb bag of Purina pro plan chicken and rice shredded blended small adult breed. My dog had a Seizure after consuming this food along with vomiting, urinated himself. Unusually smelly poop. Was off balanced. Had to take my animal to the emergency vet they ran bloodwork and fecal. Came back normal. I immediately stopped feeding this food. | 2.5 | Years | Dachshund - Miniature | Dog | 18 | Pound |

| EON-558470 | 1/8/2024 7:29 | Purina One | Opened new bag (I have fed purina one for years) to feed, within a few hours he reacted with extreme gas and diarrhea. Lethargic and sluggish. I fed rice for three days, found articles pertaining to tainted purina dog food, and replaced with nutro. No problems since switching off purina one. | 13 | Years | Beagle | Dog | 30 | Pound |
| EON-558469 | 1/8/2024 7:29 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice formula | New bag of Purina pro plan sensitive stomach salmon fed less than three scoops when dog violently vomited!! Thought she must have eaten too fast or something. Didn't worry too much about it but next day read all the internet news about dogs dying from this brand. I immediately stopped feeding this food until I find out more. I just wanted to not remain silent if this is something you need to know! | 11 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 86 | Pound |
| EON-558468 | 1/8/2024 7:29 | Purina Pro Plan Classic Adult Complete Essentials Beef and Chicken Entree | I have been feeding (b) (6) with purina pro plan canned dog food for about 3 months. After feeding, dog had diarrhea and vomiting. I stopped feeding off the food and replaced with a veterinarian digestive food and symptoms resolved after 4-5 days. Upon referring with purina pro plan canned food, (b) (6) became sick again with same symptoms. I stopped feeding this food as I believe it is causing the digestive issues. | 2 | Years | Terrier (unspecified) | Dog | 62 | Pound |

| EON-558466 | 1/8/2024 7:29 | Purina Pro Plan puppy sensitive skin and stomach lamb and oatmeal formula | Ordered a new bag of Purina Pro Plan lamb and oatmeal sensitive stomach and skin puppy food from Chewy. It shipped out of Pennsylvania. I received it on December 30th didn't open it till the 1st as we had a little bit left of his other bag he's been eating this since he was 8 weeks old when we brought him home as a puppy never an issue until this bag. I fed him three cups of the food on New Year's Day evening by the next morning at 6:00 a.m. he was throwing up he threw up a total of three times that morning he was lethargic and depressed and quiet not usual for him at all. I didn't think anything of it but of course we went through the 24-hour withholding a food protocol just water as all he had he didn't throw up any more but he was very lethargic and laid around all the rest of that day into the next day. After withholding food 24 hours we gave him a couple of spoonfuls of pumpkin puree and warm water watered it down so he'd get more water cuz he wasn't drinking water that well either he ate that kept it down he was still quiet laying around not his usual self that evening I gave him another bowl full of the pumpkin and warm water he kept that down still quiet and suppressed the next day I gave him the pumpkin and water and added two scrambled eggs to that he ate that kept it down and by that afternoon he perked up quite a bit still not quite his self but perked up I gave him another bowl full of the pumpkin scrambled eggs and water mixture he did fine the next day I gave you miss pumpkin and egg mixture that morning and then at 5:30 that evening I added to his pumpkin and egg mixture a half a cup of the Purina Pro Plan to the food that was at 5:30 p.m. by 5:00 a.m. the next morning he threw that up he threw up twice he was puny not I wouldn't say lethargic like the first to go around but he was so very quiet and very subdued he's been like that most of the day and I just gave him after 24 hours with holding again another dose of pumpkin and water without the egg and he's held that down so adding the pro plan back again made him throw up so it is definitely associated with the food. I did note that the food smells a little bit different and it's a slightly lighter color than the other bags and like I said he's been on there since he was eight weeks old he'll be three in March. I did report the problem to chewy it seems like they've had quite a few reports they did refund my money back and I've ordered a different kind of food for him for when he does start eating again the food was stored in an airtight food keeper container but I do still have the bag also as some of the food doesn't fit in to the container | 2 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 78 | Pound |
| EON-558465 | 1/8/2024 7:29 | Purina pro plan sensitive skin and stomach salmon and rice | Lethargy, anorexia, vomiting, diarrhea, blood in stool, anemia, intestinal issues. | 6 | Years | Great Dane | Dog | 150 | Pound |
| EON-558464 | 1/8/2024 7:29 | Purina Dog Chow Lamb | Problem is he has been having diarrhea daily, vomiting yellow bile daily, crying out in pain multiple times a day. Refusing all food. I don't get paid until the 18th so I am unable to get him into vet before that. You can see ok his face and eyes something is wrong. Purina has lost a customer for life. My other younger dog is also having same symptoms. Definitely not a coincidence that both dogs are sick with same symptoms a d been on same food. | 3.5 | Years | Black Mouth Cur | Dog | 80 | Pound |
| EON-558462 | 1/8/2024 7:29 | Purina Friskies shreds in gravy 40 cans. With beef turkey and cheese chicken and salmon ocean whitefish | Cat started vomiting after new case of food had been opened and fed to him. Vomiting was just grey chunks and didn't look like food so I didn't suspect it was the food. He was later paralyzed and blind just an hour or so before dying. | 4 | Years | American Shorthair | Cat | 9 | Pound |
| EON-558461 | 1/8/2024 7:29 | Purina Pro Sensitive Skin Salmond & Rice Formula | I grabbed a fresh bag of food for (b) (6) on the way out of tow on 12/17/2023. We got to our friends house and a couple hours after dinner she had the runs. She woke me up 4 times the first night to go potty (abnormal) & she had the liquids. I wasn't sure what might have been up with her. I gave her breakfast and noticed within the following two it became explosive and she was really straining to go. I immediately started her on a bland diet of chicken and rice, that evening got her some FortiFlora. She was thrilled to eat (loves chicken), however her symptoms didn't improve. Night time 12/18 it got bloody and at this point she was going out every hour or so I called the vet. Since she happily ate her dinner and was drinking water and was alert they didn't think that it was an emergency. I kid you not, I slept on the couch, with my shoes and coat on so we could sprint out to the grass when she needed. The next few hours it was every 15-30 minutes. At this point she started to decline, lost control of her bowels, wasn't able to tell me she had to go out and started to get drooly. I called the vet again and she advised at this point I take her to the emergency room. So at around 4:00am 12/19/2023 that was what we did. She was admitted and aggressively treated for dehydration. The vet determined that her symptoms, timing, and onset, were consistent with what is seen when a dog ingests a bad bag of food. I don't recall the specific reference to what makes them sick, but it started with an A. We spent the day in an emergency vet while (b) (6) recovered. It took several days for her bowels to normalize and stop bleeding. And TWO weeks on a bland diet while we worked to get her stools normal. | 6 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 48 | Pound |

| EON-558460 | 1/8/2024 7:29 | Purina Pro Plan | After feeding Purina dog would immediately throw up food within 30 minutes. She also had watery stool and was not herself. Sleeping more than normal like she was not feeling well. Tried to keep feeding it to her that entire day then stopped. Started giving her bland diet, chicken/rice to calm her stomach until better a few days later. After a few days, tried Purina again and same result. | 2 | Years | Weimaraner | Dog | 52 | Pound |
| EON-558459 | 1/8/2024 7:29 | Purina pro chicken and rice puppy under two | Purchased a new bag January 3, 2024. Purina pro chicken and rice under age two. Both dogs on January 5 started experiencing diarrhoea. January 6th both dogs puked older dog that doesn't eat the food as much puked once. The Dalmatian that eats it everyday two time a day puked three times. Sunday morning was lethargic No appetite. Later Sunday evening at 7:00 PM occurred with a high temp of 42. Was brought into the vet. Other dog has no temp but doesn't eat that food as much since he's on a different brand, but likes to eat the puppy food. Vet Confirm the high temp did blood test blood look fine. White cell count was a little bit high, but not a lot. | 1 | Years | Dalmatian | Dog | 49 | Pound |

| EON-558454 | 1/8/2024 7:28 | Purina Pro Plan Chicken & Rice | Extreme diarrhea for 6 weeks. Under went all kinds of bloodwork for potential poisoning and then a special GI poop panel to figure out what was wrong. | EON-558453 | 1/8/2024 7:28 | Purina Pro Plan adult sensitive skin and stomach | Suddenly started with very loose diarrhea and shortly after that started vomiting up the food even as long as 8hrs after eating at times and would vomit the food as if it hadn't even been digested. Then started with a dermatitis skin infection and acid reflux. She has had numerous tests starting with just simple stool samples to bloodwork to much more extensive bloodwork to X-rays. A lot of different antibiotics, probiotics, injections, etc and switched from Purina a pro Plan adult sensitive skin and stomach to Purina Pro Plan hydrolyzed vegetarian which eventually helped some after much stomach heeling time as this all started back in July of 2023. She has since been on the hydrolyzed diet and is finally seeming to be getting back to normal. Just starting a new food and all seems well so far but we tried to transition her back to the PPP Sensitive skin and stomach a couple months ago thinking she was well enough to start adding it back in to her diet and she started all over again so we had to take her off of it again and this kind of validated that is was indeed a food issue. No recalls at the time so nobody thought too much about it but now my daughters dogs who'd also been on it for a while started with all the same symptoms. My girl was on this food for a year and a half with no issues before this all started and during all of this lost almost 10lbs. She also lost the desire to eat it when it places in her bowl as if she knew it wasn't good for her. She is normally very food driven. I'm hearing a lot of other people complaining about like symptoms on this food so I figured it's worth at least reporting my experience in case it helps others as well to get this problem under control and hopefully recalled so others don't have to go through all of this or the few thousand dollars that were spent to get to where we are now with her. | 3.5 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 61 | Pound |

| EON-558450 | 1/8/2024 7:28 | Pro Plan Sport 30/20 Chicken and Rice Purple packaging | Dog started vomiting, diarrhea, lethargic temperature. taken to the ER vet said Gallbladder was enlarged, colon was sluffing. After she I had to euthanize I posted on facebook and had multiple private msgs from people I did not know saying that they had fed Pro Plan Sport and had similar symptoms. I have another Sheltie that started having seizures and had them for 3 years. After the above dog died I took all my dogs off of the food. The seizures stopped. Coincidence I don't think so. I will do another report I did not know I could file a report or I would have done it when my dog died. | EON-558449 | 1/8/2024 7:28 | Purina ONE Indoor Advantage Natural Dry Cat Food with Turkey for Indoor Cats - 7lbs, Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Tune Entree- 3 oz can | My cat has been eating the same brand of food for 3 years. On Monday, January 1, 2024 my cat threw up and had some diarrhea. He didn't eat his dinner that night and was lethargic. He seemed to slowly be getting better and started eating again the following morning. However, on January 4, 2024, I was at work and my boyfriend was gone. When he came home he found my cat in a pool of urine and a large amount of food that he had thrown up with bits of wet food and dry cat food that was not fully processed. My cat was unresponsive and had already become stiff because he had passed away. This happened in a matter of hours from when I had left for work 10 minutes before 8am. He had passed away sometime before 11:30am. | 3 Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | |
| EON-558448 | 1/8/2024 7:28 | Purina Pro Plan | (b) (6) had been on Purina Pro Plan (Puppy under 1 year version) for three or four months with no issues. However, on or about December 15, 2023, we picked up a new bag of the same food from (b) (6) in (b) (6) and she immediately starting having problems. She threw up the next morning and began having severe diarrhea and acted dehydrated and lethargic. She exhibited these symptoms for about a week and on December 22, 2023 we took her to the vet. The vet did some tests and prescribed her Hill's Prescription dog food and some other medication. The first day on the Hill's brand dog food made a world of difference. We knew at that time it had to be related to her Purina dog food, but couldn't find any information at that time associated with any problems or recalls. On January 4, 2024, we learned through a news article that other pet owners had experienced similar issues with the Purina Pro Plan. This confirmed for us that it was her old dog food that had caused her to become sick. We now have her on the Hill's brand and she is doing much better, however it was scary for us and did result in an expensive vet bill. | 9 Months | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 41 Pound |

| EON-558445 | 1/8/2024 7:28 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice formula | We had switched to Purina ProPlan- The first bag was fine, However the entire second bag he was vomiting stomach bile intermittently a few times a week- that lasted approx a month, until I noticed there was blood in his vomit. I called the vet immediately that morning, and they advised to get a fecal sample- it was then I noticed he had loose stool that also had blood in it. The night before he also developed a food aversion and refused to eat that food. The vet had done a fecal test for parasites, a blood panel for organ function as well as an x-ray for any blockage and they all came back clear. The only difference was this specific bag of dog food. The vet prescribed a 3-week antibiotic, an anti-nausea, as well as an anti-diarrheal. They started him on a prescription Royal Canin GI protocol and advised us to switch his food immediately and mix it with the GI food. He had lost 16 lbs within that month- month and a half time frame- Ever since doing so, he has been back to his happy healthy self. | 6 Years | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 90 Pound |

| EON-558443 | 1/8/2024 7:28 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice | My dog was very sick from PPP sensitive stomach salmon. He'd been eating it for 5 years without issue until about late summer last year. It started with vomiting bile and mucous in the mornings and vomiting his food right after eating. Over a few months it got worse and he didn't want to eat hardly at all. It then progressed to bloody diarrhea and bloody vomiting. He was critically ill and we had him at our vet and the urgent care 3 times. Thankfully I did some research on the food he was eating and found all the horrific reviews on chewy's site and purina's site about dogs getting sick recently. I stopped the food and he's been on anti inflammatory diet since then after finishing several meds. He's doing well now thank goodness. | 5 Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 60 Pound |
| EON-558442 | 1/8/2024 7:28 | Purina pro plan lamb | On February 21st he began throwing up and wouldn't eat I had been feeding purina pro plan lamb for a month prior. He then had a seizure on the 22nd and I rushed him to the vet. They did blood work and found his kidneys were not functioning correctly and same with his pancreas. They started iv meds and kept him at their office. On the (b) (6) he deteriorated and had to be put to sleep. He was my best friend and my ESA and I had him since he was born. I miss him so much. | EON-558425 | 1/7/2024 20:16 | Purina pro plan sensitive stomach and skin Lamb flavor, Purina pro plan complete essentials Chicken and rice | I noticed my purina dog food, the chicken one, becoming very crumbly throughout the bags. How the bottom of the bag looked was all over the bag. This is when I noticed my dog doing a weird gaging thing shortly after eating. I even used chicken broth to help it not be so crumbly. Then he soon started to throw up, have diarrhea, pee in the house which never happens. He was having to go so much. After going to the vet we switched him to chicken and baby food to get healthy which he did. I then switched him to purina sensitive stomach to hope that would work. I was adding canned food to support his digestion. If there was no canned food he would end up getting sick. I have been checking for recalls or other complains about the food and I finally found what was happening to other dogs. I have now switched him to instinct dog food either permanently or until there is something discovered about this food. This has happened from the end of November till now in January that I have been dealing with a sick dog. | 5 | Years | Collie - Border | Dog | 68 | Pound |
| EON-558424 | 1/7/2024 20:16 | Fancy Feast Gravy Lovers Chicken Feast in Gravy, Fancy Feast Chicken Feast Classic Pate | Cats are throwing up after eating Purina Fancy Feast cat food. New batch ws purchased two weeks ago of Fancy Feast gravy lovers and Pate. Cats have been eating this for a year with no issues. With last batch both 2 year old cats are throwing up everything in their stomachs about 1-2 hours after eating. Both cats are lethargic and sleeping a lot. Very unlike them. | 2 | Years | Unknown | Cat | 55 | Pound |
| EON-558423 | 1/7/2024 20:16 | Purina Pro Plan Sport Development High-Protein 30/20 Chicken & Rice Formula Puppy Food 24-lb Bag | Purchased Purina Pro Plan Sport Development High-Protein 30/20 Chicken & Rice Formula Puppy Food on 12/12/2023, and (b) (6) has been having chronic diarrhea ever since. He had one instance where he had blood in his stool. I have taken him to his Veterinarian since he began having this issue, and his fecal sample came back negative for Parasites, Giardia, and Parvo. He is never left unsupervised inside or outside, is strictly on the kibble (no treats, supplements, or human food), but the issue persists. My parents own his littermates, feed them the same food, and are having the same issue. His littermates were taken to the vet this week, and their fecals came back normal as well. | 3 | Months | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 37 | Pound |

| EON-558418 | 1/7/2024 19:56 | Purina Pro Plan Urinary Tract Health with Salmon | All three cats eat exactly the same food. All three cats stopped eating, threw up numerous times throughout the day, became lethargic, and were dehydrated and Nauseous. After receiving treatment with IV fluids and anti-nausea medication, they began to eat and the problem started all over again. The vet suggested removing the Purina Pro Plan food. The test results for (b) (6) showed that she had ingested something toxic and had Pancreatitis. Once we switched the food the problem stopped for all three cats. They are still recovering with a low fat diet. | 10 | Years | Mixed (Cat) | Cat | | |
| EON-558417 | 1/7/2024 19:44 | Purina Pro Plan Large Breed Chicken and Rice Formula | On January 1st (b) (6) became ill with massive bouts of diarrhea and then within two day he started vomiting. I immediately withheld his food and began him on a chicken broth only diet. On January 4, (b) (6) the smaller dog began pouring diarrhea out of her bottom and extremely lethargic. I started her on Zofran and withheld her food as well. Both had their first 1 1/2 cups of boiled chicken, chicken broth and rice this morning. (b) (6) still had diarrhea but no vomiting. (b) (6) is still having bouts of extremely loose diarrhea and exhaustion but doing better. | 15 | Months | Ridgeback - Rhodesian | Dog | 115 | Pound |

| EON-558415 | 1/7/2024 19:44 | Purina One +Plus Vibrant Maturity Adult 7+ Formula | We opened a new bag of Purina One dry dog food, the same kind that we usually get, and since then my dog has been very sick. He was throwing up yellow bile and then had yellow diarrhea. After taking him to the vet, we put him on a bland diet and tested for parasites but the test was negative. He is still sick a couple of weeks later. He is still having diarrhea. We haven't been feeding that food to him but rather a bland diet. | 8 | Years | Chihuahua | Dog | 17 | Pound |
| EON-558414 | 1/7/2024 19:44 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Shredded Blend Beef and Rice Formula | For the last 2 years my dog has been having diarrhea problems. He has been seen by his vet numerous times for this issue. They have tested his blood and stool and have found no parasites but one of his blood levels was elevated. Over the last 4 months he barely eats and has lost 20 lbs. The vet didn't have any answers as to what was happening, they kind of thought he was depressed after his older brother died. He had to be put to sleep because of kidney/bladder issues. I had changed from one formula of pruna pro plan to another thinking that the food might be the issue but it continued to happen. I didn't realize the food could still be the cause until reading an article on others having issues with Purina pro plan. I am switching foods immediately. | 7 | Years | Great Pyrenees | Dog | 106 | Pound |

| EON-558413 | 1/7/2024 19:41 | Purina Dog Chow Complete adult Lamb Flavor, Purina ONE Lamb & Rice formula Microbiome balance 16.5 pounds | My in-laws have a 7 year old female black lab named (b) (6) they've had her since she was 5-6 Months old. 9 Months ago they switched her dog food from the Pedigree brand to the Purina brand. They bought Purina Chow and when the P. Chow was out of stock they would get Purina One. In total 5 months on the Purina Chow and 4 months on the Purina One. They just recently went back to the Pedigree brand and that is when they realized the food (Purina Chow & ONE) they were feeding her was making her sick. Within those 9 months (b) (6) slowly lost all her energy, became lethargic, always tired, started to have foul breath and get really bad plaque build up on her teeth (brushing her teeth did not help or change anything). (b) (6) would constantly shed like she was changing out her winter & summer coat type shedding but all the time. Her fur lost all of its shine and oil, she had bad dandruff and always itchy. Within two weeks of the food switch (b) (6) had her energy back, started to show interest in playing again, followed everyone around the house again, running outside and begging to play fetch again! Within three weeks her foul breath started to go away along with the plaque buildup. | | | | | | |

| EON-558410 | 1/7/2024 19:41 | Purina pro plan essentials salmon and brown rice formula | I began feeding my cats purina pro plan essentials, salmon and brown rice formula. Within weeks, 4 of the cats had diarrhea, one of which included substantial blood. I took fecal samples and had my vet run PCR and DNA tests on 3 fecal samples - all came back negative for bacterial, parasitic, worms, or normal cat issues. The only thing that had changed was the food. | | | Domestic (unspecified) | Cat | | |
| EON-558409 | 1/7/2024 19:41 | Purina Pro Plan Salmon | Dog is having major stomach issues. loud grumbling, he refuses to eat, and that is very odd. He never misses a meal time. | EON-558408 | 1/7/2024 19:41 | Purina pro plan complete essentials shredded blend chicken and rice formula/purina pro plan adult weight management shredded blend chicken and rice formula | Recently, my dog (b) (6) began rejecting her food and refusing to eat. (12/31/23) After trying for most of the next day to get (b) (6) to eat, she began persistently vomiting all night. The next day she looked very weak and still refused to eat. (b) (6) again started vomiting as well as having loose stool. (1/2/24) On Wednesday morning (1/3/24) I called our vet immediately on my way to work and made an appointment for that day. (b) (6) received subcutaneous fluids, a nausea injection, appetite stimulant and metronidazole twice a day for 5 days to help with stomach inflammation. I also have two other dogs who have also experienced vomiting and stomach irritation. | 4 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 77 | Pound |
| EON-558407 | 1/7/2024 19:41 | purina pro plan adult sensitive skin & stomach salmon & rice formula | after feeding a mixture of (b) (6) current puppy food & the new purina pro plan sensitive skin & stomach adult dry food, she began vomiting & having diarrhea approx 3-4 hours later; this continued until 4a the next morning so we rushed her to emergency vet where they did xrays, bloodwork & evaluated her, she was given meds for nausea, diarrhea & also subcutaneous fluids. | 1 | Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 68 | Pound |
| EON-558406 | 1/7/2024 19:41 | Purina ONE Plus Large Breed Puppy Formula -* The expiration date and lot number are both unidentifiable. | We got (b) (6) in December, she was healthy, vaccinated and dewormed. For my own reasonings I prefer not to purchase Purina brands however, the breeder was already feeding (b) (6) Purina One Plus Large Breed Puppy Formula. I did not want to disturb her routine by changing her home and food at the same time so I purchased a 16.5 pound bag. Day one, she ate perfectly fine. Around 12 hours later she has an upset stomach. Day 2, she refused the food but still drank water. Day 3, she ate very little. Day 4 she refused the food and the water bowl next to it. Thats when I found worm like bugs in the dog food bag. (b) (6) developed a red rash, diarrhea, irregular breathing, became so weak she couldn't lift her head or use her hind legs, she's vomiting foam / slime, refusing to eat or drink, has frequent urination and had slight blood streaks in urine. This evening I purchased another brand of 1 serving size soft food because she was on the verge of dying. I've been able to get her to eat a few bites and take a few sips of water but she is in very bad shape. (b) (6) isn't just my dog, (b) (6) is my family, she's like my child. I'm heartbroken and so is my daughter. Each day (b) (6) is getting worse. | 14 | Weeks | Terrier - Bull - Staffordshire | Dog | 8.9 | Pound |
| EON-558405 | 1/7/2024 19:41 | Purina Beneful Incredibites | Started giving (b) (6) this food right around Christmas. This was a new food for him and wanted to get him something softer to eat. He gobbled it up and was fine with the first few cans. We also didn't give it yo him everyday in the beginning as he still has other dry dog food to eat, as well. Friday morning he was agitated would not stay asleep on the bed like he normally does. i got up and he was actively throwing up. He had threw up multiple times all over the house and had major diarrhea. He had not been previously sick and they have not been around any other animals or been anywhere in quite some time to have picked up anything. My 100 lb. Pyrenees ate a little boy of this wet dog food also and stares having diarrhea. We thought it may be the food but wasn't a 100% sure. I just saw an article about Purina food making dogs sick and causing death. I wanted to report this because I think it is this food. I am no longer giving it to them and they seem to be doing better. (b) (6) tummy was making a lot of noise yesterday morning and he would not even eat part of my eggs, which he normally would gobble up. He did eat some cut up Bell pepper last night, so I am praying this is out of his system. | 7 | Years | Chihuahua | Dog | 4 | Pound |

| EON-558404 | 1/7/2024 19:41 | Purina Pro Plan Performance 30/20 Chicken and Rice Formula | I purchased a bag of Purina Pro Plan Performance food in the chicken and rice flavor off Chewy for (b) (6). He has been eating this exact type of pro plan for 2 years now. After feeding him this bag for a week, he suddenly refused to eat and drink water on January 5, 2024. He also became very lethargic and had trouble walking. This all happened very suddenly. We took him to the emergency vet and he had to be hospitalized overnight on fluids as well as have multiple x rays and ultrasounds and blood work done. They found no tumors or anything in his abdomen that would cause such a severe and sudden problem, they determined it had to be something (b) (6) had eaten. He had no obstructions in his stomach or bowels either. He was released from the vet after being stable and when we tried to feed him from that same bag of food, he sniffed it and walked away. Once again refusing to eat this bag. Our other dog is on a different type of pro plan and when we fed him that, he ate that food with no issues. | 7 | Years | American Pit Bull Terrier | Dog | 77 | Pound |

| EON-558402 | 1/7/2024 19:41 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin & Stomach salmon and rice formula | I switched (b) (6) to Purina Pro Plan Sensitive skin and stomach Salmon and she started having diarrhea, vile smelling gas, and loud gurgling in her stomach. I initially thought it was just from starting a new food. After a couple weeks she started refusing to eat every 3-4 days, vomiting 1-2 times a week, and a soft stools and occasional diarrhea. After finishing a whole bag of the food she still had these things going on and I noticed dry flaking sores on her skin. I saw some people online talking about this food causing their dogs to have the same symptoms and immediately stopped giving her this food. After less than a week on a different non Purina brand food she now has more energy, no diarrhea or vomiting. | 5 | Years | Whippet | Dog | 60 | Pound |
| EON-558401 | 1/7/2024 19:41 | Pro Plan puppy | I got (b) (6) when she was 4 months old. Within that month she started getting diarrhea. She had major bouts of it on and off until for a couple months. She only had one large bag of pro plan and that was about in May at Petsmart when we got her. She still has these issues on and off. Never had this issue with her prev owner who fed her a different brand. | 1 | Years | Great Pyrenees | Dog | 75 | Pound |

| EON-558398 | 1/7/2024 19:41 | Purina Pro Plan LiveClear Sensitive skin and stomach formula | Switch from Iams Healthy Adult to Purina Pro Plan Live Clear sensitive skin and stomach. Slowly added 1/4 to 3/4 for a month, then 1/2 to 1/2, 3/4 to 1/4, and fully by mid November. I have two cats, one refused to eat it, so if he didn't eat I would put out the old food. He did not get sick. After fully switching, (b) (6) began vomiting after every time he ate. So after a few days of fully being on the Purine Pro Plan he started vomiting every time he ate. Before that he did vomit intermittently, but I attributed it to his stomach adjusting. After a few days of vomiting, I stopped the pro plan and switched back to Iams Healthy adult. He immediately stopped vomiting, but wasn't eating as much as usual. The first week of December he was hiding, and he's typically a very social cat. He then seemed to have a couple days of acting like he was a little better, eating more, coming out more, so I waited to bring him in thinking he just had a lot of changes with his food. On December 7th we came home from work and he was walking weird and drank some water and threw up. Brought him to the vet Dec 8th, his kidney labs were high and his calcium was high. Due to the high calcium they felt it could be cancer, though did ask a lot of questions about the food changes. He also could barely walk, so we opted to put him down on (b) (6). After I thought more of the food, spoke with a friend whose cat was on Purina Pro Plan and also having similar symptoms, then a cousin's dog got sick the same time frame, it made me search more into the food. I have seen hundreds of posts with cats and dogs becoming sick in the same time frame, all on Purina Pro Plan. I also read that animals affected by their prior recall with high vitamin D levels in their food had vitamin D toxicity, and high kidney labs, high calcium levels. | 11 | Years | Mixed (Cat) | Cat | 9 | Pound |
| EON-558397 | 1/7/2024 19:41 | Purina Pro Plan adult sensitive skin & stomach small breed formula | Around 8am the morning of December 29th, my dog (b) (6) began throwing up. She had been getting her Purina Pro Plan Sensitive skin and stomach for small dogs food as normal, this bag of food was received by a Chewy.com order on 11/24/23. (b) (6) threw up somewhere between 10-15 times, beginning with a food-colored liquid throw up and ended with bile/spit throw up. After about an hour, she was done throwing up and slept most of the day (not eating any food that was offered, even plain rice or pumpkin puree). Around 2pm the same day, my other dog (b) (6) threw up 2 times, both times the vomit was undigested food. (b) (6) eats Purina Pro Plan adult weight management food, however sometimes he gets bits of (b) (6) food. After this initial incident, both dogs have thrown up a handful of times (we did not keep track of when). (b) (6) more often than (b) (6). Most recently, (b) (6) threw up on 1/3/24 in her cage overnight. This throw up was also food-colored liquid. | 3 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 15 | Pound |
| EON-558396 | 1/7/2024 19:41 | Purina Pro Plan For Sensitive Stomachs and skin | I have been feeding my dog Purina Pro Plan and the year 2023 he has been very sick with stomach issues. I have taken him numerous times to emergency vets, his vet and specialist. He has been experiencing vomiting, diarrhea, blood and mucus in stool. Depressed, lethargic and no energy. Also he has been losing a lot of weight. A specialist did a sonogram and found fluid in his intestines. They tell me he is dying. He was put on a prescription dog food and the diarrhea and vomiting has stopped and the noisey stomach. The summer 2023 I took him to an emergency vet because of the stomach issues and he was also having trouble with his muscles. He drinks alot of water but still shows signs of dehydration. Please help so I can hopefully save my dog and other dogs that are sick | 7 | Years | Weimaraner | Dog | 81 | Pound |

| EON-558395 | 1/7/2024 19:41 | Hill's Prescription Diet Liver Care L/D Chicken Flavor | Roughly in November, (b) (6) was doing well. More active, alert, etc. She suddenly started declining. She was refusing to eat her food. She would smell it and then walk away but she was interested in eating other food because she would try to take her brother's, which we wouldn't allow. (b) (6) has always had a strong appetite, so this was alarming. She began to become unbalanced, was having difficulty walking, vomiting, and head pressing. She was so lethargic. This after I opened a new case of food from Chewy. I ended up contacting Chewy and shipping the remaining cans back to them. We visited the vet and got some medications to try and help. I also got different cans of food from Petsmart. She started to do better. She was extremely alert, playful, and eating chicken and rice per doctor's orders. On Dec. 8th, I opened a can of food and after two serving from this can, these symptoms of not being able to walk well, pacing the house, head pressing and lethargy began again. I took a photo of the bottom of the can and picked a different can with different numbers. Within two days she was back to normal. On 1/5, I opened a new can of food. After two servings, she began showing the symptoms (head pressing, pacing, difficult bowel movements, unbalanced and lethargic). I then looked at the bottom of the can and the numbers were almost identical to the last can this occurred with. I immediately opened a different can and began that can last night. She ate her dinner and breakfast and I can already tell she is starting to feel better. This problem started much earlier than the date I started making the connection. I had been bringing the dog in with the concerns and contacting Chewy because the dog was refusing the food and the consistency is never the same. The doctor listed is one that I saw during this at (b) (6) but we saw many since we got ultrasounds, blood tests, visited an optamologist, neurologist, etc. I spoke to a female doctor that did her ultrasound when I mentioned the food again as a potential issue. She was going to speak to a hills rep. | 11 | Years | Dachshund - Standard Long-haired | Dog | 15 | Pound |
| EON-558394 | 1/7/2024 19:41 | Purina Cat Chow Complete | Both of my cats, including and starting with (b) (6) a 2-year-old male orange domestic short hair tabby weighing 6lbs, started exhibiting unusual symptoms. Initially, they began vomiting, which I suspected might be due to hairballs, but highly abnormal for them, I hadn't seen any hairballs for over a year. The situation escalated as both cats refused to eat and continued vomiting, eventually bringing up foamy bile. Their bowel movements turned mucus-like and foul-smelling. Despite showing signs of hunger, they wouldn't accept treats or any food, and they also stopped drinking water. Their activity levels significantly decreased. The issue began with (b) (6) and then about 24 hours spread to the other cat, (b) (6) leading me to consider an environmental cause. The only recent change was a new 15lb bag of Purina cat chow complete, opened 4-5 days earlier. Suspecting the food, I discarded it and began manually feeding and hydrating them. Remarkably, they recovered within 48 hours after doing so. I had plans to visit the vet the next morning, but they began eating and drinking again and retained their food. They made a full recovery within 24 hours of starting to eat on their own. | 3 | Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | 8 | Pound |

Opened a new bag (purchased from Amazon) on 9/17/2023. No other changes to diet or treats. On 9/18/2023 (b) (6) started having loose bowel movements and lethargy. On 9/19/2023 (b) (6) began vomiting blood and having liquid bloody stool. Was brought to the emergency veterinarian on 9/19/23 and was diagnosed with hemorrhagic gastroenteritis. Was given IV fluids, and came home on numerous medications. Was seen by this regular veterinarian on 9/20/23 for additional fluids. On bland diet of rice and chicken. On 9/22/23 my other dog, who also had been eating the same food (Purina Pro Plan), began vomiting and having bloody stools. | EON-558389 | 1/7/2024 19:40 | Purina pro plan complete essential shredded blend salmon and rice | For a little over 11 months now I have noticed (b) (6) has lost interest in the Purina pro-plan salmon and rice shredded blend. Some days will sniff the food and walk away not eating for a whole day. Others he will eat it with hesitation and then have severe gas, loose stools, occasion vomit, and you can hear his stomach noise while digesting the food. His energy levels have drastically dropped, his weight fluctuating due to not eating some days, he has started licking and chewing his paws, and his coat has also taken a toll becoming dull, dry, and loosing hair. After consulting with my veterinarian and a number of vet tech friends who have mentioned the multiple other dogs suffering from the same symptoms as my pup we have decided to switch his food. He is still currently eating a he purina bc there is a transition process in changing food. I cannot have my boy continue to be sick like this. We have taken a break from search and rescue and deer tracking due to his issues and have put his AKC sports competing on hold. (b) (6) was fully tested and genetically cleared for any health issues prior to all this happening. She was put on the purina plan since she was a puppy, but started to not eat it as she got older. We tried to switch the flavor and it would help for a day but then she would do the same thing. It would also make her throw up sometimes. We finally switched to a totally different brand and have had no issues since. She eats great now. | 9 | Months | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 50 | Pound |

| EON-558387 | 1/7/2024 19:40 | Purina pro plan lamb and rice | We have always fed him purine pro plan, but this last bag he began throwing up after every meal and then would not eat the food for 3 days. We offered it to him several times and assumed maybe he has an aversion. I gave him some canned purina pro plan and carrots hoping he'd get hungry enough to eat his food but he never would. So We switched to iJams and had no problem, but when I gave him the purina again he threw all of it up. We ended up throwing the whole bag away and he's doing well on iJams. We're keeping a close eye on him. But now I'm reading all of this about purina— it must have been a bag batch. | 1 | Years | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 58 | Pound |
| EON-558386 | 1/7/2024 19:40 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Adult 7+ Shredded Chicken and Rice Dry Dog Food 34lb | We have used Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Adult 7+ Chicken and Rice for a few months. I recently purchased 2 bags. Both of our dogs are now experiencing diarrhea, especially the female mixed breed. No change in diet, no extra food, didn't get into anything, nothing abnormal. | 10 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 100 | Pound |
| EON-558385 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina One Tire Instinct natural high protein with turkey and venison dry dog food. 36lb bag | Both dogs began having irregular bowel movements, upset stomachs, throwing up, and skin issues. All which cleared up after switching foods. | 7 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 45 | Pound |
| EON-558384 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach | 3 cats aged 2.5 y/o being fed PPP Sensitive Skin and Stomach for 2 years started an acute onset of vomiting, diarrhea, and becoming excessively gassy the past 2 weeks. No prior changes regarding diet or environment. All issues resolved once switching to Hills Science Diet. | 2.5 | Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | 7 | Pound |
| EON-558383 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice Formula | (b) (6) has been using this food for about 1.5 years now, recommended by her Vet after she finished puppy food. She recently has been vomiting sporadically and experiencing food aversion. These symptoms have not been severe enough to take her to the vet. But, this most recent bag of food she will not even eat and we had to buy a different kind of food. | 2 | Years | Pit Bull | Dog | 32 | Pound |
| EON-558382 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina One True Instincts Tender Cuts Gravy with Chicken Turkey Duck and Venison Flavors Wet Dog Food Variety Pack | on 1/6 I opened a new case of the Purina One True Instincts wet food. He has previously had this food. He was fed 1/4 can in the AM and the rest of the can in the PM. Overnight, he became sick with vomiting and diarrhea. | 12 | Years | Corgi (unspecified) | Dog | 28 | Pound |
| EON-558381 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Lamb and Rice | (b) (6) has been on 'Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Lamb and Rice' since bringing him home at 10 weeks old. He has done well up until about 2 weeks ago. First (b) (6) began vomiting regularly, which progressed to severe diarrhea and becoming extremely gassy. He began turning away his food which is very abnormal as he is highly food motivated, and following his symptoms 3 cats owned within the same family began showing these same symptoms. Once diet was changed to Hills Science Diet all symptoms resolved. | 7 | Months | Shepherd Dog - Australian | Dog | 40 | Pound |
| EON-558380 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina Pro Plan Development Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Large Breed Dry Puppy Food, Purina Pro Plan Adult Shredded Blend Beef & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food, Eukanuba Adult Large Breed Lamb 1st Ingredient Dry Dog Food | The timeline of this account begins in the 3rd week of November 2023. My first indication of something being wrong was in mid November after 2-3 days in a row of diarrhea. We were beginning to transition him from his puppy food (Purina Pro Plan Development Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Large Breed Dry Puppy Food) to adult food (a combination of Purina Pro Plan Adult Shredded Blend Beef & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food and Eukanuba Adult Large Breed Lamb 1st Ingredient Dry Dog Food). I attributed to diarrhea to the food switch and didn't think much of it. From that time until the end of November, I had noticed his interest and appetite for food waning, but again, had chalked it up to him just not enjoying the less calorie rich adult food. About this same time, he also began to sit differently out of the blue. He is normally very centered and square and began sitting lopsided and roach backed. On 11/28, he had some additional behaviors that were very out of the norm for him (growling at people, being uninterested in his toys or playing, etc.). By the next day he had absolutely no energy and he then refused all food and water from 11/29 - 12/6. I brought him into the vet on two different occasions. The first under emergency pretenses on 12/3 as he had not consumed water at that point in 4 days. At that visit, they did an physical exam, x-ray to check for blockages, and bloodwork. All came back normal. He was given an IV bag of fluids and some Cerenia to help with any nausea he may have been having and I was told to wait and see if that prompted appetite. It did not. Over the next couple of days his water consumption was limited to what I could syringe into his mouth. He otherwise was completely listless, no energy, and lethargic. He did nothing except lay and sleep. Our second visit was to our normal vet on 12/6. They re-ran bloodwork, screened for pancreatitis, took a stool sample, and gave another IV bag. They were able to get him to eat a few freeze dried liver treats at the appointment, but that was all. Later that day, I offered some eggs and he ate those as well. From 12/6 - 12/11 the only thing he would eat were ~2 scrambled eggs/day despite offering many other choices. On 12/11, I got desperate and bought three completely different/new varieties of kibble to offer him. As soon as I offered a brand called "FirstMate" he downed almost 2 cups. He has continued on that brand since. | 1 | Years | Leonberger | Dog | 110 | Pound |
| EON-558379 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina pro plan adult chicken and rice formula | Dog eats ourina pro plan adult chicken and rice formula, had a seizure on 1/6/2023 | 3 | Years | Shepherd Dog - Australian | Dog | 47 | Pound |
| EON-558378 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina Pro Plan Development Puppy Dry Dog Food - Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice | Purina Pro Plan Puppy Sensitive Stomach is the cause. I have been giving my dog this food since getting him at 8 weeks. On Thursday, 12/28/23 he became lethargic and tired, not his fun playful self. He seemed out of it and exhausted. He then began to whine and cry all through the night and that night he began to have diarrhea. He then began to need to relieve himself from uncontrollable diarrhea every hour throughout the night. He was able to keep water down, but no food was able to be maintained. This continued over the weekend and Sunday 12/31/23 he began to vomit water and food until he could barely stand on his own. A vet visit was made on 01/02/24 in which the vet put him on a "bland diet" with chicken and rice and numerous ant-nausea/anti-diarrhea medications. On 01/03/24, I switched the food to "Fresh pet food from Costco" and (b) (6) appears to be going back to normal now that he is off the Purina Food. upon doing further research I have read hundreds of complaints of this Purina Pro Plan Dog Food due to the dogs having the same symptoms of my dog. | 6 | Months | Poodle - Miniature | Dog | 20 | Pound |
| EON-558377 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina pro plan shredded chicken and rice | Started food and dog became very itchy. Kept getting worse lost hair and severe itching also vomiting. Switched door to the skin and allergy but could not stop the itching. | 8 | Years | Beagle | Dog | 43 | Pound |

| EON-558376 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina Pro Plan | My 2 dogs have been eating Purina Pro Plan for several yrs without any problems. Approximately a month ago I noticed they both had diarrhea and my older dog (b) (6) was refusing to eat. The younger dog (b) (6) (4 yrs old) was still eating but was then eating grass and throwing everything up. At that time I decided to make their food (boiled chicken, rice and vegetables) to settle their stomachs...I did that for about a week and then started incorporating the Purina Pro Plan back into their diet. Again they both have been having digestive issues and my older dog seemed sick and lethargic. I took him completely off the kibble and he seems to be doing better. Today I took (b) (6) off the Pro Plan as well as I was concerned it was making them sick. | 8 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 75 | Pound |

| EON-558374 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina kit & kaboodle | My cat loves to eat this specific brand since he was a kitten. I had use other brand, and he had diarrhea. I bought a 22 lbs bag in Walmart of kit & kaboodle. As soon as that very day he started to have symptoms as thirsty a lot of urine, loss of appetite. He was eating to much lately, so I thought It could be diabetes or some kind of toxicity symptoms as high levels of vitamin d. I wanted to wait , I cant afford a vet right now. Started to regulate his food with a time dispenser machine. It's been more than a week, he tried to eat from my food and I know he doesn't like it. He was desperate to eat by at the same time he doesn't touch his food. He started to look weak , and sleeping more than usual. Decided to buy other cat food, he ate it all, it was about 4 cups of dry food. At that very moment he started to have a better shape and mood. I will take it to the vet, but I'm pretty sure that that food wasn't good this time. | 7 | Years | American Shorthair | Cat | 5 | Kilogram |

| EON-558369 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials | My dog refused to eat for more than 3 days. During this period she was vomiting and had diarrhea. She has only eaten pro plan and has never had any health problems before this. She became so weak so could barely climb the stairs and was unable to jump up on the bed. The vet ran extensive tests and was unable to find another medical issue. I stopped feeding pro plan and began feeding home-cooked food only. She returned to normal. I returned to feeding pro plan in November. She continues to have periods where she will refuse to eat it and has gas, diarrhea and fatigue. After reading online that other Rottweilers have experienced similar symptoms on pro plan, I will immediately discontinue feeding this product. | 5 | Years | Rottweiler | Dog | 94 | Pound |

| EON-558367 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina ProPlan Puppy Chicken and Rice Formula | After buying a new bag of Purina Pro Plan Puppy food in early November, my puppy began having diarrhea and vomiting. This resolved after vet put her on a different prescription food. When I tried to slowly reintroduce the Purina food back into her diet and wean her off of the prescription food (at my vet's direction), she resumed vomiting and diarrhea. This was resolved again by discontinuing the Purina food. I reported to Purina but they provided no resolution. | EON-558365 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina ONE Plus Healthy Weight High-Protein Dog Food Dry Formula | Was feeding Purina Pro Plus Healthy Weight, (b) (6) could not hold anything down. He lost his bowels viciously and could not stop throwing up. He had diarrhea and would pass it almost every 10 minutes. There would also be blood in his stool. We switched to their normal Purina Pro lamb and rice, expecting it to be better for him, and it was somewhat. His stool became more solid but he has just been overall weak. | 7 | Years | Doberman Pinscher | Dog | 190 | Pound |
| EON-558364 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina Pro Plan Veterinary Diets OM Overweight Management Dry Cat Food | We ordered the Purina Pro Plan Veterinary Diets OM Overweight Management Dry Cat Food to help with Theo losing weight. Within a few days he started scooted and constant diarrhea in which the vet gave us pro-pectalin to help with diarrhea. We gave him this and it didn't work so I took him off the food and within a few days, the diarrhea stopped. During the time taking the food, he definitely was not himself and just wanted to sleep and started drinking a lot. Once off the food it took a while for him to at least stop the diarrhea. He still drinks a lot of water but at least he seems to be better.. We called the vet and told her we stopped the food and went back to his regular food. | 9 | Years | American Shorthair | Cat | 18 | Pound |

| EON-558362 | 1/7/2024 19:36 | Purina Dog chow | We have feed Purina for 20 years. One of my male boxers started throwing up. We thought maybe something didn't agree with his stomach. Maybe he got into something. Then my female boxer that was due to have puppies went into labor about 3 days early. The first 2 puppies she had were dead. I have never experienced anything like this before. We took her to the vet because something wasn't right. They gave her a c section. She had 8 puppies left inside of her. They were dead too. The vet said the puppies were already decomposing in her body. It was extremely sad. The next day my female Boxer passed away. After talking to some other breeders they said they had the same problem. That's when realized it is the food. My other male Boxer had been throwing that food up. So we had started him on another food. Giving him eggs and other protein. My Boxer was very expensive and had already had genetic testing done, so I know she was very healthy. | 3 | Years | Boxer (German Boxer) | Dog | 65 | Pound |

| EON-558357 | 1/7/2024 19:32 | Purina One Lamb and Rice Formula 31 lb bag | Received new bag of dog food from Purina store through Amazon late December 2023. Initially gave food as usual and both dogs vomited and had diarrhea throughout house. Discovered today when scooping out food for bowls that middle of bag was wet, filled with white mold and had several maggots wriggling in food. This bag has been stored in my dry garage. It was not left out. I opened box and put it in my garage within 10 minutes of delivery. Amazon box bag came unharmed and normal looking; does not appear to have been mishandled during shipping. | 3 | Years | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | | |
| EON-558356 | 1/7/2024 19:32 | Purina Pro Plan Specialized Large Breed Adult Dry Dog Food - Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice | Our dog recently switch to the Purina Pro Plan Specialized Large Breed Adult Dry Dog Food - Sensitive Skin & Stomach, Salmon & Rice, about a week ago. On the day of the event, we put (b) (6) in his kennel and not even 20 minutes later he was having a seizure in his kennel, this seizure lasted 2-5 min. We rushed him to our local vet where they did testing and everything looked normal. Our vet does not know exactly why he had a seizure but recommended we go get him an MRI, which we will. He has not had a seizure yet, but it's only been less than 24/hrs. I believe the food is the cause of his seizure as that is the only thing we changed and he did not consume anything that could cause it. | 2 | Years | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 76 | Pound |
| EON-558355 | 1/7/2024 19:32 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Beef & Carrots Entree | We received Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Beef & Carrots wet food via Chewy monthly autoship subscription on 12/15/23. We fed it to (b) (6) in the evening and she ate only half of what she normally eats. She vomited during the night and had multiple diarrhea. I took her to a vet 20 miles away as she was the only vet I could find who was available to see (b) (6) in the morning of 12/18. She got anti-nausea, appetite enhancer, and GI prescription food but still did not eat for 5 days and continued to have diarrhea for over a week. She usually weighs 8 pounds but lost 2 pounds in the first 3 days. I started force-feeding her on day 5 out of fear of her organs starting to shut down. She gradually started eating on her own and seems to have pulled through and continued recovering but at one point, we thought about euthanizing her. Thank god she made it. I'll be reporting on (b) (6), another cat of ours got sick at the same time, separately. | 18 | Years | Siamese | Cat | 6 | Pound |
| EON-558354 | 1/7/2024 19:32 | Darwin's BioLogics Beef Recipe with Vegetables for Dogs and Darwin's Biologics Turkey Recipe with Vegetable for Dogs | I received my first order from Darwin' Natural Products on Thursday, January 4, 2024. I gave my dogs the Beef Recipe with Vegetable Lot No. 10131 Mfg Date 12/06/2023 raw dog food and followed the directions. Both my dogs vomited the food up within 30 to 40 minutes. Both have diarrhea. I contacted the Darwin's customer service via telephone and email. I was told by Anna Aubrey, Customer Service. She asked me to send photos of the vomit which I did. Also to give just a tablespoon of Darwin's food alone not mix with the kibble they usually eat which (b) (6) my Pom has been eating for four years. My other dog (b) (6) that is two years old also got sick from Darwin's same batch. Both vomit and have diarrhea. | 4 | Years | Spitz - German Pomeranian | Dog | 10 | Pound |

| EON-558352 | 1/7/2024 19:32 | Purina pro plan chicken flavor | (b) (6) started with some vomiting. She then started with a lot of diarrhea until she became dehydrated. She started becoming lethargic and unable to move. She was taken to the hospital where they could not figure out the problem. They put her on a few different medications and has been eating a all natural diet since. | 2 | Years | Collie (unspecified) | Dog | 29 | Kilogram |
| EON-558351 | 1/7/2024 19:32 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach - Turkey and Oatmeal | I have been feeding my dog purina pro plan sensitive stomach/skin - turkey and oatmeal flavor for over a year. Never had any issues and she's always done really well on it. Out of nowhere she started acting lethargic and refusing food. She's still feeling the symptoms as I was just giving her the food not thinking that was the issue. We took her to the vet and they cannot figure out what is wrong with her, everything on her labs look good. She is refusing to eat food unless I give her some tasty treats or chicken. She's always acted very food motivated and has always been very hungry. This is very unusual for her and we have recently found out that other people are having issues with this food. | 2 | Years | Retriever - Curly-coated | Dog | 65 | Pound |

| EON-558348 | 1/7/2024 19:32 | Purina Pro Plan For Puppies Large Breed | I had bought a brand new bag of dog food that was the exact same type of food my puppy had been eating since she was with the breeder as a puppy. She really didn't start having any reactions until this bag. She had a bad case of diarrhea on and off for months. It was watery and she couldn't even hold it in she would just start pooping. She got on anti-diarrhea meds that would help firm her stool a little bit but ultimately once we stopped taking the meds the diarrhea would come back. And this wasn't just diarrhea it was just liquid and she would go 6-7 times in the span of a couple of hours. However once I stopped feeding her the purina she was immediately better. I was feeding her purina pro plan puppy food for large breeds and even just stopping and switching her to chicken had solved the problem quickly. | 7 Months | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 45 Pound |

(b) (6) ate the first can from the case in the evening, and over the night he threw up and had a sever diarrhea the next moning. He did not eat at all for a day and a half and gradually started eating again on the 3rd day. He continued to have diarrhea for over a week but his appetite started to come back and he is eating normal now. I believe his illness was due to the food as our other cat (b) (6) ate the same food at the same time and became ill at the same time. | 10 Years | Egyptian Mau | Cat | 12 Pound |

| EON-558344 | 1/7/2024 19:32 | Purina One lamb and rice formula | Dog was fed purina one lamb and rice formula. Dog went from 50lbs to 35lbs within a week and a half. Trouble getting around, wouldn't eat or drink, really lethargic. Took the dog to the vet to find out he was in late stage renal failure, everything else was health with him. Great heart and great lungs. We ended up having to put (b) (6) down that day and couldn't figure out why he had gone from a completely health dog showing no symptoms of age to renal failure within a couple days. My wife was scoping the dog food for another dog a few days after and found all this "mold and fungus" growing on the dog food at th3 bottom of the bag which was stored in a dry location. | 11 Years | Collie - Border | Dog | 60 Pound |

Was having gassy issues and on and off pooping issjes but nothing to warrant a vet visit until November 16th 2023 she has bloody stool and some diarrhea. Taken to my vet who did Fecal and blood test which all checked out. She did show on xray her bowls been full of gas but nothing too crazy at the time Was told could be a protein allergy. We then immediately switched her over to Purina Pro sensitive stomach salmon and rice. Now as of 1/4 she has had massive diarrhea and weakness. We have stopped this food and placed her on a bland diet. I fully believe Purnia is responsible for these issues. | 9 Months | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 60 Pound |

| EON-558332 | 1/7/2024 19:28 | Purina Pro Plan Chicken and Rice, Purina Pro Plan Senior Dog Food With Probiotics for Dogs Shredded Blend Chicken & Rice Formula | My dog started experiencing extreme diarrhea in early September. I took her to the vet where they ran parasite tests which came back negative. She was put on a mild diet and given diarrhea medication. The diarrhea started up again in December. She was taken to the vet again, where another parasite test was given and bloodwork was done. It was also discovered that she lost 10lbs in 3 months. These tests came back clear and it was determined that the food was the issue. We are still in the process of transitioning her diet. | 7 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 40 | Pound |

| EON-558329 | 1/7/2024 19:24 | Purina Pro Plan prime+ adult 7+ | Heard a loud thump, and then he wailed louder than I've ever heard. I got up to check on him and he was laying on the floor. He was breathing very heavily, his mouth was open and his tongue was hanging out, and he was drooling. It was really scary and I thought I was going to lose him. After about an hour, he seemed to be better. I took him to the vet the next day. The vet gave him a regular exam, but couldn't tell me anything more without doing expensive test. An x-ray and an ultrasound were offered, but I'm on disability and so both of those options are way too expensive. | 19 | Years | American Shorthair | Cat | 12.11 | Pound |

| EON-558324 | 1/7/2024 19:13 | Purina pro plan | I've been giving this food to my dogs for years now, and I noticed that after purchasing a new bag about 4 days ago, they've been lethargic, my older dogs have diarrhea. I just recently read the reports on the recalls and was surprised as I had been doing extensive research on which food to feed my dogs and purina pro plan was supposedly one of the "good" ones. Upon reading the article and seeing that it did intact affect my dogs health I will immediately stop feeding them this food, but the money wasted and possible vet visits are costly. I urge you to discontinue this brand in its entirety as it has been an issue for decades despite newer products coming out. | 10 | Years | Pit Bull | Dog | 82 | Pound |
| EON-558323 | 1/7/2024 19:12 | Purina pro plan adult large breed shredded blend chicken and rice formula | I purchased a bag of Purina Pro Plan Adult Large breed shredded chicken and rice formula from pet smart in (b) (6) a couple of weeks ago. My dog will not eat the food. I noticed it had white specs on the chicken pieces. Upon further investigation every piece with the white spec is a worm. A live worm. The bag was sealed and placed into an air tight container upon opening. Has not been exposed and is inside my house. Some people are reporting adverse reactions with purina so I became suspicious when the dog wouldn't eat it. Today is the day I saw the worms. | | | | | | |

| EON-558319 | 1/7/2024 19:12 | Purina pro plan puppy large Breed formula | (b) (6) has been on Purina Pro Plan Large breed food for the past 4 months. After the purchase of the newest bag on 12/22/2023 she developed diarrhea. There have been no other changes in her diet. The symptoms have continued for the past 3 weeks only combated by changing her to a bland diet of chicken and rice. | 6 | Months | Newfoundland | Dog | 75 | Pound |
| EON-558318 | 1/7/2024 19:12 | Wellness CORE raw rev high protein | Prior to switching to this food, she was amazing, playful, happy, had normal bowel movements nothing alarming. I switched her and my other three dogs to this food a little less than a year ago, two of my dogs started eating this food as puppies as soon as they could eat solid food, they were all okay at first. I've seen some questionable pieces of food come out of the bags in the past, but I figured maybe it was normal since they say they use "raw dried turkey" so I let it go. They ate it and slowly, (b) (6) mainly, and my other dog (b) (6) started acting not normal at all for starters their feces had become constantly awful, anywhere from water to soft serve ice cream textures. They had like uncontrollable bowel movements. I thought I was doing them a favor by switching to a more "healthy" expensive food. (b) (6) and (b) (6) have exhibited unnatural and scary behavior example: (b) (6) couldn't even stand up, eyes glossy, she would try and walk and just fall over, almost as if she was poisoned. I took her to the vet and they couldn't identify what was causing it. They ran tests and still couldn't come to a concrete answer for what it was. Her tongue would hang out of her mouth and she wouldn't move. (b) (6) on multiple occasions as well has acted the same, pale gums, lethargic, labored breathing, can't stand, walking side ways, glossy eyes, I thought they were going to die. I couldn't afford the vet visits but I had to their my babies. I didn't think it was the food until today, today I poured out the end of one bag into a bowl, and found TWO extremely noticeably moldy pieces, one clump with white and black mold, and another with dark black mold. The bag says good until 11/12/2024 I knew after seeing this it was an issue and it was the dog food. After reaching out to the company, I did some research to see if anyone else had this issue and in fact they did some had bugs some had large patches of mold. Now I am questioning all those pieces of food I originally questioned but thought it was "normal" it wasn't. | 7 | Years | Other Canine/dog | Dog | 17 | Pound |

| EON-558309 | 1/7/2024 19:08 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Salmon and Rice Formula | We opened a new bag of Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Shredded Blends Salmon and Rice, and about a week into feeding the new bag she began to have liquid diarrhea. She did not eat anything else, she did not get into anything, she wasn't vomiting, and was acting normal otherwise. We did a week of 250mg metronidazole and proliable capsules, but she still had really loose stools. At this time we did a fecal with giardia test, this test was negative so we did another week of 250mg metronidazole, proviable, and added endosorb. We also opened a different bag of Purina Pro Plan Shredded Blends Salmon and Rice. | EON-558308 | 1/7/2024 19:08 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Stomach salmon and brown rice | I have been feeding (b) (6) purina pro plan sensitive stomach salmon and brown rice for 1 year no issue. Starting in November 2023 my dog stopped eating and became lethargic. We took her to the vet and they said everything seemed fine but when we got her blood checked her pancreatitis test came back positive and she wouldn't eat. She would walk up to the food smell it and stick her nose in it and try and bury it and walk away. She would eat treats just fine but wouldn't eat her purina pro plan sensitive stomach salmon and brown rice. We ended up switching to another dog food brand and she ate that up normally and we haven't had any more issues. | 1.5 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 52 | Pound |

| EON-558304 | 1/7/2024 19:08 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Stomach Salmon | Our dog has been struggling with stomach issues off and on for a year while on Purina Pro Plan Salmon. It gets better and then it returns right back. He has bloody diarrhea and extremely loose bowels. Unfortunately he's beginning to look unwell and we have finally pin pointed it to his food. It's the middle of the night right now and our boy is very sick. We are switching to another dog food but we really think something is really wrong with this food. Before this our dog was full of energy and life and now if he goes a day without this it's a miracle. His most recent bout started right after Christmas. He has awful diarrhea and sometimes throws up bile. | 4 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 100 | Pound |

| EON-558299 | 1/7/2024 19:01 | Purina Pro Plan large breed shredded chicken | Our 2 year old AKC registered and pedigreed Bernese Mountain dog got sick and passed away in less than 30 hours of being sick. December 9th (a Saturday), approx 4 am I let all of our dogs out to pee and also noted the Bernese produced stool. Later at 7 am I went down stairs to let them out again and feed them. At the time I thought there was urine on the floor, I thought it was odd since I let them all out 3 hours prior, but didn't think much more of it. We have a total of 3 dogs, all different breeds and ages. I fed all the dogs as usual that morning and all of the dogs ate their own food. the 2 smaller dogs get different food than the Bernese. 2 pm that same Saturday, My husband and I were watching TV when the Bernese was in living room and suddenly vomited brown fecal smelling stomach contents. This was a projectile vomit and large amounts of emesis was on the floor. The dog up to this point had not acted any differently. After this incident we let the dog outside. And again the dog is not acting differently. Later in the evening, we attempt to feed dogs again, now the Bernese is not eating his food. Approx 9 pm it was noted that he again had Emesis and loose stools. This happened 2 times in short period of time. In our rural area we are limited on emergency veterinary care especially in the pm hours. Our plan was to take dog to vet the next day if no improvement was made over night. The next morning the dog is very lethargic but still able to walk on own accord, with encouragement. At 11 am the dog walked down a flight of steps to laundry room where we were assessing him, feeling his stomach and thinking about if there was ANYTHING this dog got into. We came up empty handed. We called vet and after deciding options we were ready to take him to local vet for assessment. In the time that we were on phone with vet, his breathing became rapid and he was unable to hold his head up or have control of his tongue. We got him in back of car and he passed shortly before leaving driveway. This dog has been eating the same brand of food his whole life, starting with the Purina pro puppy formula but had graduated to the purina pro large breed food for more than a year. Also noted we have a fenced in back yard and had no access to any other dogs other than our other 2 that lived with us. | 2 | Years | Mountain Dog - Bernese | Dog | 85 | Pound |

| EON-558297 | 1/7/2024 19:00 | Purina Pro Plan bright minds 7+ | We purchased the bag at a local pet store. From the first feeding our dog didn't want to eat it even though this is the food we have always fed. He would sniff it and walk away and occasionally come back to take a few bites, but would over all shun it. He ate it for dinner one evening and and by that night he has explosive diarrhea. Two mornings later he ate the whole bowl and within 30 minutes was throwing up. He has only ever thrown up one other time in the 6 years we've had time. After his change in behavior about the food, and the symptoms after eating the food, I contacted Purina and gave them all information. They took all the numbers from the bag and I submitted photos as well. I still have this bag in case they wanted a sample to test, but have since bought a new bag and have had no issues. | 6 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 50 | Pound |

He would have diarrhea about once a day but within the last week to a week and a half, he has had nonstop constant diarrhea with no control of his stools. The diarrhea is very mucousy and severe. We recently took him to the vet to learn he has protein, wbc, and rbc, in his urine as well as very swollen lymph nodes in his abdomen. His fecal sample is currently being tested at an in depth external lab. He has also lost three pounds in this time. | 11 | Months | Mountain Dog - Bernese | Dog | 70 | Pound |

Dog has been fed almost exclusively pro plan dry food most of her life. Occasionally science diet. She had only had pro plan in 2023. The symptoms started in November 2023. Vomiting multiple times a day. She lost 15 lbs between November and December. We removed the dog food on 12/20/2023 and put her back on science diet. The vomiting has completely stopped, and she is starting to put some weight back on. | EON-558292 | 1/7/2024 19:00 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Variety Pack | Cat became violently ill after consuming this product. Cat had severe vomiting and diarrhea for 24 hours. Took the cat to the vet & was told that no medical issues seem to be the cause. Fed the cat the same food (a new can) & he became violently ill once again. Food was withheld until the vomiting & diarrhea resolved. The 3rd day cat was fed the same food (new can) & once again cat became very sick with vomiting & diarrhea. After waiting for symptoms to resolve, a different brand of cat food was given & cat has had no further sickness. There is clearly something very wrong with this cat food. | 10 | Years | Snowshoe | Cat | 12 | Pound |
| EON-558291 | 1/7/2024 19:00 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach for Large Breed Formula. (Name is also written in French.) | Opened a new bag of Purina Pro Plan, Sensitive Skin and Stomach (large breed) on 12/28/23. Ordered from Chewy.com. A few days later, our dog seemed lethargic, I thought maybe it was due to his canine influenza booster also given on 12/28. He also seem to have a bit of a cough. I even called the vet to discuss if the booster could be causing this and he said no. He also urinated much longer and more frequently than normal for at least several days. His blood test results at his annual physical in September were all normal. Most noticeably, when I opened the bag, the smell was disgusting. It smelled like rotten, salmon and cigarettes. It was so bad that I checked the expiration date on the back of the bag which I have never done before. We were out of food and so I put it in my dogs bowl and he ate it. A few days later, it went untouched until 3 PM. He ate it for approximately six days and has been more lethargic this week since starting this Purina dog food bag. After I learned that hundreds of others have experienced vomiting, diarrhea, elevated liver and kidney, leading to death, and others who have opened bags that smelled horrible, I immediately stopped feeding him the Purina pro plan and have switched to a different kibble. Comments I have read include that this did not happen right away, but after several weeks of eating the dog food. One person reports very high levels of metal as determined by the Kansas state vet lab. Based on the extremely nasty smell, this is not normal, and there is clearly something wrong with this food! I have notified Purina, and have not received a response, and have also spoken with Chewy, Call Center representative, who was opening up a ticket to investigate the batch of food. I do believe this warrants an immediate investigation to determine what is causing the death and illness of so many dogs and cats. Please help! Thank you! | 8 | Years | Retriever (unspecified) | Dog | 45 | Pound |
| EON-558290 | 1/7/2024 19:00 | Purina Pro Plan Salmon and Rice | I purchased a brand new bag of Purina Pro Plan Salmon and Rice dog food from Amazon. I opened the bag and fed a couple of scoops of food to my dog that evening. By morning he had gone diarrhea downstairs which he has never done before and vomited as well. I let him out and he vomited and had diarrhea again. He must have vomited at least 8-10 times that day and probably had diarrhea at least 6-8 times. This went on for 3 days straight and he was very lethargic until I took him to the vet to be evaluated. The vet did blood work, and Xrays. She also gave him anti nausea medication. The next day which was the 5th day he started to feel better. I really thought that I was going to lose him. | 6 | Years | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 125 | Pound |

Obtained PPP from Chewy.com and slowly introduced into diet being mixed with previous kibble. About one week into change, dog started having mild diarrhea. Once fully changed to Purina Pro Plan Beef/rice, diarrhea became more pronounced and sometimes very marked unable to hold. Continued for two weeks while feeding PPP. During the first week, added Pumpkin to diet to help firm stool with no success. Went into second week fully on PPP and diarrhea continued with no resolution in site. Suddenly in August 2023, he became very sick, didn't eat, drastic increase in thirst and very lethargic. We took him to the vet and discovered that he had a large mass on his liver which caused liver failure and his passing. We thought it was an isolated incident but less than 5 months later, our 6 year old female goldendoodle, (b) (6), who ate the same food, Purina One, became lethargic and stopped eating too. Her thirst drastically increased also. We took her to the vet and she had the same prognosis - liver failure. I can't help but think this isn't a coincidence. 2 dogs having to be put down within 5 months of each other. Different ages. Different breeds. Only thing consistent was the food and the end result - rapid onset and aggressive liver failure and having to be put down. And a devastated family. I paused Purina Pro Plan and fed her home cooked chicken and rice and her symptoms got better, and a week later I put her back on her standard Purina Pro Plan food, and unfortunately all her symptoms returned. | EON-558271 | 1/7/2024 18:56 | Purina Pro plan complete essentials adult dry dog food | (b) (6) was in perfect health prior to eating this dog food. She had been in to the vet and had her check up and was in good health. She began eating the Purina Pro health dog food, and 3 days later she was dead. On the third day we noticed she was lethargic and started throwing up. We took her in to the emergency vet a few hours later and they determined her body was in a state of shock such as they see if she had been hit by a car. Her body temperature was very low, and they had to do heat treatments for her. They also put her on an epinephrine drip to counteract the shock. After a few hours she seemed to be responding to the treatment and her outlook was getting better. Then her blood pressure began to increase, she had diarrhea and developed a cough. There was fluid in her body that they could not find the source to, and didn't have the resources at that time to try and locate. She began to pee and poop blood, and her lungs were filling up with more fluid which they also assumed was blood. We had to make the decision to at that time to put her down so she was no longer in pain. Our very first response when this began, was that it had to be from food. We tried to do some research, but nothing came up with the pro plan being an issue. Now we are seeing other reports of people having problems with this same food. If this food is the problem, please get this off of the market. Don't let anyone else go through this. | 12 | Years | Alaskan Malamute | Dog | 50 | Pound |
| EON-558270 | 1/7/2024 18:56 | Purina Pro Plan sensitive stomach | There were multiple bouts of unexplained bloody diarrhea and lethargy. We could not figure out the problem because we just moved due to my husband being active duty and we had a new duty station. On this station we were told the water was not safe with mixed reports. We gave our dogs store bought water just like we drink but there were mix ups and tap water was given twice in 8 months. We assumed the problem was the water, but never put together that the problem lasted for months while on Purina Pro Plan sensitive stomach, which we switched the dogs to because they're original food was not available on island. My service dog of 12 years eventually passed away (b) (6) from severe complications and the 2 year old pup kept having bloody stool and diarrhea. We have changed food after being notified of the possible connection and the problems have stopped. I am a military veteran with PTSD and my service dog is gone because I failed him, but the FDA and Purina failed me first! You knew and did nothing. I no longer live the life I did a few months ago due to my symptoms and I have no ability to just replace what is unreplaceable. (b) (6) was my rock, he helped me be a stay at home mother after my service. He helped me feel safe at night and know my children were safe. I now suffer greatly as does my whole family, but we must press on because he is gone. He was in perfect health before we moved save for his one back leg. | EON-558267 | 1/7/2024 18:56 | Purina Pro Plan complete Essential blend Beef and Rice Formula | I purchased a new bag of Purina Pro plan salmon for sensitive skin and stomachs for my dogs at the end of October 2023. On November 1st 2023 one of my dogs had pure bloody urine and was yellow with jaundice. We rushed her to her normal vet where they did lab work and began running tests. She was negative for UTI, kidney infection/stones, negative for leptospirosis, etc. They checked the health of all of her organs. Kidneys, liver, everything and everything was healthy and in good shape. Her condition continued to worsen and we took her in to an ER 11/1/23 at about 11pm. More tests were issued and we were asked by the Dr seeing our dog, (b) (6) if she had swallowed anything metal because her blood levels were high for metal and having metal toxicity could cause jaundice; to ensure she had not swallowed any metal we paid for a quick ultrasound at that ER and later paid for a more extensive and well rounded ultrasound that was done the next day at our normal vets office. 11/2/23 (b) (6) was kept at our normal vet for fluids and the second ultrasound. Ultrasound came back showing there were no obstructions or foreign bodies in her. When I picked (b) (6) up 11/2/23 around 6pm (that's when the vet closed) she could no longer walk, was completely yellow, and had trouble bending her front legs or keeping her head up. We rushed back to the first ER she was seen at and because they couldn't figure out what was going on or what could've caused this, they had us take her to an internal specialist ER. They did give her a pain injection of Methadone before we left there. Fast forward, and we're at the internal specialist ER where they've diagnosed her with IMHA but no idea what caused it. We didn't think to mention the metals in her blood because it had been a crazy few days and she was on the brink of dying at this point. They broke our hearts by telling us she didn't have good survival chances at this point and had us put money down for potential blood transfusions. We paid our girl (b) (6) another visit (even though she wasn't mentally with us anymore) and went him for the night around 11pm 11/2/23. (b) (6) at approx. 5:30am we got a call that it was time to make the decision to say goodbye to our sweet girl. She started have neurological issues and seizures before we were able to make it there to say goodbye. I spent weeks dumbfounded as to why my perfectly healthy dog ended up dying in a matter of days, until I ended up seeing similar cases from people using the SAME food bought around the same time. Since then, I've connected with others still having the same issue with Purina products. There's hundreds. I've tried reaching out to Purina with no luck with a response. Please take to heart what I'm telling you. I can provide (b) (6) bloodwork and labs from all three facilities she was seen by. | | | | | | |

| EON-558265 | 1/7/2024 18:56 | Purina One Plus healthy weight high protein | (b) (6) was always very healthy and active. I decided to change (b) (6) food to Purina One healthy weight on September 2023. A few weeks later she got up in the morning and was shaking her ears and head was tilting and she was in pain. So I took her to her vet on September 2nd and she took a look and treated her for double ear infections. After that she seemed a little better for a while but off and on I noticed her head tilting. Then on December 19th 2023 was awoken to (b) (6) in pain moving around the bed every minute couldn't get comfortable she would not eat or drink anymore and had a high fever. So I rushed her to the emergency vet in (b) (6). She cried out and yelped in pain as they checked her abdomen. She also is very dehydrated so they gave her a subcutaneous pack which they insert with a needle in their back. We went home and about 3 hours later she started to get a lot worse quickly. We then went to our veterinarian and when he checked her eye as it wasn't functioning properly he said sadly there's no response to light she's going to lose that eye if we don't go in and do an emergency surgery to save it. He said with the infection and the head tilting and pain they think it could possibly be a brain tumor which progressed very very quickly. So we sign the papers for the emergency surgery and it failed. The veterinarian kept her overnight and called me the next morning and said he was very concerned as the infection brain tumor went on to the right side the right eye and she would lose that eye also. He suggested a cat scan to look at brain tumor. The CAT scan could not be done until the next day as a mobile CAT scan unit would have to come up from (b) (6). With the high cost of the CAT scan in the condition of (b) (6) we had to make a horrible decision and she was suffering so much she could no longer move they tried to do it just X-ray and she just laid there no movement the pain in her head and her eyes was too much for her we could not bear it any longer. We made the awful horrible choice of putting her to sleep as she would not be able to make it until the next day anyway. I think it's related to the Purina dog food as she was perfectly fine before I started her on that food and then recently reading the stories of other customers saying the same exact thing I think it's totally related to the dog food. | 6 | Years | Poodle - Standard | Dog | 47 | Pound |
| EON-558219 | 1/6/2024 15:04 | Purina Pro Plan Adult (Shredded Chicken and Rice) | I understand there are some concerns about some of the Purina Pro Plan dog foods in recent months causing illnesses in dogs. I am submitting this information not because I want to "pile on", but if there really is something to this, I want to make sure the situation I have had recently with my dog (b) (6) is documented. (b) (6) is a purebred Miniature Schnauzer, born Oct. 2022. I received him from the breeder when he was ten weeks old (January 2023). He is from a very reputable breeder who shows in AKC confirmation, is an AKC Breeder of Merit, is a member of the AKC parent club (American Miniature Schnauzer Club) and is a huge proponent of Purina Pro Plan foods. She had been feeding him Purina Pro Plan Puppy (Shredded Chicken and Rice), so I kept him on that food throughout his puppyhood. I should also probably mention that I am active in dog sports (agility, barn hunt, dock diving, fastCAT) so knowledge of canine nutrition, health, and safety is of greater concern for me than maybe an "average pet owner", and I am also a member of the American Miniature Schnauzer Club. When (b) (6) was about 11 months old, around late September 2023, I started to switch him over to Purina Pro Plan Adult (Shredded Chicken and Rice). About three weeks later, on October 14, 2023, he inexplicably experienced his first cluster seizures and spent the weekend at an emergency vet so they could stop the seizures. Our vet started him on anti-convulsant medication (zonisamide) immediately, and (b) (6) continued to eat the Purina Pro Plan Adult food. And of course, I spoke with the breeder at length about any history of epilepsy in his pedigree lines, and she was not aware of any history of epilepsy in those dogs. Two weeks later (Nov. 3, 2023) he experienced breakthrough cluster seizures despite having been on anti-convulsant medication and spent another entire weekend at an emergency vet trying to control the seizures. Our vet referred us to a neurologist that we saw about two weeks later where (b) (6) received a complete exam including MRI and spinal tap to rule out anything specific going on with his neurological system; all tests were negative. The neurologist changed his anti-convulsant medication to phenobarbital; our vet agreed with the medication change. Right around that same time, I came to the realization that (b) (6) seizures had all started soon after we had changed him to the Purina Pro Plan Adult food, and I immediately ceased feeding him that food. | 1 | Years | Schnauzer - Miniature | Dog | 20 | Pound |

| | | | He has not had the food since then. He also has had no breakthrough seizures since that last incident in early November. In December, another dog breeder friend told me about some of the online reports about Purina Pro Plan foods causing seizures in some dogs, because she knew of my situation with (b) (6) from the previous months. I understand it may be coincidental, and it may be because of his medication change, but the fact that his seizures stopped entirely since hasn't had the Pro Plan food anymore is certainly of interest. Again, I want to emphasize that I am not doing anything to bash the Purina Pro Plan product online, or "pile on" with complaints you may have already received, but I thought it is important that my case be documented in the event there is truly a problem with the product. Unfortunately, I did not keep food nor the bag and cannot provide specific lot information. We do not plan to discontinue (b) (6) anti-convulsant medication at this time, however, if he is seizure-free for a year or two we may try discontinuing the medication to see if the seizures recur. I am also no longer feeding him Purina foods out of an abundance of caution. | | | | | | |
| EON-558218 | 1/6/2024 15:04 | Purina Pro plan sensitive stomach | My local (b) (6) stopped carrying the brand of freeze dried kibble I use, so I purchased a bag of Purina Pro plan sensitive stomach as many other IS owners I know gave it good reports. I gave it to my pup mixed with what was left of her raw food in the evening and the next day she had the runs. As the day progressed she became lethargic and started throwing up. At first I did not connect the food to the issue and continued to feed it to her for a couple of days. She got worse, sleeping and lethargic, running stools, throwing up, did not have energy for anything but laying down. I took her off the food and switched her back to freeze dried raw and her health has been improving and she is getting back to normal. | 11 | Years | Setter - Irish Red | Dog | 56 | Pound |

We thought it. While odd, we convinced him to eat some. After a couple days of being hesitant to eat he stopped eating completely. We gave it a couple days, thinking he may be ill. He acted fine other than not wanting to eat. Then he started to have rear end weakness. I made a vet appt for both issues, not eating and the weakness. At first they thought it was arthritis pain causing the issues. He was put on gabapentin and nausea meds. The following day (b) (6) eye started shifting back and forth and he lost coordination in his back end. We returned to the vet. He was diagnosed with vestibular disease. We started treatment. He refused to eat, was weak, had diarrhea, slept a lot, couldn't get his balance etc. We bribed him to eat the food the vet gave us, but it was short lived. He continued to go downhill and sadly had to be put to sleep on (b) (6). | 12 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 75 | Pound |

Best by date of May 2025 the printed code of 11084 0451L01. They started getting sick, vomiting, diarrhea, laying around. They acted like they didn't want to eat but when they did it was that dog food. After a couple of days of them being sick, I quit giving them dog food and made them chicken and rice to put them on a bland diet. After a couple days they stopped throwing up and I was only feeding them chicken and rice so I started giving them a little Purina dog food. Then they started getting sick again the same day they ate their dog food. So I took it away from them and made them more chicken and rice because I believe the dog food is making them sick and I'm throwing it away. I won't be buying Purina Dog food again!!! My dogs are my furbabies, they're not just dogs to me. I'm always with my dogs so I know for a fact that they haven't gotten into trash or anything else that would make them sick. (b) (6) is my 4 yr old Basset Hound and (b) (6) is my 8 yr old Pomeranian, the drop down box didn't give me that option. I don't know what kind of basset he is, I just know he's a basset. | EON-558211 | 1/6/2024 14:36 | I do not have the following information however I made reports to Purina with the bag information. | As a consumer, I have bought and used Purina for years. I currently have 4 doodles that I was feeding Purina Pro Plan to them until all 4 became deathly ill with vomit and diarrhea. I took my dogs to the vet spending hundreds of dollars in attempt to get my dogs well. I continued to feed Purina Pro Plan. After my dogs continued to be sick, I knew it had to be the food. I changed their food to Purina One however I continued to feed the remaining Purina Pro Plan to the strays outside, so they wouldn't go hungry. Once the food was almost gone, I found mold in the bag of Purina Pro Plan. My dogs were doing great on Purina One until months later, my dogs were sick again with vomit and diarrhea. I stopped the food immediately and I began looking for the problem and once again I found mold in the bag. As a consumer, I will never purchase Purina products again. I value my dogs health and I can not take the risk of my dogs health and lives. | | | | | | |

| EON-558206 | 1/6/2024 14:36 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Adult with Probiotics Lamb and Oat Meal Formula High Protein Dry Dog Food 24-lb bag. | On December 23 I ran out of my kibble. Chewy had sent me a bag of Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Adult with Probiotics Lamb and Oat Meal Formula High Protein Dry Dog Food, 24-lb bag. My both dogs had been on this before. So I decided I would give them this kibble as everything is so hectic during the holidays. At any rate they each had one bowl that night, the next day they had both morning and night. My 3 year old (b) (6) then pooped in the house on the evening of Dec. 23. he doesn't normally do that. On the morning of December 24th he was passing loose stool, like soft serve ice cream. On Christmas Day I decided to give him just rice and chicken. He did not have a bowel movement all Christmas Day, Dec. 25. On the morning of December 26, his first bowel movement before food, was bloody and shapeless. I called the my Vet. because I was concerned, they were closed and referred me to their sister office, I was told by them to bring in a stool sample. (b) (6) at that point was squatting in the yard, with I presumed the sense of urgency to defecate. He was however energetic and I brought him in within the next 45 minutes he went from a playful dog to hemorrhaging and crashing. We were fortunate enough to have an emergency Vet close by and carried him to the car. He came to but was weak, by the time I reached the vet we had him walk in, which he stood by the front desk and again crashed to the floor and blood was pouring from his rectum. The Vets and the team reacted immediately, carried him in and said he was going into shock. He was severely dehydrated from the amount of blood and diarrhea he was passing. If I had waited any longer he would have died. | 3 | Years | Collie - Bearded | Dog | 67 | Pound |

| EON-558200 | 1/6/2024 14:36 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Stomach and Skin Salmon and rice formula | First, it started off as bladder accidents. He is trained fully to go outside but for some reason started having accidents inside. We took him to the vet, they prescribed antibiotics just in case it was something related to a bladder issue even though he's a healthy 2 year old. Then, out of nowhere, his poop turned into diarrhea and turned almost neon orange. He had diarrhea and was also constipated, struggling to get anything out. When something did come out it was liquid and orange. He threw up every day. Our vet had no idea what it was. We took him off of Purina pro plan and fed him chicken and rice for the first 2 weeks during his recovery. We had to give him medicine every 4 hours and a supplement for his dehydration. After two weeks on chicks. And rice, we switched to hills science diet. He has made an almost complete recovery. | 2 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 51 | Pound |
| EON-558199 | 1/6/2024 14:36 | Purina ProPlan Under one Year for Puppies Chicken and Rice Formula | A few days after starting a new bag of Purina ProPlan 75 lb bag food for puppies my dog started having severe diarrhea. His behind ended up getting so swollen that he could no longer sit and he was crying constantly. I took him to the vet and they said it had to be something he ate that upset his bowels so much. After taking him off of the food I noticed his diarrhea subsided and his behind is starting to heal up. He is slowly recovering. | 7 | Months | Collie - Border | Dog | 35 | Pound |
| EON-558198 | 1/6/2024 14:36 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Complete Essentials Shredded Blend/Salmon & Rice Formula | Diarrhea started one day after starting new bag of food. Dog was having liquid poops and needing to urgently run outside nearly every hour for almost 24 hours. The following day she was only needing outside every four hours. We switched to a plain chicken and white rice diet after speaking to her vet's office on the second day when her stool had blood. She improved, and after a days of improvement, we tried the food again and she started having diarrhea again almost immediately. We will not be feeding her this food anymore, but wanted to report to prevent other dogs from getting sick. She is a young healthy dog, I am concerned an older dog with a weaker immune system would not have survived how severe the diarrhea was for (b) (6). She has been lethargic but is on the mend now that we have stopped feeding her the Purina Pro Plan. | 2 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 55 | Pound |

Immediately after giving him food from the new bag of Purina, he began to show symptoms. He was taken to the vet and had to undergo x-rays to determine the cause. Additionally he required intravenous fluids due to the severe dehydration caused by the vomiting and bloody stools. We were given medications to prevent consistent vomiting and bloody stool (estimated 13 times per day for over a week) and given prescription food. Illness has continued to effect them for over a week. Fecal samples of two cats had negative results. Vet could not definitively say food was cause but advised it could be a factor and that any changes in formulation or source products could cause colitis. From owner perspective, food is common denominator as bag had just been opened prior to issues beginning. Animals have been treated with probiotics and anti-diarrheal. One cat (b) (6) was taken to vet, as he exhibited acute symptoms, and is currently being treated with antibiotics and was given fluids and steroid shot at the vet's office. | EON-558178 | 1/6/2024 14:33 | Purina One Plus Sensitive Skin & Stomach | When we needed to replace our cat, (b) (6), food stock, our local store was out of his regular brand of kibble, so we purchased Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Stomach & Skin cat food kibble at the end of December 2023. (b) (6) had eaten this food on and off in the past, but not in the 4 months prior to December 2023. Immediately after his first feeding with the Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Stomach & Skin, (b) (6) vomited. He vomited a total of 4 times that day and ate only once. This continued every day for three days with vomiting multiple times a day. I found our preferred brand of wet food, removed the kibble (I assumed he was gorging and overeating) and gave him the wet food. He did not vomit eating the wet food of a different brand. Today I reintroduced the Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Stomach & Skin kibble and he again immediately vomited and is lethargic with loud stomach sounds. This is surprising as we have fed him Purina Pro Plan kibble on and off for many years without issue, but this recent feeding seems to be making him incredibly sick. It seems like something is going on with this batch of feed and should be looked into. | 11 | Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | | |

He then continued vomiting over the next hour, it smelled like feces so we were concerned about a blockage and took him to the emergency vet. They did not detect a blockage and ruled out pancreatitis, he was diagnosed with gastritis. We had him on boiled chicken and rice for 3 days with no issues but then the day we started to slowly reintroduce the Purina Pro Plan, the vomiting returned along with diarrhea. The diarrhea was happening every few hours so we returned to the vet the next day where they ran tests for parasites which came back negative. They recommended we stop the Purina Pro Plan, return to the chicken and rice, and gave him some probiotics to "reset" his digestive tract. After a day or so, he stopped vomiting and his bowel movements slowly started returning to normal | 3 | Years | Boxer (German Boxer) | Dog | 60 | Pound |

| EON-558171 | 1/6/2024 14:32 | Purina One Tender Selects Blend | I have fed (b) (6) dry Purina for sensitive tummy since we got him with occasional wet food from Blue. We stopped feeding him wet food about a year ago, so he was only eating dry Purina. About two weeks ago I opened a new bag of Purina Sensitive Tummy and (b) (6) threw it up 5 times in one day. I saw some reports online of Purina making cats sick, so I took all the dry food away and cleaned it all up off the floor so he wouldn't have access to it (b) (6) was still active and very hungry, but looked like he was stressed from throwing up so much, so I didn't think he had an infection or anything like that. Since we had some unexpired Blue wet cat food left, I fed him that for a few days to see if he was sick or if it was the cat food. He had no problem eating the wet food and begged for it immediately when I saw me get it out after he threw up. After a few days, I got a bag of dry Meow Mix for hairball control from the store and now give him the dry Meow Mix and Blue wet food in combination. He has not thrown up since I stopped feeding him the Purina. He is very healthy and active, and doesn't look sick at all anymore. When I had opened this bag of Purina (tender selects) I noticed the kibble bits were a lot darker than the last bag. I don't know if that has anything to do with cats getting sick from it or not, but I would probably look into that if I were Purina. I still have the bag of cat food that made (b) (6) sick if it needs to be sent in for testing. I'm very willing to send it somewhere, but I don't have the money for it. You can contact me through email or texting, but my phone doesn't receive voicemails right now | 5 | Years | Bombay | Cat | 11 | Pound |

Our dog was refusing to eat, losing weight. Upon inspection of his food it appeared to have white specs in it. When I took a picture of it and zoomed in, I realized the dog food had several worms! We immediately threw out the dog food, all containers, his bowls and anything that the dog food touched. We then bought another bag of Purina One chicken and rice smart blend 40lb bag from Target, new dog bowls, new plastic storage container and left the dog food in the bag in the container sealed. Our dog ate the food for 2 days and then the same behavior of not feeling well and refusing to eat. I took another picture of the food when I saw the white specs again and zoomed in and it had the same worms as before! We threw everything out again and this time bought a different brand of dog food and have not had any issues with the new brand. | 1 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 47 | Pound |

My female cat passed away with Skin cancer and I was feeding her Proplan (Purina). Within 3 months my 10 year old Male kitty passed away suddenly (with no diagnosis) he just stopped eating and was gone within 2 months of my first Kitty passing away. It was all shocking since he was healthy. It's recently I have been doubting the food I was feeding. They were eating Proplan. I discussed it with the store as well . I mentioned it to Chewy website as well. That the good did not look well. Or smell well. | 10 | Years | Siamese | Cat | 11 | Pound |

| EON-558155 | 1/6/2024 14:28 | Taste of the Wild High Prairie Canine Recipe with Bison in Gravy | In November 2023, I took my dog, (b) (6) to the veterinarian because of a persistent dry cough. The doctor diagnosed (b) (6) with T-Cell Lymphoma and said he also had a large tumor in his chest. Per the veterinarian's instructions, I gave (b) (6) 40 mg of prednisone daily. The dosage was decreased to 20 mg daily after approximately one month. On December 29, (b) (6) became very ill and vomited several times. He would not eat or drink. By 5:00 AM on December 31, (b) (6) could hardly walk, and I took him to the veterinarian, where he was euthanized. On January 3, 2024, I learned that the food I had fed (b) (6) for his entire time with me (four and a half years), "Taste of the Wild High Prairie," (kibbles and canned food) had been found during a prior lawsuit against its manufacturer, Diamond Pet, to contain harmful levels of the following carcinogens: 255 micrograms per kilogram of arsenic 258 micrograms per kilogram of BPA 54.2 micrograms per kilogram of cadmium 30.9 micrograms per kilogram of mercury 399.2 micrograms per kilogram of lead 38.92 micrograms per kilogram of pesticide 172.9 micrograms per kilogram of acrylamide I obtained the above figures from a news story by Isabella Hernandez at lifefalcon.com. I reported my concerns directly to Diamond Pet and was told that they cannot control the amount of carcinogens in their products since those substances are present in the environment. Here is part of their response: "Sadly environmental contaminants are present in the foods we eat because they are in the soil, water, or air where foods are grown, raised, or processed. The ingredients that we use in pet food manufacturing are exposed to these same contaminants. All 6 of our manufacturing plants are located here in the US." | | | | I have since learned that two of my friends' dogs, one a very young Golden Retriever and the other an old German Shepherd, also died from cancer after eating "Taste of the Wild" dog food. I notified the veterinarians who treated my dog that this problem exists, and I also started a petition at change.org to pressure Diamond Pet to either cease selling this brand or provide warning labels on all products that contain significant levels of known carcinogens. | EON-558154 | 1/6/2024 14:28 | Purina Pro Plan Puppy Lamb and Rice | After feeding my puppy Purina Pro Plan Puppy Lamb and Rice for a few days, I noticed little brown worms as well as small black bugs crawling in the food. It was being stored in a new, deep cleaned vacuum sealed container so the bugs have had to have come from within the bag of food. I contacted Purina that day to let them know about the bugs. The next day my puppy began vomiting, had loose stools, was lethargic and had no appetite. I had to take him to the vet for X-rays (unremarkable for blockages or ingestion of foreign bodies). He was given fluids, nausea medicine and prescription food which cost me hundreds of dollars. | 11 | Weeks | Other Canine/dog | Dog | 13 | Pound |
| EON-558153 | 1/6/2024 14:28 | Purina Pro Plan Under 2 Chicken Large Breed | I wanted to make you aware of an issue we have pin pointed to your Purina Pro Plan Under 2 Chicken food, which was recently purchased. I have been feeding Purina Pro chicken to my dog for the last year (he is almost 2) and we have never had issues and have been generally happy with the product. Last month, we purchased a new bag of food (Purina Pro Chicken Under 2) and without any other changes in my dog's environment, food, or other factors, he started becoming lethetic, weak, disassociated, wouldn't eat, and started breaking out in severe hives. We had to take him to the vet multiple times as his hives became extremely severe to where we had to give him multiple steroid shots and steroids. We got him allergy tested and there was nothing in our environment that would cause the issues. We took him off the Purina Pro plan and he immediately stopped having the hives and starting becoming less weak and lethargic. We have reintroduced everything back except for the Purina Pro food and he is completely normal other than sleeps more than he used to (a few hours a day more). Our vet recently told us they have seen multiple other dogs have similar issues, who are all eating Purina Pro food, and they have recommended those dogs change food, as well. | 1.5 | Years | Boxer (German Boxer) | Dog | 50 | Pound |

MY oldest dog just a few months ago, stopped eating, drinking, and was very ill. She was hospitalized with kidney failure for 3 days. After fluids, and fasting for 3 days, her numbers went back to normal. I was sent home and was told that she could go back to her normal diet. Well she was eating Purina pro plan for a week and the same thing happened again. She was again hospitalized with fluids again and sent home again, except this time, I started feeding homemade food. We are a month in now on her fresh diet and her numbers have improved. Purina Pro Plan was slowly killing my dog. MY other dog that is 4 has has gastritis and had to put him on prolactin and bland diet a few days, every time I returned to the Purina Pro Plan, the issues started right back over. | EON-558138 | 1/6/2024 13:52 | Purina pro plan sensitive stomach | Our Lab was on Purina Pro Plan for years, we switched him over to Nutrisource, and in August 2023 we came back to Purina Pro Plan sensitive stomach. (b) (6) was doing well until I purchased his new bag of food in September. September 5 he started vomiting and having bouts of diarrhea. We took him to the vet where he needed IV fluids for dehydration and we were sent home. Put him on a rice and chicken diet for 5 days and gradually added Purina back into his diet. He was not really wa it g to eat the dog food, but we kept enticing him with chicken and broth over it. A couple of weeks went by, he was still not really eating a lot and started having vomiting and diarrhea again. Back to the Emergency vet where he again needed fluids and was started on a few meds. He also had labwork which showed elevated liver enzymes, it showed inflammation, he had X-rays and ultrasound where they said his intestines were swollen. They didn't see any obstructions. Sent us home with meds and again back to chicken/rice for a few days, slowly added Purina back into diet. Told back to vet for recheck. Had more labwork, his liver enzymes came back to normal from using Denamarin. Another couple of weeks with not really eating a bunch, still mixing chicken in with food to entice him to eat. He became more and more lethargic. More bouts of vomiting and diarrhea, more meds were given. Another set of blood work and X-rays were done. Still showed swelling in intestines. No blockages seen once again. Vet said the only other thing we could do was to send him to a different emergency vet for a better ultrasound for another $900 to see if they could find anything more or exploratory surgery which we declined. Brought him back home. Had a few okay days, still on meds and steroids. He took a turn for the worse on 12/3 and on (b) (6) (3 months of this issue) we had to put our beloved (b) (6) down. He was continually vomiting and refused to eat any food. He went from 120 pounds down to 98 pounds. During those 3 months he wanted to eat but refused to eat plain Purina food. He would beg for food but didn't want much dog food and th last week he struggled to get up and even want to eat anything but popsicles. I know it was the Purina food we were feeding him. Something is really wrong with this food. I've been in contact with numerous people all who have gone through the same thing and have had their pets euthanized with the same symptoms. This needs investigated. Our poor boy suffered. He used to love his dog food and when he was putting his nose up at it I should have never continued to give this to him. Purina needs investigated. I spent thousands of dollars trying to save my dog and it could have been prevented and my baby could still be here today. I checked for any recalls with Purina, asked the vets and nobody had any answers for me and I found nothing online until last week. | 6 | Years | Other Canine/dog | Dog | 98 | Pound |

They kept her overnight. Gave her fluids and meds (B12 and steroids) & sent her home. She was good for a few days. I called them again when she wasn't better and they ran more bloodwork and stool samples. Only found elevated white blood cell count again and elevated kidney/jaundice markers. We checked for thyroid and diabetes as well. No DX. They sent us home with meds (probiotics and liquid steroid). We changed her food to raw source only and non gmo/gluten/chicken foods bc those seemed to make her vomit more often. When she didn't improve, I sought a local cat specialist. They did an ultrasound and found nothing. Bloodwork remained to show the same numbers and even higher white blood cell count. Setup weekly B12 and fluid appointments at that point. 12/27/23 we had to make the decision to euthanize her. She was so malnourished and dehydrated from everything and nothing was working. She was beginning to die and we were afraid of her passing away in the house alone (while we were at work). Our other affected animals recovered after a few weeks of fresh/raw foods and probiotics. (b) (6) developed Inflammatory Bowel Disease and malnourishment complications that she never recovered from. | EON-558012 | 1/5/2024 9:04 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Chicken & Rice 47 LB | I fed (b) (6) around 2:00pm on (b) (6). We left the home for approximately 3 hours. When we got home he had thrown up and was acting sort of out of it. His head was hanging low and was laying in a spot he never lays in. We took him out to go to the bathroom. He urinated then collapsed. His breathing was very shallow. We brought him in. During the night his body basically shut down. He lost all muscle control. We made the decision to euthanize him. I understand there are hundreds of dogs that have died in the month of 12/23 after eating Purina Pro Plan. | 10 | Years | Boxer (German Boxer) | Dog | 72 | Pound |

| EON-558010 | 1/5/2024 9:00 | Purina ONE True Instinct with A Blend Of Real Turkey and Venison Dry Dog Food | I have two pit bull female dogs aged 3 and 8 years old. They both began to occasionally throw up. One dog didn't get as sick but my younger dog began to vomit daily. The veterinarian was unable to find anything wrong and prescribed some medication that helped for a few days. Nothing has changed that would cause them to be ill. One dog continues to be sick and has developed diarrhea. While the other, older dog continues to get sick intermittently. We have stopped feeding them dog food but recovery has been slow. | 3 | Years | Pit Bull | Dog | 50 | Pound |

| EON-558007 | 1/5/2024 8:56 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Turkey and Rice Formula | After opening and feeding our dogs a new bag of Purina Pro Plan, our male Goldendoodle began being extra tired. Always laying down, wanting to sleep. He does still get excited for things like a walk or if he hears a dog barking outside, but he is usually laying down looking uninterested in everything. He also threw up his entire meal on two different occasions after about 20-30 minutes of eating. He has a vet appointment on Monday to see if there is anything we can do for him. | 5 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 70 | Pound |
| EON-558006 | 1/5/2024 8:56 | Hill's Science Diet Adult Chicken & Barley Recipe Dry Dog Food 35 lbs. | I am writing to report a contagion in one of the lots of Hill's Science Diet Adult Chicken & Barley Recipe Dry Dog Food. My dog has been eating this same food with no problem for about 4.5 years. Last week, I bought a new bag of the food (35lb) and within about 18 hours of starting him on that bag, my dog developed a complete inability to control his digestive system. He was defecating and vomiting both suddenly and violently. There was a small amount of blood in his stool. After 3 days of the symptoms persisting, I realized that the only explanation was the new bag of dog food. I returned the bag and bought a new bag, making sure to buy a different lot number. His symptoms lessened after about 24 hours, and within 48 hours, he was completely back to normal. The ONLY changes we made during that entire week were the single bag of dog food. We did not introduce him to any new treats, toys, people, other dogs, new locations, or any other kinds of food. I have included a photo of the barcode and what I'm hoping is the lot number - which I think is R1682343. I have submitted this report to Hill's as well, to ensure that they are aware, and I have informed them that I will be submitting this report. | 5 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 63 | Pound |

| EON-558003 | 1/5/2024 8:52 | Purina ProPlan adult complete essentials chicken and rice formula | My dog began throwing up and had loose stool and continued to have issues with stool and displayed signs of extreme lethargy and refusal to eat on and off for about a week. I decided to feed him boiled chicken and rice as it is easier to digest and wanted to figure out wherever the issue was his food. He has returned to eating Purina Pro Plan for the past two days and seems to be experiencing discomfort (lethargy, stomach noises) so I have decided to change his food. I saw online that other animals have been experiencing similar issues so I felt it was appropriate to report so this, or worse, does not happen to other pets. | 9 | Years | Boxer (German Boxer) | Dog | 75 | Pound |

He went from being a happy, energetic, healthy puppy to being ill very fast. He became very fatigued, lethargic, food adverse (refusing to eat), vomiting, diarrhea, coat changes including losing hair (much more than typical shedding), constant crying, and loss in weight (lost 10 pounds down to 60lbs from 70lbs). He has been to the vet for a check and follow up testing. | 1.25 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 70 | Pound |

| EON-557999 | 1/5/2024 8:52 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Salmon & Rice Formula | We received a bag of Purina Pro Plan Complete Adult dog food, specifically the Salmon version, from Chewy.com on September 8th, 2023. A week or so later our male weim, (b) (6) began turning his nose up at the food, avoiding eating it at all costs but acting starving for other foods (such as treats, table scraps, etc). A week or so after the behavior with the food (roughly two weeks after the opening/use of this dog food), (b) (6) began to show signs of not feeling well. He had increased thirst, increased urgency in urination, and was more lethargic than normal. We took him to the vet on 11/4, where they did some initial blood work and exam. It was during this visit that they found fluid in his abdomen and elevated kidney levels. We continued to run tests after these initial tests to attempt to determine a cause, but it was presumed a potential kidney infection and antibiotics were administered accordingly over the course of the next 30 days. No cause could be found. Testing was conducted after the completion of the antibiotics and while levels had slightly improved, they were still not good. During this 30 day time period, we switched both of our dogs off of the Purina Pro Plan food in an attempt to get (b) (6) to eat more as he was still refusing to eat the plain Purina dog food, as well as to provide a healthier, lower sodium food option to assist with the kidney issues (b) (6) was having. Following the complete removal of this food, much of (b) (6) behavior had improved and he was eating like normal again. We did additional, more in depth/broad testing on 12/26/2023 to hopefully find a cause of the kidney issues. It was during this testing that (b) (6) levels were found to be slightly improved/stable and the fluid in his abdomen was almost completely gone. One of the tests conducted on this day found that (b) (6) had an aggressive form of E coli, which is likely to have been causing his issues/kidney damage up to this point. Given the onset of symptoms coincided so precisely with this new bag of dog food, we have reason to believe the E Coli was contracted from here. We do still have some of the dog food, but we unfortunately do not have the bag it came in, so we do not know the UPC/lot number of this food. According to Chewy, they do not track this level of detail when shipments are sent out. | 5 | Years | Weimaraner | Dog | 60 | Pound |

As I was in the feed aisle, it was observed that the feed bags had grain mites crawling on them. I proceeded to inspect the surrounding area and also noticed the infestation spread to the horse feed as well. I immediately informed a staff member and they as well confirmed that the bags had grain mites crawling on them. This is the second time since September since my first observation that this location had this problem. At that time, the district manager had informed me that he was taking steps to resolve the issue. I had not followed up since I made contact with Tractor Supply at that time. | | | | | | |
| EON-557997 | 1/5/2024 8:48 | Purina ONE High Instinct Protein True Instinct with real beef and salmon dry dog food | Due to the recall of Victor pet food, we were forced to find an alternative, and chose Purina One High Instinct Protein True Instinct w/ real beef and salmon. This product was recommended to us from Chewy.com where we order from because it was the food that was most similar to what we fed them with Victor. We began transitioning them slowly based on recommendations from our veterinarian to avoid GI issues. Roughly three weeks into this transition, our youngest boy, (b) (6) experienced a seizure in the early morning. Rushed him to the ER and was told based on the fact this was his first one, we would monitor him. Two hours later he had a second one that was nearly 3 minutes long and violent. He was hospitalized and put on phenobarbital for the remainder of his life. Tested negative for toxins and drugs. The only change in his day-to-day was this food which I came to find later on has given many people issues. | 1.5 | Years | Shepherd Dog - Australian | Dog | 58 | Pound |

| EON-557995 | 1/5/2024 8:48 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Complete Essentials Lamb and Rice | Our healthy dog began having diarrhea and puking over the course of 3 days the week before Christmas. We had to let her outside every hour because she has runny diarrhea and was in pain. On day 3, we called the veterinarian who instructed us to give her Imodium. She puked this up and continued to have diarrhea. On day 5, I called the veterinarian and scheduled an appointment for the following day. On day 6, we go to the appointment and she is extremely dehydrated and hadn't eaten anything for 3 days and barely drank water. They ran multiple tests and could see her stomach lining was showing as extremely irritated but nothing was inside. We agreed to allow them to cut her open, thinking there might be something stuck inside. They didn't find anything, kept her overnight on fluids, and continued to give her medicine. Thankfully she did recover. However, the veterinarian didn't have a clear answer on what this was. Her diet was the same, we had been feeding her Purina Pro Plan over the last 5 years. While our female dog was staying overnight, our other corgi began to experience the same symptoms (puking and diarrhea). I ordered the same medication from our veterinarian and his cleared up in a few days. I saw on a Facebook group, that a large number of pet owners who fed Purina Pro Plan had dog's that experienced the same symptoms and were not able to get answers from their vet. We quit feeding this brand and they are both back to normal. There needs to be a recall on this, so that more dogs don't continue to get sick. I wouldn't wish it on anyone' | 5 | Years | Corgi - Welsh Pembroke | Dog | 25 | Pound |

Took to vet and thought may be kidney stones but no evidence. Changed to another brand with no issues. 6 months ago moved back to Origen six fish not suspecting it was food related and the dog began passing blood in urine. This continued to worsen and returned to vet for significant treatment. No known cause. Changed food to Science hill while recovering for several weeks and had no issues. Ran out of Science Hill and fed one serving of Origen Six Fish and he immediately began passing blood. Stopped feeding Origen and Acana six fish / Ocean blend and he has had no issues since. Hearing others have had the same issues. I am a former K9 officer and fed Origen for years with no issues until now after another company bought them and changed formulas. After arriving at the emergency animal hospital she began to have straight blood diarrhea, and blood vomit for hours. All tests for virus and her X-rays came back negative/normal. She remained there for 24hrs receiving treatment/care. On November 8th 2023 I had to take my other dog to the emergency vet hospital after she started showing the same symptoms. Both of my dog are under the age of 3yrs and have no underlying health issue. At the time the emergency vet and my own vet couldn't figure out what was wrong with them or what had caused these severe symptoms/reactions. From August 2023-October 2023, she was experiencing severe GI upset including on and off explosive diarrhea and occasional vomiting, from 2 different bags of Pro Plan purchased from different stores. I had fecal tests done (negative results), started her on several rounds of Metronidazole, mixed in gastro food to her meals, and limited chews as I had no idea it was the kibble making her sick. She would get better temporarily and then symptoms would return, starting another round of meds and gastro food. At the same time, my other dog started exhibiting similar symptoms which made me eventually realize it was the Pro Plan making them sick. I stopped PPP cold turkey and their GI symptoms immediately remitted and haven't reoccurred for over 2 months. I threw away all of the food, and contacted PetMeds who refunded me for one of the bags. Then one night, she began throwing up and having diarrhea. She became extremely lethargic so we took her to the emergency vet the next afternoon. They checked vitals, ran bloodwork, and had to do an abdominal x-ray to make sure there was no intestinal blockage. She had to have pain meds, probiotics, and special gastroenteritis food, following a very specific protocol. When she did not improve we had to go back to the emergency vet to run more tests. She had diarrhea for 4 days straight and became extremely dehydrated. She threw up the product and the vet confirmed the product was not able to be digested by an 8.2 lb dog, even though the package said 8-22lbs could have two sticks per day (I gave her much less). | EON-557682 | 1/1/2024 19:32 | Farmina N&D Tropical Selection Farmina Digestion | I want to report that Famina dog foods made in Serbia have been getting dogs sick, with vomiting and diarrhea. It has been occuring across food types; e.g., N&D Tropical Selection, Digestive, and so forth. My dog got sick from a sample handed out at a local dog park by a promo rep. My bag was stamped: SRB RS-34-008 L 23 208 27/01/2025 MADE IN SERBIA. One person has been feeding her dog for a few years with no problems. She had to take her dog to the emergency vet clinic, where she was diagnosed with pancreatitis as a result of the food. The dog was put on IV fluids due to dehydration, unable to swallow due to raw throat from vomiting. She was in the hospital for a couple of days. After her system was returning to normal, the person decided to gradually add the Farmina food back into her diet. The dog immediately started getting sick again. It was no question that it was the MADE IN SERBIA food was the problem. The person subsequently returned the food to the store for a refund. When that person initially took her dog to the emergency vet, another lady was there with her dog having the same symptoms. That lady was also using Farmina dog food that was made in Serbia. We have been hearing of other instances of this problem with the same brand and made in Serbia. People using Farmina products that were not Serbian made reported no problems. "I have been feeding Farmina (lamb/digestive) to our 2 dogs for years. One has been having some gastric upset & occasional am vomiting for past several months. (We thought he had GERD) Recently noticed kibble color changed & smaller size no longer available. We changed food to Honest Kitchen & all is well. I just checked what's left of our bag & it was made in Serbia. My dog has been doing great on new food" Although I am in (b) (6), I feel confident to say that this is likely to be global, and not just to my area. I could not find this cat food anywhere at the PetSmart stores in the (b) (6) area. I decided sticking with a Petsmart brand (Simply Nourish indoor Hairball control) while I looked for their favorite food would be the best option. I followed the recommended directions for Simply Nourish Hairball Control by mixing very small amts with the Authority Hairball control. My cats loved the food BUT started having more throw up episodes than usual. Within days of trvna/having to supplement because of the shortage, my cat (b) (6) died. It was the (b) (6), I had only started supplementing on 12/20. My poor housesitter found her. I left for a short holiday trip on 12/23. Everyone was throwing up more than usual by 12/25. My house sitter is a very experienced cat person as we both volunteer with our local (b) (6) and the humane society/shelter. There wasn't even time to get her to the vet, it was so quick. She was under my bed, mouth with a little bit of blood, dead. Coat looked great, no prior health issues. We took the Simply Nourish away from my other cats immediately. No one has thrown up since. I searched on my way back from Michigan to (b) (6) (I cut my trip short because of this) and finally found more of their Authority Hairball cat food. Initially I assumed that he had picked up a respiratory virus since that has been in the news. On December 28 I took him to the vet because he had not improved and his breathing became rapid and labored. He was diagnosed with Dilated Cardiomyopathy. He had severe enlargement of his heart and was in heart failure. His breed is not prone to this and he is from a reputable breeder who has a long history of showing her dogs with excellent health history. I took my dog to a veterinary cardiologist on the same day and it was there that I was asked what his diet has been as there have been investigations into young, healthy dogs getting DCM with correlations to grain-free foods, especially with peas or lentils. I have since found a lot of this information online and was horrified that I did not know this previously as I would have made different choices for his food. | 6 | Years | Whippet | Dog | 33 | Pound |

| EON-557542 | 12/29/2023 14:56 | Purina Dog Chow Complete Adult Lamb Flavor | We were almost out of her food on Christmas Eve so I ran to the local grocery store and grabbed a bag of purina lamb and rice adult. She doesn't usually eat purina, I actually just grabbed whatever (It was Christmas Eve, there was A LOT going on). We had fed her a little chicken and brown rice on Christmas Eve and Christmas morning with the last of her of her old food. Christmas Day about 4:30 she had her first bowl of purina. 2-3 hours later she had her first seizure. She has NO health problems except arthritis. She has NEVER had a seizure. She was running around all day, playing with her toys, being her totally normal crazy self she always is. We were naturally terrified and had no clue what was happening. We journaled everything and watched her like a hawk all night and she finally got back to almost normal by early afternoon on 12/26. On 12/26 around 4:30ish she had another bowl of purina and literally 2-3 hours later had her second seizure. We rushed her to the emergency vet in (b) (6) and without having an MRI we won't know if it's a brain tumor or not. We cannot afford an MRI right now. We also just took the word of the doctor saying it's the age and these things happen. The dr said the labs looked fine (I'm not sure what they test for) and that without something else to rule it out they will treat her for epilepsy due to a possible brain tumor and she has to be on medication for the rest of her life. They gave us seizure medication and sent us on our way. She hasn't had any recent vaccinations or flea/tick meds. The ONLY thing that was different in her routine was the Purina Dog Chow Complete Adult Lamb flavor. I had mentioned it to my husband when we were in the waiting room at the er, and we both agreed that it's just a weird coincidence but we still mentioned it to the dr. She just brushed it off like it was absolutely ridiculous. But I had such a strong feeling in my gut that this wasn't right. We know our dog. There was not one other sign. She had 2 seriously violent seizures 2-3 hours after eating that food she never eats. I even told my husband when we were driving home we need to get new dog food because I don't trust that food. He agreed. She has been eating chicken and rice since then and has not had another seizure. Which of course she is also taking seizure medication so I can't say that it's change in food along with the medication. I will not test that theory. | 12 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 50 | Pound |

Normally I wouldn't think too much about a post like this, but as I sit here with my sweet girl that is a shell of our dog we just had 5 days ago I am convinced. We had used the salmon Dr Pol food, so I thought maybe this had something to do with the chicken flavor. However, the smell did not dissipate and our two dachshunds would not eat the food as normal. After eating food, one of our dachshunds became very itchy, had his left ear get inflamed/red/borderline ear infection, and has been more lethargic than normal. From there, he was admitted overnight and found to have significantly elevated ALT values but all other blood work was normal. The doctor recommended a liver biopsy for definitive diagnosis as they couldn't seem to find anything else on the ultrasound, CT, X-rays, or other blood tests. I had reached out to them both times but was told that the livers come wrapped in plastic and parchment and that the employees are trained to remove them properly, but in case its found in the treat its "nutritionally inert" and "poses no risk of obstruction due to its flexible nature". My dog didn't eat for two whole days after I noticed she wasn't eating the treat which she loves after just having one that there was plastic in it. Since it was the first time feeding them at my mother in-laws house after arriving for the Christmas holiday, it is not uncommon for them to skip the first meal out of excitement of being there. 2nd time we fed them, (b) (6) our older 13 year old dog, walked away as soon as we put the food down. (b) (6) did eat his entire portion that time, we noticed he was acting more sluggish. The next morning, when we put down their breakfast, (b) (6) vomitted a yellow bile, they both did not eat. We inspected further the food, noticed a strong chemical smell to it. We monitored (b) (6) for the rest of the time at my mother in-laws and fed them only canned food until we returned home. Best by date was listed as July 5th 2024. Contacted Blue Buffalos who was dismissive of this issue and insisted it was due to damage to the bag after it left their facilities, despite absolutely no damage present. | EON-557274 | 12/26/2023 15:56 | Hill's Science Diet Dry Dog Food Adult Lamb Meal & Brown Rice Recipe 15.5 lb. Bag | I had been purchasing my dog food from Amazon, the brand Hill Science. After a couple of months I started noticing little bugs around the food, I didn't think much of it, I just killed them. Then in February my dog got sick, I took him to the vet at the time where they tested him. Although no parasites like worms or giardia was found, it was speculated he could have contracted salmonella from the food. He threw up for a few days before I took him to the vet, and after the vet told me to stop giving him his food, he immediately stopped throwing up. Then, because this was a new bag of food for 64 dollars, I started giving him his food again and he started throwing up again. I tried one more time to stop feeding him for a few days and feed him again and everytime I'd stop feeding, he'd stop throwing up. So I decided to stop giving him that bag of food and give him my little dog's food temporarily. Then around the end of April the same thing happened and this time he got sick in his crate again and I went to clean out his crate. I noticed those same little bugs I had seen around the food containers all in his crate, like a LOT of them. Why were they there? Because I fed him in his crate and he'd always throw his bowl over and food would spill everywhere. The crate by the way, for reference is far from other stored food. So I knew it was from the dog food. I immediately called Amazon angrily, who were unwilling to help. Then I called Hill Science who told me these bugs were very common, but to take it up with amazon. Amazon was 0% helpful. I have send them AND hill science a demand letter and they're both refusing to acknowledge what happened here. Because this isn't just what happened, no. About a month later, when the temperatures started to hit the 80's in New York, I started noticing more and more bugs, and ONLY in places where the food was stored. | 6 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 35 | Pound |
| | | | Due to the rising temperatures, I later found out, the hatching period of these bugs shortens from around 15 weeks to only several days.. Hence I suddenly saw SO many of them. I was shocked. I had a tiny bag of food stored in a ZIPLOCK bag with a zipper around it in my walk in closet (at room temperature like you're supposed to store it), and when I went to go on vacation and grabbed the bag to bring it with me (which I had previously put there only a couple days before), that bag suddenly had HUNDREDS of these bugs. They are very small, they're saw-tooth legged grain beetles, they're smaller than ants so hard to see. But I had a good look around me and saw they were everywhere. I was shocked. I then checked my other closet which had a bag in it, and saw the bugs were all over my linen closet, my medicine boxes, everything. It was horrifying. It got so bad I had to fly my mother out from Europe to help me deal with it. I had thousands of dollars in damages, had to throw out all the food I owned, throw away all dog food and dog treats and many of my clothes got damaged because they layed eggs on them and there was worms on them. For months, I had nightmares and PTSD about this and became seriously unwell with the thought of these little bugs being everywhere - WHICH THEY WERE. To this day, I still have so much PTSD and I refuse to buy food from Amazon again. I started purchasing food elsewhere and haven't had a problem since. I also want to emphasize on the unwillingness of both of these companies to handle this properly.. Not only did my entire apartment get destroyed, my dog was sick from their food twice and had to go to the vet. Please help me in resolving this and reporting this. | | | | | | |

I observed a visual surge of blood in his neck artery. He got an Echo done with Canine Cardiologist specialist (b) (6) and it showed his heart to be twice it normal size. Nothing else wrong. He had me do strong therapeutic doses of Taurine, L-Carnitine, and Q-10. In three months his heart was back to normal... and I mean 100% normal. He was a SAR dog, and show dog, and was sponsored by a dog food company called Buckeye. Finding out of course it was a VERY poor quality dog that was the ONLY reason he got the problem. Switched foods after tones of research and he never had a problem again. That vet has long since retired, but I don't know if his practice is still there and if they kept the records of the echo. | EON-557266 | 12/26/2023 15:32 | Purina Friskies Shreds | There are several reviews on Amazon.com for the Frisky Wet Cat food they are selling of being moldy, contaminated, and filled with bugs/worms/maggots/eggs which somehow turns into flies or a parasite that attaches on to houseflies or fleas. These in bite people and cats. I think when cats eat the food they get infected internally and then there poop is covered with parasites which lead to more flies. I think Amazon.com is intentionally doing this since so many people complained and they still haven't recalled the product or stopped selling it. I also believe this has caused the Covid 19 pandemic. My cat scratches himself nonstop and I even scratch my scalp time to time. I think Amazon or Frisky's is behind this. Please investigate the matter and hold them accountable. | EON-557265 | 12/26/2023 15:32 | Kirkland Signature Mature Formula Chicken Rice and Egg Dog Food 40 lb. | After starting a new bag of Kirkland Senior Dog Food (kibble) my dog became averse to eating the food. I started adding treats to the food to encourage her to eat. After about a week I noticed she became lethargic and refused to eat any of the dog food and little other food. She developed some sensitivity around her midsection where she would cry out if touched. I took her to the veterinarian where they ran a number of tests physical, blood, and urine tests. They reported her blood showed possible signs of anemia and found blood in her urine sample. No other findings presented themselves. The vet recommended we schedule an ultrasound to be performed. We were not able to get an immediate appointment unless we admitted her as an emergency case. Since she did not seem to be in an emergency state we decided to schedule an appointment for after a weekend. In the meantime, the vet took another blood sample after about a day and a half. The blood sample looked much better as it was just out of the range of possible anemia. At this time our dog had not eaten the suspected food for several days. She steadily improved over the weekend and we decided to "wait and see" and schedule more blood/urine tests after a month. The food was returned to Costco and I told them I suspected it had made my dog ill. I do not know what or if they did anything. My dog is now eating a different brand of dog kibble and seems to be doing well. We will have her checked with the vet in early January. | 9 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 40 | Pound |

| EON-556977 | 12/21/2023 9:28 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin & Stomach | The vet recommended that we try a new dog food brand to help with my dogs sensitive skin and everyday allergies. We purchased the Purina Sensitive Skin Salmon dog food from Chewy.com. We implemented a phased approach introducing the food into his diet. A 25%, 50%, 75%, and 100% phased approach with his existing Costco branded food. Upon giving him the Purina food, he developed severe skin irritation, lethargy, and discomfort to the point of scratching and chewing himself to bleed. We went to the vet and upon doing more investigation, looking at Chewy, PetSmart, Petco, and Purina's website, dozens of recent reviews suggest that pet owners are experience the same issues (or worse) with this brand of food. Possibly leading to an issue with the formula or manufactured lot of the product. | 3 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 65 | Pound |

We sat down to watch church at 10:30.. at 10:40 I look down at (b) (6) and said Wow .. honey isn't that weird how (b) (6) is sitting... it looked way off. I went to nudge her to discover her legs were paralyzed. She was dragging her self with her front legs... then she started vomiting. All the rotten smelling food came up. She kept trying to drag herself under a couch. I wouldn't let her. I wanted her to be comfortable where I could keep my eye on her.. She was getting confused and disoriented by her new found condition. I took her upstairs and tried to comfort her. I knew she was in deep trouble, it was Sunday and I didn't want to go to ER Vet because of the expense. I kept trying to comfort her.. and I stayed with her the whole time. At 2:15, she suddenly started dragging her self in circles... After 5 or six rotations she stopped and she laid flat and her body started twitching.. the paralysis started crawling up her body... it was horrific to watch. She started vomiting and vomiting and choking... after more minutes I believe her lungs became paralyzed. It was a real life nightmare. Her face became frozen while the bile was exiting her mouth. The odor was that of rot... Her breathing became gasps, further and further in between. She stopped breathing.. and I put my head on her body until I heard her last heart beat... it kept beating for a minute after her breathing stopped. The rigor mortise set in so fast... NO ANIMAL DESERVES THIS DEATH!!!!!! 6.5 hours after her breakfast... she was dead. I am begging you all to follow up on this..... I feel it was botulism.... | EON-556655 | 12/17/2023 18:36 | lams Proactive Health Minichunks chicken & whole grain recipe. I see no "use by" date or a batch/lot #. This same UPC seems to be on all 30lb bags that I have. | (b) (6) developed explosive diarrhea over night, couldn't keep food/drink down, even bland chicken & rice. As diarrhea started becoming more frequent and became all blood, I took him to emergency vet clinic (9am ish), where we spent all day. Xrays and labs resulted in no definitive cause for his problems and only lab concerns by then were likely caused by his dehydration, presumably caused by the explosive diarrhea. They treated him and gave him fluids under the skin. I made an appt for 11/10 (the earliest they had). I followed the discharge instructions & had been told he should be back to full kibble and normal eating within a few days but he got worse as the under-skin fluids depleted. The regular vet examined him 11/10. They tested him for Addison's disease (per emergency vet recommendations), it too was ruled out. He got more fluids under the skin. We tweaked the bland diet and feeding instructions over the weekend, but he would have explosive diarrhea within 5 minutes of drinking water. He was hungry and thirsty, but as everything gave him explosive diarrhea, he quit eating that weekend for 32 hours (his 3rd time he'd stopped eating due to his illness - ranging 24-32 hours). Vet started a new treatment plan of meds etc and prescription food after I reported his condition after the weekend. He improved instantly on the meds & prescription diet. Each time I tried to follow the plan for re-introducing the lams kibble, he got worse. At 25%, his stool started to get loose again. At 45% it was very loose, so I never dared increase it above 50% ish for fear he'd stop eating all that too. I'm not sure which date to use as the "recovery" date - he was instantly better when we used prescription diet with the meds, but it was supposed to be only for a few days and stretched out for weeks. I consider him "recovered" when I switched to the new bag of lams, as he had no discernible health issues or need to rely on prescription diet or meds at that time. | 3 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 56 | Pound |

| | | | I'd noticed my other dog seemed to be having sensitivity around the same time too, but was harder to pinpoint with her, as she has other health issues and is on medications (including prednisone daily). As the weeks went by, I became concerned that the lams was the problem (after ruling everything else out). Went into town and bought a smaller bag from a different store (hoping it was from a different production line as the original food they'd been eating). I also picked up kibble of the prescription diet, in case the new bag of lams didn't work. Both dogs got better with the first feeding from the new bag of lams. I suspect the other dog's prednisone was masking the problem in her or helped buffer from the severe issues (b) (6) had. In her case, she'd been having sensitivities to things she normally gets, could no longer tolerate 1/2 boiled egg twice a day or her 1tsp supplement daily, and started having diarrhea each time I tried to slowly reintroduce either. She had been able to tolerate only 1/4 tsp of her supplement (no egg or anything else in her diet). At night, I could hear both dogs' stomachs rumbling angrily; I'd have to check which dog needed to go out - it could go either way. ALL symptoms for both dogs stopped the first night I switched to the new bag of lams. (b) (6) is now back at 75% lams kibble and could probably be at 100% except that I have an expensive bag of prescription diet food to use up. I've been able to start raising the other dog's supplement - she had no issues at 1/2 tsp supplement and I'll add another 1/4th tomorrow to get her to 75% of her expected dose. I recently started on a new 30lb bag of lams, they seem OK on it. Both the smaller and newer large bags were purchased at Big Lots in (b) (6). Harley had been fine at his regular vet appt 10/12/23, before all these troubles began. He'd had no opportunities to get into anything for weeks & had been on a strict diet for weeks prior to his sudden issues 11/8. I'd had no explanation other than the lams food for his sudden health issues 11/8. The emergency vet concluded he'd most likely eaten something that didn't agree with him; he'd had only lams until that morning, when I tried chicken/rice after he puked up the lams. (He puked up the lams too on 11/8 before we left for the emergency hospital.) | | | | | | |
| | | | I'll have to figure out what date I started feeding from the new bag of lams; I think it was 11/28/23, the same day I picked up prescription kibble from the vet too. (He'd been on canned prescription diet for a couple weeks as I tried to reintroduce lams with it.) For the info below, I'm considering it (b) (6) as his reaction was the most severe, but the other dog's issues started at the same time, which is part of why I ultimately tried buying a different bag of lams to see whether everything for both dogs would improve. (Sidenote: the information from the emergency vet was not all accurately reflecting what I told her. I brought in some stool, which was from early that morning, having flecks of blood. By the time I'd left for the vet, he'd had something like 10 incidents of explosive diarrhea; it had gotten progressively worse until the last 5-6 were just all blood. I hadn't taken any of that in to the vet; it seemed unnecessary. I'd also told them he would be 3 in Dec; they apparently rounded his age down. Other info was wrong also.) | | | | | | |

| EON-556605 | 12/16/2023 19:28 | Members Mark Chicken & Rice Dog Food 40lb bag | Our dog (b) (6) became deathly ill at the beginning of October of 2023. We noticed she had been acting different for a few days and didn't want to eat her food. On October 14th 2023 we noticed she was lethargic, yellow in color, puking up stomach bile, hyporexia and very sickly. We rushed her to an emergency Vet Hospital where she was confirmed very ill. (b) (6) was diagnosed revealed infection, severe hyperbilirubinemia and moderately elevated ALT (liver enzyme). She had an infection at that time, was given a ton of medication for infection (Antibiotics) and medication for her failing liver. The vet recommended she stay with them but we elected to take her home and follow up with vet first thing Monday morning on 10/16/2023. Monday's follow up more blood work was performed, an ultra sound, and check up. It was confirmed with ultra sound that her gall bladder was full of sludge and she was very ill. Doctor (b) (6) prescribed more antibiotics and another medication for her gallbladder, and a special food. She was on about four different medications daily, some twice a day. We had another follow up visit on 11/06/2023 with a recheck progress. At that time all medication is to continue as (b) (6) is slowly progressing but still showing gallbladder issues (sludge still showing). Next follow up visit on 12/07/2023. At that visit she had another ultra sound to check the internal organs and it recommended that she follow up with the internal specialist at another vet hospital. (b) (6) was to continue her Denamarin for her liver support, Doctor (b) (6) said we could stop the antibiotics and the ursodiol but to be watched very careful. On December 12th, 2023 we were able to get her in to see Doctor (b) (6) at (b) (6). During her physical exam revealed a moderate elevation in her ALT Liver enzyme & hyperbilirubinemia. Physical exam revealed a jaundice appearance. Repeat blood work, continue to take the Denamarin, Ursodiol, and vitamin E and her special diet that is vet prescribed until further notice. | 4 | Years | Catahoula Leopard Dog | Dog | 60 | Pound |

| | | | (b) (6) was a healthy dog up until she was fed her food back in September then she was dealthly ill come October. We highly suspected it was her food all along that made her super ill and the email that her food company sent to us on November 17th, 2023 confirmed it. The time line follows it to a T. She has had Member Mark Dog Food her entire adult life. We obviously quit feeding her contaminated food to her when she got sick. We have since then been refunded for the food, still have the food stored for proof that the food was what made her dealthly sick. We have called the food company on 11/18/2023 which is the members mark Chicken and Rice 40lb bag with a upc 00193968344207 that the Texas Farm Products Company made and spoke to a person one time. | EON-556592 | 12/16/2023 19:24 | PURINA BENEFUL PREPARED BEEF STEW Purina Beneful Prepared Meals Beef Stew with Peas Carrots Rice & Barley Wet Dog Food 10-oz case of 8 | I ordered a case of Purina BENEFUL Beef Stew for my dog (8 meals in separate tubs). It arrived from Chewy.com in a large box with some other items, food and supplies. I put the case on the floor of my pantry and did not open it for a few days as I use it as a topper and did not need it immediately. When I did use the first meal, my dog ate it. The second meal, she refused and would not eat all day. The third day, I noticed a string of ants leading to the case. I opened the full case up and opened one meal from the bottom. It was full of bugs that look like maggots. I took photos. It was disgusting. I submitted a customer complaint to Chewy. They said that I should open and inspect all food prior to serving and refunded me $14. I sent more photos of the box that looked like it was not packaged properly so they could investigate and get to the bottom of it. I got a reply that basically said that if I didn't have any other complaints thank you for telling us. So I sent the Lot # to Purina and am waiting to hear. I have 8 photos of this disgusting mess that was sent to my house with these horrible things crawling around in it. I feel terrible that I gave my dog a serving of it but the one I did seemed fine. But when she didn't eat the second one, I began to wonder because she is normally a good eater. She smelled it and then refused it. I didn't think to empty the entire case of food honestly. I assumed that when I bought Purina food from Chewy that it would be fine as I have been a customer for 5 years and have had only one other bad order, and that was ironically a bag of Purina Pro Plan with moldy food in the bottom of the bag. I reported it to Chewy and they said that they were investigating a warehouse situation that may have gotten the bag wet. I suspect that this food issue may have been either due to delivery and packaging (not enough material inside the large box it was sent in and it moved around during transit until it caused a leakage) or it was infested by the bugs prior to shipping. I don't know enough about these creatures to know how long it takes for them to invade a food source. I cleaned thoroughly and hope that I got everything disinfected. All this for a $14 order of Purina Beneful Beef Stew as a topper for my dog's food which is now Purina One Lamb & Rice. So having been a USDA researcher myself (Youth Development), I decided to let you know that this was the WORST experience I have ever had with an online order of dog food! | | | | | | |

| EON-556148 | 12/13/2023 10:24 | Identity Adult Cat Food Personality In Pet Food | I was looking into Identity Pet Food to potentially purchase a sampler pack of cat food online. It indicated it would be 22 cans in the description but only 20 cans were listed. I emailed to inquire and was told the quail was hard to get due to avian bird flu and that a can of dog food would be substituted. I responded saying I was not going to feed my cats DOG food due to very different nutritional requirements of the two species. They said the dog food was perfectly safe for cats and that their dog and cat food have "very little differences except for trace vitamins and minerals." They said their diets "are 95 percent meat, poultry or fish and diets this high in meat will naturally meet the AAFCO food nutrient profiles for both dogs and cats. Thus it is perfectly safe to feed our cat food to a dog and visa versa." I then explained that the dog food has no taurine added into it and that cooking food destroys taurine which is why it's added back into cat food since it is an essential amino acid for cats. They then responded "The dog food does have taurine in it -- it actually has natural taurine as all our products do. Taurine naturally occurs in high levels in meat -- most companies only supplement it because they're not high in meat. We only supplement taurine so we get fewer questions as our diets are naturally extremely high in taurine. Oh and we started adding synthetic taurine in the dog a few months ago -- we are allowed to use old labels before we have to change the label which is what we are doing." USING OLD LABELS? TELLING ME TAURINE IS NATURALLY IN THEIR FOOD SO NO NEED TO ADD IT BACK IN WHEN I EXPLAINED COOKING DESTORYS IT When I asked why they would substitute the quail dog food for the quail cat food when there was a short supply I asked them if it was the same quail. They said "Quail has been difficult to procure because of governments requiring quelling of quail populations to control the avian flu. There is no difference in the quail used for dog versus cat." | | | | | | |
| | | | Then HOW is the quail for CAT in short supply yet they can offer me a can of QUAIL FOR DOG??? It's the same quail used to make the food, they said that! I am extremely concerned this company is trying to give cat owners DOG food and telling them it's perfectly healthy to feed their cats when it IS NOT. I have a whole email string I could forward to you if needed with the above info and screenshots of the conversations too This is disturbing. I am very concerned about consumers who do not have the nutrition knowledge that I do "buying into" this and their animals being harmed. Cats are obligate carnivores. Dogs are omnivores. They have very DIFFERENT nutritional needs and to tell consumers it's find to feed dog and cat food interchangeable is downright scary. To be clear, I have not purchased this food. I was considering purchasing it. Not anymore. I have more screenshots of the email conversation if you wish but I could only attach five. | EON-556140 | 12/13/2023 10:00 | Hill's Science Diet Veterinarian Recommended Large Breed Adult 1-5 Chicken and Barley Recipe. | On approximately Sunday, December 3, 2023, in the evening, (b) (6) appeared to regurgitate her food (food was still intact). On Tuesday, December 5, in the evening, (b) (6) once again appeared to regurgitate her food (food was still intact). On Wednesday evening/Thursday morning, (b) (6) once again appeared to throw up her remaining food. On Wednesday morning, on the way to the veterinarian, (b) (6) threw up again, this time all liquid. The veterinarian saw (b) (6) ordered x-rays and blood work, gave her some canned food and medicine and we went home. It should be noted that Sandy did not appear to eat anything during this time but drank plenty of water. On Thursday afternoon, December 7, the vet clinic called and ask us to bring (b) (6) as they received her lab work back. Her liver and pancreatic enzymes were elevated, and her stomach was inflamed and enlarged. (b) (6) was hospitalized over the course of the weekend until, Monday, December 8th. During her stay, (b) (6) liver enzymes continued to climb. On Monday the veterinarian ordered more blood work, we are waiting results. Sandy was only fed Hill's Science Diet dry dog food. | 2 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 80 | Pound |

| EON-556063 | 12/12/2023 9:56 | Victor Super Premium Dog Food Class Multi-Pro for Normally Active Dogs | I was feeding out dogs Victor Multi-pro for Normally Active Dogs before the recall when I found a chunk of what looked like a wood chip. We contacted Victor who sent out a box for the piece of food to be tested. On their recommendation, we returned the bag to Tractor Supply for a refund. Soon after we found out there was a recall. I have only hear from them one more time after multiple emails sent to see the status of the questionable food as our 14 year old dog went down hill quickly. She died the (b) (6) when she was healthy until October when the recalled food happened. I want answers. They did not offer to help with the cost of vet care to make sure it was not the food causing illness or death. | EON-556062 | 12/12/2023 9:52 | Purina® Friskies® Pate Wet Cat Food | My cat, (b) (6), is a creature of habit. He has been eating the same catfood for over 10 years and has never had an issue until this most recent batch. I purchased around 6 cans of Purina Friskies Salmon Pate wetfood and of those 6, roughly 4 of them smelled and looked wrong. The cans have a Sell by date of Nov 2025. At first, I just assumed that maybe it was a new formula or something like that, however, my sweet kitty only had a few cautious bites of it before immediately throwing up and having some terrible poops the rest of the day. Luckily he was ok and ultimately didn't require a vet visit. The food smells grainy and rotten and nothing like it has in the years I've purchased before. Unless purina changed the formula without telling anyone and my cat just doesn't like it.... I genuinely think something is very wrong with this batch of catfood. I think it's unsafe for any pet owners to purchase this specific batch of catfood. If it made my kitty sick after only a few bites, imagine how sick a bitty would get after eating a whole can. The information I've gotten from one of the cans is as follows: The UPC code: 050000423347 Best by: Nov 2025 33139052 L5A3970035 | 16 | Years | Mixed (Cat) | Cat | 14 | Pound |

| EON-556057 | 12/12/2023 9:52 | Purina Sensitive Skin and Stomach | in July I noticed my dog becoming lethargic, but otherwise normal. In october, she started vomiting in the morning. Within 2-3 days she started having bloody mucusy diarrhea and extreme lethargy, and didnt want to eat. I took her to the vet that Friday and her liver enzymes were very high and they gave me antibiotic. On Monday, we redid blood work, and her liver enzymes were high but also one of her blood cell counts were low. (not really sure about this but can get vet records to make sure this is correct) No other sign of infection or illness but my vet suspected it maybe could be an auto immune disorder. A few days later, another blood test, everything fine but the liver count. Fast forward to about $1,500 in vet bills, she seemed stable but still not herself. Last week, the vomiting started again and I saw on Facebook a post that the purina pro plan sensitive skin and stomach caused a ladies dogs to be very ill and she had the food tested and it came back with four heavy metal toxins. I called my vet and switched my dogs over immediately. I went in to the vets today to make sure my dogs organ function is ok, so we sent out her blood work. I do have a second dog who had one episode of becoming very ill and had issues breathing but I dont know if thats related to the food. I did notice the kibble looked different the last few months and did some research and they had to change their formula as they couldnt get an ingredient. note date issue started was the date she started vomiting, not the lethargy. note sate of recovery is today but she is still recovering and we are continuing to monitor her health with the vet. | 5 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 60 | Pound |

They are also lethargic. I took away the ABOUND food to see if that was the cause, and they the vomiting and diarrhea stopped. Nothing else changed in their environment. I took the dogfood back to my local Kroger, and they gave me a refund, but didn't seem concerned about keeping the food for sale. | 14 | Years | Unknown | Dog | 60 | Pound |

| EON-555922 | 12/10/2023 14:36 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Sensitive Stomach Dog Food With Probiotics for Dogs Lamb & Oat Meal Formula - 24 Pound Bag | We have been feeding this food to our dog for years as she has sensitive skin and a sensitive stomach. She has been doing great on it until this last bag. First she just wasn't acting himself and we were keeping an eye on it. This week she was having obvious stomach discomfort and horrible gas. We thought she was doing better and finally ate a small amount of her food and the symptoms reappeared. I was looking into it online and found several reports of similar situations from other people. We plan to call the vet in the morning to get her in but other people have said that although the doctor couldn't find a specific cause their dogs had elevated liver enzymes and their blood counts were off. This has to be more than a coincidence and I think someone really needs to look into the issue. The food was also very crumbly. I don't know if that had anything to do with it but the texture was obvious off. | 7 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 63 | Pound |

QR# 8. 50334 00446 labeled with best by date of 07/15/24 and ID code: W10109253. Small nuggets (8) added to the dog's regular food as a meal enhancement. Dog has tolerated Primal Turkey Sardine Freeze Dried nugget products before and tolerated them well. This was the first time for the Pronto Bits which are labeled as raw. Nuggets were added from a solid frozen state - product is kept in a chest deep freezer. Within 2 hours after eating the 8 small pellets, the dog started having very loose stools which progressed to watery diarrhea lasting > 48 hours. Dog did not vomit but was lethargic and had no appetite. Due to the weekend time frame a veterinarian was not available - however will be contacted next week. Product was purchased at (b) (6). (b) (6) also kept the product in a freezer. And I purchased it in a frozen state. Regular kibble food for this dog is NutriSource combination of animal protein and fish protein products. He also eats pate style dog food from both Primal and Dave's which are Turkey and Sardine or Salmon. So toleration of the two ingredients: Turkey and fish is not an issue for this dog. The sudden onset of symptoms along with all of the recent recalls and safety notifications from PRIMAL led me to report this incident. | 19 | Months | Poodle (unspecified) | Dog | 42 | Pound |

| EON-555687 | 12/7/2023 12:44 | Acana brand multiple proteins. Most commonly selected Freshwater Fish Blend. | We've fed our golden retriever Acana (and sometimes Orjen) brand pet food his entire life (7.5 years). We've fed a variety of proteins from this brand (fish, chicken, beef, etc.), but most commonly fish. In the last few weeks he developed a cough and lack of appetite, so we took him to the vet. In his x-ray they found he had an enlarged heart. We took him to the emergency vet where he was diagnosed with dilated cardiomyopathy. Given his diet was grain-free they indicated that he may have developed DCM due to diet. In addition to his heart medications he's now on, he is now also taking a taurine supplement. As a consumer, I wasn't aware that this was a potential problem. I'd chosen Acana because I thought it was a premium food with good protein sources. When the vet asked if my pet was on any special diet I answered no because I didn't even realize he was eating anything unusual. When I went home and looked at his bag of dog food, there wasn't any advertising on the front that said anything like "grain free". I had to read the bag thoroughly and read through the ingredients on the back before I even saw the words that it doesn't contain grain. I feel so frustrated that I didn't know my dog was even on a "special" diet. It's possible my primary vet has asked me in the past if he was on a special diet and I said no because I didn't think he was. Knowing that this could have been prevented is really heartbreaking. I've read online that there aren't further investigations into this issue at the moment, but want to flag it since this is still something that is happening. | 7 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 73 | Pound |

| EON-555685 | 12/7/2023 12:44 | Authority® Everyday Health Adult Cat Wet Food | I have two 3 year old domestic short hair cats. They are in good health, vaccinated and see the veterinarian regularly. I have been feeding my cats Authority® Everyday Health Adult Cat Wet Food - Chicken Entree for well over a year. Over this last week, both of my cats have had vomiting and diarrhea hours after being fed the wet food, starting at the exact same time. Upon the first incident, I withheld the wet food and the symptoms went away. Upon feeding them a can again yesterday morning, the symptoms returned that same night exactly as is. I am concerned that there is a bad batch. | 3 | Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | 12 | Pound |

| EON-555681 | 12/7/2023 12:40 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Chicken & Rice Formula | I bought my dog food, 47lb Purina Pro Plan Adult Chicken and Rice shredded. I bought it 12/3/2023 at Petsmart in (b) (6) and opened it on 12/5/2023. I left it in the original packaging and put it in my airtight storage container. I fed my dog the food on 12/5. I never seen anything wrong with the packaging or when I first opened it. Today, 12/6, I opened my storage container and opened the bag and it had maggots crawling around and trying to come out of the bag. So today I contacted Purina and Petsmart, but they said this rarely ever happens. I wouldn't want this to happen to anyone else. I figured you might want to look into it. I now have a $90 bag of dog food full of maggots, that my dog can not eat. Luckily he has not got ill yet, but what if I wouldn't have noticed it until a week of him eating it. | | | | | | |

| EON-555543 | 12/6/2023 10:24 | Pet Honesty Digestive Probiotics 120 scoops for cats (powder) | I have used Pet Honesty Digestive Probiotics for my cat for months to help with her gut issues and she has always loved it. This was my third jar and upon opening it I was instantly hit with a stronger and different bad smell than before. The texture is also slightly different. When I gave it to my cat the same way I always do, she meowed distressed and vibrated her tail and arched her back. I then gave it to my other cat, because he always licks her bowl clean after she finishes anyways, and he had the exact same reaction and wouldn't touch it. I went to go look at the most recent reviews of the product from a few different places that sell it, and many people are reporting the exact same issue and their cats have distressed or just uninterested reactions to it now. There is definitely something wrong with it and many of the reviews said that the manufacturer is refusing to refund, and this product is not cheap. I am worried that something might be really wrong with this products recent manufacturing. | | | | | | |

| EON-555384 | 12/4/2023 12:40 | Victor Super Premium Cat Food Grain Free Fit Feline Indoor Cat, Victor Super Premium Cat Food Grain Free Healthy Skin & Coat Indoor Cat, Victor Super Premium Cat Food Mers Feline | I've had (b) (6) since she was 3 weeks old. And not one day in her life has she ever been sick or diagnosed with any diseases or had issues other than worms as a baby. She looks and acts like she's still a kitten and has never had an issues with mobility, eating, or diseases. Jumps 7 foot from the floor in the air without a second thought and has always been healthier than any other cat in her age range. I believe the recalls with Mid America Pet Food is the very reason to her most recent death November 13th 2023. I had changed my food for my cats to victor about a year ago. I have three cats so I gave her mostly Victor since she was older than my other two cats and most likely needed premium. I started noticing around mid summer that she was still eating food but slowly pushing it away and not finishing her meals the way she used to but I persisted kept giving her food until she ate something. She looked like she was developing a cold b/c of the mucus that kept forming at her nose. When she started vomiting her food, followed by diarrhea and light sneezing blood and bleeding from her gums I made an appointment with the vet. 2 days before July 19th I had noticed she had lost a large tooth and thought this could be a factor to her bleeding. However she was already displaying symptoms before she lost it so I was worried. On July 19th I took her to the vet because I was afraid her lost back tooth would lead to a bad infection. My other younger cats were randomly throwing up food too so if there was something spreading I had to prevent further disease. The doctor examined her and prescribed an antibiotic. There was no indication of cancer or major sickness just a small infection. She took this for about a month and was getting better, reduced bloody sneezing and bleeding gums. I was feeding her soft cans of fancy feast and friskies at this time b/c I didn't want food getting stuck in her teeth and victor wasn't available as much in the store at the moment. I went back to her regular brand cat food around mid August switching from victor healthy skin and coat indoor cat, Hi pro plus, mers Feline multicat, and soft can food. I was grabbing victor sale items that the local (b) (6) had once and a while. | 17 | Years | Abyssinian cat | Cat | | 1 Kilogram |
| | | | On September 27th she started having diarrhea again and could not stop peeing on her chair. She started coughing and sneezing light amounts of blood again. October 7th she developed pus in the corner of her right eye. She started sneezing blood again and bleeding from her mouth coughing. Over the course of a month her face looked like it was deteriorating. Her right eye was clouded with what I thought was a cataracts but this was worth. It would bleeding especially when she sneezed and coughed blood. She barely had an appetite. She couldn't really move or jump. She was pooping and peeing in the chair she sits in all day but barely. She was drinking what she could but also looked dehydrated. Lost so much weight. half of her face was now deteriorating literally she had no more muscle and she looked a symmetrical. She was having trouble breathing. And it seemed like her teeth were ready to fall from her gums all this only on the right side of her face. I had to crush her pet food and mix it to make it edible for her. She really was refusing to eat much. But she kept going pushing but she fell over to much weakened and was no longer her self she was when she was getting better. On November 10th I freaked out bc she was bleeding profusely from her mouth. I took her to the ER on the night of the 13th b/c she was barely mobile. Still responding to me and sitting on my lap i could tell she was suffering from something even she knew she couldn't combat and I had to put her to sleep so she wasn't suffering. 2 days ago I learned of the recall for mid America (victor cat food included) announced November 9th 2023 from a notice posted at my local (b) (6) store. And of a prior recall in October that was made for victor dog food. After learning of the symptoms of pancytopenia I believe that she developed the inability to fight off any infections b/c she was exposed to recalled food containing salmonella and perhaps tainted food throughout the year these cases have been developing. She was 100% healthy prior to her initial symptoms and within 4 months deteriorated severely and rapidly. | | | | | | |
| | | | I am at an emotional loss for not only a loved member of my family but financially burdened since at the time of this occurrence I also lost 2 jobs. I know my pets and Ive monitored their health thought the years. She had minimum 5 more years in her and Mid America Pet food / Victor Food shortened her chances of living and took her life. The strange part is when she was sick. I was sick too. When she was coughing up blood and sneezing I was too. I thought we were soul mates but this was odd. I handled her food and The other cats stayed away from her and mostly ate different brands of food at a different part of the house. For a period of time I had diarrhea stomach issues and loss of appetite loss of energy and a fever and chills which luckily passed but I haven't been sick for a very long time either so this was strange to me. When I review the time line and the recall dates it makes sense to me. I'm not only grieving a loss of my family member I'm also approaching this from a logical standpoint. She was old but incredibly well taken care of, loved by me, and with me every single day. Im also worried b/c my other two cats would sometimes go into her area and attempt to eat her cat food. If they get sick too I'll be incredibly upset. They are younger so hopefully they have fought off anything that could possibly had affected them with in the time period they were throwing up as well. | | | | | | |

| EON-555295 | 12/3/2023 9:12 | Wholesomes Sensitive Skin & Stomach Large Breed Salmon Dry Dog Food | On Tuesday 11/28, (b) (6) threw up that evening about a couple hours after eating her dinner of 2 cups of Wholesomes Sensitive Skin & Stomach dog kibble. Wednesday she had no problem eating. Two days later, the morning of Thursday 11/30, she refused to eat her breakfast of 2 cups of the same kibble mixed with a couple tablespoons of her canned food. Since then she's been refusing to eat any of her kibble, has had terrible gas and diarrhea, and has some lethargy. I can get her to eat small amounts of canned food, her treats and dentasticks, and cooked vegetables, but that's it. The kibble was a brand new bag opened on Tuesday 11/28 and the fact she's straight up refusing to touch it and now she's suddenly sick tells me something is wrong with it. There have been no other events of her getting into/eating foreign materials, she never gets into garbage, she is crated when we're not home and she is always on supervised walks, even off-leash. Her last meal with this kibble was Friday 12/1 when my husband apparently gave it to her while I was at work and she reluctantly ate it but had terrible gas right after. I have not given her any of this kibble since then. Her gas has cleared up but she still has terrible diarrhea and is not eating much. | 4 Years | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 65 Pound |

The explosion caused considerable pain in four fingertips and nailbeds of my right hand. I recently (within the last 30 days) purchased the case of food with this can from the (b) (6) Tractor Supply Store in (b) (6) drove directly home, and stored the case in my kitchen pantry. I have fed my dogs 8 cans from the case without incident. I am concerned about both the pain caused by an exploding can and the quality of the food contained within. Needless to say, I did not feed my dogs the contents of that can. Only today, I purchased two additional cases of 4Health dog food. Now, I am hesitant to feed it to my dogs since I don't know what caused the build up of pressure in the can. | | | | |

| EON-555262 | 12/2/2023 15:56 | Whole Earth Farms Grain Free Recipe With Pork Beef & Lamb | On Friday morning, December 1, 2023, I went to PetSmart in (b) (6) to purchase another bag of Whole Earth Farms 25 lb. grain free recipe with beef, pork, and lamb. After purchasing the food, totaling $65.69, I stopped at Sam's Club to get gas and then proceeded home. I immediately opened the bag to pour its contents into the bin where I keep my dogs food, only to discover a spiderweb-like substance stick to 4-5 pieces of kibble. Unsure of what I found, I picked it up to inspect it, but, assuming it was a one-off instance, I set it aside and grabbed the measuring scoop to feed my dog. It was then that I noticed the body of a dead worm wedged behind a piece of kibble. Then, to my complete disgust, I saw there were more worms crawling through the container. Horrified, I checked in the bag only to find more worms. This is revolting. A company that I have been purchasing dog food from for years has suddenly become a product I will never use again. The bad was dated for expiration in March of 2025, but here we are. I have contacted the company and told them of the issue as well as giving them the batch number information. With photo evidence, I am returning the bag to PetSmart in hopes that they will pull this from their shelves. I have photos that I will gladly upload on a later page if possible. | | | | |

The Veterinarian explained that heart enlargement has shown to be linked to grain-free diets. Due to sensitive gastrointestinal issues, namely vomiting and diarrhea with most high quality dog food brands our two non-related German Shepherds (5 and 4 year old) have tolerated Open Farm grain-free pork dry food the best since they were puppies. We will follow up with our regular veterinary clinic; but thought this issue is worth reporting since we have consistently fed our dogs this one brand only. Naturally this news is alarming to us. We are hopeful that the heart enlargement can be reversed; but there in lies the challenge of finding a dog food that is not on your reported list and meets the health and nutritional requirements our dogs need. | 5 | Years | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 27.6 | Kilogram |

The most recent bag we purchased, we noticed our dogs were drinking more water than normal. Then in the last week, they have started to randomly throw up pieces of food or have really watery burps which have lead to throwing up. It's been more and more frequent. We stopped using the bag of food and did some research on recalls. We noticed that the Simply Nourish had some frequent recalls on frozen foods with similar best buy dates to our, due to elevated Vitamin D. Some of our dogs symptoms were similar to those listed for excessive Vitamin D intake so we wanted to make sure this was submitted in case there were faulty batches of dry food as well. | 7 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 51 | Pound |

We were told he was suffering from copper associated hepatopathy. He is retaining copper in his liver. An ultrasound showed his liver was decreased in size. We did a biopsy to confirm the diagnosis. He was on penacillamine for several months which seemed to help. His numbers came down to the 300s. We were told that we needed to switch his medicines. We tried one med for 30 days and his numbers went up. we are now starting with a steroid treatment. We are told this is chronic and we immediately changed his food to copper free. We advised the manufacturer of the food we were using. They responded and said that they only use a healthy form of copper. Regardless, we switched to copper free. | 7 | Years | Other Canine/dog | Dog | 60 | Pound |

| EON-554394 | 11/23/2023 16:56 | Origen Amazing Grains Large Puppy | We have been feeding our dog this food since 4 months old. We opened a new bag after finishing the previous, and fed it to him. My husband even exclaimed that the garage where we keep the food became very pungent after just simply opening the bag. We unfortunately didn't think much of it and continued to feed our puppy regularly. 36 hours later, he began throwing up bile multiple times a day for 4 days straight. Our vet prescribed some anti nausea medication and a prescription food. His symptoms subsided for 36 hours, then became even worse with diarrhea and more vomiting of bile. We have run all the tests and eliminated all other causes than severe gastroenteritis caused by the new bag of food. | 7 | Months | Poodle - Standard | Dog | 49 | Pound |

| EON-554392 | 11/23/2023 16:56 | Kibbles N Bits | Both dogs in my household began vomiting after eating from a bag of Kibbles N Bits steak and bacon flavored dog food. The bag was purchased for one dog, (b) (6) a 4 year old, male, 75 lb, neutered mixed breed (GSD and terrier). He is the dog predominantly fed this food. (b) (6) ate the first bit of this food on Saturday evening and promptly vomited it back up. (b) (6) normally has a fairly strong stomach, but I didn't think too much of it. Sunday he was fed again, more of it, as I mix his old and new food together in the airtight storage container I have for it, so as not to cause sudden stomach upset. (b) (6) vomited twice on Sunday after eating the food. On Monday, my second dog -- (b) (6) a 13 year old, male, 30 lb neutered, Jack Russell Terrier (full bred) -- snuck some of the food. He normally would not receive this food, as he has a sensitivity to corn and begins itching non-stop when fed kibble with corn as an ingredient. (b) (6) threw up constantly from Monday through to Tuesday. (b) (6) did not receive Kibbles and Bits that day, instead opting to eat (b) (6) food. (b) (6) did not vomit on Monday. On Tuesday, both dogs received their meals from (b) (6) dog food, and did not vomit. Today is Wednesday, November 22, 2023. (b) (6) was fed the Kibbles and Bits again, and promptly vomited again, and has continued vomiting throughout the day. The bag was purchased at the (b) (6), Walmart on Saturday, November 18, 2023. I do not have the original bag it came in. As stated earlier, I empty the new bag into the airtight container I keep for food storage, and then throw out the packaging. It keeps pests at bay. I'm not sure if there's a way to track batch and lot number based on the date and location of purchase, if you all needed to. I'm not saying it's necessarily the food that's at fault, but it did raise alarm bells when my dogs ate it and vomited it and then had no problems when fed another food the next day -- but resumed vomiting when fed the same suspect food again. It seemed like the kind of thing I needed to report. Thanks. | 4 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 75 | Pound |

I fed the bone to my dog as soon as I walked in the door. He ate half of it before I gave him the FreshPet food (within 5 min. of eating the bone). He then ate about 1/4 of the FreshPet food. Within 15 minutes he started whining and vomiting. For the next 48 hours he vomited and had diarrhea several times. I've had my dog for over 10 years and has never been this sick from food (can eat anything without getting sick). Normally I would not report a sick dog but the severity of it made me concerned for other pets that may not be as healthy as my dog. He has recovered. I'm not sure if it was the bone or FreshPet - both smelled and looked okay before I served him. He's had both the treat and food before. | 12 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 70 | Pound |
| EON-554387 | 11/23/2023 16:24 | Purina Pro Plan Complete Essentials Shredded Blend Chicken & Rice Formula | Went to Chewy website to buy a new bag of Purina Pro Plan Chicken & Rice (previously have been buying at a pet store) and was shocked at all of the recent reviews that say something has changed in the formula and their dog had severe digestive issues, blood in the stool, diarrhea, vomiting from the most recent bags of food, even those who had been using them for years. It seems like this needs to be recalled. I searched and was shocked to not see any recall even though there are months of reports on the Chewy website about this. | EON-554382 | 11/23/2023 16:24 | Wellness Pate Chicken Entree Smooth Loaf | Cans were very puffy/inflated, and the proportions were off. Too much gel/gravy/fat, not enough pate. I should have trusted my gut but it didn't smell different than usual, so I gave it to the cats. Both of them have been eating this product since they were kittens, but both showed suspicion/avoidance. They ended up grudgingly eating it later since it was the only food available, so I gave them a second can at another meal. This time they both experienced projectile vomiting at some point over the next few hours/overnight, which is extremely rare for them. They both recovered quickly after they got it out of their systems and I did not take them to the vet, but I will not be feeding them any more of the suspicious cans. I also notified Chewy, the company I purchased the cans from and they are investigating the product in the warehouse. | EON-554381 | 11/23/2023 16:24 | Farmer's Dog | I started giving my overall healthy and happy aging Yorkshire Terrier Farmer's Dog food to prolong his life and provide the dog with "natural" incidents as this company advertises everywhere and on pretty much any marketing platform with high rated reviews (probably by "experts" that never fed their dogs with this food). My dog loved the food, but within few months his overall condition started rapidly deteriorate and at first we (as well as our vet) attributed that to aging. Then after about 3 months or so he started to refuse the food, and then a few days after completely rejecting any food and starting to have bloody stool, he died in his sleep, so we did not even get a chance to take him to the vet the next morning. We all attributed it to "old age" and the vet told us it was probably his heart. We were heartbroken, but accepted the reality. Since there was quite a bit of left over from Farmer's Dog food supply in the freezer, I gave it to my daughter for her dog (a mixed breed of about 8 years old and around 25 Lbs). The dog loved it too! And for a month was doing well until one day ended up in ER with GI bleed - likely on time. The ED vet (in (b) (6)) told them that they have been seeing more of GI bleeds and sudden illnesses in dogs who are on Farmer's Dog food and obviously the food was immediately thrown out, my daughters dog recovered with treatment, she also contacted the company to report he incident and cancel future orders, but did not get much of any response other than refund for the payment of new order. I don't think that having 2 dogs suddenly falling ill (one with fatal ending) can be a coincidence and considering also many similar reports I recently read on Reddit and BBB consumer reports, I think that FDA should react on these complaints and seriously look into the quality and safety of Farmer's Dog food, so no more innocent pets get ill from it, while the dog owners keep getting sucked up to all the promises of miracle food and how well the dogs do on it from the company that produces it! I hope that FDA is maybe already looking into this, based on previously posted complaints on various platforms, but of not - please DO so! I am a medical doctor myself, so I know what I am talking about. If something like this would have come up for any of FDA regulated human products the agency would have been all over it by now. Thank you. | 13 | Years | Terrier - Yorkshire | Dog | 12 | Pound |

| EON-554193 | 11/22/2023 10:20 | Fresh Pet Tender Chicken Recipe | I purchased Fresh Pet Tender Chicken Recipe on 11/5 to mix with my dog's dry food. She's been eating Fresh Pet for a few months now, so this was not a new food. She ate it on the evening of 11/5 and woke up vomiting on 11/6. She refused to eat her food for the rest of the day. We started her on a bland diet of boiled chicken and rice, which she ate no problem. A couple days later, we tried reintroducing Fresh Pet, as we figured something else had made her sick since she had been eating it for months -- she vomited 3 more times. | EON-554192 | 11/22/2023 10:20 | Nature's Animals Handmade Dog Biscuits | My dog (b) (6) is 3 years old and he has always loved a particular peanut butter dog biscuit. So for his 3rd birthday 10.23.23 we gave him 2 for a treat. He ate half of one biscuit and then became very sick. We first noticed fatigue, then vomit and diarrhea, then blood in his vomit, and very bloody liquid stool. My question is, has there been any recalls on this product and has anyone else mentioned this as being an issue? I would like to have the food tested to see if that could have been the issue. I have been researching online as to what could make him so sick and Salmonella or other contaminants seems to be something that brings about the symptoms. I have already had him in the vet for 2 days and he is starting to make a turn around. He had blood tests, antibiotics, anti nausea meds, anti diarrhea meds, and xrays to see what could be causing this. We have narrowed down to this biscuit. He seems to be doing a little better today and we are hoping it has not caused serious issues or we were worried about him dying from it due to the fact that he wouldn't eat or drink and had blood coming out in great quantities. We are very worried about our dog and also other dogs that may come in contact with this treat, we are investigating to see what could have caused this to (b) (6). A couple hours later he was vomiting again. He vomited 3 times that day. I thought maybe he had gotten into the trash at first but the next day I noticed that the cats only ate half of their food. Thursday (b) (6) was vomiting again and I could see bits of dry food in his vomit like before. On Friday I decided to throw out what dry food was left in their bowl and cleaned the bowl and gave them fresh food. Immediately when I put the food down my other two cats sniffed it and would not eat. By Sunday all three cats which usually go through a serving of food in half a day still had half a bowl left. (b) (6) was still vomiting multiple times a day and also seemed depressed and not his normal energetic self. He even let me pick him up for long periods of time which he normally doesn't. My dogs recently had gotten incredibly sick with uncontrollable diarrhea and gas. They then stopped eating it. This proceeded to be an issue for a week until I decided to try a different food. Immediately after I tried a different food symptoms subsided. My mother's four dogs also have had these reactions until she switched foods. I FOUND BLACK LUMPS IN IT. I took her dish away and pulled out the black lumps. The container is only 1.3 oz, the black globs are 1/2" to 1-1/4"; very noticable. I tried to rinse them off to try to identify them, but when moistened, they start leaking [dissolving?] black liquid. The globs are fibrous, and begin to dissolve when dipped in water - NOT fish skin. I opened several more individual serving containers from the 24 pack box - all had the black lumpy substance in them. | | | | | | |

When purchasing this product I asked about durability due to our German Shepherd being hard on toys. I was informed about the product Features. " With double-layered fabric, reinforced stitching, and a durable rope core, these toys are ready for some serious fun." " Tuffer Chewers feature an extra thick rope core and double stitched edging that stands up to rough play. Durable double-ply fabric prevents tearing and lasts longer. " "The extra durable fabric, double stitched edging, and rope throughout make it perfect for dogs who love to play rough." This previous weekend November 11th, our dog chewed it into pieces and in the process swallowed some of the toy. He refused any and all of his food for a week and when we took him into the Emergency clinic we had to get an X-ray done and that is where they found part of the toy lodged in his intestines which requires a surgery to remove the product. So I purchased a really expensive brand of dog food. (b) (6) got much better and resumed eating. But the other food was so expensive I decided to try giving her the Victor that was still pretty much barely touched. I began giving it to her for a couple of days and noticed a noticeable change in (b) (6) demeanor, then she stopped eating for 2 1/2 days, was shaking, had no energy and I was really worried. I took her to the PetER and had x-rays done. My 1 year old pup had colitis! | EON-553809 | 11/18/2023 9:12 | Victor Super Premium Cat Food | In June of 2023, (b) (6) began to vomit, had diarrhea and there was a bit of blood around his bottom whenever I would wipe him. It would get worse day by day to a point that he would vomit twice a day. When I would look closer the vomit was mostly dark brown (same color as his victor dry food). The vomiting continued for over two months. The vet did a full check up and an X-ray to see if he swallowed a rubber band or sth that has blocked his system. Took blood test to see if it's a kidney problem. Everything came back normal. Per doctor's prescription, he had to take several doses of Cerenia and Pepcid to control the vomiting. However it didn't stop. I had to take him back to the vet multiple times and they would prescribe the same thing since they check everything and his condition sounded normal. Until the doctor mentioned that it can be "food sensitivity". So they told me to stop feeding him the Victor cat food and prescribed "Hydralized Purina ProPlan". They also prescribed Provable-Forte, Cobalequin, a vitamin B injection, and Cerenia (in case of continues vomiting). (b) (6) took the first two medications for about a month that per doctor they were good for controlling the bacteria in digestive system. The diarrhea and vomiting finally stopped! But my baby was sick for 2.5 months and went on series of medications. Few days ago, I received a message from Amazon (where I purchased the food in late Dec of 22) saying that the Victor cat food should no longer be fed due to the recall. | EON-553732 | 11/17/2023 11:36 | Victor Super Premium Dog Food - Performance | (b) (6) is 1 of 4 dogs who consumed this food. (b) (6) 6 years, male, neutered, 95lbs - (b) (6) 19 months, female, intact, 70lbs - (b) (6) 3 years, female, spayed, 18lbs. ALL 4 began to experience symptoms after we gave them the new bag of dog food from Victor. This is their normal food brand and the type is the same, but this specific bag made them all very sick. At the height of their illness, roughly day 3, they had severe diarrhea to the point where they were needing to go every 5-7 minutes with straight liquid coming out. Very watery. They became dehydrated and in turn lethargic. In total, it last 5 days for (b) (6) 4 for (b) (6) 2 for (b) (6) and 2 for (b) (6) It was awful. We didn't know what it was and assumed it was a bug they had passed to one another. My partner and I also had similar symptoms that week but didn't think they were related. We stopped giving them the food because I suspected it was a bad bag and sent my partner to the store to get a new one. At that time, he noticed the recall and everything basically clicked. We did dispose of the rest of the food securely so other wildlife couldn't get to it, but I do feel that this recall wasn't announced well at all. There should have been more coverage or publicity on it. We only knew when he went in for another bag. I 100% without a doubt KNOW that the bag of food was contaminated and since they've recovered and switched everyone is fine. | 19 Months | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 65 Pound |

I have spent over $7,000.00 trying to save my dog. I have changed her food to American Journey after I was notified of the Victor food recall (11/9/23) and her health has slowly improved. Another day went on and he started puking the water he was drinking too. He would not hold any food OR water. This went on for about a day or so, I took him to the vet immediately because I was concerned about him having salmonella from the recalled dog food. Sure enough they figured out it was salmonella and I caught it soon enough where he didn't die or get severely sick. I still paid 230$ in vet bills. I do not think this is okay. It's not my fault. | EON-553599 | 11/16/2023 3:44 | SALMON AND SWEET POTATO | I bought the Salmon & Sweet Potato wet dog food can of makers mark (had same label as the dry food listed) and my dog was throwing up for 2 days - it was terrifying - she could barely open her eyes and move. Had blood in stool. I had two different vets look at her and it was unknown. Her enzymes were through the roof and her galbladder and liver was infected. 2 days later, after giving her stomach fluids and after massive diarrhea she is back to normal. I am concerned. Another note is that I had also bought a big bag of First Street dry food Salmon & Chickpea which has packaging that is so thin almost all the bags at smart and final have crack in it so the grocery store had to double bag it. If you go to (b) (6) you will see how lots of kibbles are spilled from these big bags. I do not think it was the First Street brand that made my dog sick though because I had Aldo given it to my other 2 dogs and they were not sick. I only gave (b) (6) the makers mark salmon and sweet potato wet can because she does not like dry food and she was the only one who became extremely sick. | 10 Years | Dachshund - Standard Long-haired | Dog | 12 Pound |

| EON-553532 | 11/15/2023 15:36 | Retriever All Life Stages Mini Chunk Chicken Recipe Dry Dog Food | Starting on 11/10/2023, one of our dogs started throwing up every day. On 11/14/2023, we took her to the vet. She was running a fever and dehydrated. The vet did an exam and bloodwork to determine what would be the cause. She asked about what we feed her. We told the vet we use Retriever brand dog food and the vet informed us that there had been a recall. She said that vomiting and fever are common symptoms of salmonella, which was the cause for the Retriever recall. She believes that contaminated dog food was likely the cause of her illness. I contacted TFP Nutrition, they stated that all dog food effected by the recall was pulled from the shelves BY 10/19/2023 and because we had bought the dog food on 10/20/2023 and 11/2/2023 that our dog could not have been effected by the recalled product. We spoke with the manager of Tractor Supply where the food was purchased and he stated that they were not even made aware of the recall until 10/20/2023. I have since been made aware that all Retriever dog food is being pulled from the shelves at Tractor Supply. TFP is still denying that they have any responsibility in my dogs illness and that no dogs have been reported as becoming ill from the contamination. | 5 | Years | American Pit Bull Terrier | Dog | 70 | Pound |

| EON-553504 | 11/15/2023 13:16 | Victor Beef and Rice dog food | On Thursday October 19th my dog stopped eating and started acting strange. He started drinking anything in sight. Over the course of the weekend, he progressed with the following symptoms: Refusal to eat, vomiting, diarrhea, constant drinking, lethargic, weight loss (he had a vet checkup a week prior to verify this), unable to control his urination and out of character was peeing in the house, attempting to enter bathrooms to try to drink from the toilet. On Saturday 21st of that week, he did eat a small amount of Chicken and rice, per vet suggestion, but was still throwing it up. Would not touch his dog food. He wouldn't play with toys, wouldn't respond to the doorbell like normal, and seemed uncomfortable and moved around a lot on the couch. We thought he was getting better on Saturday and Sunday but seemed to regress on Monday 23rd was still very ill so we went to Urgent Care with him. There they noted that he lost several pounds, his stomach seemed hard, his xray showed no blockage but his spleen and possibly liver seemed enlarged. His bloodwork showed his liver enzymes were elevated. ALT at 868 (where 125 was the highest normal suggested value) and his ALP was 337 (212 highest normal value). The Urgent care suggested we get an abdominal ultrasound immediately. Ultrasound showed possibly enlarged spleen as suggested and no masses. Lepro test negative, not cancer, not diabetes. Urine test was diluted and suggested to retest in a few weeks. Antibiotics and nausea medicine given. Metronidazole and Amoxicillin. It took about a week after seeing the vets on Monday 23/Tuesday 24th for (b) (6) to be "better" but he still refused to eat his dog food so we were feeding him chicken/rice/vegetables only. Even if we mixed the chicken into dogfood he would not touch it. I assume he knew. On October 30th we received notification of the voluntary recall from Chewy.com. We had a half opened bag at that point in a storage container and did not have the bag to identify the lot number. The bag was purchased on September 9th, 2023 and was delivered on 9/12/23. (we likely opened it several weeks later as we have a spare bag on hand if needed). Victor pet foods are denying liability as we do not have the bag to prove it came from them. We reported this to Victor/Mid-Atlantic foods, and Chewy.com. (b) (6) seems almost back to his normal self at this point. We will be taking him for a follow up blood work to be sure his liver numbers returned to normal in the coming weeks. Chewy.com returned our dog food purchase. Mid-Atlantic is being forwarded our $1600 vet bills. | 8 | Years | Bulldog | Dog | 70 | Pound |

| EON-553470 | 11/15/2023 8:40 | Victor Classic Professional for dogs of all life stages | (b) (6) and her sister (b) (6) were both fed Victor Professional All Stages Dry Dog Food since I brought them home at 8 weeks of age. Since the beginning of September they have both lost luster in their coats, have been shedding an excessive amount and have been eating non-food items - grass, branches, leaves, rocks. There were multiple bouts of diarrhea - to which I would then switch them to a bland diet of rice, boiled hamburger, and pumpkin for a few days until their feces would return to normal and then we would slowly reintroduce dry dog food and within a few days it would be back to diarrhea and eating non-food items. Unfortunately one of the rocks (b) (6) had eaten became lodged in her stomach creating a blockage. She had a day of continuous vomiting, I brought her into the vet and they took xrays to confirm where the blockage was and saw all the other rocks that she had ingested. It required emergency surgery to have them removed - it was roughly a pound of rocks they removed from her stomach. The one that was lodged was approximately 3"x1". They told me that she was eating the rocks because she had an upset stomach and wasn't absorbing all the nutrients she should be. (b) (6) also excreted rocks in her feces, thankfully they were all small enough for her to pass them on her own. Both dogs were being fed 3 cups each of food per day. I believe this was all related to either the salmonella that has been detected and prompted the massive recall that has occurred and possibly a change in their quality of ingredients. The surgery was performed on October 2, 2023. | 8 | Months | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 37 | Pound |

He now has an infection with a vet bill of $500! I have tried to contact the manufacturer on multiple occasions, no response! Chewy has reached out to refund me for the 3 months of dog food that was contaminated! But I have a 6 year old dog that is being hit hard with this illness and now vet bills because it has escalated way beyond my other 3 dogs! | EON-553442 | 11/14/2023 20:24 | Member's Mark Grain Free Salmon Dog Food | Within 2-3 days of consuming dog food (starting on or around 04NOV23) purchased at Sam's club on or around 28OCT23, the Retriever stopped eating and drinking, asked to go outside over 20 times, compared to normally asking 4 to 5 times per day, became extremely lethargic and began urinating wherever he was lying down. On the 4th day, I was able to get him to eat some cooked chicken, as a suggestion from our vet. When offered the recalled dog food in his bowl, he would sniff but refuse to eat any. We were notified by Sam's club via email about the recall and immediately stopped providing to both dogs. The second, unaffected dog is an 8-year old spayed, female, Rhodesian. From 08-11NOV23, the retriever occasionally consumed bland chicken, drank water occasionally but mainly slept on his bed and couches while continuing to urinate on himself. Apart from being elderly, the Retriever had no medical issues. On Sunday, (b) (6) , a vet came to our home to humanely euthanize our Retriever. | 12 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 70 | Pound |

| EON-553437 | 11/14/2023 20:20 | Victor Senior Healthy Weight | (b) (6) started refusing the dog food, had persistent bloody diarrhea and vomiting and lost 30 pounds within an approximately three week period. The vet was unable to pinpoint what was going on despite testing his blood, urine and feces. An ultrasound revealed a thickened intestinal wall and colon, which they assumed to be cancer. We were considering further testing but due to how quickly he declined, the vet recommended against the invasive tests that would be required. I've spoken with a number of people who also purchased Victor branded dog food that said their dogs were also getting sick and refusing to eat that brand of food. We unfortunately did not hear about the recall until after (b) (6) was euthanized and I was unable to keep a sample of the dog food, but I do have the lot number of the bag we had. | 7 | Years | Boxer (German Boxer) | Dog | 95 | Pound |

After about 2 hours or so after giving (b) (6) one of the Wings, she got under the bed and would not come out. She was acting like she was not well. I let her out to relieve herself and she started eating grass. She again got under the bed so I left her alone for a while and then crawled under the bed to take her out. She was bleeding from her rectum. I called the Emergency Animal Hospital but they had 6 patients and could not see her. I drove around calling Emergency vets and no one could take her. It was 7 am and I called my vet and they told me to bring her in. She kept losing blood, would not eat, was on IV's for a week with Vitamin K to get her blood to clot. She survived but barely by the grace of God. I called the company. They asked me to send them the rest of the bag so I did. They said they tested the remainder of the treats and they were fine. | EON-553260 | 11/13/2023 10:40 | Goat's Milk Esbilac Puppy Milk Replacer (PetAg) | The owner reported this information and timeline to us. The bitch (b) (6) went into labor about 5 days early. She had 13 total puppies and two were stillborn. This was the 3rd litter for this bitch. The owner assisted with labor and cleaning the puppies. It is unclear if all puppies latched to the bitch and got any colostrum, but within a couple of hours, the owner started supplementing with the Esbilac Puppy Goats mild powdered formula. The first two puppies to get the formula started having liquid diarrhea within hours, had signs of dehydration, and died. The owner fed the formula for a few days and after 4 puppies died (in the same manner - liquid diarrhea and death), she switched to a formula from Walmart (not the Esbilac brand). Eventually, all 11 puppies died over the course of about 1 week, all had liquid diarrhea and then died. We did recommend the owner take the puppies to a veterinary ER immediately after the first puppies got sick, which she didn't do. The first two puppies to die were submitted to Cornell for necropsy, histopathology and culture. The owner is very much convinced there was something wrong with the formula, so I am submitting this report for them to allow for further investigation into the formula. Cornell is willing to work with us to facilitate further testing of the formula once this form is submitted. | 2 | Days | American Pit Bull Terrier | Dog | 1 | Pound |

We noticed the kibble was different and there was less in the bag. We gave to both dogs and one dog ended up with explosive diarrhea. We brought her to vet approx 7 days later hoping it was just a fluke and she would get better with rice and chicken but she did not. Multiple medications later, lab tests later, and food changes later, we are still dealing with the problem and just learned there was a recall on the victor brand food. We had 2 bags within the date range being recalled and 1 dog that is still symptomatic over 2+ months with significant weight loss. He also did a xray to make sure that there was no blockage or other issues. She was doing better Saturday evening and Sunday morning when the vet checked on her before church. When he returned after church she had passed. I only fed Victor kibble. I have used the green bag, elite, for several months. Previous to that it was the purple bag. Our two huskies are in excellent health and had explosive diarrhea and vomiting episodes about 2-3 weeks ago. We started feeding them chicken and rice and held their dog food and symptoms cleared up. Once we started feeding them their food again they started having stomach issues again. Our 12 year old mixed breed dog has cancer and the same thing happened with him how ever his symptoms took longer to clear up. We just started feeding him the dog food again this past week, and we're sent an email today by chewy.com saying our dog food has been recalled due to salmonella. We use the victor k9 hero grain free dog food. There's also concern for our children because in the last 2 weeks they have missed multiple days of school due to nausea, vomiting, and intense stomach pains. Uncontrolled diarrhea and vomiting. Normal temp. Off to vet, blood work and X-rays found nothing. His stomach was very irritated, so something he ate. Anti nausea meds and gastro diet he returned to normal. Next up 7 month old golden pup. Sudden onset diarrhea, no appetite, listless, and fever 104.8. Off to vet, blood work normal except elevated white count and dehydration, X-rays inconclusive due to dehydration. IV fluids corrected temp, new X-rays, thought penetrating wound in intestine so off to surgery. Nothing except intestine thickened so biopsy. Again anti nausea meds, antibiotics and gastro diet. Life is good. Next up Torch, almost 8 years old. Explosive diarrhea. Not home so no vet. Metronidazole and gastro diet, return to normal in one week. All this occurred in a span of 2 weeks. Biopsy returned severe reaction to something he ate. All dogs reacted to "something they ate", symptoms were most severe in puppy and less in older dog. I tried to hand feed her and she would smell the food in my hand and walk away. This is very strange behavior from her because (b) (6) is very food driven. She drank lots of water that day and seemed tired. Sometime during the night, Thursday the 9th, (b) (6) had vomited pools of blood and what looked like coffee grinds and dog food all over our living room. We have photos. We called the vet and took her in that morning Friday Nov 10th. She was treated for gastro with antibiotics and something to help calm her tummy. Once I opened it appropriately 4 days ago, and ever since she ate that food she has had severe diarrhea that now has blood in it, and being lethargic, and practically unresponsive at some points. Due to my medical conditions, this has caused a huge amount of anxiety and stress in my life. Not only did I have that, I also had to worry about if I spent my last $100 on a new bag of dog food, or beg a vet to see her, even though no one would take her as a walk in. I decided to get new food, feed her rice, chicken, and eggs, and sat by her side to make sure she was hydrated. We assumed they caught a GI bug from their dog boarding. The dogs refused to eat for several days. This went on for about a week. We gave dogs other food in the meantime (i.e. rice, chicken, pumpkin). Two of three dogs were getting better, but (b) (6) was not. We had to take her into the Vet on more than one occasion. All labs were normal, but she had a fever so they gave an antibiotic. She seemed to do better, but still not great. She ate her food once and threw it all up a few hours later. We have since switched over to a low fat GI diet as the Vet recommended it since it had probiotics which can help with healing. | EON-553119 | 11/10/2023 23:36 | Victor Purpose Performance Dog Food | We noticed all three dogs had diarrhea and vomiting immediately after opening a new bag of Victor dog food. We assumed they caught a GI bug from their dog boarding. The dogs refused to eat for several days. This went on for about a week. We gave dogs other food in the meantime (i.e. rice, chicken, pumpkin). Two of three dogs were getting better, but (b) (6) was not. We had to take her into the Vet on more than one occasion. All labs were normal, but she had a fever so they gave an antibiotic. She seemed to do better, but still not great. She ate her food once and threw it all up a few hours later. We have since switched over to a low fat GI diet as the Vet recommended it since it had probiotics which can help with healing. I have spent hundred of dollars in vet charges, new food, and medications. She is still not 100% better. She is still fatigued, but I haven't noticed any vomiting or diarrhea. Feel free to contact me for more information. | 5 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 60 | Pound |

| EON-553098 | 11/10/2023 19:12 | Victor Super Premium dog food Select Chicken meal and brown rice formula | I bought a new bag of Victor food earlier in the day on 10/24/23 and fed it to all of my dogs. (b) (6) suffered severe repeated seizures, diarrhea, and lethargy throughout the night on 10/24/23. She had a couple more seizures the next day. She refused to eat, and was completely incoherent for 3 days. I initially thought it was a random event due to her older age, and thought she was going to pass away. I sedated her to relieve the seizures. Each day she seemed to improve, and is now acting more normal, but still shows effects from being ill. 1 other dog vomited sporadically for 5 days after. A 3rd dog had intermittent diarrhea. The 4th dog seemed ok. On 10/28/23, one of my horses started showing signs of fever and Colic. I administered banamine and he seemed to improve. On 10/29/23 he started to have diarrhea without fever. On 10/30/23 he started to show advanced signs of distress. My veterinarian came to examine him and determined he needed to go to a hospital for emergency treatment. He was at the clinic for 6 days receiving treatment for Enteritis. The attending vet said one of the potential causes could be Salmonella. I had maxed out my credit cards to pay the $5,000 bill and couldn't afford additional testing. 1 week later, both the dogs, and horse seem to be improving. I had no idea how these animals could suddenly be so sick, when they never had any illnesses prior. Then, I saw the recall for Victor dog food could be contaminated with Salmonella. I don't think this is a coincidence. I believe that the dog food was contaminated and made my animals sick. I feed my dogs in the morning, then straight outside to feed my horses. Its a definite possibility that my hands touching their hay could have transferred the Salmonella to them. | 13 | Years | Schnauzer - Miniature | Dog | 15 | Pound |
| EON-553095 | 11/10/2023 19:12 | Victor high enery | The patient presented as having inappetence for a few weeks before bringing in for an exam. RAdiogrphs showed some inflammation in the GI tract and the patient was sent home with cerenia . 3 days later the dog was febrile (103.9) , anorexic, and showing signs of GI distress such as retching, unproductive vomiting, hypersalivation and regurgitation. A visit to the Veterinary Emergency group showed normal abdominal radiographs, but a high WBC count. An in house urinalysis was run and it was concluded that the patient had a Urinary tract infection and was sent home on antibiotics. The patient did not improve in 24 hours, so was taken back to (b) (6) where the owner works as a Licensed Veterinary Technician. Symptomatic treatments and a fast scan ultrasound were performed. The following days the patient had declined again and a barium study was performed. The following day the radiograph taken 26 hours post-administration showed some uptake in the stomach. An endoscopy was performed and the patient was diagnosed with an gastric ulcer. Patient has an internal medicine consult on Monday Nov 13 , and is on supportive treatments at this time with slow improvement. | 19 | Months | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 68 | Pound |

| EON-553077 | 11/10/2023 18:36 | Victor Purpose Senior Healthy Weight with chicken & rice | (b) (6) started vomiting bile and large amounts of grass at first. The vet had us try a diet of cooked chicken and white rice. He prescribed metronidazole and cerenia and reglan. She immediately improved. After 2 wks on the cooked chicken diet, we transitioned her back to the Victor Senior Health with Chicken and Rice she had been eating when she became ill. Within 3 days, she was vomiting again with severe diarrhea. The vet said it had to be the food, so he switched her to a prescription diet of Royal Canin Gastrointestinal dry food. She has not had one episode of vomiting or diarrhea and is doing much better since being off the Victor food. After reading about the recall(s) we are convinced it was the Victor Senior Health with Chicken & Rice that made her sick. Meanwhile, the vet did $500 worth of testing - all normal values. I chatted online with a Victor customer service agent that denied it was the dog food. | 8 | Years | Pointing Dog - German Short-haired | Dog | 65 | Pound |

We served our dogs the food on November 4th. That night the dogs were sick and kept throwing up. We couldn't understand why. Then on Sunday morning when we went to feed them breakfast we noticed that there were flies inside the package of dog food. This is the second time that this has happened to us. The first time we were able to catch it before serving and thought that the package was damaged during shipping and that was why. I believe this happened in March (2023). So we contacted chewy.com and they replaced it. But this time the box was in perfect condition. We are concerned that this is an issue with their facility and would like the FDA to investigate it. I have already taken the liberty of reporting this issue to Chewy.com this morning, but I would advise the FDA to also reach out. I am concerned for the well being of other dogs. Please feel free to contact me at (b) (6) or (b) (6) | | | | | | |
| EON-552598 | 11/6/2023 3:44 | Portland Pet Food "Rosie's Beef and Rice." Dog Meal Pouch | I purchased Portland Pet Food Pouch at Whole Foods in (b) (6) My pet had consumed "Portland Pet Food Company's "BEEF and RICE formula." She consumed the food on February 28th, 2022 in the evening. Later that evening, she had diarrhea and lots of urination. I assumed it was because we had changed foods and presumed it was normal. The following day, she would not eat. I waited until evening and that is when I began to notice she had blood in her stool. Later in the middle of the night, she had what I now understand to be HGE (Acute hemorrhagic diarrhea syndrome (AHDS), also known as hemorrhagic gastroenteritis (HGE), is an acute (sudden) disorder of dogs characterized by vomiting and bloody diarrhea. Some dogs may have a painful abdomen, decreased appetite, lethargy, or fever. Most cases occur without warning in otherwise healthy dogs.) I went to the vet in the morning and nothing was confirmed. She became rapidly and severely dehydrated. She passed away later that evening. The predominant food that my pet ate was Portland Pet Food. I went through her medical records and went through my notes and receipts and discovered that once before she had consumed Portland Pet Food a few months prior. I had forgotten that she also got diarrhea and I had forgotten that we tried this brand of food before. I spoke with a representative of the food company. And I am unsure if the right lot number was tested. I recognized that egg shells, carrots, and peas are used as their primary ingredients and may had caused gastrointestinal issues with my pet twice. Portland Pet Food, "Beef and Rice." had a negative impact twice on my pet. While I wish I had remembered this. I'd like your consideration that the Beef and Rice formula had negative impact twice. I am unsure if its their beef source. If the eggshells should not be added? Would the FDA re-evaluate the formula to see if it is fit for senior dogs. | 16 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 40 | Pound |

On Sat Oct 28 severe Diarrhea, followed by vomiting several times over several days, still continuing. Vet office (over phone) prescribed probiotic (from their office) and diet of chicken and rice diet given in small portions. Diarrhea is finally better but dog still vomiting. Lean treats (from another batch) were previously given to dog by vet during routine exam and no issues. The bag says available only at vet office. My vet office did not have any in stock and said available on Amazon, which is where I purchased these. Called number on bag to report issue and was requested to send back to manufacturer. | EON-552361 | 11/3/2023 8:44 | Pedigree DENTASTIX Fresh | The manufacturer changed the ingredients, but kept the packaging the same. We noticed that the Pedigree Mint Dentastix smelled different. We then noticed the word "Mint" was replaced with "Fresh". My dog turned away when we offered it to her, but eventually ate it. She always grabbed it immediately in the past, but we noticed it smelled different. Shortly after eating it, she wasn't acting herself and seemed a bit anxious. The next night, we offered her another, and she again turned away from it, but eventually ate it. Then, we saw a much more significant change. She began acting as if she wanted to vomit and urgently wanted to go outside and eat grass. She was acting very nervous and uncomfortable and would seem to be trying to regurgitate. She also had diarrhea. After the 2nd stix, we never gave her another. I took a look at the Dentastix bag and began searching the ingredients. That was when I noticed an ingredient that is toxic to dogs. That ingredient is Green Tea Extract because it contains caffeine! Caffeine is a known toxin to dogs. I reported it to both Amazon where I bought the product from and also to Pedigree. It is supreme negligence that a company making a dog food product would include an ingredient that is toxic to dogs! Pedigree simply responded with a somewhat generic questionnaire even though I also sent them this website link to educate them. https://www.petpoisonhelpline.com/pet-safety-tips/is-caffeine-poisonous-to-dogs/ I requested that they recall the product immediately due to the level of toxicity that includes death. | 7 | Years | Havanese | Dog | 24 | Pound |

They began exhibiting erratic symptoms over the next few days, and then I began to experience loss of life within the fish. All other parameters were the same, and no other foods have been introduced since the event. It appears that these foods have been repackaged, as I have purchased EBO foods through another vendor before that had different sealed packaging. The bags that came with the JL Aquatics LLC EBO foods were in different, lower quality bags, and they lacked any ingredient list or expiration date. | EON-552358 | 11/3/2023 8:40 | Victor Super Permium High Pro Plus Dry Dog Food (40 lbs) | This morning (11/2/23), I saw a report on a dog food recall from Mid America mentioning the Victor brand. I saw in the article there was another recall back on Sept 3, 2023 and that indicated the Victor High Pro Plus 5lb bags. It said that there was salmonella and recalled. That trigger my memory on our 11 month old dog. She grew up eating the Victor High Pro Plus and never had any issues. Recently Aug/Sept she was not eating her food that she use to jump for and couldnt eat it fast enough. In addition to the lack of eating and disinterest, we also witnessed her vomiting. This occurred 3 times in the span of 1 to 2 days. There was a couple other episodes where she also vomited and still not eating her food. The vet thought that this may be due to her not being interested in the food any longer and wanted something new. After seeing this recall on the 5lb bag, it seems that should be investigated and expanded. We purchased the 40lb bag, this was from Amazon and that was back on August 13, 2023. She is still not eating normally and we have never seen this. Please look into this and make sure that other dogs are not getting sick by expanding this recall with Victor High Pro Plus. | EON-552059 | 11/1/2023 11:36 | Taste of the Wild PREY Angus Beef, Evanger's Salmon and Evanger's Hunk of Beef | Presented on 10/27/23 for a two week history of coughing and decreased appetite. Routine screening labwork unremarkable. Chest rads revealed severe cardiomegaly with mild pulmonary edema. A brief ultrasound was performed, showing no pericardial effusion and a subjectively thin ventricular wall. Brief consultation over text with cardiologist, she suspected DCM based on the radiographs. Unfortunately the patient passed away before making it to a cardiologist himself. There was a UC Davis study in 2018 that found a link between certain grain-free foods, particularly those containing legumes (as in (b) (6) Taste of the Wild PREY diet) and taurine-deficiency-related DCM. (b) (6) never had a heart murmur, and so prior to going into heart failure there was no reason to suspect heart disease. The typical DCM patient presents in late middle age or when geriatric. Age 3 is very unusually young. (b) (6) unusual presentation combined with his history of eating exclusively grain-free food throughout his adult life makes me suspicious for a chronic dietary component. A blood taurine level is currently pending. | 3 | Years | Pit Bull | Dog | 76 | Pound |

I've used these many times before with no issues. All 3 kinds. She has no known food allergies. She started to get vomiting and diarrhea. After 3 days, I took her to the vet and they did bloodwork, x-rays, and took a faecal sample. Nothing showed up other than inflamed, bowels and colon on x-ray. I switched her to a digestive care wet food, and she was put on antibiotics and it cleared up. I had not connected it to the blue buffalo food yet. About two weeks after the initial incident, I went back to feeding her the blue buffalo food. She then had vomiting and diarrhoea again. | EON-551912 | 10/30/2023 21:48 | Earthborn Holistic Venture Rabbit meal and pumpkin dry dog food | My dog has been eating the same food for almost 2 years without any problems. This most recent bag of food looked and smelled differently than it normally does. All previous bags over the last couple years had larger sized flat kibble that was a very dark brown, almost black in color and had an oily coating. This most recent kibble is brown covered in light brown crumbs and is much drier. I don't know how to describe the smell other than it didn't smell right or good. With this most recent bag, my dog initially ate it but ate much slower than he normally does. After a few days he started to refuse it and was spitting it out as if it tasted bad. I started adding green beans to it and he would finally eat it. After a day or so of him eating it he became really gassy and was having more bowel movements than normal. As days past his stool started to get really soft, but not quite diarrhea. After about a week he started to act like he wasn't feeling well and was refusing some meals and not eating. I had to feed him this food for several weeks while I found a new food that wouldn't trigger his IBD and then had to slowly transition him to the new food. He hasn't had any problems since he stopped eating the food and is completely back to normal. | 6 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 80 | Pound |

I gave him 1 when I got home and another around 9 pm. On Saturday 9/23, I gave him 1 around 9 am and another 1 at 7 pm. I noticed his stools were loose at his bowel movement in the evening, which was not normal. While watching TV at approximately 10 pm, I noticed him start panting and acting strange, pacing around the house. I realized something was wrong when he started having diarrhea and vomiting, which went on all night, all day Sunday 9/24 and all day Monday, 9/25. The only thing he had outside of his kibble were the 4 treats. He was taken to the vet Monday morning, where he was given IV and medications to stop the vomiting and diarrhea. The vet asked what were the treats and noticed there was garlic powder and onion extract in the ingredients. My concern is that there may be a risk of too much of these ingredients in this product that can affect other dogs. I reached out to JM Smucker company on 9/27, they responded the following day via telephone, they said that there would only be small amounts of those ingredients and they gave me a reference number of 16219044. They have not followed up since then. I still have the product if it is needed to test. . | 2 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 30 | Pound |
| EON-551860 | 10/30/2023 13:44 | Fish & Sweet Potato 18 oz (21pk) Md Box JustFoodForDogs Fresh Frozen | Hello! My dog was always eating this recipe which I cooked by myself. At some point I decided to switch to the same recipe but fresh frozen packs. I thawed the food in the microwave, gave my dog her morning portion and evening portion. During the night and in the morning my dog was vomiting this food, then she started vomiting foam. Her diarrhea started right after. She was vomiting throughout the morning as well. After a day she started having blood come out of her bottom without her even realising it. She would just sit on the floor and blood would come out. She didn't want to eat, she didn't have energy and couldn't even get up and walk 3 feet. She was admitted into the ER and had to stay there for 24 hours because the doctors couldn't discharge her. Antibiotics and meds were not working for her, she was absolutely dehydrated. It costed us a fortune to keep her there, they did multiple tests and gave her a lot of fluid and meds. At the end the doctor called me and said that the new food caused this horrifying reaction. I was shocked, was I was cooking the same recipe before with the food that I bought from Trader Joes and never my dog had any kind of reaction. I honestly don't know which fish and vegetables Justfoodfordogs uses and how they store it and under what temperature. After sending the ER records to the company - they somehow gave me the answer within a couple of hours (compared to weeks of waiting for the answer) and said - not literally - that there's no particular connection between the justfoodfordogs food and my dog experiencing bloody diarrhoea, vomiting, zero energy and utter dehydration. They told me they can not admit it's their fault because I defrosted the food in the microwave. And they write on the package that you should defrost in the refrigerator (for hours). I hardly doubt that defrosting food in the microwave can make a dog throw up, have bloody stool, feel and look awful for days, and experience pain. I would really appreciate the FDA's help because I don't want other dogs to suffer and equally as important - for their owners to be ignored. Thank you so much. | 4 | Years | Bulldog - French | Dog | 21 | Pound |
| EON-551859 | 10/30/2023 13:44 | Reveal Chicken Selection in Broth | Reveal's canned cat product is being marketed as a "food" when it is a treat. They are made by MPM Products, a company out of the UK and with a headquarters in the Atlanta area. Yes, they put the necessary phrasing "this item is intended for supplemental feeding only" on the can, but 1) it's not easy to find and 2) they require their (or any, I assume) kibble to make a balanced diet. This is dishonest marketing. Other "shreds in broth" treats made by Fancy Feast and more, all clearly indicate, treat, they don't imply they're a real meal. | | | | | | |

I noticed once I took the treat out of the bag it had a white powdery substance. Upon looking deeper into the bag other nubz were covered in fuzzy white mold. I assumed it a bag bad and grabbed another bag and opened it only to come across the same mold. That prompted me to check every bag of Nubz I purchased and all of this same lot consistently has mold. Of the 10 bags purchased, 6 had mold so my dogs have potentially been eating moldy treats. Bags I purchased with a different lot and expiration to not contain mold in the package. | | | | | | |
| EON-551642 | 10/27/2023 11:04 | Nylabone Natural Nubz Edible Dog Chews | We purchased a few bags of nylabone's dog bones with real chicken. The first bag was fine. However, the second and third bags were covered in mold. The expiration date is May 2026! I contacted Nylabone via phone - no phone call yet. The person that responded on Facebook removed my complaints on their page but said I could PAY to return the items via mail. When I realized that they deleted my posts, I figured maybe it was better to report this issue to prevent other families from getting molded products too. Thankfully we caught it - the smell was horrible upon opening the bag. | | | | | | |

| EON-551522 | 10/26/2023 10:44 | Merrick Healthy Grains Senior Recipe Dry Dog Food 25-lb bag | I ordered the same food I get her from Chewy, New bag came in Wednesday October 11th by October 15th my dog was having diarrhea. She does not eat anything nor treats. I stopped her vitamins. I made her bland food for 2 days and she got better. I assumed she ate something she wasn't supposed to. Gave her a little bit of kibble mix with the bland and by the next morning she had diarrhea again. At this point we concluded possibly it is the fold. The vet set stick to the bland food, and have the seller refund me as he suspects a tainted food bag. Switch to bland food for about 5 days and she has been fine and firm stool. I ordered new kibble from a different seller and smaller size test if maybe she formed some sort of allergy towards the kibble. Oct 24th i mix a little of the kibble with her bland food. No reaction, gave the best stool for the past week. I continue to mix the kibble and no reaction for now. I believe the original bag might be in fact tainted. | 11 | Years | American Pit Bull Terrier | Dog | 52 | Pound |

| EON-551520 | 10/26/2023 10:44 | Acana Grain-Free | (b) (6) started coughing one day and it was increasingly becoming worse. I took him to the vet after about a week of trying antibiotics which didn't help, so the vet did an X-ray and told me he had a bunch of fluid in his lungs and his heart was double the normal size, it was then he was diagnosed with DCM. I scheduled an appointment for three days after for a EKG. however, two days before he went into congestive heart failure so I had to rush him to the ER. The ER staff asked me what dog food he was on, which was ACANA Grain-free, which they then informed me it had been a common food dogs have been on who have gotten this disease. He was only on it for less than 5 years before he started showing symptoms. I didn't want to buy him crummy grocery store dog food so I was willing to pay close to $100 a month on good dog food for his health. He is now on crummy grocery store dog food and three different medications he has to take two times a day. | 8 | Years | Collie (unspecified) | Dog | 50 | Pound |

| EON-551224 | 10/24/2023 14:28 | Hills science diet Chicken and barley entrée Adult 1-6 | I adopted a 3-year old female dog, (b) (6) in January 2023. I began feeding her Hills Science Diet, which is a brand I have used with all my dogs since 2005. She's been eating their Chicken and Barley Entree (adult 1-6) pate since I adopted her. I have been purchasing this canned food through chewy.com, on a monthly basis. At the end of July, I opened a can of this food and used some of it to feed (b) (6). A portion of the food was left. I put a lid on the can and put it in the refrigerator (this is a standard for me). I had purchased a case of food, and this was the last can. I had a second case in my cupboard. When I retrieved the can of dog food from the refrigerator and took the lid off, I noticed a red substance around the side of the can and covering the top of the food. I had no idea what it was, so I threw the can away and took a can from the next case of food and used it. There were no issues with this can of food. I was about 3/4 of the way through this case when I encountered another can of dog food with the same substance. Before throwing it away, I went on the web and did a bunch of research trying to figure out what this was. I had never ever come across this before, and so I was really puzzled. I called chewy.com and spoke with someone on the customer service line. I explain to her the issue with the red substance. She asked me if I wanted to return it, I told her I really wanted to know what it was. She said she had no idea but she could offer me a refund. In this case of food, I found two more cans that had this substance in it after opening it, and using a portion of it. It was not present when I first opened the can. This was the end of August and I wasn't sure what to do. It seemed unusual that only a few cans had this substance. I called chewy.com again and spoke with a customer service representative. He had not heard of this and had No idea what was happening. He recommended that I call Hill's directly and gave me their phone number. | | | | | | |

| | | | I called Hill's. I spoke with a woman and I explain to her what was happening. I told her I was extremely concerned about what was causing this red substance to appear in their food. She explained to me that the red substance was a bacteria which was harmful to dogs and it was caused by contaminated utensils coming into contact with the food. When I asked how this could possibly happen, she told me that the utensils I was using for the dog food were not being properly washed. I pointed out to her a number of reasons why this did not make sense to me and why I didn't think that was the problem: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. I have been using this brand since 2005 and have never ever encountered this issue before. Additionally, I was feeding this exact same food to (b) (6) for seven months and have not encountered it during that time. It was not until July that I first began to see this issue. 2. I have not changed anything about the way I feed (b) (6) I wash her bowls, utensils and lids the same way I always have. 3. Nothing in mine and (b) (6) environment has changed and we have not purchased anything that would effect her food. 4. It just didn't pass the common sense test. She told me I could call chewy.com and get a refund, which I did. After this call, I purchased new lids and began sanitizing (b) (6) utensils and bowl. The next can I opened developed this bacteria. I stopped using the product. This issue has not caused any harm to my dog, and it has not caused any financial harms. However, this issue greatly concerns me. And I would like you to please look into this. The date the problem started in estimate. | | | | | | |

| EON-551097 | 10/22/2023 22:24 | IAMS Proactive Health Indoor Adult Dry Cat Food - Weight & Hairball Care Chicken | After coming home from being out for several hours on the evening of Sunday, October 15, I found the affected cat (b) (6) had vomited twice, once in the food dish. His behavior was unusual - he did not come to me for attention. He did not want to be moved or picked up and tried to hide from me, which is not typical. He was lethargic and had copious white foam coming from his mouth. He also had audibly labored breathing. This issue developed suddenly, as the cat had been well and normal that morning. I cleaned up his face. Since he had eaten food and immediately vomited it up twice (the kibbles were still intact and visible), I suspected the food was the cause of his illness, especially after finding that this food product (Iams Proactive Health Chicken indoor cat food) has had multiple recalls due to Salmonella contamination in the last five years. I took the food away and left the cats with water only for that night. There are no 24-hour emergency pet hospitals near my home, so I just left the cat alone to rest overnight. In the morning, (b) (6) was more interactive again, so I offered him a different food, and he ate well. He recovered well. The other cat that was kept with him and ate the same food did not seem to be affected. | 6 | Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | 20 | Pound |

| EON-551033 | 10/21/2023 19:04 | Nylabone Natural Nubz | We purchased nylabone natural nubz from Costco October, 2023. We regularly purchase these treats from Costco. This particular batch smelled completely different from what they typically smelled like. Assuming they may have changed up the ingredients or that I just had never paid attention to the smell, I gave both of my dogs half of a nub. Several hours later one of my dogs threw up contents that looked like the Nylabone nubz. The next morning my other dog threw up the same thing. Realizing this wasn't just a "one off" thing, I inspected the contents of the Nylabone bag further, I found white fuzzy mold all over bones that were stuck together in a large clump. Knowing what the product typically looks and smells like, we decided to return the product. | 7 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 60 | Pound |

| EON-550968 | 10/20/2023 13:44 | Heartland Farms Naturals Sweet Potato & Chicken Wraps | Dog has been eating 1-3 Heartland Naturals Farms Sweet Potato and chicken wraps Dog Treats for probably a year. Recently, the product had looked different. The "potato" part appears to be less "cooked". Dog has been eating these undercooked treats for several months. Yesterday after receiving one treat in the morning (dog had nothing else to eat but the treat), dog began throwing up after a few minutes after consuming. After initially expelling the treat, dog continued to vomit. Vomit was a green liquid (bile?), and white foam. Continued throwing up throughout the day and evening. Marked difference in dog's personality - lethargic, increased thirst, loss of appetite. Following day (today), dog has yet to eat any food, still lethargic, not vomited since yesterday around 9p. | 10 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 75 | Pound |
| EON-550965 | 10/20/2023 13:40 | Golden Premium Rewards Dog Treats | I found (b) (6) late one cold rainy night last February, he was laying in the road with a broken leg. After an emergency vet visit and a couple months to recover he was so happy in his new home with his 2 new best friends. I had been giving Golden Rewards Dog Treats to my dogs thinking they were a good choice after checking the ingredients. I had noticed the smallest of my boys "Chihuahua" has gotten sick a few times but thought it was from eating too much or just an upset stomach until last Sunday. I had almost ran out of Treats with only small pieces left, I took out the oxygen absorber packets and put those in the trash and shared the treats with the boys then left to buy more. While I was gone, (b) (6) got the oxygen absorber packets out of the trash can and ate the contents. I had no idea the contents of that package was pure poison..elemental iron powder, not silicon or something safe for animals or humans. (b) (6) died on the way to the veterinarian, I lost something very special that night and I want to give warning to anyone that uses this product. It should be banned until they can make it 100% safe. | 9 | Months | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 30 | Pound |

| EON-550961 | 10/20/2023 13:40 | Kirkland Signature Nature's Domain | She was having urinary issues so she was given some medication to help with it, we thought the medication was upsetting her stomach because she seemed like she kept gagging, so we took her in again and the vet heard her "gagging." She wanted to test her urine and do a chest X-ray because she heard a murmur on exam, so she also ordered labs. At her follow up where she was going to get the chest X-ray, were told her urine looks like crushing syndrome, but her main concern was the X-ray which showed DCM. She asked about the food we gave her and when I said grain free she said that's the problem and told me about the investigation with the FDA. Had maybe 1/4 of the bag starting approximately on 10-04-23 , by 10/12/23 was throwing up contacted our Vet which he saw her on Friday (10/13/23) diagnoses was sever pancreatitis gave some meds. Saturday (10/14/23) was still extremely sick and throwing up a lot more so more meds. By Sunday morning(10/15/23) Bren was even worse and her throwing up had a fowl order. she was kept put on IV's and medicine. That evening our vet did x-rays her pancreas was swollen, stomach was double the size and her esophagus was extremely enlarged. At this time our vet had told us it was toxin asking questioning if we had a compost(which we don't), if she was ever outside by herself and got into anything(which she was never, I was always sitting there with her). She never left my side. Our vet proceeded with more meds by Monday evening(10/16/2023) it was affecting her respiratory. Then early Tuesday morning(10-17-23) we knew she was struggling and had our vet put her sleep after we knew there was nothing else they could do for this young pup. | 15 | Months | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 60 | Pound |

| EON-550792 | 10/18/2023 14:56 | Taste of the Wild High Prairie | Followed new food into protocols for changing dog food. Dog began to have loose stools. By 2 weeks was dog have blowout diarrhea or liquid stools regularly whereby owner discontinued dog food. Upon calling Chewy consumer learned that there were multiple instances of dogs having severe diarrhea symptoms from this food from approximately May-October 2023. Many dogs had been on this food for a long time before experiencing the adverse symptoms from a particular "batch". My dog has not been on the food for several days and is still experiencing loose stools. Liquid stools, weight loss, etc. Please note I transitioned from the Taste of the Wild Lamb to their High Prairie. Because I wanted to be certain new food was agreeing with my dog I abstained from treats & other foods so as not to confuse what a reaction was stemming from. My dog was also not exposed to any other environmental factors which cause these particular symptoms during this time frame. For e.g. no lakes, rivers, dog parks, drinking from outdoor puddle, eating of other dog fecis, eating of other substances, etc. Dog kept on leash and closely monitored at all times. | 3 | Years | Shepherd Dog - German | Dog | 60 | Pound |

We have been concerned because many people trust that the products were manufactured and sold following the law/rules because the pet food is sold at a shop in Japan. However, as long as we see the labelings, We are actually not sure who make the pet food and the manufacturer has authorization by FDA. If the Hawaii business just exports the ingredients, the business owner is not a veterinarian nor herbalist. We don't think that the owner has knowledge to make pet foods. Moreover, the ship which sell the pet food in Japan is one of the franchise companies of the Hawaii business. But any of them who work at the shop are veterinarian or herbalist who are educated. (The Hawaii business owner runs the school and herbal cafe, but she doesn't have knowledge about herbs.) | | | | | | |
| EON-550535 | 10/17/2023 9:48 | NuVet Plus Feline Powder (a supplement) | I have been feeding a supplement from NuVet Labs, NuVet Plus Feline for over a year and, because I am a breeder of pedigreed cats, have recommended the product to several of my adoptive kitten families. Lately I have been getting comments from families, and in fact with my own cats, that they haven't been eating like they should and there has been some vomiting. I went to my account executive and have had to ask several times for the Guaranteed Analysis on the product. The only information they would send is the ingredients in the product. I finally called and asked again and this is the email I was sent: Our research team went to exacting standards and poured over copious amounts of research to ensure that the ingredients we used weren't just effective, but were also safe and the best version available. Considering the amount of work we put into formulating our proprietary blend, we closely guard information on specific ingredients. What I can tell you is that each batch is tested three times for potency and safety and since 1997 we have had exactly 0 safety recalls. Our testimonials on third party review sites like the BBB and Trust Pilot speak for themselves. The company refuses to disclose any information about the Guaranteed Analysis or the Product Analysis for this supplement. Needless to say I will be writing to all of my customers telling them to stop feeding this product. I had to throw away four containers of the product at a loss of over $100. I don't know if it's required or if it's just 'highly recommended' to provide the information. Everything that is edible, whether for people or animals, all seems to carry this information. My contact information is: (b) (6) Thank you for your help with my concerns. Here is a link to their website: https://nuvet.com/ Their products are for dogs and cats. NOTES: I had to have one kitten euthanized without knowing the reason. I've had three kittens from pet owners that I refunded the purchase price because the kittens were underweight and not eating well. | | | Abyssinian cat | Cat | | |

(Purchased at PetSmart) Skin + Coat Support Whole Muscle Jerky. 2 days later, our dog became very sick. Was vomiting, and became very dehydrated. Vomiting started on 9/29 and has vomited 6 times in one evening and continued to vomit the day. Has not had a bowel movement in 3 days... We took him to an emergency clinic where he was put on an IV and X-rays where taken. He also vomited continuously while at the emergency vet. The Vet gave him anti nausea medicine with his IV and also fluids. He was unable to keep food down for 3 more days and lost 2 pounds. During this illness he was very lethargic and panted with drooling. The vet recommended pain medication without knowing the reason for the pain. Copy of final report has been uploaded. Additional records on request. Two weeks out, (10/15) he continues to have a few episodes of vomiting but has made a marked improvement. We attribute this illness to the Chicken Jerky that we purchased from PetSmart. | 11 | Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 63 | Pound |

| EON-550079 | 10/11/2023 15:52 | Pet Pride Puppy Chicken Flavor | We purchased a small bag (4.4 lbs) of Kroger Brand "Pet Pride Puppy Food" for our litter of puppies to hold them over until we could get a bag of their regular food - they had already been weaned to dry food and doing well and thriving on a different brand. The day after they started eating this food, 3 out of the 11 of them died. The next day, 4 more died. The next day the remaining 4 also died. We had no suspicion of it being from the food at first as we are aware that puppies do contract diseases at times and it is sometimes inevitable that this happens. They were kept outside in an open to air fenced in pen with a large dog house for shelter. After they all passed - 2 days later, we took the remainder of the puppy food (which was very little) & mixed it in with our other dogs regular food as not to waste it. Less than 24 hours after eating the same food, my 1 year old male Pomeranian that was an inside dog & had no other ties, contact, or connection with the puppies quickly fell ill and was showing all the signs of poisoning and/or mold toxicity. He was acting completely normal and energetic as usual the day before eating the food. He was a healthy dog and had no health issues. We had him his entire -short- life, as he also passed from the sickness. It was VERY quick & happened in the middle of the night on the weekend when there is no vet access close by, so we were unable to take him to a vet. He died in my husband's arms after suffering from confusion, loss of bowel/ urinary control, uncontrollable vomiting, then eventually loss of motor function & multiple seizures right before passing. Our 3 large dogs also had 1 bowl of the mixed food, but appear to be unaffected - I am assuming because they are much bigger and can clear it better. The ONLY thing linking these otherwise healthy 12 dogs is the food they had eaten. We have reached out to Kroger with no response other than comments on our social media posts claiming that they have reached out to us, but they have not. | | | Other Canine/dog | Dog | | |

| EON-550070 | 10/11/2023 15:16 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food | We've been feeding my dog Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice Adult recipe for around a month - she had previously been eating the puppy version of the same exact food. We transitioned her food per vet recommendation over a two week period. Once we transitioned her off of her old food, we started seeing some weird signs that something wasn't right. She started growling at us when we would release her to eat (she had previous resource guarding issues that we had resolved, so we thought she was still having some insecurity around food). She has thrown up 4 times in the past month, once in her crate which is super unlike her (has never had a single accident in her crate). She has been restless and more destructive than usual (biting chairs and door frames, and tearing up blankets in her crate at night, which she hasn't done for months), and we provided more enrichment and exercise but she could never seem to get enough. She's been more skittish and on edge as well. She's been rejecting almost all of her morning food, and only eating her dinner because by the end of the day she's starving. She'll smell the kibble and then leave, and when I try to get her to eat some through hand feeding she'll spit it out. We've tried putting warm water in it and toppers in, but she still hadn't been eating like usual. To give some context - this is a dog that normally devours her food in 15 seconds or less, and we used to train with her puppy kibble, but haven't been able to at all with this food, because it's more of a punishment than a positive. Yesterday, I tried giving her a special treat after I went to Petco and she didn't eat any and instead hid it. This is when I knew something was definitely wrong - she's been to the vet before because she got too excited and swallowed 8 inches of a bully stick whole. I switched her off of the kibble last night and her behavior has 180'd completely. For the past 3 meals (chicken and rice), she has been eating enthusiastically again (slow feeder necessary), has been able to calm down at night and otherwise, has stopped growling when I give her food (releases for food on command), and while she's still been more nervous than usual we're hoping she'll fully recover when she starts feeling better. We will continue to watch her behavior, but are planning on going in to the vet to get her checked out in case there are any health issues this has created. I've reached out to Purina to let them know something is wrong with the food with very little response, so am reaching out here. There are countless posts on Chewy's website, Purina's website, and Petco's website about other dogs having issues with the food. | 1 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 53 | Pound |

| EON-549602 | 10/10/2023 10:08 | Redbarn Bargain Bag | On Thursday my dog was given the bone from the redbarn bargain bag. He's had other brands before no issue. This bone broke so easily into many pieces, I never seen this happen before. We tried to take them away but he ate several. He vomited 7 times before taking him to the hospital Friday morning. The hospital said they can give some anti-vomit and try to get him to natural digest the bones. He sadly was unable to and was hospitalized and later required surgery. He's now on 9 medications and slowly recovering. I initially let redbarn know he was on the way to the hospital. They said they're sorry, hope he's ok and can provide another treat option for free. I was of course upset and waited to respond. I then informed them he's not ok, had to get surgery and has a long road to recovery. There were times we thought he wouldn't survive! There's still a risk as he still needs to hit a few more progress marks. They said they can open an investigation if we are able to provide them the information on the bag. I am waiting for their response after providing them the information. This treatment/surgery is costing us over 8,000 dollars. | 8 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 73 | Pound |

| EON-549598 | 10/10/2023 10:04 | Weruva Cat's In the Kitchen "Press Your Lunch!" 3.0 oz cans | I exclusively buy Weruva's Press Your Lunch! 3.0 oz cans for my cat, feeding them to her twice daily. Since July, from multiple retailers the cans have had a horrible smell when opening them and no longer smell like chicken like they normally did. I've been having to return the cans after almost every purchase. At first I thought that I had a lot number that were spoiled, but later found that this wasn't the case as the issue is consistently happening with multiple lots. Then I thought the cans may have spoiled from being exposed to heat during shipping but again have found that this isn't the case. This first occurred with a delivery ordered from Petco; the retailer marked the cans as contaminated/spoiled and didn't resell the cans. I then ordered the cans for store pickup and the same thing happened. I then had to wait for both the cans to be ordered and search for them elsewhere which is why I started buying them in store at Pet Supplies Plus and Petsmart. Unfortunately the same issue happened at all three retailers and happened after the summer heat dissipated. Most recently this happened at Petco with an order that was shipped and delivered when the temperatures were in the 40's and 50's consistently. I again am being forced to spend money on food that is spoiled or contaminated. I am disabled and not able to work and this is really putting a dent in my already difficult/low budget, there have been over 100 cans that have consistently had this issue for over the last three months. The store has been great in allowing the returns and when I bring the spoiled product in each time they are agreeing with me that the product is spoiled. I did have more difficulty with Petco's web customer service facilitating refunds for the defective orders that were placed online for delivery but with time and contacting them multiple times they did so. | | | | | | |

| EON-549429 | 10/7/2023 15:08 | Hills Science diet senior vitality | I slowly switched my dogs to science diet senior vitality after one of my clients gave me a bag after their dog was put down due to health issues. This was in March or April 2023. In July 2023, they were both fully on science diet senior vitality. Within a week of fully being on this food, my 12 year old dog quickly declined. She appear bloated, struggling to walk (she has had weak back legs for some time, but this was extreme suddenly). She started to have excessive thirst, accidents in the house (urine), pacing, heavy panting, unable to run or jump onto couch, and overall ill appearance. The other dog seemed to be just fine on this food. After 2 months of this, I realized the owners who gave me the original bag when their dog was put down had dealt with the exact same issues (weakness, accidents, excessive thirst). They put the dog down due to the quality of life. I decided to put my dog back on her previous food and over the past month she is nearly back to normal. She can even do a little running. 0 accidents, no excessive thirst, no obvious bloating. No longer pacing either. Still gassy at times, but is able to get onto couch again. There seems to be an issue in some dogs who eat this food. I've spoken with our vet during this process and am concerned there is an issue with this food for some dogs and on the surface doesn't seem like it's food but more normal aging and decline. I worry more dogs are being put down for this when it's actually the food! | 12 | Years | Unknown | Dog | 40 | Pound |

| EON-548979 | 10/5/2023 9:12 | Authority veterinarian recommended small breed ages 1 plus adult Small breed chicken and rice formula. | After preparing my dog's food which consists of adding water to soften it I noticed green specks on a couple of the pieces of kibble and when I investigated they felt hard like plastic. I am not sure if it's related but (b) (6) did vomit all of his food on 10/04/23 which was the last time I gave him food but as I prepared his food this morning that's when I noticed the plastic and thought maybe that's what caused his vomiting on October 4th so I did not give him the food I had to get something else. | EON-548967 | 10/5/2023 8:00 | Putina One Lamb & Rice Formula | We have 2 dogs in our house one (13) and the other (6) and we have been feeding Purina One Lamb and Rice food to for years. The last larger bag we bought the dogs seem to avoid or struggle to want to eat it. A short time ago roughly 2 weeks ago the older dog started to spit out the larger pieces of lamb and wouldn't eat them. We tried to feed him some of the smaller pieces of lamb and he also spit them out and shook his head like they were bad or something was wrong with them. We removed the lamb pieces but continued to feed the kibble part. Neither dog was too keen on eating this so we tried some other foods we have. On Tuesday September 26 he started to vomit and the time frame was getting shorter in between him puking . Thursday September 28 I called our vet and they squeezed us in to get him checked out. Did blood work and found out Kidney and liver functions were not very good . Was given meds to try and correct the issues but his health continued to get worse to where he would not eat or drink . We did get some meds in him but the puking continued and got worse. We used syringes we had to keep water and a food paste we made with corn syrup to maintain his blood sugar level. Was getting increasingly harder to get anything in him. At this point he could not walk anymore as he is too weak and his blood sugar level is slowly falling. Its now evident to us he's dying on us and there is nothing more we can do. On Sunday night Oct 1 around 6:50 PM he passed away. Our other dog is being watched closely as she is struggling a little bit to eat sometimes. We are wondering if there is a way this food can or should be tested in some way in case there are more bags of food out there that may have an issue. At this point we don't know what way to turn on this matter. Please advise if there is something you feel needs to be done for a test or investigation of the food. Thank You. | 13 | Years | Great Pyrenees | Dog | 68 | Pound |

My pup had them chewed where they splintered in about 30 minutes. Those things are unsuitable and dangerous for dogs I bought the thickest ones I could find. | EON-548902 | 10/4/2023 10:12 | Zignature Trout & Salmon Meal Formula | We were feeding him the Zignature lamb formula from March 2023 to mid-July 2023. We weren't seeing enough improvement from the food he was previously eating, so we decided to switch back to fish as the protein. On July 18, 2023, I purchased Zignature Trout and Salmon formula and started transitioning him over the next day. He has been eating the Zignature Trout and Salmon continuously since then. In December 2022, he weighed 69 pounds at his vet appointment at the age of 13 months old. In August 2023, he went back to the vet and weighed 76 pounds. We were informed that he was a bit overweight and the vet would prefer him to slim down to 70 pounds. We reevaluated the amount of food he was eating, and consulted the recommended feeding guidelines on the bag, dropping him down to the lowest recommended amount for a 60-80 pound dog - 4 cups. Additionally, we cut out all treats and chews and even tried to feed closer to 3 and a half cups, but he wasn't losing weight. He has been quite itchy still, so I started looking at other foods and when comparing the small bags of the different brands, we discovered that according to the 4lb bag of Zignature, he should only be eating 2 1/4 to 2 3/4 cups of food per day. However, the 12.5lb bag and 25 lb bag, both of which were the ones I was purchasing, have an incorrect feeding chart and kcals on them. When contacting Pets Global, they informed me of a formula change that increased the amount of protein, therefore increasing the number of kcals, and to consult the website for the most up-to-date recommended feeding guidelines. According to my bag, there are 337 kcal per cup, whereas the website says 395 kcal per cup. As a result of an inaccurate recommended feeding guidelines chart after a formula change, which was not publicly shared and the bags were not all updated to reflect this change, my dog now weighs 84 pounds. He gained 8 pounds in less than 2 months on this food as he was eating double what he should have been eating directly resulting from incorrect information on the bag. He is 1 year and 10 months old, and he was previously a healthy weight. Now, he pants like he was running and doing super strenuous activity for a long time after a brisk walk around the block. | 2 | Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 84 | Pound |

The emergency vet did an ultrasound and he showed no signs of blockage or excessive inflammation/distention. This was the second can of this they'd had, I bought 3 or 4 to try it out as a treat in between their grain-free regular food. The first one seemed was fine the reaction was to this can specifically. My concern is that the lot might be rancid. | EON-548711 | 10/2/2023 10:56 | Dr. Elsey's Clean Protein Duck & Turkey Recipe Pate | We received a new shipment of Dr Elsey's wet food direct from the manufacturer. We pulled a case of Duck / Turkey food for (b) (6). We were told it was a new formula so the difference in texture didn't surprise us but it did have a very unpleasant smell. The next few days feeding the food (b) (6) vomited multiple times. We switched to a different flavor / meat and the vomiting resolved. He is our clinic cat. We contacted the manufacturer and they are sending us replacement food and say they are going back to the old formula but no other clients were contacted (many have said their cats refuse the food) and no sample was requested for testing. | EON-548655 | 10/1/2023 12:12 | Blue Basics Limited Ingredient Skin & Stomach Care Salmon & Potato. | Since switching to Blue Buffalo a few years ago, My Shipoo (Shitzu Mini Poodle mix) dog (b) (6) developed new allergies- itching/paws inflamed and ear infections. (b) (6) (14 y/o Chow mix) was allergy tested about 10 years ago- has a history of allergies to environmental allergens. (b) (6) and (b) (6) has been eating Blue Buffalo Lamb & Rice version for a few years and ever since (b) (6) has been getting increased skin issues since then- infected skin patches, hair falling out, ear infections, R eye so swollen, I could not see the eyeball- went to the Vet ER. Recently last month- on 8/11/23 I bought a different version of Blue Buffalo- Blue Senior Dog Chicken & Brown Rice for (b) (6) but (b) (6) does get into (b) (6) food so he consumed it too. (b) (6) started new retching since introducing this new version of Blue, then (b) (6) & (b) (6) followed with some vomiting- yellow/white emesis with increasing frequency as the weeks passed. Took (b) (6) and (b) (6) to their local Vet (b) (6) for continued treatment for allergies and mentioned the new gagging/retching and vomiting in both dogs. Then I switched their usual Blue food to Blue Basics limited ingredients Salmon Skin & Stomach- bought on 9/23/23 to see if this would help with the allergies they both suffer from. On 9/28/23 around 8:15 pm, (b) (6) was acting hyper and had the zoomies then shortly after I heard commotion in the hallway and seen (b) (6) laying on his right side, having his first ever seizure, foaming at the mouth, unconscious, eyes dilated, teeth clenched, muscle twitching, uncontrollable shaking, paddling motions with legs, stiffing and vomiting yellow emesis noted on floor. Took him to (b) (6) Vet ER and (b) (6) was diagnosed with idiopathic Epilepsy but I forgot to mention the new food and did not make the connection until after I watched (b) (6) eat this kibble. I then threw their food plates of this food away. (b) (6) luckily did not eat any of the Blue Basics the night after the ER. (b) (6) vomited/coughed up spit the next morning. (b) (6) vomited violently the next afternoon. I switched their food to Purina Pro Plan as recommended by their vet and they have been feeling better and no more Seizure. I checked the expiration date to confirm it was still good, but did not notice the see through window in the packaging to examine the treats. I purchased the treats thinking that they were safe and immediately gave my dog one when we got to the car. Upon arriving home, I had my first chance to look inside the bag distraction free and as I reached to grab another treat for my dog I noticed that 1/5 of the tops of the treats had white mold growing on them! Quite a bit, too. Days later, I took the time to write to Petco about the incident. I asked that they reach out to the manufacturer and said I would, too. After emailing, I went to look up WholeHearted and found that Petco owns the brand. In their first email reply I was told to return it to the store. I live a ways away from (b) (6) so I couldn't. I posted a review including the moldy photos. After that, they reached out again and offered me a gift card for the amount spent, but both times they did not mention if they were investigating the matter, removing or recalling the product, or if they let their WholeHearted department know about the incident. I don't think they were going to look into it. I'm filing a report just to be safe as I'm unsure if they will do anything for the safety of the pets that consume the food. I asked them again to let the manufacturer know and that I would also like to contact them to ensure something is being done. | | | | | | |

| EON-548316 | 9/27/2023 10:44 | Evanger's Super Premium Lamb and Rice Dinner | I have been ordering Evanger's Lamb and Rice canned food for dogs for several months. The first few batches were great. They looked good, smelled healthy and like lamb and were a natural color. A little while ago my new batches arrived (from Chewy.com who have been notified and refunded my purchases) that were an artificial reddish in color and a nasty smell, like rotting meat. At first I thought I was imagining things but found an older can and it was not the same produce at all! Occasionally there were black spots where I threw the whole can away. I did some research and saw that they have had many years of problems and corruption. Please investigate. It wouldn't surprise me if it wasn't even lamb but horsemeat or something worse. My pet has not been sickened but my stomach turns over every time I smell it, and I don't like the idea of dyes in my pet's food. Also why the unannounced change in formula. If I had to guess I'd say they have gone back to their old corrupt ways. (Of course I didn't know their history until just now). Thank you for investigating this troubling product. | | | | | | |

| EON-548233 | 9/26/2023 10:04 | Sundays | I ordered Sunday's air dried turkey. It was delivered. I kept it in the sealed bag and used it several times, and it had a very strong odor. I attributed this to the fact that it was air dried, and I'd never gotten the turkey before, just the beef. A few days later my dog became very ill. I looked at the air dried turkey more closely and found white mold on some of the pieces. It wasn't noticeable at first glance as it was only on some of the pieces. I have pictures of it and may send it out to be tested. I got in touch with the company, I didn't know I wasn't supposed to do that first. They said they'd look into it. I still have it in case I do want to send it out for analysis. | | | | | | |

For the past nearly two weeks after eating the lamb and oatmeal variety she was sick with diarrhea and foul gas. She also had bad breath. This started after she began eating from a bag of food bought from a PetSmart and then continued after she ate from another bag that was bought on Amazon. Ever since I have taken her off the food, the diarrhea, foul gas and bad breath have stopped. | 8 | Years | Pinscher - Miniature | Dog | 14 | Pound |
| EON-548144 | 9/25/2023 1:56 | Simply Nourish® Limited Ingredient Diet Large Breed Adult Dry Dog Food - Salmon & Sweet Potato | My dog (b) (6) started coughing early August 2023, we took him to the vet and they observed tachycardia (an irregular heartbeat). They referred us to a specialist vet, which was only booking 1 month out so we had an appointment booked for Sept 4. His cough was getting worse, and on August 31 he was really having trouble breathing, and his abdomen looked like it had retained fluid, so we took him to the emergency vet. They diagnosed him with dilated cardiomyopathy (DCM), an enlarged heart. Since his age was so young, and the disease is not common for his breed, they determined the cause of the disease was being on a limited ingredient kibble diet, that included Peas and Lentils as a top ingredient. They mentioned this is known research that peas and lentils cause this kind of heart disease. After the emergency visit, our dog (b) (6) only lived for 3 more weeks, on extensive heart medication and diuretics. He collapsed suddenly on (b) (6) and died in my arms. | 3.5 | Years | Terrier - Bull - Staffordshire | Dog | 75 | Pound |

Within 20 minutes he was projectile vomiting, diarrhea etc. It was exhausting for him. He drank water and instantly that became projectile too. I am a pet newspaper columnist and have been joining dots. Two weeks ago, our rescue 4-year-old cat had diarrhea on a diff brand and a reader's small dog was rushed to the vet with similar symptoms. My neighbor's cat has been vomiting everytime she eats, just not sure which brand. But currently there appears to be alot of sick from food pets. I remember melamine poisoning, is it out and about, or something similar? If so, we can work together for an informative pet article. Today, as he opened the bag and began to dump it into our food container, a twisted metal rod about 8-9 inches long came out of the bag. We took photographs of the rod and have no idea how it could be inside the bag and make it through to the store without being seen. I do not trust that there aren't smaller shavings or particles that cannot be seen in the bag. We contacted the place of purchase and they are willing to replace the bag. However, I am uneasy about purchasing the same brand. I do not know how to notify they manufacturer of this issue. We have photos of the sku information and the bag but do not know what else might be needed. | | | | | | |

Both dogs (Pointing Griffon and Pug) became ill will terrible diarrhea. We threw it out and considered it contaminated from the distributor's warehouse. In the meantime, Purina had a "shortage" of dog food - especially the shredded lamb. Since that first time, it happened with other Purina lamb dog food. We switched our dogs to a different brand. In the meantime, we know of 3 dogs that have dropped over DEAD with no warning and no underlying conditions - all 3 within the last year! Two of them were Labrador retrievers who were young - around 2 years old. Yesterday, my daughter's 8-year-old French bulldog died suddenly without warning, just like the labs. The Frenchie was eating Purina Pro Plan. The labs were both being fed Purina. Coincidence, I THINK NOT!!!! | EON-547907 | 9/21/2023 13:24 | There was no label. | I went to (b) (6) as I had seen it on facebook and I noticed some meat and other products seemed to be unlabeled or homemade but the way the woman spoke about my dog, I felt she knew what she was talking about. I wanted my baby to have better food aside from kibble so i trusted this woman. Her name is Adia, the owner. My dog seemed to veer away from the food when I offered it, but (b) (6) usually does that when something is unfamiliar. I have him his regular food for a few days and eventually he warmed up to this new "better" and natural food. The night after he had it, he just seemed odd. But I thought he had a little doggy mood, but the next day, he wasn't at the door to go outside. He didn't seem to want to do much. He had the most pitiful bark. Then the diarrhea started. I took him to the vet immediately as this was very unusual and i was concerned about him. when the vet asked if anything had changed, I told him no. just that i was trying new food. he asked where i got it and such and i told him. He said my dog was sick and had food poisoning. Of course he recommended never giving my dog unlabeled food. I thought this was a legitimate business as she has this location and talked about opening another. I'm concerned for all pet owners and anyone who comes across this woman. It could have been so much worse. My poor pup was sick and it was horrible to watch. Someone has to stop this woman. | | | Retriever - Golden | Dog | | |
| EON-547906 | 9/21/2023 13:24 | The Blue Buffalo Co. Blue Wilderness High-Protein Food for Dogs Rocky Mountain REcipe with Red Meat and antioxidant-rich life source bits Adult Now with even more red meat & wholesome grains | Dog food bag is full of bugs. I didn't notice until AFTER I fed him. They look like little water bugs, micro centipede looking things and maybe tiny baby roaches? I have never seen these nor have I ever had an issue. This was a new bag that I just opened. I fed the 1st bowl to my dog yesterday morning (9/19/23) and saw a tiny bug in his bowl. I thought a little water bug may have gotten into his bowl and I didn't notice so I took it outside and got rid of the bug. Then I fed my dog. I fed him again last night but it was dark so I didn't see anything. I fed him again this morning, 9/20/23, and saw multiple little bugs crawling around. That didn't make sense. So I opened the bag of dog food and saw a lot of bugs crawling around. They are not all the same. They are different types of small bugs. I don't know what they are or if they can cause harm but there are a LOT of them! I do not have bugs in my home, with the exception of the tiny little black water bugs. I don't know why but we have a bunch of those around here. Blue Wilderness High Protein with red meat dry adult dog food I bought this bag on 8/30/23 at approx 10:30am from Petco. Bar code number: 8 40243 14826 4 Best used by date is 7/12/24 There is another number on the bag in a red square, 4633607/293, not sure what this number represents, there isn't a description but its above the ingredient label on the side of the bag. | EON-547905 | 9/21/2023 13:24 | Hill's Science Diet Adult Perfect Digestion (Chicken) | The dog initially became lethargic. She then progressed to neurological symptoms-walking in circles nonstop, pressing her head into corners, bumping into things, unsteadiness. Eventually progressed to focal and generalized seizures in addition to previously described behavior. She appeared to be in a lot of pain (crying, head pressing, trying to climb the walls in her outdoor kennel). Eventually had to euthanize the dog due to severity of condition. 1 week prior to that dog developing symptoms, our other siberian husky (b) (6) male, 11 years, 89 lbs, previously good health) who was not related to the other dog and was eating the same food also had rapidly progressing neurologic symptoms with cluster seizures (progressed rapidly within 24 hours from tremors to grand mal), blindness, and inability to walk. He also was euthanized due to severity of symptoms. We have multiple other dogs, but these 2 were the only ones eating this specific food. This was from a brand new 5.50z bag. Rehydrated with some water and mixed on their regular kibble. Kibble was part Orijen Regional Red Ancient grains (had used bag for a week with no problems but still could of been problem because says raw on package) The other portion of kibble was Big Jac Puppy Select (been feeding this since 12 weeks old) Both dogs had sever diarrhea by bedtime. Next day both dogs would not eat and still had diarrhea. Male dog was visibly sicker. Would not move and standing in corner. Took both dogs to emergency Vet ((b) (6)) Male dog was severely sick with 105 fever, triple normal blood cell count, thickened & inflamed colon and other issues. First question they asked me after examining dog: Did I feed them any Raw Food including freezer dried raw? Male dog was kept for 2 days at emergency clinic. Female dog was sent home after receiving fluids and given diarrhea medication and a deworming medication. Male dog was sent home after 2 days and is now taking antibiotics, anti worming, anti nausea, anti diarrhea meds. Need to go back in two weeks for recheck of ultrasound, X-ray and bloodwork. The male dog had to go back to my general Vet 2 days after coming home for sever skin irritation on his Testicles from the Urine/Diarrhea getting on the skin. So he now needs to wear an Elizabethan Cone on top of all his other issues from this event to prevent him from licking the irritated area. It needs to be sprayed 2x daily with a steroid spray to calm the area down and heal. The ER Vet and the Internal Medicine Vet who the dog was turned over to at the Emergency Clinic after stabilized and my own Vet said it was most likely the Freezed Dried Raw Orijen Kibble or the Stella & Chewy freezer dried Venison Patties. The dogs got a Parasitcal Infection from the food. They said never to feed any type of raw food again because the process of freeze drying does not kill the bacteria. They said they have seen this before and it can show up at anytime in these types of food. I told the Pet Co Store Manager and he told me he can't do anything about it and I could contact the company on their general website contact link. | 16 | Months | Poodle - Standard | Dog | 60 | Pound |

Best Buy Feb 2025 32141085 1639L_02 purchased from ((b) (6)) Saw a small white area protrusion on a piece of dry kibble. It is sharp , like a needle, possibly bone. I ran it against my skin and it easily left a scrape mark line on my skin. I looked at another piece and it had a white small lump. I separated the white area. It is hard and I was not able to break it apart when pressing on it with my fingernail. Kibble should be able to be crushed and this did not crush. Picture below, my camera does not take clear pictures. I am shocked that I first called the FDA number and was given a second number to contact- which is the Purina Company care line. Caused by too much copper in commercial dog food. The vet let me know that she had liver problems, and it was imperative that I feed her only foods that contained no copper. The amount of money that I spent on vet visits is insurmountable. She was the only living survivor of what turned out to be the hardest two years of my life. I lost my husband due to an injury at work, then one by one our 5 dogs health problems were bad enough that I had to put them down. | EON-547351 | 9/14/2023 7:40 | ONLY NATURAL PET RAW BLENDS DIGESTIVE CARE DOG FOOD FOR SENSITIVE STOMACHS | My dog previously had no issues with ONLY NATURAL PET RAW BLENDS DIGESTIVE CARE DOG FOOD FOR SENSITIVE STOMACHS. However, 2 months ago, I purchased an 18lb bag of that same pet food from PetSmart (where we always get it) and I noticed that they changed their branding from "Power Function" to "Raw Blends" but with no indication of having changed their formula. Within a day of consuming it, my dog began itching his paws and face, nibbling his paws, scooting, and having loose stools. I Googled the pet food online to search for a notice in change in formula but to no avail. Thinking that maybe we got a bad batch, a few days later, I purchased another 18lb bag of the same dog food directly from the Only Natural vendor website. My dog's symptoms (especially scooting and loose stools) persisted to the degree that he got an abscessed anal gland and required expensive emergency surgery at the vet ER. I did some more Googling and noticed recent customer reviews that pointed to the fact that the formula did change, by removing salmon (a key previous ingredient) and replacing it with chicken and other fillers. It is completely unacceptable that the vendor makes no mention ANYWHERE of the formula change, and only calls it a "branding" change in their marketing. We stopped feeding our dog this food after the ER visit and are outraged at Only Naturals for putting our pet and others in danger. | 5 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 25 | Pound |
| EON-547350 | 9/14/2023 7:40 | Just Food For Dogs Pantry Fresh Turkey and Whole Wheat Macaroni Recipe 12.5 oz box Just Food For Dogs Pantry Fresh Beef and Russett Potato Recipe 12.5 oz box | On Aug 29. I gave one box of JUST FOOD FOR DOGS PANTRY FRESH TURKEY AND MACARONI in the morning, approximately around 830 am and a second box of the same flavor. Aug 30, approximately 830 am I gave my dog 1 box of the Beef and Russett potato flavor. For context, at my dog's 75lbs weight, he would need 2.5 of the 12.5oz pantry fresh boxes a day. He received exactly 2 on the first day and 1 on the second. On the morning of Aug 31, my husband and myself woke up to at approximately 6am to two watery brown pool of ammonia smelling diarrhea and dried vomit patches in multiple parts of my home. We also noticed heavy drooling pouring out of his mouth. This was discovered again approximately 430 pm when I returned home for the day. We did not feed him that night as he was obviously not feeling well. Needless to say we were both concerned and made an emergency vet appointment for the next morning at 10am. On the morning of Aug 31, approx. 7am we discovered similar multiple pools of very strong ammonia smelling diarrhea but heavily mixed with blood. Our vet determined it was absolutely the food and heavily processed high fat foods can cause this reaction on dogs. He was diagnosed with Pancreatitis, given subcutaneous fluids, Cerenia inj/ml, Metronidazole 500mg and Proviale-Forte Med/Lg Dog kit as well as multiple blood tests, x rays, and chem panels. I reached out to the company through multiple avenues and received a social media response that "since beef and potato is high in fat, some dogs do not do well on it. Lower in fat recipes are best to avoid developing pancreatitis" I feel like they are knowingly producing a product that can be harmful to dogs. If a 75lbs malinois couldn't handle only 2 boxes, under the recommended serving, what would this do to a smaller dog. | 10 | Years | Shepherd Dog - Belgian Malinois | Dog | 75 | Pound |

Costco said they have pulled the product because of similar reports. Chewy continues to sell this product despite knowing of the issue. It was terrible, I started to analyze what changed had taken place before the onset of the symptoms, and the thing that had changed was his dry food, I stopped giving it to him, within several days the symptoms stopped. At the end of August I unfortunately tried to give (b) (6) Blue Buffalo Salmon Snacks thinking that it was a very different product, and the symptoms returned, he started getting anxious and paranoid again, was trying to hid in the washing machine among other things, it was painful to watch him. I am an extremely paranoid pet parent, and since 2012 I researched the BEST dog food to give to (b) (6) In 2012, petwebsites recommended the top and most healthiest dog food was GRAIN FREE. I specifically chose MERRICK because it was stated to be made in only the USA, and I am paranoid about ingredients from China. (b) (6) since 2012 has only eaten Dry DOG FOOD from MERRICK GRAIN FREE. With the exception of human food such as boiled chicken, seet potato, and the occasional boiled beef or pork. I am very paranoid about what (b) (6) eats, because I want him to be healthy and live a long life. He also has a sensitive stomach and has diarrhea when he is introduced to new foods. The only dog KIBBLE (b) (6) has had from 2012-2019 is from MERRICK. I noticed he had severe coughing in 2019, that is when I took him to the Vet for X-rays and we informed of his enlarged heart, degenerative valve disease, and mitral valve prolapse, and that GRAIN FREE diets may cause this. After finding that out, I immediately stopped giving (b) (6) all forms of Dog Food and have since only given him healthy human food such as boiled chicken. This is unforgivable that a dog food sold in stores can cause this and is not even labeled with this warning. Since researching this company, I have also found out that not everything in MERRICK is 100% made in USA like they claim. This dog food from MERRICK is not cheap, as it is one of most expensive dog kibbles in Petco. (b) (6) condition requires him to do visits to a DOG CARDIOLOGIST which is NOT CHEAP - ~$1000 a visit, and to be daily on a medication called VETMEDIN, which is also not cheap! This GRAIN FREE DOG FOOD needs to be completely recalled to prevent future dogs and dog owners from THIS HORRIBLE SUFFERING!! THIS IS THE WORST FEELING. (b) (6) IS MY BABY. I am writing to express my profound disappointment and frustration regarding my recent purchase of Friskies wet cat food variety pack, specifically the "Turkchicken Extra Gravy Chunky, Meaty Bits, and Shreds" in 5.5 Oz cans, totaling 40 cans. The experience I encountered was both shocking and unacceptable. I purchased this product from amazon and had opened it through the top initially to feed the community cats I care for. Yesterday evening I noticed the cats had gotten sick on the porch after eating the food. Today when I properly opened the box I encountered something very alarming. Upon un-packaging my order, I was immediately alarmed when I detected an unusual slimy substance on one of the cans. To my utter horror, as I proceeded to inspect the can further, I discovered that a black, slimy residue covered not only the initial can but also every can in the same row of the package. This was a deeply unsettling discovery, and it has greatly distressed me. In an effort to address this issue, I promptly transported the contaminated cans to my sink to mitigate the potential health risks and to cleanse my hands thoroughly. After donning gloves for my own safety, I examined the cans more closely and was appalled to find that they were infested with black mold, with fuzzy growths emanating from this mold. This not only compromises the quality of the product but also poses a significant health hazard to both my household and, potentially, any pets I would have continued to feed this product to. | | | Domestic (unspecified) | Cat | | |

| EON-546792 | 9/7/2023 14:36 | Blue Buffalo 6 count variety pack for kittens (chicken and salmon wet food) | I gave my four week old kitten, (b) (6) a can of Blue Buffalo salmon kitten food. My toe older cats also got into some of the leftovers. All began to take ill within hours - vomiting and diarrhea. I wound up at the emergency vet the following night/morning because Ash had been vomiting consistently for 24 hrs and started having diarrhea with blood. (b) (6) had been vomiting but stopped, and the four week old kitten had been vomiting and having diarrhea for 24 hrs too, but recovered. Diagnostics were run to confirm he had not swallowed a foreign object and a blood panel was also done. The vet confirmed it was a case of food poisoning and he was put on meds to help stabilize and rehydrate him. Given that the Blue Buffalo product (salmon kitten food) was the last thing he ate and all three of my cats took ill in the same manner at the same time after eating it, this was considered the cause. I have stopped feeding them it, switched to Fancy Feast, and all symptoms ceased. | 3 | Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | 7.5 | Pound |

I peeled back the paper and found a living creature, which I'm describing as a maggot. First observed on 8/17. Dog was scratching excessively for a couple weeks, observed several maggots embedded in kibble and notified FDA and Purina by email on/about 8/26 A few people recently commented that our dog appears to be thin and he's started scratching alot and all over. Purina contacted me by phone call to follow up. I explained the situation and that his stool appears normal. They advised they would cover vet costs- The local vets did not have availability to see the dog, but advised he should be seen. I notified Purina and we agreed I would bring him to the Vet ER to determine if this is impacting his health. His stool appeared normal, but one vet clinic advised there could be parasites in his feces. After seeing the Vet ER, he was prescribed and is still taking antibiotics. My first cat to die was only 3 yrs old and a male and I didn't realize it was the food that killed him until my 2nd a female also 3 yrs old became very sick and died almost 24 hrs after eating this food. I currently have another cat here who is a 9 yr old male very sick and a male kitten also who is so sick that im not sure if they will make it. They all ate the same food and all either sick or dead. Took my second cat to vet after having same thing happened to my male 3 yr old a week a part and unfortunately due to not being able to go to vet day before on labor day when illness started my cat died within 2 hours after arriving. | EON-546672 | 9/6/2023 11:28 | natures domain salmon and sweet potato formula | We tried switching foods from Purina salmon sensitive stomach to Costco brand salmon sensitive stomach to save some money. We added in about a half cup of food on the first day into our dogs usual food, and then did the same the next day. By the third day our dog would no longer eat the food and starting having diarrhea. We thought these were side effects of the new food and just a tummy upset so we stopped giving the Costco food after that second day. Within the next day or two he started drinking a ton of water and was having accidents in the house. He was also vomiting clear liquid And refusing any dog food. This lasted just over 36 hours and we ended up at the emergency vet because he became very lethargic. At the vet they found evidence of kidney failure and it seemed as though his organs were shutting down. He was on fluids and medications for about 12 hours but was continuing to decline. He passed away (euthanasia) almost one week to the day he first had the Costco brand food. He had never been to the vet for an illness prior to this. He was a completely happy, healthy dog until he had the Costco brand dog food. The vet was baffled by the fast decline and ordered some testing to see if it could have been from a virus, but results are still pending. Symptoms started two days after his first meal with the new food mixed in, and our other dog also experienced vomiting and stomach upset which leads me to believe it was indeed the food. | 4 | Years | Great Dane | Dog | 150 | Pound |

| EON-546636 | 9/5/2023 20:20 | Full Moon Kitchen-Crafted Natural Dog Treats Chicken Jerky | The dog treat had a white residue on the chicken tenders. We discovered it after we got deeper into the bag. Notified Full Moon Pet and gave them the necessary info they asked for. They also were to send an email with their contact information so I can provide them with photos. two days later after not receiving the email, I filled out an online contact form and provided them with pictures of the treats. Didn't hear back so on September 5 I called them back to get updated and was pretty much told I'll be hearing, still. | EON-546635 | 9/5/2023 20:20 | Kirkland Chicken Rice and Vegetable adult dog food | On Thurs Aug 31 I discovered a large clump of dog food in the bag of Kirkland chicken and rice dried dog food. The clump was moldy dog food that was full of larvae. I realized that there were many pieces of moldy kibble in the bag and I was feeding the dogs this food since early-mid Aug. Both of my dogs have been throwing up at least once a day since I was giving them this food before discovering the larva. On Thursday, August 31, I stopped, giving them the food and feeding them homemade dog food. They have since been better and haven't thrown up once they have more energy. Their bowels movements are more healthy as well. | 9 | Years | Boxer (German Boxer) | Dog | 42 | Pound |

| EON-546634 | 9/5/2023 20:16 | Purina Beneful chopped blends | I purchased the food, purina beneful, at Walmart on Saturday August 26. On Monday, (b) (6) started having diarrhea, and she had not been anywhere prior to the house in over a week. She continued to have diarrhea every day. Tuesday, August 29, another one of our dogs started having diarrhea as well. That Thursday, August 31, we took her to the vet and they diagnosed her with either gastritis or coronavirus. We then stopped feeding her beneful and switched to chicken and pumpkin. She improved Friday, and then Saturday had to be rushed to the ER for severe nausea and issue with stomach emptying. They did bloodwork and it was normal other than possible signs of pancreatitis. They also did X-rays and heart/lungs were clear. (b) (6) had to stay the night and the ER. The next day they redid images and her stomach still had not emptied. She later that afternoon had to have surgery to empty her stomach and stay another night in the ER. We took her home Monday and started giving her chicken only. Monday evening, the other 3 dogs received Beneful for dinner and today Tuesday, all of them, minus (b) (6) have been sick. We have no other answers as to what caused (b) (6) to have these issues. | 11 | Years | Terrier - Yorkshire | Dog | 18 | Pound |
| EON-546625 | 9/5/2023 18:20 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin and Stomach Turkey and Oatmeal Formula | Product was bought on 6 August 2023, food was administered and pet owner noticed a sticky substance that looked like cobwebs mixed in with the food. However, the bag was sealed closed at the time of purchase. The owner didn't see anything else wrong with the bag and continued to administer food to pets, only half the bag was given to the pets at the beginning of the month. The owner's cats had been sick, and throwing up more than usual, the food was not digested and half eaten food was found around the house almost every other day. The second half was distributed 5 September and as the owner poured the food into the automatic dispenser, live bugs were found in the bag. The food was then discarded and the store the bag was purchased from was notified due to owner's findings. | | | | | | |

| EON-546036 | 8/29/2023 11:12 | Taste of the Wild Trout GRAIN-FREE Limited Ingredient Recipe Dry Dog Food Taste of the Wild Grain Free Prey and Beef were bought too | My beloved Golden Retriever died very unexpectedly at the age of 5 years old. Multiple Veterinarians suspect related to Grain-Free diet. Him and I kept very physically active (exercising everyday) and at his yearly vet physicals they always reported him in great health (no known heart condition, great weight, lungs sounded great, handsome, happy). I noticed a cough on June 7th that seemed odd. I took him into the vet. The vet said he would likely heal on his own possibly from swallowing something and scratching his throat. (b) (6) became increasingly lethargic and not himself and stopped eating Sunday night. I took him back into Vet Monday and they did a chest X-ray which revealed he was going into severe heart failure. Vet warned me prognosis of recovery seemed poor. I rushed him into (b) (6) where they gave him oxygen for elevated respiratory levels. Tuesday an echocardiogram revealed he had an enlarged heart, weak and thin walls and fluid build up-DCM. Both vets asked about diet and suspected this condition was acquired from the Taste of the Wild Grain Free food he was eating. They said there is research linking this grain free brand (along with others) to DCM. They put him on heart meds and recommended change in diet and supplementation of Taurine for heart. Unfortunately, Wednesday night they told me (b) (6) seemed to be starting to suffer as they struggled to ween him off oxygen and it was best to say goodbye. I have been COMPLETELY DEVASTATED ever since. As I have done more research I see that there are many others who have gone through similar experiences related to this brand and other brands especially grain free dog food brands that include legumes, pea proteins. This seems absolutely criminal these brands have not been taken off shelves or that a lot of Vets aren't advising against these (like mine), not until my loved one was very sick and dying. I will do ANYTHING to share my story and provide details to help save other dogs. I hate that it's too late to save (b) (6) but I must do everything I can to advocate anti-grain free. This all happened so so "out of the blue" and suddenly. I think he could have been starting to suffer before I noticed cough symptom but as we know dogs can't always communicate with us and (b) (6) always showed me love and happiness. He must be so strong and resilient but it makes me sad knowing he could have been in pain from this heart worsening condition before I was aware something was wrong. I would have done ANYTHING in my power to keep him alive but when the vet told me he was suffering and quickly declining, I had to make the absolute HARDEST decision of my life to euthanize. | 5 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 75 | Pound |

He was diagnosed with liver cancer on 8/5/23 and died on 8/18/23. I wonder if they had Aflatoxin or mold problems, causing cancer! I felt they were not honest with me. | EON-545938 | 8/28/2023 11:20 | Fancy Feast | We have been feeding our cats cans of fancyfeast for years without any issues. They love it! A few months ago one of our cats started vomiting and having diarrhea. We took her into the vet and all her tests came back normal. They put her on a bland diet and prescribed an antibiotic. We started her on the new diet and started administering the antibiotic. About a day or two later our other cat started vomiting and having diarrhea too. We switched his diet to bland as well to see if it helps. After about a week or so they were both back to normal. We started to feed their usual diet of fancy feast again and after a couple days the diarrhea and vomiting started back up again. That's when I realized that it must be the food. We switched their diet completely away from fancy feast. They have had no issues for the last few months. We recently started looking into finding them new food that's a little bit more affordable. We bought a store brand box of canned wet food to try and see if they like it. They loved it! After couple days I noticed one of my cats start having diarrhea and out of curiosity I grabbed one of the can and in little letters on it it said that it was made by fancy feast. | 9 | Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | 12 | Pound |

I took him to the vet, and blood tests revealed that his ALT level was off the charts -- a level of 1,583 when the upper limit of normal is just 125 U/L. He was sent immediately to an emergency veterinary hospital, where they began treatment and performed an ultrasound, which revealed hepatitis. The cause is currently unknown, but there are no known toxic exposures. I was shocked to find out that many dogs suffer from copper-associated hepatopathy from an over-supplementation of copper in commercial pet food. I looked up the dog food I have been feeding him for all his 3 years, Wellness Core Grain Free Large Breed Formula, and discovered that in 2011, the copper levels in that brand and formula were 22.5 mg/kg, one of the highest of any foods listed and 3 times the minimum. Although I did careful research to select a high-quality dog food through sources such as Dog Food Advisor (https://www.dogfoodadvisor.com/dog-food-reviews/wellness-dog-food-core-dry/), I had no way of knowing the copper level of the food, because this information is not printed on the bag. Because the copper level is only available by contacting the dog food company directly, I sent an email to see if the food is still high in copper, but for now I immediately stopped feeding it. I do not understand why the upper limit was removed and why the copper level is not more easily available. I have spent thousands of dollars so far on just the beginning of his treatment, but much more importantly, I do not know if my dog's liver will recover. I'm a recent widow, and (b) (6) provides so much support and comfort to me, and this experience is extremely distressing. What if it was preventable! I implore the FDA to take corrective action to lower the maximum copper concentration in commercial dog food to mitigate this avoidable and potentially fatal illness. | 3 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 52 | Pound |
| EON-545935 | 8/28/2023 11:20 | Victor Performance | Our dog started vomiting about 7 or 8 hours after eating her food. We feed her Victor Performance dry food. This went on for 4 days. She occasionally will get sick, but this was consistent and she was throwing up a large volume of liquid several hours after eating. She was drooling heavily afterwards and lethargic for an hour or so and then she acted normal. The 5th day, when my husband put her kibble in the bowl, she refused to eat. It never occurred to us that her food was causing the issue, but when she refused to eat, my husband smelled her dry food. It had a chemical smell and nothing like dry dog food. We have this food shipped every 6 weeks in 40lb. bags from Chewy.com We always empty a new bag in a sealed dog food container so I did not have the bag at the time I reported this incident to Chewy. They asked for a Lot #, but I could not provide it. We took our dog to the Vet on August 2 for her physical. They told us to keep watch on her and if she showed any more concerning symptoms to bring her back. Our Vet encouraged us to report this event and see about having the food sent away for testing. | 7 | Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 68 | Pound |

Then on Friday night our girl, Sage, went down. She was vomiting over and over, couldn't stand on her own, and wouldn't drink any water. We got her more comfortable and kept offering water for many hours and she finally turned the corner and started getting better late into the night. She seems to be fine now but this was such an odd occurrence there's no way this isn't related. | 8 | Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 45 | Pound |

| EON-545804 | 8/27/2023 22:00 | Purine One Lamb and Rice Formula | Two personal dogs (a 4 year old medium mix breed and a 12 year old small terrier mix) both experienced vomiting after consuming this food. The vomiting started off just vomiting up the food and bile and then progressed to vomiting up blood, clotted blood, and what appeared to be stomach lining/organ material. The older dog underwent radiographs, and bloodwork and then was treated at the vet (me- because its my personal dogs) with fluids, sucralfate and cerenia and the symptoms subsided. After returning back to the food slowly from the bland diet- they started vomiting blood and clotted blood again. I bought the same brand and type of dog food, but bought a different bag and started feeding them the same exact brand of food (but different bag) and both dogs are doing completely fine now and have not vomited once. The dog food does not appear to have any mold or contaminants that are grossly visible. | 4 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 50 | Pound |

Breathing and appetite has improved with change of diet in June to regular Royal Canin dogfood. I had been feeding him Taste of the Wild grain free from the time he was 4 months old. He has improved but he is still unable to run for long, still coughs, has labored breathing at times, and has hoarse bark. He still seems tired more than usual. He was tested for heartworm twice and came back negative. | EON-545883 | 8/27/2023 16:52 | Mighty Paw Naturals Yak Cheese Dog Chews | I purchased Mighty Paw Yak dog chews from Amazon and they arrived on a Thursday. That same day, I gave our dog one of the chews and he ate about 25% of it. By Saturday morning, our dog had bloody stools and diarrhea. I gave our dog chicken and rice over the weekend to see if that would help resolved the issue. On Monday, the dog was still experiencing a good amount of blood in his stool and watery diarrhea. He had several episodes of diarrhea in the house, which he could not control. We took him to our vet and he was give several medications, including sucralfate, famotidine, and Cerenia. The dog was still having bloody diarrhea on Tuesday and the vet added metronidazole. We sent pictures of bloody stool to the vet and there were large undigested and sharp pieces of the yak chew in multiple stools. The chews contain milk, lime and salt. We thought these would be digestible. I contacted the company and they stated "in drier environments and times of year, our Yak cheese is more prone to cracks and breakages." I also looked at reviews on Amazon and there are similar experiences of the yak chews potentially causing damage to other dogs. I am opening this report in hopes that other dogs will not be harmed by these chews. We have used these before with no issue, but the inconsistency in this product seems to make it unsafe. I also had an order from Amazon previously that had mold all over the chews, this also seems to be happening to other consumers based on product reviews. Our dog did recover eventually. | 2 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 50 | Pound |

He has been diagnosed with a severe nasal infection. I still have a couple kibble left in the bag as well as the dog food original bag with lot numbers, etc. My dog and I started sneezing repeatedly every day since I fed him from this bag of food until I finished it. I went through boxes of Kleenexes and daily Benadryl. I did not think it was the dog food; I thought he and I had allergies. I had checked for food recalls but there was none on this food. As his health deteriorated, I took him to the vet on 8-18-23. My Vet cultured his nose and the culture came back as: Pantoea agglomerates, Enterococcus species, and Meth Resistant Staph schiefieri coagulants on the nasal swab. The sneezing has turned from clear drainage with sneezing to thick yellowish white drainage, then turning pink drainage. My vet is starting him now on Baytril after just getting the culture back. He has been just miserable and hangs his head down and does not want his head touched. My sneezing (and his too), stopped after I finished the dog food bag, but now the drainage in my nose is blocking my breathing (just like it did with him) and as of last night I had chills and it felt like my sinuses on the right side of my face were on fire! It was not until I finished the bag and the very next day my sneezing stopped that I related the problem to the dog food. Please help us! | EON-545715 | 8/24/2023 17:08 | Purina Friskies Gravy Wet Cat Food Shreds Turkey & Cheese Dinner | I bought discounted Purina Frisky Wet Cat food cans from Amazon.com and upon leaving the can out for some time I noticed mold building up which would never happen with any other wet cat food. Random little fruit flies came out of no where from within the can itself. I began to suspect the cat food company or Amazon.com intentionally created this issue and that it may be linked to Covid. I decided to record video footage of the mold and flies in the cans that I saw. I also decided to confirm my suspicions by isolating a fresh opened can inside a plastic shower cap to see if the bugs were coming from the cans. After 5 days I open the bag and see white worms moving on their own and weird fruit flies swarming the can after opening it. These came directly out of the can and started moving after removing the shower cap that sealed the can as a cover. I used a shower cap because it was see through. The cat food did not look normal from other companies that sell cat food as it looked like weird fat or egg shaped things were inside and the texture looked way off. I believe these cans cause cats to get some kind of parasite or infection that makes them a bit weird, have fleas, have their poop attract or create random flies, and making the cats behave weirdly like peeing on random places. Please investigate Purina Frisky cans and Amazon.com | | | Unknown | Cat | | |

This bag of food also smelled very strongly and hot typical to what we are used to. He had no other symptoms, behavior was unchanged, otherwise acting completely normal, which is why we think it was the food rather than an illness he caught. In the days that followed, anytime we tried to feed him the food, he would smell it and only take a few bites, often spitting the food out. He would only eat maybe a half to one feeding per day, whereas before he would eagerly eat two feedings per day with no problems. We had a separate smaller bag of his food that we decided to try on 6/23/23. Our dog immediately ate it and had no stomach issues after. | EON-545043 | 8/16/2023 11:52 | Instinct Raw Boost Indoor | Instinct kibble induces uncontrollable diarrhea. I switched brands and it stops but then itching started so I tried switching back to Instinct and the diarrhea immediately returned. I have tried three different flavors/types of instinct all with the same results. I contacted the manufacturer but they have not returned my money nor addressed the issue. I contacted Chewy.com where I purchased it and they have pretty much ignored me as well. This has been ongoing with (b) (6) since May 2023. | EON-544954 | 8/15/2023 12:28 | Nutri Source PureVita Grain Free Beef and Red Lentils Dry Dog Food | Almost three years ago I switched my dogs to Nutri Source PureVita Grain Free Beef and Red Lentils Dry Dog Food. I thought it was worth the money, my dogs emptied the bowl's every day, had beautiful coats and no digestive issues. However after couple episodes of heavy breathing, lethargic behavior and loss of appetite my 9 year old golden retriever was diagnosed with DCM. She was put on three medications to help with the heart failure. I am very worried about it and would like to find out why this type of food is allowed to be sold without any indication of possible side effects. I spend thousands of dollars on this "premium" dog food while it maybe main contributor of damaging my dog's heart. Now I have to spend thousands of dollars on veterinary care and medicine. I am so worried that otherwise healthy dog may die anytime of major heart failure. I am also worried that my almost 3 year old golden retrievers may be impacted. | 9 | Years | Retriever - Golden | Dog | 64 | Pound |

I have been using this food for awhile now and have never had problems so I'm not sure what happened but the food arrived spoiled and smelled like vomit and looked like spoiled meat, I almost threw up after opening the bag! I immediately threw it in the trash because it was obviously not safe for my animals to consume. Amazon also gave me a really hard time about getting a refund too which is a huge red flag! | EON-544750 | 8/13/2023 0:08 | Purina One Complete Cat Chow | While portioning out my cats food, I found a maggot in the food container which is kept air tight. Purina has made statements that they make their food from fly larvae but this is not the first time I have found maggots in my Purina cat food. I used to free range feed my cats and every once in a while would notice worms crawling around in it, but would dump the food bowl out and refill the bowl with new food, thinking something had come in from outside and gotten into the food. but now I portion out my cats food and noticed the same worms in the food straight from the airtight container. Maggots are harmful to cats as most maggots cannot be digested by cats and the larvae will remain in the cats digestive tract. This is unacceptable to be allowed to be purchased from stores. | | | | | | | |

| EON-544496 | 8/10/2023 10:24 | Bada bing bada beef | Bark box website displays an outdated formulation of their bada bing bada beef product. What is ordered does not match what is revived. The formulation shown on the site has a guaranteed analysis of crude fat min 5.1%, crude fiber max 0.2%, and moisture max 9.5%. However what is being sent has a different guaranteed analysis crude fat min 10%, crude fiber max 2%, and moisture max 10%. The packaging is similar such that customers who order one item but revive another are in my opinion likely not to notice the difference. I notified bark box of this concern on Monday 8/7 as their site was still displaying an outdated guaranteed analysis. I implored them to update and notify their customers as this change could have made my dog very sick with life threatening illness, due to his pre-existing conditions. As of today 8/10 I have spoken with customer service representatives verbally, over the phone and via email notifying of this concern and I have yet to see any communication or change on their site notifying their customers of this formulation update. This is urgent as this item is already being sent out not as advertised and the changes if un noticed could cause serious harm. our pets specialist has stated that he can not have anything over 7% fat. I have previously called and verified with bark box that the fat content of the bada bing bada beef met this requirement. This new formulation is no longer within the scope of what (b) (6) can eat, and it is barley noticeable change. | | | | | | | |

| EON-544221 | 8/8/2023 3:36 | Fancy Feast Chicken Feast Classic Pate | First of all, this canned cat food doesn't contain enough taurine for proper nutrition for a cat. The label says that it only contains a MINIMUM of .05% of taurine, but it is supposed to contain a MINIMUM of .10% of taurine. My second complaint is that this canned cat food contains "artificial flavors," which isn't good. (I saw this on the "Chicken Feast Classic Pate" cat food label, but this ingredient may be in the other flavors of this cat food also.) The third complaint that I have may have already been remedied, but I'm not sure. In regard to recent cans of Fancy Feast cat food that I have purchased, including the "Beef Pate" flavor, I saw "sodium nitrite" on the label; this is a cancer-causing agent. The sodium nitrite is used for "color retention" in this cat food, but "color retention" is not necessary because the CATS DO NOT CARE WHAT THE CAT FOOD LOOKS LIKE, as long as it tastes good!!!. So please increase the amount of taurine in this Fancy Feast canned cat food--all flavors--to .10% or more, and please leave out the sodium nitrite--any cat food flavor that contains it--and please leave out all "artificial flavors" when you are producing/manufacturing this cat food. Cats do not need to consume cancer-causing agents such as sodium nitrite that may cause them to have cancer in their bodies, and they do not need to be consuming "artificial flavors" either; and they need at least .10% of taurine in their cat food in order to get enough taurine to maintain good health. We want our cats to live long, happy, healthy lives--right? I know that I want this for my cat and for any cats that I own in the future (and for any dogs that I will own also). I usually buy Wellness canned cat food for my cat because it contains more healthy ingredients in it than the canned Fancy Feast cat food does, and it contains an adequate amount of taurine and does not contain sodium nitrite, but I can't afford to buy Wellness cat food right now, since it is so expensive--but I wouldn't change any of its ingredients because they are high quality ingredients, and I will start buying the Wellness canned cat food for my cat as soon as I can afford to do so. | | | | | | |
| EON-544219 | 8/8/2023 2:12 | Pedigree Grilled steak and vegetable flavor | My dog was recently diagnosed with allergies to chicken. I fed them pedigree dog food that was chicken. When she was diagnosed, I switched to pedigree grilled steak and vegetables. My dog didn't get better, she got worse and had to go to the vet again. She had to be sedated, she had welts, bad ear issues, skin issues and hair loss. She is now on 39 days if high dose antibiotics and steroids. I looked at the ingredients and there is chicken in it. I believed it to be beef and no chicken was in the description. Just said grilled steak and vegetables. I called the company today, 08/07/2023 and spoke to someone and explained what happened. I was told no claim said it was beef and was ok to have chicken in it. Was also told that they get several calls about this issue and what they do is ok. It is not ok. When people see steak and vegetables, that's what we think they are getting. Not chicken. I states that they need to add chicken on the front, example; grilled steak, chicken and vegetables. I asked is it acceptable for the company to deceive their customers. This business practice is unacceptable. How many more dogs are suffering because of their "loophole" on labeling their dog food. Please, make them be honest about stating chicken is in that dog food on the front of the bags and cans. | 10 | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | 73 | Pound |
| EON-544214 | 8/7/2023 23:24 | Victor Grain Free Hero Canine | I ordered two bags of food from Chewy. I opened the first bag the day I got it, which was today. It smelled like cow manure. It smelled so rotten. I then opened the other bag since my dogs had no other food and it was the same. The smell was overwhelming. My entire house smelled like cow poo. This couldn't be good for my dogs. I'm worried this is a really bad problem with the food since it was in both bags. I haven't thrown it away and can provide a sample to you. | EON-544211 | 8/7/2023 19:52 | Purina Pro Plan Adult 7+ Prime Plus 4 flavors: Salmon & Tuna Ocean Whitefish & Salmon chicken and chicken & Beef We still have the majority of the 4 cases purchased last month from Chewy. | We ordered several cases on this food from Chewy.com, along with several others. We have never had this issue before. Every single time, I feed either cat this food, regardless of the flavor (Salmon & Tuna, Ocean Whitefish & Salmon, Chicken & Beef, and Chicken: All Adult 7+, Prime Plus, Best by Nov 2024) it makes them howl and projectile vomit. I still have the cases here, should you want some serial numbers (i.e. The one currently in my hand now says: 23321162 L1DM50744) I have never had this issue before, so I experimented by feeding the food (1 flavor at a time) to each cat intermittently (i.e. waiting days or a week in between feeding them the ProPlan), and the reaction has been consistent - both kitties vomiting. Our cats have no health issues, and are strictly indoor cats. My husband and I are convinced that Purina must be processing meat and fish (or fillers used in all flavors) that has gone bad, and we're worried this may seriously harm or kill someone's elderly cat, as it's specifically for seniors. Thank you in advance for investigating. I'm happy to provide more information if needed. My phone number: (b) (6) | 16 | Years | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | 11 | Pound |

He died unexpectedly on the morning of (b) (6). I can't be sure it was due to the treats but I do think it's worth investigating and here is why: The treats were the only change in his food or environment. He didn't have any exposure to anything else that could be hazardous. (b) (6) was in excellent health. He had just seen his veterinarian in June for a routine checkup and dental cleaning. He had full bloodwork completed to make sure he was in tip top shape prior to the dental cleaning and he was. The only medication he was taking was sentinal flea and heartworm prevention and he was up to date on all his vaccines. But I had to start my cat on a renal support diet. I had bought Hills Chicken and Tuna Pate for kidney support for a prescription, but there is something really wrong with the food. These heavily processed foods are typically meant to be more palatable for cats, however, these had a manure smell, very distinctly. Not typical wet food smell. I thought I smelled something, but then I had added just a little warm water for my cats food and it amplified. She wouldn't go near it and multiple cans had the smell. There's something off about this food. Hills has not responded back to my contact. | | | | | | |

Packing was intact, no holes, weird smells, and not expired. But once my dog ate this he began to have severe GI issues. Mucous encased stools, bloody stools. The first time he did this a while back I assumed it was due to it just being a new brand. Until he did it again a second time I fed him the food and I realized the dye in it must be irritating his stomach. From that second encounter I just decided not to buy this food again. This most recent time I had no other option but to get it due to my regular brand being unavailable. I fed this to him 8/1 & 8/2. Today 8/2 around 4 pm he started vomiting profusely in my niece's room from eating the food. | EON-543821 | 8/3/2023 12:04 | KMR Kitten Milk Replacer | I run a cat rescue organization and have used KMR exclusively to bottle feed kittens. Three kittens receiving KMR from the same bag of powdered formula developed vomiting, diarrhea, and lethargy. Resuscitative measures, including administration of sub q fluids, antibiotics, and antiemetics were necessary to revive the kittens. I changed to a different bag of KMR, with a different lot number. After medical intervention and change of formula, the kittens slowly recovered. The only reason I considered the formula as a source of the issue is that I spoke with a fellow rescuer in the area and she had gone through the same situation about a month ago. She actually lost nine kittens before they settled on the formula being the problem. Had I not spoken with her, I would not have made the formula change so quickly and may have lost my kittens as well. | 7 | Weeks | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | 700 | Gram |

| EON-543720 | 8/1/2023 23:08 | Purina Fancy Feast Seafood Grilled Collection - 24 cans | On July 24th I ordered a 24-pack of Purina Fancy Feast wet cat food (seafood collection, grilled) from Amazon. At first I did not notice any problems, but then I opened a can of the tuna flavor cat food yesterday (7/31/23) and noticed a foul odor. I thought the smell was coming from something else in the room, so I gave the wet food to my cats as usual. They did not finish eating the food (which is unusual for them), so I cleaned out their food bowls and noticed that the food smelled like it had gone bad. I thoroughly cleaned the bowls, opened another can of the tuna flavor, noticed the same rotten smell, and disposed of the opened can. Then I opened a can of the seafood flavor, smelled it to make sure there was no foul odor, and fed it to my cats. So far, I have not noticed any signs of illness in either of my cats. They seem happy with the seafood flavor of Fancy Feast that I fed them tonight. I have not opened a can of the salmon flavor yet, but I will check tomorrow to see if it smells alright and if my cats will eat it. All of the wet food cans that I received are printed with an expiration date of 2025; none of them have an earlier expiration date, so I do not believe that I was given an old batch of wet food. However, it seems like this particular batch of tuna flavor has something wrong with it, and I will not be feeding the other cans of tuna flavor wet food to my cats. | | | | | | |
| EON-543617 | 8/1/2023 12:16 | Wonder Bound Pate Chicken Dinner | I buy a LOT of Amazon brand Wonder Bound cat food. I own 5 cats and have 8 others I'm fostering. This one particular case of food, the cats refuse to eat. It's the ONLY thing they eat, but they kept refusing it, meal after meal, even though they were letting me know they were hungry. After a couple days (I gave them some dry food, I'm not a monster) I set out their plates again, again they refused, and then I opened a can of the exact same stuff from another case, put it on plates and set it down right beside the plates they had just refused. They sniffed it, and then proceeded to inhale it like they hadn't eaten in days. I waited a couple days and tried one more can from that case (ok, it was actually an accident, I had set the case aside and forgot) and got exactly the same response. Won't touch it. I don't know if it's contaminated, or maybe has an off smell, or what, but they've never done this before, and so I'm sure there is something wrong with that case. Nobody got sick, but then, nobody ate any. I'm only submitting in case there are other complaints. I did contact amazon customer service and they kindly gave me a refund. | | | | | | |
| EON-543614 | 8/1/2023 12:12 | Nylabone Nubz | On Thursday, 7/27/23, at approximately 3:30pm, I gave my corgi, (b) (6), one Nylabone Nubz. He had no other treats that day and his dog food is always the same. By 6pm, (b) (6) began vomiting and proceeded to vomit 11 more times. The only item in the vomit were pieces of the Nylabone Nubz. In one puddle, several small pieces had adhered together into a larger mass. You could break it apart, but it was stuck together. (b) (6) also experienced weakness in his hind legs and was not able to go up and down stairs. Sometimes he could not remain standing. On Friday we took (b) (6) to the vet. After testing, he determined (b) (6) had an infection and agreed the treat was the likely culprit. We received antibiotics. The vet bill was $195.00 and the remainder of the bag of treats was thrown away. | 7 Months | Corgi - Welsh Pembroke | Dog | 29 Pound | | |

| EON-543497 | 7/31/2023 15:04 | Stewart Dog Treats Beef Liver Single Ingredient Freeze-Dried Treat | (b) (6) has a very strict diet, rarely do I allow her to try new foods or treats. She is supervised constantly and always with me (as we are travelling in an RV). (b) (6) went for a checkup at a new vet on 7/19/23. This vet fed her approximately 20 tiny pieces of these treats (1/4" to 1/2" cubed). I questioned the amount and the vet said dogs with sensitive stomachs handle them fine, the amount they gave her would not be a problem, and treats are ok. (b) (6) loved them so I purchased a tub later that day at PetSmart. That evening (b) (6) had zero appetite and was very lethargic, both which I attributed to the long day, excitement, and too many treats. After about 2 days her appetite returned and her bowel movements were mostly normal. However, her stomach was very bloated and very firm and hard to the touch. On 7/24/23 I opened the tub I purchased and fed (b) (6) approximately 5 small bites (1/4" cubed size) of the treats. On the morning of 7/25, (b) (6) had 2 abnormally large bowel movements that each contained a lot of an unusual gelatinous type substance in the stools. She then had a very large abnormal bowel movement that was almost diarrhea consistency. It was obvious from her behavior she felt unwell. About 5 hours later, she had 2 more bowel movements, both extremely soft diarrhea with small bright red bits visible in it. Alarmed I thought it could be blood. The next morning she had a bowel movement that was a loosely formed stool, but still incredibly soft, with no visible red. She later threw up all her food, which is unusual but has occurred before. | 7 Years | Poodle (unspecified) | Dog | 26 Pound | | |

| | | | About 2 hours later she then had another bowel movement that was pure diarrhea with water like consistency, but no visible red. Then about 3 hours later, (b) (6) vomited a lot of clear fluid (very abnormal for her) and instantly had a massive bowel movement that was watery diarrhea full of bright red blood, followed by a significant amount of pure bright red blood flowing out directly after the diarrhea. I rushed (b) (6) to an Animal Hospital where they saw her immediately. There she had another bowel movement, pure watery diarrhea accompanied by more significant blood. Lab/Blood work showed an elevated liver number, but all other numbers were within range. XRays showed excessive gas and inflammation in the intestines. The vet diagnosed extreme colitis / gastroenteritis. I explained everything the same as explained here and the er doctor believes the colitis is due to the treats, and the bleeding is a reaction to them. (b) (6) is being treated with medicines and her condition is now improving. I believe that the treats contain too much iron/or other mineral and this had a toxic effect on (b) (6) I called and wrote the manufacturer asking for clarity on how to read the nutrition label and guarantee analysis. They stated that the amounts on the label are per kilogram of food, and 1 tub of treats equates to approximately 1/2 a kilogram. They also stated that any overdose would not lead to toxicity but possibly only diarrhea. I report this issue because I believe the labeled analysis may be inaccurate or there is something harmful in these treats. The ingredient list is only Beef Liver, however the treats themselves contain many hard bits and what looks like dehydrated byproducts. I firmly believe these treats are responsible for (b) (6) current medical condition. | | | | | | |

The product in question is Taste of the Wild (High Prairie/ Canine Recipe with Roasted Bison & Roasted Venison) and I found a foreign item inside the food bag. The foreign item appears to be paper or cardboard of considerable size and should not be present in the dog food. I am concerned that this problem may affect the health and well-being of my pet and other animals that consume this product. This is a copy of the message I sent to the distributor in my country Colombia, they requested the bag with the foreign element and I delivered it to them. | | | | | | |

| EON-543253 | 7/28/2023 11:04 | Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon and Rice Dry Dog Food Adult | My dogs food was Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Skin and Stomach Salmon and Rice formula. My dogs did well on this prior to May 2023 for approx 1 year. My dog started intermittent vomiting and had diarrhea. My dog has a sensitive stomach and when my husband and I noticed the symptoms we took him to the vet. During this time around May/June 2023, I researched this dog food and there was formula change to this brand and type of food. My husband noticed the bag that was opened was a new look where the old had orangish coloring on it where the new bag with the formula change was purple when his symptoms started. I also noticed the reviews from other dog owners with having similar issues on Purina's website and Chewy's website. This food used to be an almost 5 star dog food. Currently on purina's website it is now 3.8 with many issues continuing with other dogs. My dog has had major issues since and has lost weight and possibly caused IBD flare in him. I am a concerned citizen for not only my dogs but other peoples animals. This is now July 27, 2023 and issues seem to be continuing with this formula change. I have concerns that there may be a quality issue in the product or possible other changes that may not being disclosed to consumers. I appreciate your time. The cat does not want to eat some of the different packages of the same product. Once consumed the cat vomits large mucus blobs and has mucus in their feces. At times they become very constipated and other times they have diarrhea. Sometimes they have sneezing in addition to the symptoms described. What worries me the most is that the disease they are getting from the food may be transmissible to humans as I am having the same symptoms after they being to show symptoms I have mucus diarrhea and mucus constipation with respiratory irritations and migraine beaches within 3 to 5 days of my cats. This problem seems to be ongoing for the last two years on and off and this is the time frame when I noticed inconsistency with the product as well. | | | Domestic Shorthair | Cat | | |

| EON-543134 | 7/27/2023 9:56 | Open Nature Grain Free Formula Chicken Adult Dog Food | On July 21, 2023, I opened a can of Open Nature Grain Free Formula Adult Dog Food Chicken and noticed: that the color was lighter than usual; that the gelatinous-type substance between the food and the inner side of the can was lower than usual; that there was a small amount of black substance on the inside of the can where the upper rim meets the body of the can. I opened the other remaining Chicken can that I had. Saw no black substance, but the above-mentioned color and gelatinous irregularities were present. Phoned this information to Lisa at the distributor Lucerne Foods at (877) 232 - 4271. Per her request, gave the following information from the can which contained the black substance. Barcode 79893 98123, Lot Code UD9CM2H, Best By Date Oct 12 2025, Time Stamp 2121, Processing Plant #S1748. Lisa escalated the case to a manager who may call me on July 22. She added to the case notes that I have filed some information with the FDA. She requested that I email photos of the Chicken cans to cbinfo.csc@albertsons.com utilizing Reference #5571613. I emailed five photos after speaking with Lisa. I kept the two Chicken cans for one day in case Lucerne Foods were to call me on July 22 for additional information. No call came through, so I discarded them on July 22 as I have no way to preserve them. As of the time of filing this report, I have the label, pop-top lid, and a food sample from the can which contained the black substance. Over the course of some hours, the black substance turned gray, and then faded to an appearance similar to that of the gelatinous-type substance. Also on July 21, 2023, I spoke via phone with Manager Ryan at the (b) (6) . Described to Ryan the above-mentioned can issues and informed him that I updated the distributor. Per his request, I gave him the above-mentioned Barcode, Lot Code and product name. Informed Ryan that most of my Safeway purchases are via Door Dash, and that any such Door Dash receipts that I have actually viewed did specify the (b) (6) . | | | | | | |

My dogs have been eating this for almost a year now. Willow is highly food motivated and loves the food. Once we opened the new bag we observed her demeanor completely change. She was lethargic, food aggressive, nauseous, experienced bloody vomit and bloody diarrhea, and began refusing to eat or even smell the food. We switched to a bland diet (chicken and rice) and when she returned to normal we began feeding her the same food again- thinking she had a stomach bug. Her symptoms started all over again. Another bag of food was delivered from a different lot code on July 25 and she was extremely excited when we opened the bag. | EON-542897 | 7/25/2023 9:36 | Purina ONE +Plus Vibrant Maturity Adult 7+ Formula Adult Dog Food. | On June 3, 2023 I ordered this product from Chewy. It came in a 31.1 lb bag, UPC Code 17800-14935, NZ 0800 738 847, AU 1800 738 238. The best by date in the pink box is so light it is illegible. The batch code is BCP 01-20-23 04:11. This is unrefrigerated dry kibble. I noticed the lighter kibble had an irregular shape and consistency. I put the regular shaped kibble and irregular kibble in water to see if it would dissolve. The dark kibble dissolved and the lighter kibble floated. It is obviously sponge rubber. I've notified Purina and suggested they recall this product. I also notified Chewy so they could avoid sending out this product in case of widespread contamination. I stored the kibble in a plastic container with lid. I did not notice a foul odor. I have the bag and kibble and will gladly send it to you if needed. My dogs weigh 15 and 19 pounds, are spayed, ages uncertain as they are rescues but both are 8+ years, a poodle and snoodle. I picked out the irregular kibble so they did not consume much foam and don't appear to have suffered any health issues. My dogs do not spend time outside unsupervised except when they are in my small courtyard back yard. | | | | | | |

This is a veterinarian prescribed food, and supposed to be carefully regulated as a prescription diet for food allergies. In a recent order (Petco order #R33095247) I have discovered two cans (so far) that have a tiny, blue, plastic-like foreign object. I believe the lot # reads 316C2RS002 05:29 RFRP. The first piece was found in a can I had already opened (and stored in the fridge with a food-saver lid), so I thought I could not be certain it hadn't come from my home, though I could find no nearby source around where the food had been. But the discovery of another, slightly bigger piece in a second can has me convinced this is an issue with the food/lot. | | | | | | |

Both adult dogs are very lethargic, would not take food or water, and are shakey. We have a litter of 8 puppies whom we bought the food for. They seemed to be experiencing the same symptoms. We lost one puppy in the process. I assume it was the food because it is the only commonality between all of the dogs. The puppies mainly ate it, the mama was exposed to it more being with her puppies, and (b) (6) just happened to eat what may have been left around. | EON-542712 | 7/23/2023 2:40 | Fresh Pet Vital Care grain free beef and bison recipe | I must of gotten a bad batch of fresh pet. My dog became lethargic and had an allergic reaction to the food. I have been feeding her this same food since she was 8 weeks old with no problem. She had diarrhea, bloating, severe vomiting and nausea and dehydration. There was also a piece of something in her food that looked like a cork. I took pictures and reported it to Fresh pet and haven't heard anything back from them. She refused to eat the food after that. I had to take her to the vet because she was vomiting brown liquid, which was very concerning. The veterinarian said she had an allergic reaction to her food. She also has hives and is very red around her muzzle and paws. I reached out to fresh pet and they did nothing. | 22.5 | Months | Bulldog - French | Dog | 27 | Pound |
| EON-542698 | 7/22/2023 16:20 | Special Kitty Pate Mixed Grill Dinner | This relates to first report I filed today, 235D37E6-5CAF7C89-78F202E6-9EBAF4A4-F07D980A-9A4C67D0-0C382C13-5129017B. On Monday, July 17, I fed my 2 kitties Special Kitty Mixed Grill Dinner. I have fed them this food countless times in the past. Usually I don't feed the 2 cats the same canned food at mealtime (I believe the reason why is irrelevant here), but Monday I fed both of them the Mixed Grill. (b) (6) became listless, lethargic, and had no appetite for the rest of that day, decreased appetite for 2-3 days afterward. For (b) (6) this is HIGHLY unusual (the last time it happened, he was riddled with parasites that required veterinary Tx.). Since both cats were similarly affected, I suspect the Mixed Grill food was the cause of their issues. | 4 | Years | Domestic Mediumhair | Cat | 12.5 | Pound |

| EON-542694 | 7/22/2023 15:56 | Special Kitty Pate Mixed Grill Dinner | On Monday, July 17, I fed my 2 kitties Special Kitty Mixed Grill Dinner. I have fed them this food countless times in the past. In fact, (b) (6) had eaten it daily for approximately 3 days before this event. Usually I don't feed the 2 cats the same canned food at mealtime (I believe the reason why is irrelevant here), but Monday I fed both of them the Mixed Grill. About lunchtime, (b) (6) my 14-year-old cat, threw up his canned food, and proceeded to throw up repeatedly throughout the afternoon and evening (approximately 6 times). Around 8pm, I dosed him with Cerenia (that I had left over from another cat), which helped. He was listless, lethargic, had little appetite until July 20-21. I'll discuss the other cat's reaction later in this report. | 14 | Years | Domestic Longhair | Cat | 11.5 | Pound |

| EON-542687 | 7/22/2023 12:12 | Diamond Naturals Large Breed Puppy Lamb and Rice Formula | He has been eating Diamond Naturals Large Breed Puppy Lamb and Rice food for months. After swapping to a new bag of the same food he began having uncontrollable diarrhea for 4 days. A trip to the emergency vet as well as a regular vet have ruled out many other possible causes. The vet recommended him to eat a bland diet of chicken and rice for a few days. When on the bland diet he had no GI issues. After swapping him back to the kibble he began having the same issues. This is how I have determined the kibble to be the source. He never had an issue with the last bag this same food. I believe these issues are a result of this food. After reading recent reviews from Chewy on this Diamond Naturals Large Breed Puppy Lamb and Rice food, I found that other people are having similar issues with their dogs eating this and having diarrhea. | 6 | Months | Crossbred Canine/dog | Dog | 36 | Pound |
| EON-542685 | 7/22/2023 11:24 | Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Stomach Purina Pro Ultra Salmon, Purina Pro Ultra With Salmon | Purchased Purina Pro Plan Sensitive Stomach for (b) (6) After getting halfway through the bag (30lb) I noticed some bugs on the scooper in the sealed food container. I poured the food into a container and found loads of grain weevils(?) and contacted Pet Supermarket. They wrote to go to the pet store, and they would replace the bag for free. I took the second bag home and eventually found a lot of white pieces on the dog food and thought it might have been some paper remains but eventually found out it was meal moth larva as I checked the food to find loads of worms. We have another dog, and he eats Purina Pro Ultra Salmon and found bugs in that bag also. I contacted Purina but have not heard back yet. I am not looking for compensation but a resolution to the bug infestation problems, and hopefully keep them out of our own food pantry where we stored (not anymore) the food in containers. NOTE: I do have videos of the bug infestation for both bags of dog food. | | | | | | |

I purchased a bag on June 19, 2023, and began using a week later. After eating from the new bag, my dog began to vomit and have severe diarrhea. He stopped eating his normal amount of food. Since he had been eating that food for years, it took me a while to figure out it was the food, even though my dog knew and wouldn't eat as much of it. No recalls or warnings on Purina site, but many, many comments of the same scenario as my dog experienced on Amazon, Chewy, Target and other websites, to which Purina responded and which started early this year. I wanted to try this product so I ordered it online. The product came with a coating that I thought was normal but now I am not so sure as my dog violently threw up 30 mins after eating a dose it was yellowish green foamy texture. I figured it was just a one off but she never really has thrown up before. Shortly after she repeated to vomit and probably about 10 plus times mid day diarrhea came with it and by end of the night there was blood present in both. At this point I was frantically calling emergency vets as it was around 1 am when the blood was present. I could not get her in to a emergency vet until 830 next morning. They took her right away and did fluids and testing they asked me if she may have gotten into anything or change or food I said no because the first incident was rihht when we got up and right after giving her the supplement her throwing up and then going outside. I mentioned zesty paws and that it was a new thing for her. She had a bad case of gastritis they sent us home with fluids in her body probiotics and anti nausea medication. 2 more days went by she hasn't eaten at this point for 4 days I had to return to the emergency vet they did more testing and sent me home with more medication the morning I took her the second time I was really scared for my dog she was a shell of a dog not present lethargic seeing imaginary flies refusing to eat and treats the only thing positive was she was still drinking. After 6 days she's finally on the mends and a stop to giving zesty paws supplement the day she threw up. She still has diarrhea til this day | 2.8 | Years | Bulldog | Dog | 48 | Pound |
| EON-542189 | 7/16/2023 22:56 | Open Nature Grain Free Formula Chicken Adult Dog Food | Content irregularity in three cans of Open Nature Grain Free Formula Chicken Adult Dog Food. The gelatinous-type substance which usually forms a semi-stable layer between the food and the inner side of the can was instead very liquidy. The texture of the food itself was somewhat runny which is not usual. One can was peculiarly filled to the very brim with no room to spare. On July 14, 2023, I called the distributor Lucerne Foods Inc at (877) 232 - 4271 and spoke with a lady named Kris. I described my observations in detail. Per her request, I provided to her the following information. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Processing Plant # S1748 • Barcode # 79893 98123 • Best By Date for two cans was APR 16 26. One or both of these cans had a time stamp of 09 02. • Best By Date for the other can was JUL 01 25 with a time stamp of 12 06 or 12 08. The printing was not entirely clear. Curiously, there was no pull tab on the lid of this can. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Despite different Best By Dates, all three cans seem to have had the same Lot Code # UD9CM10. Printing was somewhat unclear, particularly in regard to the letter that seemed to be "M". • The color and / or smell of the food may or may not have been a little irregular. Hard to be certain. But the food texture and the consistency of the gelatinous-type substance were unquestionably considerably irregular. Per Kris' instruction, I discarded the cans and the food. Kris provided me with Reference # 5571613 to be used in the subject line of my email correspondence to the below-mentioned email address. I emailed 9 photos to cbinfo.csc@albertsons.com. Due to email limitations, I ended up needing to send four emails in order to convey all nine photos to cbinfo.csc@albertsons.com. | | | | | | |

We had issues with their other flavors last year when the consistency changed and the cans basically became mush. We continued using Salmon and Mackerel because it hadn't become mush... until recently, much to our disappointment, it, too, has become unusually "mushy." (b) (6) started hissing (completely unusual behavior!) He laid on his side with one of his legs up in the air and was making nonstop mumbling type noises that he had never made before. I also found blood tinged mucos on our step with a little brown (poop) mixed in. This was from a can dated 10/24/2025. We stopped giving cans with that date for a few days. There wasnt any more blood. This morning my husband gave a can with that date again and I found a nickle size amount of blood outside of the litter box. His stool was also much runnier than normal. I contacted Nulo. They said, "From 2020 to 2022, the pet food industry experienced unprecedented supply challenges that affected ingredients and production capacity. The canned pet food category was especially affected. In response, Nulo employed a number of different strategies to help ensure availability of our products for dogs and cats. By late 2022, many of these issues have been resolved by adding another supplier to increase production capacity and minor formulation updates have also been made to help alleviate some of the constraints on raw materials that have been in low supply. Very minor differences are present in a few of the essential nutrient supplements used in each formula.... These formulas may be in the market through 2026, due to the 3-year shelf-life of our canned products." I would also like to add that we were buying this food in 12 packs. They both had severe diarrhea, unrest, lethargy etc. One of the dogs was examined. Both were placed on antibiotics, prescription probiotics, and a prophylactic dewormer and special food. Fecal sample showed no worms etc. Got better with meds, time and special diet of home cooked tilapia, chicken and rice. Small amount of purina was reintroduced. Dogs got sick within a few hours; were placed on another round of antibiotics and prescription probiotics and continued special diet. At time, we thought maybe Heartguard may have irritated their stomachs, but we were wrong. Got better. Small amount (less than a quarter of a fresh can per dog) of purina was reintroduced. Dogs got sick again within 12 hours. We've dropped off another fecal sample and reported issue to Purina. | EON-541895 | 7/12/2023 12:16 | Purina Pro Plan 27/17 Lamb | I am reporting what the dog food did to my dogs. (b) (6) a yellow male Labrador retriever champion show dog. My dog was being fed Purina Pro Plan 27/17 lamb. I started to notice when he would eat he would choke on his food & have difficulty swallowing. I was very concerned & took him to the vet. I also took a video of him choking. If I soaked the food he could swallow it which made no sense. After watching him I noticed it was within 20 seconds when he started to eat the dry food. I took him to the vet & a ct scan & scope was done. It showed a severe infection in his stomach & an enlarged palate. I gave antibiotics & soaked food for a while & improved a little but if I gave him dry food he would choke again. It made no sense. He also drooled a lot to the point of leaving puddles of drool on the floor. He was very restless at night & from that video he was appearing to be in pain throughout the night. Back to the vets & now he has pustules on his palate. Once again treated & tried dry food & he choked again. This was not making sense & he was still sick & losing weight. This was going on over a few months & took us a few months to discover the problem. The vet gave him a bowl of a different dry dog food in front of us at the clinic & he ate it fine no choking. I stopped at the store on the way home & got him Fromm & he ate it fine & no choking. He continued to eat Fromm & also Royal Canin & eats fine. He suddenly started getting better & no more infections or choking. He also had allergy tests to rule out that issue. He has been fed grain free & grain inclusive dog food & is healthy again. As soon as he was changed to a different brand he became healthy again showing it was something in the dog food. I also have photos of how bad he looked from getting sick from this food. At a similar time I was also feeding a 30/20 to two other Labradors. One day one started vomiting violently to the point I have never seen before & I have been raising Labradors for over 20 years. That evening when I went to feed I found a different dog food in it. I stopped the food & that dog got better. I have the 27/27 food an opened bag & an unopened bag the same lot & expiration date. From the vet records it shows the food is what was making my dog sick. I am just trying to find out what in this dog food could have made a champion show dog get so sick & I do not want to see this happen to someone else. I also have video of (b) (6) choking I would like to send you. | 4 | Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 90 | Pound |

| EON-541735 | 7/10/2023 20:04 | Yummy In My Tummy Dog Cookies | We have discovered fungus and bacteria on the dog biscuits we purchased from the HSR branch of Heads up for Tails in Bangalore. While feeding the biscuits to my dog, I noticed the presence of fungus and bacteria. I immediately contacted the branch on Friday, July 7th, 2023 at 7:55 pm to report the issue. Upon speaking with a store representative, I was informed that they had experienced a similar problem in the past and found the entire batch to be affected and they have removed the entire batch from the market to address the issue. However, no notification was given to customers who had already purchased those biscuits. The store representative mentioned that the area manager would contact me after informing the backend about the situation. Later that evening, on July 7th, 2023 at 8:45 pm, I received a call from the area manager who confirmed the issue with the entire batch (call recordings are available for evidence). They assured me that the batch had been recalled from the market. The area manager apologized for the inconvenience caused and offered to replace one product as compensation. They informed me that an executive from the HSR branch would follow up with further resolution. I was contacted by the HUFT HSR branch through WhatsApp and sent the pictures of the available products from which I could choose a replacement. However, to verify their authenticity, I asked them to include a few additional products worth Rs639. Surprisingly, they asked me to pay for the additional items, stating that they would only provide a Rs349 product as compensation, and I had to cover the remaining cost. Given these circumstances, it is now imperative for action to be taken, as your brand has displayed a lack of empathy and courtesy. Furthermore, my pet has fallen ill after consuming the biscuits contaminated with fungus and bacteria Note of recovery has been mentioned as 10th July but pet is still not well. | EON-541383 | 7/6/2023 5:24 | Royal Canin Veterinary Diet Adult Selected Protein PR Loaf in Sauce Canned Cat Food 5.1-oz case of 24 | In January 2023 my cat, (b) (6) was put on a prescribed diet of Royal Canin Veterinary Diet Adult Selected Protein PR Loaf in Sauce Canned Cat Food, 5.1-oz. Initially I purchased some of this item from the Vets office to get started. (b) (6) is under weight due to lymphoma and is a very picky eater, so I was delighted when she DEVoured this food and would even beg for more. The next few cases I purchased from Chewy, which there were no problems with, and she continued to eat it no problem. During her check up at the end of February, (b) (6) weighed 3kg up from 2.2kg the previous month so it was clear the food was working. However it was after that visit that things went from. I decided to switch to purchasing the same exact food from Petco, since I had a membership with them. Unfortunately once the Chewy cans were depleted and I started to try and feed her from the Petco supply, (b) (6) not only refused to eat the food but ran from it every time I would set it down next to her. I tried for several weeks to get her to eat the food from Petco with no luck, and when I took her in for her next appointment in April she was back down to 2.4kg. While at the vet I purchased a few cans of the same exact food so I could figure out if she was just over the food or if there was an issue with the cans from Petco. When we got home from the vet I popped open one of the cans I had just picked up and as soon as I sat the bowl down she was once again devouring the food. At that point it became clear to me there was something wrong with the food from Petco, so I called their customer service number to report the problem and set up to return the food to them, however after speaking with a supervisor for over an hour, I was told "the warranty of merchantability does not apply to pet food" (WRONG) and that "we don't consider a product defective or in need of being investigate just because your cat won't eat it." These same points were echoed by a second supervisor I spoke to a few days later. What Petco is choosing to ignore is the fact that (b) (6) IS eating the food just NOT the same exact food purchased from them. This tells me that the problem lies in how Petco stores and/ or handles the food while it is in their custody. This food is not cheap, costing around $100 a case, and I purchased 8 of them from Petco, so I intend to take Petco to small claims to get my money back, however I feel strongly that Petco's supply chain needs to be investigated and thoroughly scrutinized since its clear they aren't doing so themselves. | | | | | | |

The cardiologist discovered that she had diet induced DCM. He hope that with a diet change her heart would completely restore itself to health. However, she was at risk during the recovery time. Only a couple weeks after seeing the cardiologist her heart experienced a fatal arrhythmia related to her DCM and she passed away. She was only two years of age. She had been to our local vet three months prior for her hip and elbow OFA certifications, and her heart had not been affected as of yet. She was in prime condition and not overweight at all. As the cardiologist described to us, he is seeing a rising number of cases in dogs who are developing DCM after being fed dog foods with legumes in the top ten ingredients. | EON-541215 | 7/3/2023 15:04 | Fromm Dog food | (b) (6) stopped wanting to take walks, had diarrhea, vomited and started to look tired over several weeks. Then she completely did not wish to walk which was odd as we would take walks daily. Took her to the vet. He stated she had Jaundice and sent me to the (b) (6) specialists 2 1/2 hours away. They stated she needed a biopsy and gastrointestinal biopsy as her blood showed problems with the liver. The liver came back with high contents of copper. I have always had her on expensive dog food and the veterinarians told me to stop. The type of dog food had copper chelate and they told me that they really didn't have a maximum on copper so they did not check it often but it was 14 or higher. I have always kept her on the Dog food "only" to make sure she was getting all her nutrients, but what I did not realize is she was getting large amounts of "natural" copper in her diet from the dog food her breeder had her on and I have had her on. Copper chelate is the issue and none of the airedales my breeder owned previously had a problem with sensitivity to copper. However, he also is not using the dog food or any dog food as he has noticed his dogs started to have problems of losing energy, females not able to keep a litter, etc. He now makes his own dog food because of the max copper in the dog food is not controlled which he thinks was the problem as the dogs are all doing well now and recommended I do the same. 11K later, (b) (6) is on 9 different medications, I am starting to make her food from hand, have stopped feeding her any dog food as Hill's prescription diet could not tell me what type of copper they are using in their food. Fromm is the dog food I had fed her all her life which I found has copper chelate in it and not natural copper. | 4 | Years | Terrier - Airedale | Dog | 55 | Pound |
| | | | I feed my dog a balanced diet of a low copper veterinary-approved homemade food mix that I make and some Scoop dog food as it has only natural copper. Please place the max levels of copper on the dog foods as this is yet another dog impacted by the maximums being removed on copper in dog food. To have copper chelate instead of natural copper means they do not have to put as much meat in the dog food and it also means they can use a high concentration of copper that is provided in the copper chelate without worries of maximum copper. Please see the University of Michigan study on this as well as Cornell Veterinary school. I am a college professor teaching Masters in Public Administration. This is an example of a government agency not having all the facts when companies are trying new elements in the products and it takes years and several thousands of animals that lose their lives early because the agency will not move on the problem. Poor animal foods and stockyards feeding animals chelated copper for early growth just under the levels that the feed animals do not perish prior to the 6 months is not only a worry for future animals but for people who are consuming copper-chelated feed animals. Please make sure to work on this issue and not wait any longer. Contact the universities that have not only a piece of my dog's liver (Univ of Michigan) but several thousand others. The problem is most owners will not go this far to save their pets as 11K is well above any pet insurance levels covered, and many of the animals die with the symptoms and no verification of the liver biopsy. Please place the max levels back on the dog food levels and demand regular testing of the dog food. We do not know if she will survive, but we are working it daily and are told it will be a long road to recovery but her life span will be shortened. | | | | | | |

My Belgian Malinois is 6yrs old female spayed and has been on it her entire life and has done great, along with my 3yr old male neutered Dachshund and 1yr old intact male goldendoodle. All of these dogs have been on proplan 30/20 chicken since pups never had any issues till a few months now I have been keeping watch and recording each dogs appetite, bowl, behaviors and the food in the bag before feeding. I have found hairs that are not my dogs hairs mind you opening the dog food bag in my laundry room to ensure none of my dogs hair is getting in I have found random dog hair through the freshly opened bags, I have found a lot of bits of plastic to include in the kiddle after adding water to it. I loved proplan so much and how great it kept my dogs body weight even when not excersicing and how amazing it has been for my senior toy poodle. Once I started seeing changes in the food I noticed each dog would go through a period of diarrreah. The do not eat anything else at home just kiddle and beef liver baked treats done by me for more than 15yrs. I started seeing my poodle and doodle throwing up right after eating, my belgian gets super lethargic right after eating sometimes and wont it again for acouple of days, I used to only use kibble as training rewards and now in the last couple years they lost all urge and want for the kibble they eat teice a day only portioned controlled and I can put the food down and they wont start eating till they seem like they are starving and have no choice. It wasn't like this before. My toy poodle because of the diarrreah has now had in 6 months time anal gland issues which he has never had. My doodle constantly is puking up the food and diarrea. My Belgian starts diarrea and just wont eat the food at all. Once she eats again she is okay for a couple days and starts again. It isn't an allergy issue due to none of them showing allergy symptoms. My dachshund has to now kind be forced to eat so I now feed them all together to entise each to eat. Food quality has changed I don't know why or how when we are psying almost 100$ for 50lb bag of dog food. | Years | Mixed (Dog) | Dog | | |

He and his housemate (b) (6) (see other report) were fed Hill's Science Diet Urinary Hairball Control and a new bag was opened on 6/19/23. (b) (6) began vomiting on 6/21 and had a decreased appetite starting 6/22. He was first presented to the hospital on 6/24 and found to be mildly febrile (102.9). He was started on Orbax and Cerenia and there was immediate concern that his illness was related to (b) (6) due to their symptom similarities. Bloodwork was sent out on (b) (6) (day that (b) (6) died) and found to have mildly increased WBCs and severly elevated creatine phosphokinase (1168). He began projectile vomiting fluorescent green liquid on 6/28 (appears identical to (b) (6) vomit in the hours before his death) and Ollie was hospitalized on high rate IV fluids and IV antibiotics+Cerenia. Pet initially improved on 6/28, but began slowly decompensating during 6/29 into 6/30 (during continued hospitalized care). 6/30 AM pet appeared near moribund, stomach was immensely distended with fluid, renal pelvises radiolucent on xrays, pet repeatedly projectile vomited green fluorescent liquid, and was lethargic and minimally responsive. Placed nasogastric tube and drained approx 200cc green liquid from stomach. Added GI motility agents (metoclopramide and azithromycin) and antacids (famotidine) to treatments. She has a secondary issue caused by Copper-associated hepatopathy (CAH) and is bleeding via her lower/small intestine. I have owned 4 labs in my lifetime. They have all lived to 13 or older. This dog is on medication for life, and currently suffering, because of manmade chelated copper being added to dog food. The rate of diagnoses is skyrocketing and this is only in labs that I am somewhat educated on. I do not know the numbers for other breeds but I know it cannot be good. In addition to trying to navigate this illness, I have also had to do my own research on what food is safe and unsafe. After days of reading and researching, because (b) (6) has stopped eating her prescription foods (its something she associates as not feeling good and when she becomes anorexic shes too smart for her own good and knows not to eat the food that made her sick) I have to make sure that the new food I am giving her has no chelated copper in it. I need to also stress that I am not a pet owner who hyperfixates on her animals wellbeing. I want what is best for my animals of course, but I do not make a fuss over things like food. I am not a " raw diet is the best diet" BUT I know my dog is dying because of this chelated copper being added and it needs to stop. YOU need to do something. Disregard the monetary issue, but the stress alone. i am loosing sleep over her suffering. DO BETTER FDA. You are allowing members of our families to be poisoned slowly. This is a long drawn out death for an animal who only knows how to love. | 5 | Years | Retriever - Labrador | Dog | 80 | Pound |
| | | | The scoop dog food is a GREAT reference for how and what dogs should be fed, and it does not break the bank. YOU need to approve them so it can get on the market and more people can have access to it. Their food has no added chelated copper, there are only prescription foods that are ok (not great) for this illness, and you can make it so much easier if you just approve them. I am a veteran, and I do not use that card often, but I am today. This is my bestfriend. She helps me emotional with PTSD and YOU need to step up. Ill be more than happy to send you her medical records if it helps reverse what large dog food companies are doing. Thank you for your time. Happy 4th of July. Respectfully, (b) (6) | | | | | | |

The pre-op bloodwork showed very elevated liver values (all three). A ultrasound showed that his liver was scarred and abnormal. He had a fasting/after-eating test of his bile duct which was elevated but in the normal range. He has no obvious symptoms of anything being wrong - happy, active, typical for his. He then had a liver biopsy and bile sampling from his gallbladder (via open abdominal surgery). Based on the analysis and interpretation of samples, the internist vet concluded that he has chronic active hepatitis and copper storage syndrome and a biliary infection. We are currently treating with clavacillin, penicillamine, demerarin, ursodiol and will be re-running labs and consulting with the internist vet again in about two weeks. | 8 | Years | Poodle - Standard | Dog | 49 | Pound |

| EON-558962 | 1/11/2024 1:00 | Adult Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food | On 1/8/2024, a complainant reported illness in her dog after switching her food to Nestle Purina Pro Plan Adult Sensitive Skin & Stomach Salmon & Rice Formula Dry Dog Food. Veterinary care was obtained. The product is packaged in a 30-pound bag. The complainant identified her dog as (b) (6) an 11-year-old, 70-pound female Catahoula Leopard/German Shepherd mix. (b) (6) has the pre-existing conditions of joint pain and a skin condition which manifests as a rash on her abdomen; she is a healthy dog otherwise. Prior to this event, she was fed a Wellness brand dry food (the complainant didn't recall the specific variety). She was fed 1-cup of the food twice daily. The complainant explained (b) (6) was being seen by (b) (6), on or around 12/19 for her existing skin condition and it was recommended she try the Nestle Purina Pro Plan product. (b) (6) was transitioned to the new food over a week's time, receiving both the dry and canned types from that point (est. 12/26) until 1/4. During this period, she began losing patches of fur from her back. A medicated soap was used every other day; however, she did not appear to improve. A week in, she developed diarrhea, which continued for 1 to 2-weeks. On 1/2, she was returned to the vet where she received an antibiotic, X-rays and blood work and it was determined she exhibited high liver enzymes. The vet remarked that (b) (6) liver enzymes were dramatically elevated from her recent blood work, prior to switching the foods. In the interim, the complainant read online about a recent recall of Pro Plan dry dog food for excessive Vitamin D content. I determined her product was not part of the recall. CONTINUED IN REMARKS: |

Both had high glucose levels in their blood. Complainant said her dogs went to the vet routinely, and always had good bloodwork results prior to this incident. They were just fine on their normal food, and only displayed symptoms after consuming these dog dental treats. She first gave them treats 11/14/23, and the 13 year old female vomited 15-20 minutes (hadn't vomited in 2-3 years, as they are meticulous about what the dogs consume), and she continued being sick and vomiting over the next few days, and was in ER overnight 11/18-19/23 until she was stabilized. The female dog's kidney also started shutting down, so she was administered meds via IV. The 2 year old male was given treats 11/14-15/23, and he vomited 11/16/23, had intestinal blockage, then had diarrhea on 11/18/23, then he was taken to the ER. The boy had dark stool because of blood in the stool, and the vet thinks the product harmed his intestines (not confirmed, as no surgery was performed). The mala received 2 pancreatitis shots & IV for treatments while in the ER 11/22-23/23. Because their primary vet was closed for the Thanksgiving holiday, they took the male dog to their secondary vet (b) (6) on 11/24/23 for continued care of the pancreatitis symptoms. The male dog went back to the primary vet on 11/30/23 and had more IV drugs because he was still struggling with the pancreatitis. |
| EON-558813 | 1/10/2024 1:00 | Dog Food | Complainant (b) (6) has been purchasing Victor Dog Food for the last two months, and her dog has been sick. She couldn't figure out what was causing the illness until she went to purchase the product again and was informed that it had been pulled from shelves because of salmonella contamination. She doesn't have product packaging information or lot codes, as she threw away the bags as she fed the product to her dog. Her dog is now being treated for diarrhea for the last two months by two different vets. On 12/01/23, Complainant called back and said her dog is still being treated for diarrhea, but the vet says the stool sample results show the dog has Giardia, not Salmonella. Vet doesn't know the source of the Giardia. Dog has had diarrhea since he was 9 weeks old when she got him, and he's now 5 months old. She said he has energy and doesn't act sick, just has diarrhea. |

She stated last month, three out of four weeks, both dogs had diarrhea, drank more water than usual, unknown root cause stated it had to be the food. The complainant stated her dogs did not eat any other products or dog treats during this time and saw in the media illnesses associated with Purina Pro Plan pet food. She stated stores the dog food in a container and discarded the remaining product, and bag/packaging, lot code, product details unavailable. The complainant self-care her pets at home, did not take them to the veterinarian. She stated presently the dogs are feeling better. |

She is in good health, but has food allergies. She has been taking fish oil for 4 years. In November 2023, Complainant purchased 2 cases of Hydrolyzed Dog Food from Chewy.com. There are 12 cans in a case. She has been feeding her dog one can a day. Complainant mentioned that she opened three cans of Hydrolyzed Dog Food and they all bubbled as soon as she opened the cans. She did not feed it to her dog. They fed her prior cans from that lot. Nothing bulging or dented in anyway. For a whole month, she had a can of Hydrolyzed Dog Food. After that, her dog had behavior changes described as dementia, and other symptoms. Such as, severe insomnia, fast walking, jumping in a circle, running everywhere, agitation, anxiety, extreme hunger, and tremors. When she took her off the dog food two days ago (12/17/23) all her symptoms stopped. Complainant called a doctor and spoke a veterinarian multiple times. (b) (6), a toxicologist, but not the dog's veterinarian told her that it could be botulism. A biologist told her it could be contaminated with bacteria. The toxicologist advised Complainant to contact FDA Veterinarians for product testing. Complainant contacted the manufacturer and they would like to have the product returned to them for analysis. Pet facts: Female; 15.5 years old; weighs 27.3 pd.; not pregnant; sprayed |

No previous health incidents or conditions reported. Consumer purchased a new bag of the Kibble n Bits on 12/13/2023 around 9 pm. At 10:00pm the consumer gave a brand new bowl of the food to her miniature schnauzer. The consumer had another dog but this dog did not eat any of the food The morning of 12/14/2023, the consumer had noted their dog had vomiting all over their cage during the night and was extremely lethargic in the morning. Through the day, the dogs symptoms worsened. The dog became extremely lethargic and unable to move. The dog refused to eat anything and would only drink sips of water. Consumer also noted their dog seems to have trouble with their eye site. No other food was consumed. Vomiting also continued. The morning of 12/15 the consumer awoke to find their animal had passed away. The consumer buried their animal on their property. No autopsy performed. The consumer noted that on 12/15, one of their cats (male) had also started vomiting multiple times. The consumer believes the cat ate some of the dog food that was left over in the bowl and is now having the same symptoms. Consumer did not have the specific product information available during the 12/15 call, but will be going back to Walmart to get the specific variety of food and will provide this to FDA. Consumer does not have product packaging, but they do have most of the food the dog consumed in a sealed bin in their home. No medical treatment for the dog was sought as the only vet was closed in town. [end of narrative] |

| EON-555514 | 12/6/2023 1:00 | Beef & Vegetable Stew, Grain Free Adult canned dog food | 12/4/23 - HAFW4/DEN-DO received EON-555276, dated 12/2/23. Complainant reported "A can of 4Health Grain Free Beef and Vegetable Stew (expiration July 21 2026, lot #HXBSTM10 0428, CR Code 4939411968) exploded forcefully in my hand when I lifted the ring to remove the lid. The explosion caused considerable pain in four fingertips and nailbeds of my right hand. I recently (within the last 30 days) purchased the case of food with this can from the (b) (6), drove directly home, and stored the case in my kitchen pantry. I have fed my dogs 8 cans from the case without incident. I am concerned about both the pain caused by an exploding can and the quality of the food contained within. Needless to say, I did not feed my dogs the contents of that can. Only today, I purchased two additional cases of 4Health dog food. Now, I am hesitant to feed it to my dogs since I don't know what caused the build up of pressure in the can. |
| EON-555222 | 12/2/2023 1:00 | Puppy Chow Tender & Crunchy with real Beef & Rice Dry Dog Food | Product: Purina Puppy Chow Tender & Crunchy with real Beef & Rice Dry Dog Food Complainant had 7 dogs (4 females, 3 males), now 6 dogs. On (b) (6), a 7 year one month old, German Shepherd died. All seven dogs ate the product. The younger dogs less than 4 years old did not get sick. The three older dogs (4-7 yrs. old), a Female Boxer, Chocolate Labrador, and German Shepherd ate the pet food and vomited. On 11/14/ 2023, before the 7 yr. one mo. female German Shepherd died, the veterinarian took an exray and gave her prednisone for chronic bronchitis and she was getting better. She took 1 tablet every 12 hours for 5 days and then one tablet once day for another 5 days. Before the sickness she was a healthy and enthusiastic dog who ate a lot and she had 2 puppies. She was not unsupervised, but fenced in. After eating the pet food (on 11/28/2023) she started acting weird and was running around and jumping on her owner. By 12 am, she became lethargic, her legs went out, vomited blood + water, and breathed hard. This went on throughout throughout the next day. At 8-9 pm, the 7 yr. one mo. old German Shepherd went outside and that's when complainant saw her diarrhea. She did not get better and died on (b) (6), at 11:50 pm. It was on 11/28/2023 or 11/29/2023, complainant did contact the veterinarian and the vet told her to stop feeding her and only give her water. She did not ask to see her and no diagnostic was performed. Complainant suspects it is the dog food. Complainant looked up the pet food and it was not on the recalled list. |

The second dog is a Miniature American Shepherd, male, 10 y/o (est), 10 lbs (est), neutered, and in good health. The Complainant stated that both dogs are supervised when they go into the yard. She doesn't recall dates of last check-ups. On 11/12/23, she purchased a bag of the Wellness Simple Limited Ingredient Diet, Lamb & Oatmeal Formula from (b) (6). The was first use of this product and they had been using another brand of dry, dog food for some time, but had decided to transition the dogs to the Wellness dog food due to the other brand being so expensive. On 11/14/23, at 7:00 pm, she fed both of her dogs the Wellness mixed with the other brand, 1/2 cup each. The Maltese dog ate the other brand of food, but did not want to eat the Wellness food until the Complainant put human-grade, canned salmon on top of the Wellness food and then she consumed it. On 11/15/23, the Maltese experienced lethargy and a change in mood and was not playful as she had previously been. The other dog did not experience symptoms. At 7:00 pm, the Complainant fed the dogs the Wellness food mixed with the other brand. On 11/16/23, the Maltese vomited 1x. Her other dog did not experience symptoms. At 7:00 pm, the Complainant fed the dogs the Wellness food mixed with the other brand. She put the human-grade Salmon on the food. The Maltese did not want to leave her bed. The Complainant thought that the Maltese may be experiencing symptoms of old-age and her husband though that it was just an upset stomach. The Maltese's lethargy and change of mood persisted. (continued in Remarks below): |

She stated when her dog was younger noticed her pet was itchy after consuming chicken, the complainant avoids buying product that contains chicken. She stated feeds her pet one can per day of this product, most recent feeding was today and noticed that she was itchy about one hour after consuming product, symptoms lasted 6-7 hours. She did not take her pet to the veterinarian for this incident, but have taken her to (b) (6) several times in the past for anti-allergy shots when she was itchy. She read the label, discovered chicken is first on the ingredient list, stated the front label indicates Chopped Ground Dinner with Beef, Bacon & Cheese Flavor. The complainant reported this information to the company but was not satisfied with their response, informed her it was marketing. The complainant plan on switching brands that does not contain chicken. She alleged mislabeling as the front of the can indicates beef, bacon and cheese flavored, the complainant stated the label should include chicken since chicken is listed in the ingredients and that she should have read the ingredients on the back of the label and had she realized this, would have avoided buying this product. UPC 0 23100 01017 5 BB 060725 21BU underneath 323F3KKCFC0024 |

No vet visit or diagnosis provided. Consumer reports she received a 12 count case of the Evanger Vegetarian canned dog food on Sept 9th 2023. No issues with the product packing were noted. The next day, the consumer opened a new can and mixed it with an older, meat based Evanger's food the consumer already had on hand. Consumer noted the vegetarian food looked very "loose" in the can and was not packed tightly. Consumer gave both her dogs the food for breakfast and dinner on the 10th. About 6-8 hours after dinner (5:00pm) later the dogs experienced severe diarrhea. No other symptoms reported. The consumer's dog's had previously eaten the older food with no issues. Consumer didn't think the food was the issue at this point. The consumer feed her dogs the same mixture of the new Vegetarian food and the older meat based Evanger's food. Again the dogs experienced the same symptoms in the same time period. No diagnosis or treatment was sought. The consumer switch her dogs to cooked rice and beef and the dogs no longer had any symptoms. The consumer believe it was this new Vegetarian Variety that cause her dogs symptoms. Issue was reported to the brand name but no response was given |

| EON-549413 | 10/7/2023 1:00 | Dog Food (Canned) | Narrative: Consumer reports their 15 year old Bishon dog passed away in (b) (6) after consumer canned Hill's Diet Food. Vet visit was reported. Records available at Vet Office Consumer started their dog on the Hill's Diet canned food in 2018 at the recommendation of their Vet. Consumer did not remember exact flavor or variety but did note it is was for Kidney health. Consumer reports that over the next 4 years, her dog would undergo periods of eating the food initially, and then refusing to eat. Anytime the dog stopped eating the dog food the consumer would switch to a different Hills Diet variety at the recommendation of their vet. During 2018-2022, symptoms reported were this intermitted not eating of food and switching to another variety of hills diet. During this time, no diagnosis or treatment was provided by the Vet. In (b) (6) the consumer noted her dog began to experience lethargy, vomiting and some diarrhea. Consumer was told by their Vet that their was nothing really more they can do to treat their dog and the dog had to be put down. No formal diagnosis was provided by the consumer as to why the animal was put down. Consumer found out about the 2019 Hill Diet recall in 2023. Consumer believe it was this brand that caused her dogs death. [end of narrative] |

She stated her cat had symptoms of diarrhea and vomiting about three days after feeding her cat this product. The complainant took the cat to (b) (6) who prescribed a 7-day regimen and has fully recovered. She stated during this time also fed the cat Buffalo Blue wet cat food and stated the product in question is not the wet cat food as she has been feeding this product without issues for a long time. The complainant returned the product to PetSmart who gave her a refund, lot# not available. She reported this incident to IAMS but was not satisfied with their response stated wants to sue them and be part of a class action lawsuit. Towards the end of our conversation, the complainant provided the Lot#0001901471246, when I asked her how this lot# was obtained given that she had returned the product to the retail store, she was unable to provide a response, per Rolodex the Lot# contains alpha. |

| EON-548486 | 9/29/2023 1:00 | Grain Free Turkey Recipe Pate Adult Wet Cat Food | Product: Whole Hearted Grain Free Turkey Recipe Pate Adult Wet Cat Food Complainant has 3 Domestic Short-haired cats, 12, 2, and 1.5 years old and she buys their pet food from Petco.com. Petco.com sells cat and dog food online. The cats have been eating the same brand of food for a long time. They all eat can cat food (b) (6) becomes disinterested in the food (mostly with turkey pates) and (b) (6) is the finicky one (mostly with turkey pates). Problem: The pates are the ones that come with a film, and/or what appears to be dried out and pasted against the can. The Flakes formula is usually inconsistent with either flakes of chicken breast with small nibbles of dark meat, other times mainly dark meat nibbles, and many times barely any meat in the can but mostly broth,- they also at times refused the flakes. Also as I may have pointed out that cans that come packaged in a case of 12 can be badly dented even if they are nestled in the center of an enclosed case with no signs of damage to the putter cans of the enclosed case. I am attaching a sample of what an enclosed case looks like, please note the clear packaging of the case. It's not until the case is unwrapped that the dented cans can be found. Sometimes the damaged cans are at the bottom of the cardboard and some are in the center rows right above the bottom ones - We believe they are packed damaged. Nonetheless has been frustrating to have the experience. Currently, (b) (6) has switch to Solid Gold, Petco has removed the SolidGold line from third stores and it can only be purchased online. On Saturday, I was able to create an online order for the Solid Gold line of food, (put all items in the online Shopping Cart) , but upon checkout it would not process the order because it appears the items are not available. . Solid Gold is also the older cats diet so we were in urgent need of the food, luckily we found it on Amazon and were able to get it the next day. Continued in Remarks..... |
| EON-548217 | 9/26/2023 1:00 | Sensitive Skin Dry Dog Food | On 9/22/2023, the Washington State Department of Health (WA/DOH) reported they were notified by several Washington counties of four human cases of E. coli. O157:H7 with Hill's Science Diet brand dry dog foods as an epidemiological link [related complaints are: XXXXXXXXXXXX]. The subject of this complaint is a complainant living in (b) (6) , who used Hill's Science Diet Z/D Food Sensitivities Dry Dog Food. On 9/25/2023, I reached the complainant who verified the reported details and provided more information. The product is packaged in a 25-pound paper sack, coded ""BEST BEFORE 08 20 24 M224 2041 LG 142[Stamped on opening seal] ""[Stamped above UPC]: 23 108 B&B 5 12109"" , read to me by the consumer who also emailed photographs (uploaded in CMS). The complainant, aided by her sister, reported she ordered the product from Chewy.com. She received and opened it approximately 6-weeks ago and at the time of our interview, she had used all but 3-cups of the food. I asked her how she scoops food from the bag, and she responded with a measuring cup. The bag is stored in the garage and smaller portions of food are stored in the house in a Tupperware container and scooped out with the measuring cup. She added, the food appeared lighter in color than she's observed with other bags. The dog is fed the food twice daily and is also provided four types of treats: Greenies Dental Treats, Nature Gnaws, Instinct Freeze-dried Treats, and Better Belly Dog Treats. The complainant added she was interviewed by the CDC and they told her they were coming by for the food sample. I reiterated they should not provide the food to anyone, but the FDA and she agreed to hold it for the FDA. CONTINUED IN REMARKS: |
